Pre-Law Seminars To Be Held at Seton Hall

By JOHN HOMLISH

At the request of the St. Thomas More Pre-Legal Society, a seminar for those contemplating entering law will be held starting Monday, March 7. These seminars will be held every Monday and Thursday on the South Orange campus "B" building, room 67, through April 21 with the exception of the Easter vacation. Mr. Lynch of the social studies department, and Mr. Dineen, moderator of the St. Thomas More Society will head this project.

At these seminars the various aspects of the law school curriculum will be explained to the prospective law students. Since law has become such a complicated field, many students enter law school without a full comprehension of what they will have to undertake. Also, many men, still in college are not completely sure that they want to enter law. These seminars will give the student an in-sight into the legal profession, as well as aiding him to make up his mind. Those who will lecture at these sessions are Father Synan, and Mr. Garret both of the University faculty. Dr. Donovan has also professed his interest in the seminar. Dean Rooney of the Seton Hall law school will also provide important information. These men, along with Dean Rooney will point out to the students how they should go about writing cases, understanding legal terminology, as well as other ramifications of legal study.

There is no charge, nor credit given for these lectures, and it is open to underclassmen as well as seniors.

On April 23, one of the four law-school aptitude tests, given each year in the State of New Jersey, will be given here at Seton Hall. These tests are distributed by the Princeton Testing Service for all those who expect to enter law school in the near future. Those who wish to attend the seminar, as well as those expecting to take the aptitude test should contact either Mr. Lynch or Mr. Dineen.

NOTICE

JUNIORS—Anyone who had pictures taken at the Junior Dance this year, or the Sophomore Dance last year, and would like to have them appear in the yearbook, leave them, with proper identification at the Galleon Office in "B" Building.

SOPHOMORES—Those who attended the Freshmen Dance last year, and wish to have their pictures appear in the yearbook may do the same thing, as the seniors.

SENIORS—Those who attended the Junior Prom at the Hotel Taft last year, and have pictures, may also submit them for publication in the yearbook. Bring them to the Galleon Office. Thank you!

WSOU Gets Mail From a Fan—4000 Miles From Station

When a radio station, operated as efficiently as WSOU, receives fan mail it is not at all surprising, but when the envelope carrying this fan mail bears the postmark Saskatchewan, Canada, it is time that such correspondence be given considerable publicity. For those of you whose geography is a little hazy, Saskatchewan, Canada, is located 4,000 linear miles from Seton Hall and 800 miles from the Artic Circle.

On February 14, Mr. A. Paul Klose, Director of WSOU, received a very complimentary letter from a certain Mr. Hugh Mullington, a native of Canada. According to the letter, Mr. Mullington has been a radio fan of WSOU for some time. The contact made between Seton Hall's radio station and foreign soil is rather unusual, but why question events which take place in the 20th century. Mr. Mullington's opinion of WSOU may be summed up in a direct quotation from his letter. "I have found the program and broadcasts of WSOU to be quite comparable to many of the professional stations." He goes on to say that in comparison to other university broadcasts, Seton Hall is far superior.

It is not difficult to understand why many letters of this type are received every day at the WSOU business office. The efforts of Mr. Klose and his very capable staff have done much to bring Seton Hall and her radio station to the position she so justly deserves.

Savings and Loan Conference Lauded As Huge Success

The Savings and Loan Association Conference sponsored by the School of business administration in cooperation with the New Jersey Savings and Loan League was a tremendous success on Wednesday last.

The amphitheater virtually overflowed with interested guests, faculty and students. Dr. Murphy and Mr. Lewis well deserved the excellent attendance, attributed to their long and hard preparation.

The day's program proceeded as planned; two speakers in the morning session, recess for lunch and one speaker and a movie short in the afternoon session. All the guest speakers were bombarded with questions from their respective panels and from the audience as a whole. Various questions on finance, credit control, and operation and scope of the Savings and Loan Association were posed and well answered.

The yellow beanies that were prominent throughout the day designated the Alpha Kappa Psi pledges, who along with the brothers of the fraternity did a fine job of supervision and liaison.

In its entirety the day was one well spent by all in attendance. Thanks again to the efforts of the School of Business Administration, Seton Hall's students had the opportunity to learn about big business from men who operate it.

Hall Students To Conduct Lent Services

Beginning on Ash Wednesday and continuing through the Lenten season there will be a public recitation of the rosary conducted by the students of Seton Hall University. The rosary will begin five minutes after every class period in the Campus Chapel. The Stations of the Cross will be held each Friday at 12:45 for the benefit of those who have a free period at this time. It is the sincere hope of our Spiritual Director, Father Jarvis, that every student will take advantage of these excellent opportunities to express his love and devotion for God and His Blessed Mother.

If you use the excuse that you don't own a rosary your excuse is invalid. There are ten beads to every decade of the rosary and ten fingers to every man.

First Army Surgeon General Featured Speaker at ECSC

Brigadier General Crawford F. Sams is to be the guest speaker at the Ninth Annual Eastern Colleges Science Conference to be held on April 14, 15 and 16 here at Seton Hall. General Sams, Surgeon General of the First Army, having an intimate knowledge of education and medicine both in this country and in the Far East, will speak on education and research in the United States as compared with that in the Far East. Having been responsible for the establishment or re-establishment of all the activities pertaining to health and welfare in Japan and Korea, also having been assigned for many years to the Medical Field Service School, he has played a very active part in medical administration and education.

Dr. M. Maxwell Named As Dean of Hall Dental College

The appointment of Dr. Merritt M. J. Maxwell, United State Navy Captain and until recently Chief of Dental Service at the Naval Hospital in San Diego, California, as Dean of the newly-established Seton Hall College of Dentistry in Jersey City, was recently announced by Monsignor John L. McNulty, university president.

The 56-year-old naval officer is now on terminal leave at Bethesda, Maryland, awaiting his separation from duty after 34 years of service. The new dean is a graduate of the University of California School of Dentistry and did post-graduate work at Southern California University, the University of Pennsylvania, the Mayo Clinic and the University of Hawaii.

He has had two tours of duty on the teaching staff of the U.S. Naval Dental School, Washington, D.C. and was director of the Intern and Residency training programs there. He has also held the post of executive officer of the Naval Dental School in Washington and was commanding officer of the dental clinic in that city. Dr. Maxwell is a former Chief of the Professional Branch, Dental Division, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, in Washington.

In addition the Gas, held commands at St. Albans Naval Hospital, N. Y., Bethesda, Maryland, Pearl Harbor and Annapolis. He has studied under fellowships granted by the American College of Dentists and the International College of Dentists.

During World War I he was transport and destroyer service, while in the Second World War he participated in the South Pacific campaigns. Dr. Maxwell is a frequent contributor to the leading national dental publications, and is the co-author of the U.S. Naval Dental Technicians Manual.

He is a member of the American Board of Oral Surgery and the American Society of Oral Surgeons. His appointment follows that of Dr. Charles L. Brown who was named recently to head the Seton Hall College of Medicine.

General Sams received his Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Psychology at the University of California. He then joined the Infantry as a Private, was commissioned a 2nd Lt., and subsequently was promoted to the grade of Captain after which he resigned in order to study medicine at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. There he received a Master of Science degree in neuro-anatomy and later his M.D. degree.

After his internship he accepted a commission in the regular Army Medical Corps where he steadily advanced in assignments and rank. He was promoted to Major in 1941, becoming Chief Surgeon of the U.S. Army Forces in the Middle East. There he established and supervised the Medical Service of the U.S. Forces. In 1944, by this time a Colonel, he was assigned as Chief of the Programs Branch of G-4 in the War Department and later as Chief of the Planning Branch. He has been Chief of Health and Welfare of the U.S. Forces in the Pacific, of the Supreme Command of Allied Powers in Japan, and of the United Nations Command in Korea. After he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, he established a relief organization, now called the United Nations Civil Assistance Command in Korea.

He has been the recipient of many honors which include: the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal, the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit.

General Sams has published a number of scientific papers in professional journals, and is a member of numerous civilian professional organizations.

Other speakers have also been announced by the Education Chairman of the ECSC, Andrew J. Kallivada. Among them will be Rev. Joseph Lynch of Fordham University who will talk on "Sociology," Dr. Anthony Creech of Newark who will speak on "Cardiology," and Mr. S. D. Page of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company who will give a talk and a demonstration on "Television."

A new face has appeared among the assistant professors of military science and tactics during the last month. Captain Carl Bordiga has been assigned to the Seton Hall University Branch General R.O.T.C. unit for a two-year tour of duty.

Captain Bordiga

Captain Bordiga is a 35-year-old native of Mamaroneck, N. Y. He graduated from F. E. Bellows High School in 1938 and entered New York University in the School of Business Administration. However, after having completed most of his course of study, World War II began and Carl Bordiga began his military career.

He completed his basic training at Camp Livingston, Louisiana, with the 100th Infantry and 103rd Engr. Combat Bn. In 1943 he entered O.C.S. at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. After being commissioned in February of 1943 in the Corps of Engineers, 2nd Lt. Bordiga was assigned to Fort Leonard Wood. After a short time with an armored division at Fort Knox, Kentucky, Lt. Bordiga was sent to the China-Burma-India Theatre of Operations. There he was assigned in October to the 382nd Engineer Battalion. During a tour of duty which lasted 30 months, Lt. Bordiga participated in construction on airfields, pipelines, and the Ledo Road, the famous supply route to China. He also served with the H.Q. of the Northern Area Command under General Stillwell. In 1946 Lt. Bordiga was returned to the United States and was enlisted in the Organized Reserve Corps.

At the outbreak of the Korean War, Lt. Bordiga was recalled to active duty and assigned to the Engineer Training Center at Fort Belvoir. After ten months training duty at Fort Belvoir, Lt. Bordiga went to Europe in January 1952. He was assigned to the U. S. Army-Europe Engineering School at Murnau, Germany and spent 33 months as Adjutant and instructor in that institution. He became a captain in June, 1953. In January, 1955, Captain Bordiga returned to the United States.

Captain Bordiga is married and has two children. He is now residing in the town of Cranford, N. J. He is favorably impressed with the R.O.T.C. unit here and is looking forward to active participation in Seton Hall's programs and activities. We of Seton Hall extend a hearty welcome to Captain Bordiga and for continued success in his military and academic career.

The Catholic College Student

By BERNARD J. DONESKI

Today's college student is an individual who is seeking knowledge in a certain field of human endeavor which will aid him in his future station in life.

The Catholic college student may be defined in the same way, with the notable exception that he is also seeking knowledge which will aid him in gaining eternal life.

The difference between the average college student and the Catholic college student may be readily seen in comparing the two definitions. Why, then, is it so difficult to differentiate between the two types of students on the campus?

This does not mean that the Catholic student should walk around the campus with his hands folded in an attitude of prayer while a golden halo encircles his head. However, the application of Christ-like principles in everyday life on the campus would be more in keeping with the atmosphere of a Catholic college campus, than the conditions which now prevail.

What happened to the ancient practise of stopping to say the Angelus at noon? For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with this beautiful prayer in honor of the Blessed Virgin, it is said in the following manner:

- V. The angel of the Lord declared unto Mary.
R. And she conceived of the Holy Ghost.
Hail Mary, full of grace! the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus. Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners, now and at the hour of our death. Amen.
V. Behold the handmaid of the Lord.
R. Be it done unto me according to thy word.
Hail Mary, etc.
V. And the Word was made flesh.
R. And dwelt among us.
Hail Mary, etc.
V. Pray for us, O Holy Mother of God.
R. That we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.
Let us Pray.

Pour forth, we beseech Thee, O Lord, Thy grace into our hearts, that we to whom the Incarnation of Christ, Thy Son, was made known by message of an angel, may by His passion and cross be brought to the glory of His resurrection, through the same Christ Our Lord. Amen.

A beautiful chapel stands on our campus in close proximity to all classrooms. Aside from the time when mass is said every morning, this edifice, which houses the presence of Christ Himself, is all too frequently void of students. A visit to the chapel requires but a few minutes. There is not one Catholic on campus who cannot spend a short time each day in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament.

At Mass on the final day of this year's retreat, over 1,500 students received Holy Communion. Yet, on Thursday and Friday mornings, only approximately two hundred students receive Communion with the Knights of Setonia. Why is there such a difference in the number of the communicants?

Why isn't a more Christian tone employed in the conversations which are conducted in the cafeteria? I am sure that the students use much more gentleman-like language in their homes. Why, then should such offensive speech be used on a Catholic college campus?

All Catholic students enrolled in the university are required to take certain religion courses. These courses provide instruction which is of unquestionable value. Why do so many fail to benefit from these courses? The fault cannot be attributed to the instructors, who are men dedicated to the service of God. It is rather the fault of the students, who after learning about their religion do not apply its principles to everyday life.

It is time for all Catholic students to emphasize the word "Catholic." After reading this article, will the Catholic college students continue to follow the line of least resistance? Lincoln said that a "river always follows the line of least resistance, that is why it is crooked." The way to Christ is a straight one. All college students have learned that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line. It follows, then, that the shortest way to eternal life is to follow the way of Christ. Let Him be your constant companion, both on and off the campus. BE a real CATHOLIC college student.

Literary Club and Advisory Board To Be Established Here at Seton Hall

In a recent interview with Father Murphy, the head of the library, expressed a desire to start both a Literary Club and an advisory board. The Literary Club would have a twofold object of both reviewing books and stimulating an interest in the many new and older novels contained in the library. Father Murphy said he feels like many other educators who believe that college students lose quite a bit of their education unless they foster a habit of reading extensively. To start this habit and enable the students to learn what type books to read, Father has initiated this club.

However, to enable him to carry on this undertaking he intends to hold a meeting to discover how much interest is on campus for a club such as this and to set up an Advisory Board which will be of mutual benefit to both faculty and students since it will show directly to the faculty the tastes of the students and vice versa.

Seton Hall has a library the equal of any other college library and the best way the students can show their appreciation for this library is to use it.

Shape Up or Ship Out!

The cafeteria for many years has been a constant subject of criticism by both the students and administration. The complete lack of cleanliness on the part of the students produced a condition which was both unsightly and unsanitary. Past efforts on the part of several organizations resulted in a momentary alleviation of the disgraceful situation. These drives resulted in making the students conscious of cleanliness for a day or two, and then the situation reverted back again to its original state. No matter how many waste receptacles were placed around, or no matter how many employees were situated throughout the cafeteria the students still saw fit to throw paper scraps, bags, newspapers, and soda cups on the floor. Sitting in the cafeteria was more like being placed in the middle of an immense rubbish heap rather than in a place where one was expected to dine. The situation reached such a point that many of the faculty members refused to even eat their lunch in the cafe. If it was necessary to throw paper around it would be much better to do this in a place where sanitation would not be endangered, namely the city dump.

Finally the administration saw fit to try and remedy the situation. A complete redecorating job was undertaken. The old ceiling was torn down, and an acoustical ceiling was put in its place. The cafeteria was completely repainted, the combination of these two projects cost the school some ten thousand dollars.

Now another problem faces both the students and the administration. Will this redecoration mean that the students will take more pride in the cafe, or will the same old problem persist? In the last few days since the project has been completed, it seems that the students realize that this money spent by the administration was for their benefit, but how long will it last?

We hold that the future condition of the cafe rests entirely in the hands of the individual students.

By complying with a few simple rules we may effectively solve the problem at hand. The waste receptacles are close at hand, it just takes a few steps to put your scraps into the containers. The cafeteria is no place to study or just loiter around. A new library was completed this semester, the administration spent over one million dollars for this structure which is an ideal place to indulge in intellectual stimulation, and the student lounge is a comfortable place in which to spend your leisure time.

We can editorialize from dawn till dusk, posters and notices can be placed throughout the cafeteria and reminders can be put forth from every corner—but, this condition will exist as long as those few individuals who have not yet matured sufficiently to realize their social responsibilities continue to make the cafeteria a shambles. It is our responsibility to awaken these few from their lethargy. If words are of no avail, then we must ostracize them until they cease to behave as uninhibited juveniles.

TWOOD: Why do you go out with Helen?
 TWEED: "Because she's different from other girls."
 TWOOD: "How?"
 TWEED: "She'll go out with me."

Funny eh? . . . No? . . . O.K., but we have to begin some how. . . The new quad will have another Shrine in a few months. . . The Junior Class is presenting a Crucifix to the university—it's coming from Rome. . . Also along the Junior Class lines, rumor has it that the Junior Prom will be in the Star-Lite Room of the Waldorf and that the music will be provided by the "Commanders" . . . a floor show with Hollywood stars also booms on the horizon—Chuck Doehler, the Centennial Class Prexy and his cohorts are planning muchly in the line of entertainment for the affair. . . Incidentally Chuck tried hard to get a Spring We'nd but no soap.

Phi Beta Sigma pledges took their final oath last Sunday in Student Affairs office. . . Two of the more staunch SHU men, Lenny Rich and Don Grady have been playing diplomatic roles lately. . . certain Senior officers have certain pleasing sisters. . . There must be a "spook" in the Affairs office. . . a mysterious hand print stands out on the wall. . . Speaking of "spooks," Ted Swift and Danny Murray went hunting for a few, a few weeks back—no luck tho'. . . There were 104 yes's and 63 no's in the recent Scabard and Blade poll. . . won't drink whose positives and negatives they were. . . Why are the Columbia football players all waiting to pull a trap play on Bob Newkirk? Maybe some of that medicine will keep them away, eh Newk? . . . With apologies to Tom Piechocinski, the fotog'fir, his name was not mentioned in the Dance Booklet for the Queen of the Campus Dance. . . Bobby Friestag is going to be a "pop" in October. . . Cost of Cafe's new look . . . 10 g's . . . guess that means we'll have to take good care of it, men.

Little gold dots and long ties? . . . just a AKPSI pledges. . . Ned Crowell has been taking a collection for skis. . . Tom Commis whose interests beam highly on the the'ror and on Mrs. A, likes rainy days, for on those days the yellow paratrooper raincoat comes out of mothballs. . . Willie Flynn's been eating Kielbasa, for sentimental reasons. . . Jerry Vogel, Dick Kernan, Pat Connor, and Benny Stanziale were off to the Ivy League and Dartmouth for a Student Government Clinic. . . Charlie Schrak is out looking for another Tony Trabert; if there are any of you little proteges' around, see Charlie, SHU wants a good Tennis Team this Spring. . . John Kennelly, along with the "girl on the hill," mysteriously slipping away to take care of documents. . . subversives? . . . naw, just excuses. . . If you see Frankie Cannata running 'round the campus imagine he's blowing a whistle, don't be surprised. . . it comes from refin' intr'mural. . . Letter from Margie! . . . yeeaaa, it's 'bout time. . . Education majors started to practice teach Monday, woe, to the hoods that get into their way. . . Vinnie Cerullo came home from the St. E's Tea Dance at the Waldorf singing, "Mary Lou, I luv you, Mary Lou". . . Also after that little affair, Walt Ramsey wasn't singing "Mary Lou," but "hasten, Jasen man, bring that basin". . . BMOG, Paul Keast, was in'viewed at the half of the Iona B.E. game by Bert Lee Jr. . . John May's party after the game a smash hit! Who gave Fred Rossi the car? . . . The Eiffel Tower is 984 foot high! . . . and Attila the Hun had 401 wives. . . be good . . . take care.

Msgr. Abbo Completes Translation of Fr. Rossi's "This Way To God"

By BILL GANGE

Students of Msgr. John A. Abbo, both past and present, as well as the many warm friends he has made on campus and in the Urban Division with his congenial personality, will be pleased to learn that Villa Walsb' press, Morris, town has recently published a wonderful book, This Way To God, translated by him from the Italian. Published in Italy under the title of Breviario Cristiano by Fr. Giovanni Rossi. The translated version by Msgr. Abbo is available at our bookstore at $2.50.

A truly great book, This Way To God proves that the modern man must live Christianity in its totality if he would be true, to his higher call and pursue his happy destiny. The whole man is the whole Christian and the whole Christian is the whole apostle. Father Rossi brings to the fore a truth which is the foundation of all spiritual progress: man's mystical incorporation in Christ. This premise established, the author examines, in clear, swift moving chapters, all the implications and phases of a life lived in Christ, through Christ and with Christ. While pointing out the heights of perfection, he leads one by the hand, as it were, through the varied events of each day. Among the outstanding merits of the book are its practicality, and its simple-in-escapable logic in applying the deepest concepts of Christian theology to man's everyday life. A youthful, daring spirit pervades all the pages of this work which is essentially Christ-centered and eminently optimistic. Of special interest are the chapters on the modern apostolate. They express deep convictions born not so much of theory as of long, fruitful years of personal experience in the apostolic field.

Msgr. Abbo who has been professor of political science here at Seton Hall for a period of seven years, is well versed in the problems of the world as related to re-highly recommends this book as extremely appropriate for students. This book, he says, will give them a needed meditation on the Great Truths. Monsignor recently described this book very aptly in an article in the Advocate when he said: "This book by Fr. Rossi is a Twentieth-Century Imitation of Christ."

Since this book adheres to the basic idea of the Christophers, "To bring God back into Society," Father James Keller, the director of the Christophers, was asked to write the foreword. Father Keller obliged and his esteem for the book is evidenced by this excerpt: "The Reader is taken from the highest flights of the spiritual to the most concrete situations of every day. This is high praise indeed for the author's ability to put a point across without losing the continuity of thought."

Msgr. Abbo is not new to the field of literature; his name appears on an auspicious list of publications. The most important of these is The Sacred Canons, a two volume commentary on the code of Canon law, which appeared about two years ago, and has already become a classic text in America. Monsignor's collaborator in this commentary is the present Bishop of Scranton, the most Reverend Jerome D. Hannah.

Monsignor hopes that this new translation of Breviario Cristiano by Fr. Rossi, who by the way is an author widely read and respected in Europe, will have a wide circulation in this country, because This Way To God has something extremely important to say and says it in such a pointed and effective manner.

Council Capers

By FRANK G. CANNATA

At the last meeting of the Student Council, for the fall semester of 1954 the Constitution of the Booster Club was accepted by the Organizational Aid Committee and voted into the Council.

There is no doubt that the school needs a Booster Club. Every large University has some sort of organization that supports athletic events and provides some unified cheering. If you have been to any of the games this year I think that you will agree with me that there is room for improvement along the lines of cheering. The boys on the basketball team represent Seton Hall and they deserve all the support we can give them.

It is my opinion that the Booster Club will do a lot to create a greater showing of school spirit. After all what is cheering but an external sign of support. I'm sure every Setonian is proud of Seton Hall. The reason that cheering hasn't been good in the past is because of poor organization. The Booster Club will organize groups to sit together and really shout their heads off for dear old Setonia.

Of course you might say that the basketball season is almost over and why bother joining. Well all I can say is that the Club will plan for next season.

Watch the bulletin boards for the first meeting of this club and don't hesitate to join. The only requirement for membership is that you must be a full-time student here on the campus. Of course there will be more to the club than cheering at games. There will be a dance and an outing or possibly a few socials. I hope that this organization will receive your fullest cooperation.

One of the hardest workers on this campus, along the lines of student activities, is Jack McElroy, Jack is Senior delegate to N.E.C.S. He takes his job very seriously and always has the best interests of Seton Hall at heart. He receives very little recognition for the work he has done and is doing. Yet he goes right on doing the best he knows how. Jack is a credit to Seton Hall, and to the N.E.C.S. I hope that next year's delegate to the Federation does as well as Jack has done.

I would like to thank all the fellows who had anything to do with the collection of the March of Dimes. Due to their efforts Seton Hall once again led the area in total contributions.

Medical School Applicants Exams Announced by Educational Test Service

Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1956 are advised to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, it was announced today by Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges. These tests, required of applicants by almost every medical college throughout the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 7, 1955, or on Monday, October 31, 1955, at administrations to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges recommends that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1956 take the May test.

The MCAT consists of tests of general scholastic ability, a test on understanding of modern society, and an achievement test in science. According to ETS, no special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary. All questions are of the objective type.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which gives details of registration and administration, as well as sample questions, are available from pre-medical advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must reach the ETS office by April 23 and October 17, respectively, for the May 7 and October 31 administrations.

Seton Spanish Club Makes Annual Trip to New York

Seton Hall's highly active Spanish Club had another of its fabulous annual field trips to New York City on Sunday, February 27th. This year, a new twist was added. Members of the club were paired off with students from the Spanish Club of St. Elizabeth's College.

"Los Hispanistas," attended a tea at St. Elizabeth's on Thursday, February 11th, where the fellows met their dates for the coming field trip. The purpose of these field trips is to help acquaint the club members with the various phases of Spanish Civilization and culture. Since many of the club members are majoring in Spanish, these trips are beneficial in improving their knowledge of the subject they are studying. The trips are both cultural and entertaining.

The club members met at Penn Station in Newark on Sunday morning and proceeded on to New York City. The first stop was at the Spanish Club of St. Elizabeth's. Edna Sarot and Miss Filomena Pelera from the Spanish Department of Montclair State Teachers College guided the members through the city's Spanish cultural spots. Their first visit was to the beautiful Spanish Catholic Church located in the heart of the city.

The next stop on the agenda was the Hispanic Museum, located at Broadway and 155th Street. The museum contains many displays of Spanish art, literature and customs and was very interesting. Tea at the Hotel Pierre followed the visit to the Hispanic Museum. After a short period of sightseeing, the hungry Spanish students went to the famous El Fundador Restaurant for dinner.

El Fundador is known throughout the East for being one of the finest restaurants of its type in New York. In addition to an authentic Spanish dinner complete from "Sopa a neules," the students had the opportunity of observing a number of native Spanish dances performed by entertainers at the restaurant. The dancing made such an impression that the next stop was a visit to the Spanish Ballet for more of the wonderful dances.

The field trip was a great success, and plans for similar activities are being made now. Any Spanish students interested should contact either Dr. Sarot, Club Moderator or Jules Alvares, El Presidente, for further details.

Hooks and Jabs

By Chuck Germain

Despite the recent investigation into the boxing profession and the rumors of alleged scandals, the sport is showing distinct signs of business. Garcia is believe-it-or-not a "twin hooker". He rarely throws anything but hooks with either hand and his style is as rare as than ever. As you know, television has played a major role in this expansion but another reason is the large crop of colorful young fighters that have appeared on the scene.

Some of the more promising young fighters of today are Floyd Patterson, Frankie Ryff, Tony Anthony, Cisco Andrade, Rudy Garcia and perhaps the most colorful of them all, "Cyclone" Gene Fuller. The first three, Patterson, Ryff and Anthony are former golden gloves champions and it would not surprise us if Patterson, a lightweight, and Ryff, a lightweight, become "world champs" within the next two years. Cisco Andrade and Rudy Garcia are two more crowd-pleasing lightweights who could give the champ, Jimmie Carter, a hard time should they get a title shot. Andrade has a classical boxing style featured by as good a left jab as there is in the "Cyclone" Fuller, a middleweight, made his first eastern appearance last month by trimming a tough Jackie LaBua at Eastern Parkway.

It looks now as though Rocky Marciano's next title defense will be against Nino Valdes, the big Cuban, at Miami in the spring. If so, it doesn't add up to be much of a scrap since Valdes has rarely shown much in the way of aggressiveness. I wonder why the boxing matchmakers fail to realize that Archie Moore is just about the only real threat to dethrone the Rock. Moore has been beating the best light-heavyweights and heavyweights around for the past ten years and has the style and experience to give a plodder-type fighter like Marciano a real test. Let's hope that Archie gets his chance before he is too old, he's 38 now.

The Tip Off

By JOE DAMATO

I see that the referee has just tossed the hall up—and once again "The Tipoff" is the center of attention.

The Katona Flash, Bill Runge, has done it again, starting a new fad. Billy is famous for coming up with new hobbies to amuse himself. Last year he lifted weights. This year it's a little more colorful—home wallpapering. His room in McQuaid Hall is a real work of art—a true museum. The walls have everything from roses to trees, animals and circus performers. Billy says it takes his mind off things after a hard basketball practice.

WEEK'S TIP: Did you know that Richie Regan, former Pirate great of the 1953 N.I.T. Champs, has a particular fondness for South Orange Avenue? He should, because all his education stems from the schools located there. Richie started down in St. Antoninus Grammar School, then moved to West Side High, midway on the Avenue; and finally graduated from Seton Hall University at the top of the Avenue.

A familiar face in the gymnasium is that of Joe Lucciola, Pirate hard hitting 3rd sacker during the baseball season and head basketball manager in the cc. season. Joe, in addition to helping with running the practice sessions, handles most of the administrative work.

Another familiar face in the gym is that of the Buccaneer trainer Eddie Coppola. "Sad Sam," as he is called, is a common figure at all the home and garden games. Whenever the T.V. lights up the games—there on the bench, towel in hand, is Eddie. But Coppola is not only the trainer to the boys, he is also their friend, and always willing to volunteer helpful advice.

Recently ran into Happy Harry Brooks, leading scorer of the 1954 Buccaneers at a local pro double bill. "Happy" explained that he is currently teaching 8th grade in the Union City School system. Brooks, a Phys. Ed. graduate, toured Japan with the Baltimore Bullets this past summer, but intends to be in the army by January.

It's highway robbery!

For sheer fun out on the road, Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

Up to this year, maybe there were reasons for wanting one of the higher-priced cars. If you demanded something really special in the way of driving fun, you simply had to pay a premium to get it.

Not any more! The Motoramic Chevrolet has changed all that. Who could wish for more excitement than the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers? (For those who do, 180-h.p. is optional at extra cost in all V8 models.) Chevrolet also offers the two highest powered sixes in its field.

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

The Angelus

At 12:30 every afternoon, the Angelus Bell rings out, across the Campus of Seton Hall. It calls us from the din of a noisy and troubled world to the silence and peace that comes from prayer. How pleased the Blessed Mother must be to see the students of Seton Hall stop their activity for a minute to say the Angelus. The Angelus tells the story of the Incarnation of our Lord in a most beautiful manner, starting with the Annunciation and finishing with the Nativity. We should recall this mystery of the Incarnation especially now, having recently celebrated the Birthday of the Christ Child.

Immediately after the Angelus, the Rosary is recited in the chapel. We should pray the Rosary every day, because we need the graces and favors that the Blessed Mother can obtain for us.

SHOW IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Our show in the spotlight today is one that has been on WSOU for almost three and one half years. If you should have your FM dial tuned to 89.5 on Monday night at eight o'clock you'll hear Lloyd McBride say "Recorded song successes from Broadway show successes of today and yesterday." Yes, that will be "Across the Footlights" Lloyd McBride's original idea of presenting music from Broadway. Lloyd has been doing the show since September of 1951. Each week he presents either a complete show or a variety of music from Broadway musicals. The complete history of the show and performers is given between recordings. If you are a music fan or a musical comedy fan this is a must on your entertainment schedule.

NEW SHOWS

Several new shows will be found in the WSOU schedule in the next few weeks. The Student Affairs will bring back the show they presented last year. Each organization belonging to the Student Affairs has been invited. The show will be one half hour long and will feature a different organization on campus every second Monday. The Student Affairs' Show will be on either from 3:00 to 3:30 or 4:00 to 4:25 the time has not yet been set.

The department of Business Administration will bring back their show from last year entitled "Business Forum." "Business Forum" will be presented every second Friday from 8:00 to 8:30. The panel will discuss problems in business, marketing, and industry in the metropolitan area. There will be a featured guest on each show.

Caldwell College will make their debut on WSOU with a group of students interested in radio activities. They will present a half hour show every two weeks. Each show will differ from that of the preceding week. The types of shows will include forums, discussions, interviews and dramatics.

The Setonian will also present a new show on WSOU. This will be a five-minute show every week. The show will feature news from the campus and news from The Setonian.

With these new shows and the shows already on the air, we can be assured that Seton Hall, through the facilities of WSOU, will inject into the public the high quality of Seton Hall and its standing among the top universities in the nation.

LISTENING RESPONSE

The studios of WSOU have been filled with enthusiasm lately due to the wonderful audience response. About a month ago WSOU offered on the air a program guide to "the voice of Seton Hall University." The mail response from New York and New Jersey was gratifying and the publicity department did a wonderful job supplying a mimeographed copy of our program guide to everyone who wrote in.

Vets Among Most Active On Campus

It has often been said that the influx of veterans after World War II and Korean "police action" on college campuses has had a dampening effect of student activity in co-curricular activities. Not so at Seton Hall! The bulk of our veteran contingent at the Hall is an active group whose abilities and energies advance the causes of many campus organizations. For example, Jay Bodner, Marketing Club president, Vets Club officer and Setonian columnist, Mike Taylor, Vets Club president, A.K.Psi sparkplug and member of behind the scenes powers that be of last year's University Nite Show, "Mac" McTague, A.K.Psi Business chairman and President of last Phi Beta Sigma pledge class, Bob Stone of University Nite Show fame, Ken Enholtz, Insurance Club officer, Vince Higgins, French Club officer and official scorer for this season's basketball squad, Joe DeVito, Joe Galipo, Paul Malague, Jim Slevin, Vinnie Icopino, Al Byrd, Bernie Kohanski, and many, many others. Hats off to our vets, many of whom have pressing outside commitments but still find time to devote some of their free time to co-curriculars.

Alumni News

Frank Holler, former news editor of The Setonian, is currently banging out the copy for the Bergen Evening Record, a businessmen's daily.

Frank has been credited with spearheading the journalistic drive against "Lodi's Sin Strip," a stretch of "Honky Tonks" running along the Lodi part of Route 6. Frank's crusading which was soon taken up by other Bergen-Passaic area publications resulted in the indictment, trial and subsequent conviction of the owners of these establishments.

To say that Frank Holler is a credit to Seton Hall is hardly sufficient praise for an individual who has so vividly transferred the moral teachings of his undergraduate years into practical application.

Army Pfc. Leonard J. Rahilly is regularly assigned as a personnel clerk in Headquarters Company of the 47th Infantry Division's 134th Regiment at Fort Benning. A 1951 graduate of Seton Hall, he has been in the Army since September, 1953. His wife, Dorothy, is with him at Fort Benning.

Leonard Reichenstein, 22, recently was promoted to corporal in Germany, where he is a member of the 1st Infantry Division's 16th Regiment. Corporal Reichenstein, a '33 graduate of the "Hall," entered the Army in June of that year. He has been overseas 14 months.

Having entered the Army last August, both Second Lt. Donald G. Shaw and Second Lt. James L. Previti have completed the basic officers course at Provost Marshal General School, Camp Gordon, Ga., and are now serving with the 716th Military Police Battalion at Fort Dix.

Anthony M. Ruggiero, journalist second class, USN, was advanced to his present rate New Year's Day while serving at the Fleet Home Town News Center at Great Lakes, Ill. Anthony enlisted in 1951 after graduating from Seton Hall. He completes his tour of duty next September.

The news center, the only one of its kind in the entire Navy, edits news releases and distributes them to their home town newspapers and radio and television stations.

Henry Cooper, former basketball star, is engaged to marry Miss Pauline M. Mullman of Floral Park. Henry is now employed by Bay State Optical Company of Westbury, N. Y. He received a commission in the army upon graduation in June and reported for active duty in January.

John L. Simi of Carlstadt, N. J., was graduated from the U. S. Naval Pre-Flight School at Pensacola, Fla. He attended Seton Hall before entering the Naval Aviation Cadet Program.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Norman Winter, Public Relations Director of the Welfare and Health Council of the City of New York, will be guest lecturer at Mr. Harry W. Mr. Winter will tell about public relations programs for philanthropic organizations in general, with particular references to organizations dedicated to public health problems.

Msgr. Brady Completes New Book on Public Aid to Private Schools

A new book, entitled Confusion Twice Confounded, has been written by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph H. Brady. Monsignor Brady is head of the Department of Social Studies here, archdiocesan historian and censor of books, and in addition is a member of the Editorial Board of The Advocate.

The work deals with the interpretation placed on the first article of the First Amendment to the Federal Constitution by the United States Supreme Court in two major decisions handed down in 1947 and 1948. In the first, which concerned New Jersey, the Court upheld as constitutional the law now in effect with which transportation is provided at public expense for children attending non-public schools.

In the second decision in 1948, the Court declared that it was a violation of the constitution for the Board of Education of Champaign, Illinois, to allow religious organizations to hold religious instruction classes in the public school buildings of that community.

Confusion Twice Confounded shows that, while in the New Jersey case the result was correct, it was only accidentally so, and that the Court in both decisions, gravely distorted the meaning of the words of the First Amendment, that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

The book opens with a detailed account of this clause of the First Amendment. The discussions that attended its enactment by Congress and its ratification by the state conventions are reproduced to the extent necessary to show what was the intention of those who drafted and adopted it. Further study reveals that this original meaning was accepted by our Presidents, our Congresses and our Courts from the beginning until now, or, at least, until 1947.

The historical survey is followed by a detailed, almost word for word examination of the decisions and opinion of the Supreme Court in the New Jersey and Illinois cases. This examination reveals that our highest court completely ignored the historical background and original meaning of the clause in question; that it, in effect, substituted for that clause a figure of speech coined by Thomas Jefferson eleven years after the Amendment was adopted.

It further reveals that in this figure of speech it gave a meaning completely alien to Jefferson's

Pershing Rifles Hold Pledge Ball to Welcome Twenty-four New Members

On Friday evening February the 18th the Pershing Rifles of Seton Hall University, held its annual Pledge Ball at the Roseville Avenue Armory in Newark.

The Pershing Rifles is a National Honorary Fraternity of R.O.T.C. students, founded in 1894 by General Pershing. The organization follows a definite Army pattern, with two drill periods a week.

The Pledge Ball brought to a close four months of avid military preparation which must be undertaken in order to enter the organization. At ten o'clock, the twenty-four pledges were administered the P.R. oath by Cadet Captain Frank E. Schatzman. Following this, Lt. Col. Frank E. Bartlett, P.M.S.&T. at Seton Hall, presented the men with their scrolls, service ribbons, and P.R. cords.

Following this ceremony while Ray Fellas' Orchestra played the Coronation Waltz, the guests of honor, including: Father Edward Larkin, Dean of Men; Captain Arthur Adams, D.P. Moderator and other R.O.T.C. staff members, choose the new Honorary Company Commander, who is Miss Vicki Risoli from Belleville, New Jersey. This Queen will reign until next year's annual Pledge Ball.

The following named men were made members at this affair: J. A. Bagnole, F. J. Ballman, W. D. Bevensse, R. J. Bierko, J. M. Burt, G. M. Byrne, D. A. Callaghan, S. C. Galelo, R. T. Collins, J. F. # NSA Regional Meeting Held Last Sunday

The New Jersey Region of the National Student Association held here on Sunday. The Committee formulated plans for the Regional Spring Congress to be held at the end of April. The three proposed sites are Rutgers, Seton Hall or Upsala.

In addition Pat Gallagher of St. Elizabeth's, the Regional Chairman, announced that Gary Nardino, of Seton Hall, was appointed New Jersey Region Public Relations Director. Another Setonian, Joe Gilchrist, was placed on the committee to investigate the availability of the three schools for the Congress.

After Hours

By JOHN MAYE

Many thanks go to John Kennedy and Pat O'Connor for the swell job they're doing in launching the Intramural Program. These two fellow Setonians have put their heads together and have come up with a program that includes basketball, swimming, bowling and softball with thirty-three teams having been entered in the Basketball League. This league got under way last Wednesday but an extended deadline on the bowling and swimming teams has been set for April 1. In order to pay for the trophies it is necessary to charge $2.00 entry fee for each team.

The night of February 18 saw the "ambassadors of song" as guest of the girls at Notre Dame College, Staten Island. The men sang in their usually good form and later attended a social at which the girls proved themselves to be excellent hostesses. The program for the evening included such numbers as No Other Love, Morning and Down In The Valley. Vinnie Wu, (who's Eddie Fisher's closest competition) and the first-rate harmonizing of the Barber Shop Quartet in the person of Denis Bonforte, Bill Gannon, Larry Kolota, and Larry Orlando provided the finishing touches. On Saturday of this week they will travel to Centenary Junior College and also will be seen at the Women's Club of Elizabeth on Sunday.

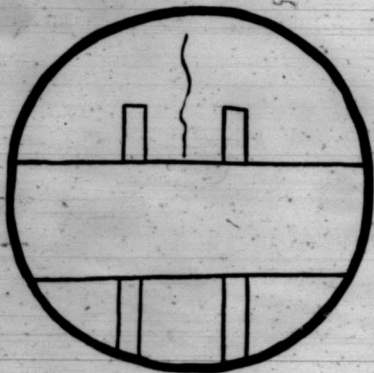

Seton Hall will be represented in the N.F.C.C.S. One-Act-Play Tournament at St. Peter's this Saturday by five competent Thespians in a play entitled "The Valiant." The cast as we go to press includes Bob Curley, Theresa Ransome, Don Scanlon, Dick Pittner and John Ransome. Dr. Sullivan is doing most of the directing.

Word has come to this columnist that Tom Bender, a senior marketing major, has been appointed Chesterfield Campus Representative by Campus Merchandizing Bureau Inc. This means valuable experience for Tom in merchandising, advertising and public relations.

Now that the cafe has been redecorated at the cost of some ten thousand dollars, it becomes necessary to repeat the worn out theme of "How to keep it clean." The N.S.A. has offered to study the situation and hopes to come up with a solution in the near future. But all this is useless unless we have the cooperation of each individual—and that means you, not the guy next to you. Let's use the waste receptacles that are nearby in less of course you don't have enough respect for yourself or the food you eat that you enjoy eating amid slop. If you have any suggestions for the N.S.A. in their project, why not drop into Student Affairs and speak to someone.

The University of Dayton annually floors one of the best college cage teams in the U.S.A. This year is no exception, for young Tommy Blackburn has an all-star troupe that deserves top billing on almost any marquee. He features Bill Uhl, John Horan, Jack Sallee, Chris Harris and a strong supporting cast. For height there's Uhl and Horan; for rebounding there's Uhl and Horan; for scoring there's Uhl, Horan, Sallee and Harris. It's no wonder the dangerous Dayton Flyers are going to finish the season with well over twenty wins, losses to Duquesne, UCLA and Cincinnati being the only blemishes on an almost perfect slate. At last look Dayton was rated in the "top twenty" category of basketball teams by both AP and UP as well as INS. The offensive average was 77.7 with Uhl averaging 18.5 per game, Horan at 18.0, Sallee at 14.7 and Harris at 9.6. Included among those victimized by Dayton were such notables as Memphis State, Canisius and Villanova, all of whom are NCAA-tourney bound, not to mention Louisville, Duquesne and Cincinnati who are NIT headed. Dayton took Louisville twice in over-times while vanquishing the Dukes and Cincy after each earlier setback the Flyers.

It may be readily discerned therefore that tomorrow night's Seton Hall and Dayton annual get together portends one of the season's best games. The unpredictable Hall looked at times, this year nothing, less than sensational, particularly against William & Mary and in more recent weeks against St. Francis of Brooklyn. Hence, if Seton plays off the form shown in these games an upset could be in the offing. But would it really be an upset after all? Because the Pirate performed far below their true form in a prolonged mid-season tailspin is all the more reason to expect much from the Hall when they take the court against the Daytonians.

Tonight is merely a warm-up with John Carroll prior to the big one tomorrow saved for last. Trouble might be anticipated tonight only insofar as the Blue Streaks have the home court advantage in addition to a guy named George Dalton who when he's hot boosts the JC stock considerably. Dalton had always spelled trouble for the Hall prior to the February 5th game at Setonia gym when he was forced to one of his season's low point productions, thanks to a tight defensive job by Rich Long. The lifetime series with JC is in Seton's favor 6-1 but the Dayton books stand unbalanced 2-3 with the last Pirate victory coming in 1952-53. 21-74. That was an 8-point verdict for Walt Dukes, Richie Regan and Co., later in the season to be atoned for by Dayton with an upset 70-65 Flyer score. That ended a 27 game consecutive win string for Seton Hall. Then last year Dayton copped both games in a home and home series by 67-65 and 76-61 margins (the first on Bill Uhl's last second winning tap in).

Whether the Seton Hall season concludes after the Dayton game is a question, the answer to which is unknown at this writing, probably even to the NIT selection committee. However, it's probable that by the time this paper gets to press the mystery will be solved.

SCUTTLEBUTT:

We were privileged recently to attend a golf clinic at the Little Theater with Seton Hall coach Bud Gehegan and Setonian sports writer Nick Blasi charge d'affaires. Golf films and links lessons coupled with a question and answer period supplied enjoyment to the many duffers present. . . . Anyone interested in trying out for the golf and or tennis teams at the Hall is requested to drop by Student Affairs and leave his name. . . . Billy Nolan, the Hall's first baseball All-American, was another returning visitor. Nolan and Brooklyn ref Ed Murphy were the WSOU intermission interviewees.

STRANGE THINGS ARE ALWAYS HAPPENING DEPT.: Despite the fact that Don Roberts, one of Frank Peloso's frosh basketballers, was a scholastic star at Scotia High—only a stone's throw from the hometown of this writer—I never once saw him play or even heard of him. . . . QUOTE OF THE DAY: When told he couldn't gain admittance to the Navy dressing room after the Army-Navy game, a tall, rugged gentleman snappily replied, "Oh yeh! Just TRY and stop me."

So said, Admiral William "Bull" Halsey. That reminds me of the time an unwitting gent nearly barred Tommy Henrich from the New York Yankee dressing room during a World Series. Henrich had a dilemma before gaining entrance, having to produce identification of some sort.

Bert Lee Jr., Fred Sayles, and Eyle Reed have handled the WAAT telecasts of the Seton Hall home games over channel 13. . . . There's the story on Bert Lee Jr. whom I am told frequently referred to Gonzaga University in his play-by-play the night of the Seton Hall game as a quintet from the "nation's capital Washington, D.C." Gonzaga is, as you probably know, located at Spokane, Washington. Even announcers, it seems, have their off-nights. The words just seem to teeter on the mike and drop out—incorrectly. . . . Seton Hall baseball coach Owen Carroll lectured on "The Correct Pitch" at the convention of college baseball coaches in the New Yorker a couple of weeks ago.

Honey Russell's career as an amateur and professional baseball, basketball and football player as well as court coach will be traced in a sport magazine profile feature story in a forthcoming issue.

Seton Hall Tracksters Stand Out in East's Top Track Meets

McCready, Gironda, and Trouve Score To Pace Seton Hall Indoor Track Squad

By ED CRYER

The Seton Hall track squad on February 18 dominated the running events in a meet at Baltimore against Maryland, Morgan State, Georgetown and several other teams. Captain Ray Trouve in his second individual stint of the year brought home his second straight first place trophy award, this time in the half mile.

Vic Gironda placed third in the same event, and Sid McCready was second while the heavily favored two mile relay team had to sit out their race when they turned up late.

Besides the Baltimore meet the team has competed in all the major meets here in the East. Running in the mile and two mile relay events, the team has brought back medals in most of the meets.

A mile relay team of Chick Maute, Tom Cahill, Frank Bailey and George Hesnan placed third in the Boston K. of C. Meet, the Washington Star Games and the Boston A.A. Games. A second place was taken in the Philadelphia Inquirer Games and a first place triumph in the N.Y.A.C. Meet.

The two mile relay team of Gironda, McCready, Hennessey and Trouve, in their initial appearance of the year, took first in the Inquirer Meet. The team's best time, however, was in the Boston A.A. Games when they placed fourth to the National champion Syracuse relay team.

ONCE AROUND THE TRACK: Seton Hall competed for the first time in an Ivy League contest in a mile relay event at Washington. . . . Frank Panelli, lacking time to practise, was forced to quit the team. . . . Trouve and Cahill have the top times in the 440 and the former's 1:55.6 in the half mile is easily the best on the squad. . . . Maute, leadoff man on the mile relay and Gironda the two mile relay counterpart have spelled success or doom for the team all season according to how they get the team started.

Intramurals Return To Seton Hall Scene

That long lost intramural competition has returned to the Seton Hall campus in the form of the new intramural basketball league. Pat O'Connor introduced the idea to the student council, and with the help of John Kennelly, he has formulated, policy and started the league.

The overall program calls for the competition to be divided into three separate leagues. Each league will consist of eleven teams, making a total of thirty-five teams that will be included in the program.

Schedules for all the games will be posted in the cafeteria every week. Afternoon games will be played at 3:15, 4:15, and 5:15. Evening games will run at 6:15.

The 20-year-old sophomore out of West Orange has proven himself an erstwhile performer on this year's basketball team. One of the country's most sought-after scholastic ballplayers because of his 39-point per game average at Carver Prep, Chuck is currently fifth high scorer on this year's team.

The well-built business major does most of his scoring with a one handed jump shot and can score freely from all positions on the floor. Equally plausible is the 5'4", 200 pounder's playmaking abilities.

Only in his first season of varsity ball, he had his best game against Boston College when he led the scoring attack with 17 points. Highly regarded, Honey Russell tabs him as a possible future All-American choice.

Intramurals

7:15, and 8:15. These games will be regulation time, with a five-minute half time intermission. The results of all games will appear in the University today and The Setonian.

There are a few rules that must be followed for the success of the league. A two-dollar entrance fee must be paid by each team. This money will help to buy trophies and medals for the winners. If a team forfeits two games, it is out of the league and the team loses their entrance fee. All players must present their school identification cards at all games. Varsity or freshmen team members are not eligible for play.

At the present time, it is the hope of Pat O'Connor to have a tournament after the leagues are completed. The four top teams in each league will compete in such a tournament.

TOM CAHILL

The stocky quarter miler in his first year of eligibility at Seton Hall has been the leading runner on this year's mile relay. Usually handling the anchor leg, he has kept his time around 30 seconds all season.

A graduate of St. Augustine's H. S. in Brooklyn, Tom was one of New York's best runners for three years. During that time he won the Catholic school 440 title and scored in the National high school championships. After graduation he ran the leadoff leg on the N. Y. Athletic Club mile relay for a year and a half and gained valuable experience in competition against some of the nation's top teams.

A sophomore Accounting major, Tom may see some action in the shorter distances this outdoor season because of his speed.
