AUDITIONS TO END NEXT WEEK

by DON MATHEWS

A Seton Hall University Workshop on WATV is being established by the Communication Arts Department. Arrangements were made through Mr. George Green, Seton Hall Television Instructor and Program Manager of WATV. Plans are under way to present a half hour drama every four weeks, announced Mr. Ray Lukshis, Director and Drama Instructor. The casts will be comprised of Seton Hall students from all departments of both the Campus and Urban Divisions, and women, as well as men, are needed. Any student, no matter what his course, may participate, since the project will not be limited to Communication Arts majors.

The availability and procure-ment of scripts is one of the major problems confronting the workshop At the precent time, Mr. Lukshis is searching for royalty free plays or short stories suitable for dramatic adaption. Anyone with the ability to adapt material for

QUEEN DANCE SET FOR LATE APRIL

by ANTHONY PALISI
The fifth annual Queen of the Campus dance one of the traditional organizational dances on the campus, has been set for April twenty eighth.

Since early November, The Setonian has published pictures of "Queen of the Week" from photographs submitted by members of the student body. The preliminary judges, the editors and chairmen of the dance, have been stormed with several hundred photographs which by far have surpassed the numbers submitted since the contest was begun in 1947, and they are in the unenviable position of selecting a Queen from the flock of entries described as "real beauties."

The girls who have been chosen as "Queen of the Week" automatically go into the semi-finals which will be held in early April. At the semi-finals, the girls will appear in person before the preliminary judges and those who pass through this elimination will appear as finalists at the Dance when the Queen and two runners up will be selected by a board of judges comprised of celebrities who are now being contacted.

Contest Still Open

Because of the special basketball issue last week. The onian did not publish the Queen of the Week, however, two girls have been selected for this issue. The contest will run through the rest of this month and through most of March, and students are urged to continue to submit pictures. Actually, only six more issues in the Queen contest remain.

Committees Working

The many committees which were established at the be-ginning of last semester are at work, and the entertainment committee headed by Paul Hankins is hoping to procure two bands for continuous dancing The gift committee with Paul hands for continue Rizzuto as chairman, already has begun its campaign for gifts

Some of the saints are re membered today chiefly be-cause of one or two noble and cause of one two notes and heroic incidents in their lives. Or we may connect astound-ing statistics for conversions with their names. Yet often we forget the underpinning of rou-tine and detail that had to be repeated relentlessly over order for the saint to gain goal. Many of the saints before they experienced an ecstasy conceived and accomplished tremendous projects for God's greater honor and glory. Yet in order to accomplish this work, they had to plunge deepinto realism with its accompanying habitual courses and trivialities.

There can be little doubt that the virtue of perseverance is perhaps the most commonly und virtue among saints. fact, it can be allied to the achievment of any great work. Certainly, a great conversion, such as that of Saint Augustine, is not done in the batting of an eye. It takes years of soul searching and truth searching. A marvelous play of lights of all shades and colors may be shown in a great pageant or musical comedy. Yet miles of wiring and many intricate me-chanical devices are essential for the proper performance of the lights. Termites, by removing microscopic fragments wooden supports have caused the collapse of entire buildings. Political termites, too, nicked away at the supporting principles of organized countries and suddenly the governments have crumbled within.

perserverance have their fluc-tuations. In all events, there are few people who do not experience alternate moments of elation and despair or times of eagerness and times of ennui in striving for something. Certainly, Saint Peter exhibited his human frailty on occasions before he finally emerged the Rock of the Church. HALL MERMEN OPPOSE SCRANTON SATURDAY

by TOM GAVIN

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., FEB. 16-Setonia's mermen continue their winning ways, casting aside competition with impressive triumphs and gaining new laurels. West Virginia University, Southern Conference Swim Champions, came, saw, and were conquered by the South Orange tankmen by a 44-31 score.

The natators from the Hall profess by their actions, merits, and wins to profound the opposition into impressive submission. Schedules usually conform to a pattern which is planned to produce victories but a simple glance at the Seton swimming slate can prove that the mermen have a difficult, narrow row to hoe. All opponents sport excellent squads as represented by the visitors from West Virginia who held all honors and records in the stiff Southern Conference.

The Seton triumphs could now stands at 5.2 Five points vary to a ridiculous figure. The feature events, often too risky reserve on the swim spuad, have been captured by swimmers who specialize in other events. For example, Schaffer, a back stroker, swam the initial lap of the West Virginia medley relay, Kurtzman and Carr, who swam the second and third laps, are basically short distance swimmers. Pat Donovan won the 50 yard freestyle and, with a short rest, returned to take laurels in the 100 yard free-style. Donovan, setting a new pool record of 23.6 for the 50 yards, stands out as the most improved swimmer on the Blue and White unit. Captain Lou Benza satisfies himself with destroying pool records and defeating stars of the opponents team. Lou outdistanced Williams of West Virginia who free style championship. Benza's record breaking consisted in setting a new Seton Hall 440 yd. freestyle record which dropped iinto the West Virginia box score when the mermen from the Hall missed another turn on the 440 vd. relay.

Penn State, which garnered third place in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Conference, valiantly tried to defeat the Setonians on Feb. 3rd, but finally emerged in the "also captured" column. Benza, not to let an event be uneventful. shattered the 200 yd. backstroke record by ten seconds It now is 2.10. Another impor-tant event was the final relay, which the boys usually lose by missing a turn. Benza missed a turn this time but went back to touch it and in doing so lost valuable time. Chuck Hammel, placing in the second lap of the relay, swam a 52.8 & 100 yards to practically donate the relay to the Hall.

All day Thursday, (Feb. 8) the Joe Setons debated as to how the Hall was to go about racking up LIU. Friday, Joe . wondered why the Hall Had lost. But it wasen't a day of gloom and doom. The team, the fans, every one concerned was fighting mad, for the general conensus of opinion was that the Hall could very easily have won. The game itself was a rip-snorter. Everyone the gory details. The Hall fell disastorously behind in the opening minutes of the game and then after pulling up with-in four pts. of catching LIU, during the last two minutes of the game, began to press for the ball which backfired into the beginning of a rout. Up to that point the Hall was very impressive. Dukes played the best rebounding and defensive game of his carees, and if his foul attempts and shots from the floor had been a bit more accurate, the story might have been different. Belliveau picked the right night to score 23 pts. He did it in front of 15,000 fans, a large portion of which were rah-rah boys from the Hall. Lackaye, a bench warm er of late, stormed into the game during the latter portion of the second half and scored a quick 10 pts. with his over the head shots. All the credit possible is due to LIU's Sherman White and Leroy Smith.

Hall Dumps Villanova, Murray Pirates Face St. Francis Tonight

South Orange, N. J. Feb/13—A tourney-minded Seton Hall quintet, ranked as the most improved cage combine of the past two weeks, drubbed a visiting Murray State squad tonight by a decisive 75-61 rout before a sellout crowd in the final home contest of the '50-'51 campaign. Copping their eighteenth victory as against four reversals, the Pirates made short measure of the Kentuckians who trailed the Bucs right from the opening buzzer. Holding a 46-32 spread at halftime, the Setonians applied the whitewash trimming in the second round with the reserves playing out the concluding five minutes of the contest.

The Blue and White raced secutive foul shots, a jump toss a layup by Regan, and a deuce to an early 8-4 lead on two by Purcell, and Beshear comby O'Hare built up a 68-53 bulge which was protected by soft one hander, and two charistic with the Setonians holding the upper edge at halftime, 46-32 bulge which was protected by the reserves during the concluding five minutes of play. to the hander, and two charity tosses.
