FROSH PLAY HOST SATURDAY

Contest Ends April 10

The staff of The Setonian has announced that the annual Queen of the Campus Dance will be held in the Gym on the evening of May second. The dance is sponsored by the staff of your college paper with an eye to improving the school by improving the paper.

Monsignor Abbo Completes Canons

Monsignor John A. Abbo, who has been Professor of Political Science at Seton Hall since 1947, has recently completed his commentary on the entire body of Canon Law, after five years of laborious research. This work in two volumes (1829 pages), is entitled, "The Sacred Canons" and offers a thorough coverage of each and every canon of the Code published by Benedict XV in 1917. It also presents many authentic interpretations and authoritative decisions of the Holy See subsequent to that year.

Among its noteworthy features, this latest and most complete of American commentaries includes references to: the legislation of the Councils of Baltimore, which are the bi-laws of the Church in America; parallel rules of the Oriental Church, making wide use of the new Oriental Code; American civil law, particularly in regard to economic matters and marriage questions. It places ecclesiastical institutions and laws in their proper setting and perspective by consistently outlining their historical background. An index of 4,500 entries makes it possible for anyone seeking an item in the code itself or in the commentary to locate it in less than sixty seconds. Its effective style and modern language, as well as the clear arrangement of its chap-

The weekly Queens are chosen by a different department of the paper. One week the feature staff, headed by John Hansel, has the extremely difficult task of sorting through the many photographs submitted by you the students. This job then goes to the News staff, the Business and the advertising department.

The Semifinals will be held in the Little Theater on Sunday, April 19. At this time Master of Ceremonies Jack Herrity will introduce each of the contestants to the Board of Editors and members of the committee. These lucky men will pick the prettiest and the most talented young women and the final selection will be made the night of the dance by a board of celebrities from the entertainment world. The semifinals are open to the student body and they are most cordially invited to attend.

The dance will have a $2 bid that will cover the entire price of the evening. Remember, it's not too late to submit a snap shot of your heart throb. Enclose a picture of her attached to the entry blank that is in this edition. Deposit these with a prayer at the Setonian office and while you're there, pick up your ticket to the dance.

For an evening of dancing and entertainment, as well as a chance to see the most beautiful young women in the area, don't miss the QUEEN OF THE CAMPUS DANCE on May 2.

In the Preface, Archbishop A. G. Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate in Washington and a canonist in his own right, states that the commentary has the character not only of a theoretical exposition of legal principles but also of a practical manual concerned with their application. He adds: "It is the fruit both of attentive study and extensive experience in teaching and applying church law. A book such as this aids the movement toward systematic presentation of courses in canon law in the leading universities of this country."

Monsignor Abbo had been for about ten years in the diplomatic service of the Holy See. He has

Johnny Hensler Is to Provide Music at 'Spring Maid Dance'

On Saturday, April 11th, the freshman class will present its "Spring Maid Dance." The dancing will last from nine to one.

The music for the affair will be supplied by three separate units. The first of these, the dance orchestra, is Johnny Hensler's Band. Johnny is not a stranger to the Seton Hall campus. A graduate of the University, he has performed at many of the Prep functions. He is also a veteran of church and charity benefit affairs.

McLaughlin Newly Elected Captain For Diamond Nine

Charles McLaughlin, a senior has been elected captain of the 1953 Seton Hall University diamond squad which opened its season on Wednesday, April 1st, when it played host to Montclair State Teachers.

McLaughlin started last season at third base but lost his job when Billy Urbanski, since signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates, went on a hitting spree. McLaughlin was a utility infielder two years ago.

He is a graduate of Our Lady of the Valley High School of Orange where he also starred in basketball.

Only five other seniors are on the inexperienced Hall squad.

During the band intermissions, the Lombardo Quintet will render some of their "easy to listen to" music. Carmine and Mario Lombardo, who are the originators of the quintet, need no introduction to Seton Hall. These two fine musicians are seniors at the University. They have played at many of Seton Hall's affairs, the most recent of which was the University Night Show for which they composed the entire musical score.

As an added attraction, the dance committee has acquired a female trio, which goes under the name of the Verge Sisters. The singing Verges also are veterans of church and nightclub circuits.

The tickets are three dollars per couple. For the last minute purchasers, they will be sold at the door.

For one of the high points of the social year, don't miss the "Spring Maid Dance."

One Man's Opinion

"Yep, that's where I'm from—God's Country—U. S. A., Universe! And darned lucky, too! When you consider that I could have been born in any one of a seemingly limitless number of provinces, colonies, protectorates, states, and the like, instead, and purely by chance, I have been born an American. Yep, here I am, in the best darned country in the whole wide world, contently harking to that wonderful, God-given freedom ring! And living in style, too, by the by—don't forget that. Say, we've got a million blessings here in America, haven't we? America—the best darned country in the whole world!"

How true—yet, how false! How true we have been blessed in so many ways. How true that we are progressive, and live in relative luxury to countless other less fortunate peoples. How true that we are free and tolerant in government, speech, press, religion. How true our heritage is noble and forged in sweat and strife! Yes, how true a lot of aspects of American daily life. But how false they, and we, whose heads have been turned by material prosperity, are fast becoming!

How false, now is our progression. Our luxury has spoiled us, demoralized us completely, and left our inner fiber soft and flabby. Tolerance? Certainly. We tolerate communists, prejudices of race and color, laziness and corruption in government. Religion? This is one thing we have here. Do you realize that there are over three hundred different religious organizations in our glorious land? Of course, over sixty-five millions of us do not attend any religious services whatsoever, but we do, oh, my goodness, yes, believe in God, Freedom? Ah, there's a word. And we certainly do know its implications, don't we? We, the people, descendants of struggle, Plymouth Rock, and Jamestown. We know freedom. Surely. And day by day we practice it, nurture it, more and more. Divorce, birth control, modern child psychology, sex glorification, lying, cheating, stonewalling, all of these we practice freely.

The question which lies before us, then, is, "How long will we tolerate this subtle insult to God?"

Or is it, more accurately, "How long will God tolerate it—and us?"

Mr. Tweed at His Very Best

It seems about time to get right down to specific cases in regard to wearing apparel. Everyone, by this time, realizes the value of a basic grey flannel suit. What we want to mention now are the touches you can give your way of dressing to lift you out of the run-of-mill class. For this, you'll want nothing strange or completely different from what you usually wear. It amounts to what you wear with what you wear. Double talk? Not at all.

For example, with a grey flannel, say, which you wear both on the campus and on the town, it's the extras that matter. You'll use the conventional button down and chalis or rep tie with your suit at school, but on a date and here's that extra touch—you'll add a straight fold white pocket handkerchief, not forgetting those newly-shined cordovans, either. And you've noticed the new round pinned collars? A great idea, and ideal for the right, formal touch of an afternoon or evening occasion. They are dressed up with French cuffs and here's another trick—you can match up your tie clasp with your cuff links.

As for your tie, narrow is the word these days. If you still have resistance to the narrow tie, better break down and try one for a neater, smarter appearance.

By the way, did you know that college men, as a group, constitute the most well-dressed segment of the male population in this country. Are you keeping your end up?

Tubes And Talk

Show of the Week

Every once in a while we all like to think back a few years to the Gay Nineties, the Roaring Twenties, Tin Pan Alley and reminisce awhile. Well, Jim McGlone is no exception. Jim does his reminiscing out loud every Wednesday night 7:30 to 8:00, on his show "Reminiscing." So when you hear, "It's 7:30, time to take out those old records, time to stroll down memory lane, time for reminiscing," you can be sure you are in for some mighty fine listening. You'll hear the music of old favorites like Gershwin, Kern, Porter, Berlin, Herbert, and Donaldson. Jim originated the idea about a year and a half ago and has been doing it ever since then. Now and then he sticks in a short story about old performers and early American stage. Old show music with modern arrangement is always a favorite of Jim's and if he is in the mood to listen to music from an opera that's just what you'll hear. All this wrapped up into a half hour proves that there is never a dull moment. It all comes to an end when you hear "Take out those Old Records" playing in the background and Jim McGlone says "In inaudible and noiseless foot of time treads lightly on our fondest memories and it takes but a song, a word to help us relive them."

Spring Production

The Communications Arts department has started work on its spring production which will be an eighteenth century English comedy entitled "The Rivals." The production will be presented late in May. The show will employ extensive scenery and lighting and will be directed by Mr. Raymond Lukshis. If anyone is interested in helping in any way please contact yours truly.

Basketball Dinner

In one of the earlier Tubes and Talk I mentioned that WSOU had completed its basketball broadcasts, actually this statement was not true. WSOU climaxed their basketball broadcasts when they brought the N.I.T. championship dinner into your home from the Robert Treat Hotel on March 25. WSOU covered the affair completely as it did through the entire season. Thanks to Jim Previtt, Tom Parnham and Bert Beck the broadcast was a success.

Sports News

One of WSOU fine sports announcers gets up from behind the "mike" around this time of year, puts on a uniform and takes to the diamond. That's right Joe Quinn who does a sport show at 8:05 on the FM dial is on the other side of the "mike" for awhile. So you won't be able to hear Joe but you'll be able to see him on the ball field around first base.

Seton Hall Designated Testing Center, April 25

Seton Hall University has been designated as a testing center for the nationwide administrations of the Law School Admission Test of April 25, 1953, Mr. Alfred DeDonovan, Vice President in Charge of Student Personnel Services, announced.

Depending upon the law school to which they wish to make application, college seniors, juniors, and in some instances sophomores are eligible to take the tests. Each applicant should find out from the law schools in which he is interested whether he should take the test and on what date. The Law School Admission Test is prepared and administered four times a year—in November, February, April, and August by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Application Blanks and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions may be obtained from Professor John Kean, Seton Hall University School of Law, 40 Clinton Street, Newark 2, New Jersey, or directly from the Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications must be mailed so as to be received at the Princeton office not later than ten days prior to the testing date chosen. Mr. Donovan advised.

Scores on the Law School Admission Test are used by many law schools throughout the United States along with previous scholastic record and other evidences of suitable personal characteristics, as a basis for admission of applicants.

Joe Seton Says—

By JOSEPH LACCETTI and EVERETT FELDER

The Battle between the "Tweeds" and the "Bombers" has again flared up, and open warfare is expected at any moment. What Junior wanted to take a course in "Biography" next term? A potential writer and critic was discovered not so long ago, when Bob Butler, discussed some characters from Homer's Iliad. Summoning all his dignity, he made the following startling statement, "Achilles failed in life because somebody killed him." And such talent goes unnoticed? Personal to the Frosh who wandered into The Setonian office by mistake last week. Honest, you really don't have to knock before you come in. After reading this column last month, and not seeing his name in it, John Vullo almost broke Joe Seton's arm, indicating it was his fault.

You Tell Me

By BOB WILLIAMS

In the last edition of The Setonian, we published the results of the poll which was taken to determine the feeling of students on the question of the absentee ballot and that of the eighteen-year old vote. Out of curiosity, this writer asked several intelligent young gentlemen why they voted as they did. Here are the results of the inquiry:

Harry Weiner, Sophomore, Accounting replied: I feel that the eighteen-year old should have a voice in government for the simple reason that, at that age, he may be expected to fight for his country. It seems to me that the absentee ballot is necessary to get the total opinion of the voters. That is why I voted affirmatively on this question.

Tom Towle, Junior, Marketing answered: I voted against both issues. The absentee ballot might lead to false voting or an inaccurate count.

I don't believe that the average 18 year old has much interest in politics. Most persons in this category agree with their parents. Therefore, the parents with the greatest number of children cast the most votes for one party or the other.

Walter Grancy, Senior, Accounting replied: I don't think 18 year olds are well enough informed to vote properly. I didn't vote on the absentee ballot.

Don Brutzman, Senior, English answered: I voted for the absentee ballot hoping to reduce to seven, the number of states that, at present, are not legally acquainted with this obvious need. As for the eighteen-year old, he shouldn't be allowed to vote insofar as he is not able to march correctly, "armywise" or wed correctly. He is lacking the three years which will give him the balance of emotional stability he needs to take his place in the world.

Brady Appointed As New Director

The Executive Committee of the Catholic Broadcasters Association has announced the appointment of Bob Brady of Seton Hall University as Director of Public Relations. Bob, a junior at Seton Hall, who is majoring in Social Studies, is a member of the announcing staffs of radio stations WPOE in Elizabeth and WSOU in South Orange. He will take up his duties immediately.

Curtis is first sergeant of Ambulance Company in the 24th Infantry Division's 24th Medical Battalion.

He entered the Army in September 1947 and attended the Medical Field Service School at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

A 1939 graduate of Phillipsburg (N. J.) High School, Curtis attended Seton Hall for two years.

His decorations include the Korean and United Nations Service Ribbons, Good Conduct Medal and the World War II Victory Medal.

Recently graduated from the U. S. Naval School, Pre-Flight, was Naval Aviation Cadet Robert J. Featherstone. Cadet Featherstone, who was graduated from Seton Hall University, entered the Naval Aviation Cadet Program through the Naval Air Station, Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y.

He is now assigned to the U. S. Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Whiting Field, Milton, Fla., where he is engaged in primary flight training.

Buccaneers Win Opener 7-6

Nolan Scores to Topple Montclair

A pair of athletes who have lived all of their lives a block from Seton Hall Field, Phil Walker and Bill Nolan, brought the Seton Hall University nine a 7-6 squeaker over Montclair Teachers. It was the opener for both teams.

Walker, ace of the Pirate pitching staff, hurled the last three innings allowing only a hit and walking two. Loose infield play had spoiled the effective pitching of Pirate starter, Bill Bradshaw. He gave up four hits, four walks and only one earned run, but was trailing, 6-4, after six innings when Coach Oswate Carroll decided he had enough for his first try.

Nolan, son of a former Setonia great, started the tying and winning rallies as he singled twice, walked once and sacrificed in five trips to the plate. Likewise, he was the lone Pirate infielder to look impressive.

Smart Running

Two walks, Ron Rubin's single to right and Harry Brooks' error gave the Tribe a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Smart base running to take advantage of the loose infield play enabled the Montclair nine to pick up another run in the fourth and three more in the sixth to break a 3-3 tie.

Harry Brooks' double and Jim Reardon's single cut the Setonia deficit in the bottom of the sixth and then Captain Charley McLaughlin, atoning for his mistakes in the field, doubled home Joe Quinn and Walker in the bottom of the seventh to knot the count at 6-6.

Nolan walked to open the last of the ninth. Quinn bounced to Frank Casavelli but when Hal Jennings was slow covering second, Nolan slid in ahead of the throw. After Walker fouled out, Third Baseman Charles Gray made a diving stop of McLaughlin's hard bouncer but had no play and the bases were loaded. Brooks, clutch player during the court season, then topped a ball in front of the plate which both Murray and Rubin went for, leaving home uncovered as Nolan came across with the winning run.

"We're Livin'" Is A Huge Success

After five months of backbreaking work, Tony Almerico, the producer, and the cast of "We're Livin'" finally realized the fruits of their labors. Last November the call went out for actors, dancers, singers, and any other people who thought they had talent. On the nights of March 27th and 28th, an audience of two thousand saw those hopefuls of last November jelled into a smooth functioning cast.

After a rather shaky opening night, in which the speaking parts showed the tenseness of the performers, the youthful Ethel Barrymores and Charles Laughtons settled down and showed their mettle as real troupers.

The musical comedy was divided into two acts, each consisting of two scenes. The male and female leads were taken by Tony Almerico and Doris Chesney respectively. In supporting roles were Joe Purcell, who doubled as "Edgar," the frustrated lover and as Mr. Dineen in the faculty scene, and Alice June Hopkins, who, besides having short speaking parts, performed two dances. Also in supporting roles were Joe Quinn as "Frank" the soda jerk and John Kennedy as "Pete." Both were Edgar's most diligent razzers. Also notable was Frank, Curley who was the quick witted master of ceremonies in the nightclub.

The show was written by Jim Shutte and Ed Lill, both seniors. They also were the co-directors of the production. The choreography was directed by Mrs. Tracy Novelli, who danced in the "Big Show Off," and was assistant dance director to Dave Gould. Mrs. Novelli has also directed dancing at the Florintine Gardens in Hollywood.

No review of the show would be complete without special mention being made of Tony Almerico, Alice June Hopkins, and Ed Ventimiglia. Besides being the producer and having the male lead, Almerico undertook the responsibilities of getting ads and selling tickets. Alice June, who as a professional, has danced on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," at the Roxy in New York and on television, channel 13. Alice's two numbers were ballet, one being a typical New York street scene, in which she danced excellently. Ventimiglia as "Bruce O'Brien," a Hollywood producer was originally the understudy for Dick Misenheimer. But Dick seriously injured his leg a week before the opening and Ventimiglia took over the part, which he performed excellently.

Although there are too many of them to list here, the men in the stage crew are to be congratulated on the fine way in which the scenery was set up. Were it not for them, the show could not have run as smoothly as it did.
