Aviation Cadet Detachment To Visit Seton Hall Today

Aviation Cadet Selection Detachment No. 53 from 1006 Broad Street, Newark, will make an official visit to Seton Hall today, April 21st. The team, commanded by Lieutenant Larry H. Jackson, will again be located in the Cafeteria between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

The mission of this unit is to disseminate the latest information to students on the pilot and aircraft observer phase of Aviation Cadet training. The team is authorized and equipped to facilitate student applications for either flight course, however, students are urged to remain in school whenever possible. This policy is well expressed by the team's motto of "Stay in School—Graduate, Then Fly."

A man who passes all qualifying examinations enters a series of Air Force schools where he is taught either the pilot or aircraft observer skills. As a pilot, he will learn the fundamentals of flying in single-engine aircraft and will later receive specialized training in a specific type aircraft. An aircraft observer trains toward specialized skills such as Aircraft Performance Engineer, Photo Reconnaissance Navigator, Electronic Countermeasures Officer, etc. Subjects in the $60,000 course include electronics, radar, mathematics, theory of bombing, gunnery and flight, aircraft instruments, and others. Graduates of the course receive a commission as a second lieutenant, the silver wings of an Air Force flying officer, and a beginning salary of over $5,200 a year.

In order to qualify for Cadet training an applicant must pass pre-screening mental and physical tests in Newark, and extensive mental and physical exams at Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, New York. After final qualification at Sampson, an applicant returns home to await his class assignment. Upon acceptance of the class assignment, normally two to four months after final qualification, a man assumes his first obligation to the Air Force.

Basic qualifications include being single, between 19 and 26½ years of age, in top physical and mental health, and in possession of a high school diploma. Although pilot applicants must have 20/20 eyesight, a man may become an aircraft observer if he has 20/50 vision correctable to 20/20 with glasses.

Anyone desiring information on their selective service obligation or on the Aviation Cadet program is invited to contact Team members in the Cafeteria today April 21st.

Summer School Bulletin Available

Seton Hall University will present a two-part co-educational Summer Session from June 7 until August 6, Msgr. John L. McNulty, president of Seton Hall University, announced last week.

A limited number of courses in the College of Arts and Sciences will be offered in the daytime sessions on campus.

From June 21 to August 13 daytime classes in Chemistry will be given on campus.

The regular Summer Session will run from June 28 to August 6. Classes will be offered on the undergraduate and graduate levels under the auspices of the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Business Administration, the School of Education, the School of Nursing, and the Institute of Far Eastern Studies.

Regular and professional courses in the following fields will be available to the students: Accounting, Advertising, Business Finance, Business Law, Economics, Management, Marketing, Biology, Classical Languages, English, Mathematics, Modern Languages, Philosophy, Physical Sciences, Psychology, Religion, Social Studies, Administration and Supervision, Basic Education, Certification Courses, Elementary Education, Personnel and Guidance, Secondary Education, Special Education, and Nursing Education.

The Rev. Clement A. Ockay, Director of the Summer Session, has announced that the Summer School Bulletin is now available from the Director of the Summer Session on campus or from the Dean, at the University College, Newark.

Dr. Sarot Awarded Research Grant For Work Abroad

Dr. Eden E. Sarot, Professor of Modern Languages at Seton Hall, has been awarded a research grant by the American-Philosophical Society. The Society, consisting of outstanding men from varying fields of interest, is devoted to the promotion of many diversified cultural activities.

Dr. Sarot will use the award this summer in Venice and Genoa, gathering material for an English edition of Ansaldo Cebsa's work "De Juniors Spring Formal Will Have Billy Butterfield Orch.

Months of plans and preparations will result in the biggest event of Seton Hall's social season when the Class of 1955 presents its Junior Prom on Friday night, April 23, in the beautiful Grill Room of the Hotel Taft in New York City. The outstanding Billy Butterfield Orchestra will provide the dance music, which will continue from 10 p. m. to 3 a. m.

Under the able chairmanship of Paul Keast, preparations for the Prom have gone on at a feverish pace until the dream of an outstanding Junior Prom has finally been realized. The Grill Room of the Hotel Taft, which is conveniently located on the corner of Seventh Avenue and Fiftieth Street, and the sweet music of Billy Butterfield and his Orchestra combine to offer an atmosphere that is equalled by very few night spots in the metropolitan area. Billy Butterfield, who is one of the top trumpeters in the East and who is famous for his recordings of a few years ago, with his group of outstanding musicians, assure the Prom of being a great musical success with four hours of dreamy dance music. To make the Prom an even greater success, a beautiful favor has been obtained for each couple, and great pains have been taken by Everett Felder, Prom booklet editor, to make the Prom Booklet one of the most attractive ever published.

Indications of the success of the Prom are shown in the sale of bids which are nearing the two hundred couple mark under the efficient direction of Joe Gilchrist, ticket chairman. Students are reminded that all bids should be paid for by April 22, the day before the Prom. Special discount rates have been obtained on formal evening wear for Seton Hall students through the efforts of the Prom committee. Information on how and where to get these special rates can be obtained from the ticket committee men.

Paul Keast, general chairman, extends his sincere appreciation to Joe Gilchrist, Everett Felder, all the committee men, and everyone else who helped in preparing and running the Prom, for their efforts, which made this 1954 Junior Prom the success that it is.

Awards Given at Recent Art Exhibit By Reverend Edward J. Fleming

Awards at the Seton Hall University Art Exhibit were announced last week by the Rev. Edward J. Fleming, Dean of Seton Hall University College.

Over 100 pieces of oils, water colors, and sculptures were on display at University College, 31 Clinton Street, Newark. The Exhibit opened March 31st and was held nightly through April 14th.

Mrs. Francis McQuillan from Upper Montclair, won first prize in the oils painting while Sister Mary of the Compassion of the Blue Chapel in Union City, was second and Albert Heimrod of Newark, was third.

First prize for water colors went to Dick Crocker of East Orange. Albert Kapp of East Orange, was second.

The prize for the sculptures went to Eugene Gauss of Union, and second prize to Emil Milan of Roselle.

Henry Gasser, Director of the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Arts, Mr. Stephen Juharus, famous European artist, and Dr. John S. Herron, Dean of the School of Education of Seton Hall University, made up the award jury.

Mr. Gasser gave a demonstration last Thursday while the Honorable Arthur J. O'Dea gave a lecture on Friday at the same time in features of the exhibits those nights.

CONGRATULATIONS—Archbishop Boland (right) offers his felicitations to Bishop-designate Justin J. McCarthy on the latter's appointment as Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of Newark. Seton Hall rejoices in the great honor conferred on the Bishop-elect, an alumnus of both the Preparatory School and the University, and extends to him heartfelt congratulations and prayerful good wishes that Almighty God will continue to bless him abundantly.

Why Palms? On the first Palm Sunday the people of Jerusalem paid homage to Jesus by strewing palm boughs in His path as He rode into the city. The palms are symbols of triumph and the church gives us palms in memory of this.

Some of the palms blessed on Palm Sunday are burned and their ashes, after being blessed, are distributed on the following Ash Wednesday. Their reduction to ashes portrays the transient character of all earthly honors. As the priest places the ashes on the person's head, he says: "Remember, man that dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt return."

The Greatest Miracle—The most stupendous of all Christ's miracles was His Resurrection from the dead. The gloom of Good Friday gives to the joy of Easter Sunday. May you rejoice, too, and by your words and deeds keep the Easter Season always in your heart.

His Resurrection places the unmistakable imprint of the divine upon the Christian Faith. It is the pledge of our own resurrection. "I am the resurrection, and the life," said Jesus, "he that believeth in me, although he be dead, shall live. And every one that liveth, and believeth in me, shall not die for ever."

Are You a Leader?—Leadership is essential in social organization, in business, and in politics. It is equally necessary in religion. When Christ established His Church, He did not simply wish that two or three be gathered in His name. He put a leader at the head—His Vicar—to guide, to teach, to discipline. In parish organization, especially among the laity, leadership is often sadly lacking, but it is necessary for effective action and good results.

Fire Warning—Temptations and distraction should be put out of mind quickly while they are small and easy to control. Or, as Saint Alphonsus Liguori puts it: "Every dangerous thought should be shaken off like a spark that has fallen on one's clothing."

A Glorious Mission—Catholics should take advantage of the trend towards religious fervor. Every practical Catholic has a mission to perform: he should be able to explain what the Church is and why it is the gateway to salvation. By private reading and study in the university library, every practical Catholic can prepare for this necessary and glorious mission.

The Ambassador for Christ—It is not because of a priest's personal characteristics or appearance, or even as a mark of respect to his calling, that a Catholic shows such honor to the Priesthood. The Priest is truly, in Saint Paul's words, the "Ambassador for Christ." As a great Cardinal has written: "He exercises powers not given even to the angels." For this and other sound reasons, we must show our fealty to Christ by our loyalty to His Ministers.

Society for the Advancement of Management

When activities becomes the topic of conversation, there you will find the Society for Advancement of Management. Although the Seton Hall Chapter of this nationally incorporated Society is only seven years old, already it has helped to contribute to the furthering of management.

Perhaps that which sets apart the S. A. M. from other organizations on campus is that each year, it has as its goal the creation of a major project. This year it is an Economic Survey in the state of New Jersey and work is now progressing smoothly under the guiding hands of Mr. William Doerflinger, Moderator, and Walter Daldrup, Vice-President in charge of research. It is hoped that when the Survey is presented at the bi-annual conference at the Hotel Statler in New York in the spring, it will win as much recognition for Seton Hall as did the Plant Location and Student Evaluation System in past years.

A new phase of activity is the publication of an Alumni Newsletter started this semester with the cooperation of Joseph Martocchio, President, and Raymond J. Wilhelm, former Moderator from 1947 to 1953. The purpose in view here is a closer contact with S. A. M. Alumni who have passed through these portals since 1947.

Monthly meetings at the Essex House play a large role in the Society, and students get the opportunity to meet men in top management as well as students from other College Chapters.

Plant trips round out the scope of the Management Society. This year the Prudential Life Insurance Co., and the Anheuser-Busch Brewery have been visited. A trip to the Ford Motor Company is scheduled for the near future.

Outside speakers are also included as well as radio programs over station W. S. O. U. A few of the speakers brought to the campus this year include: Mr. Howard T. Sayre, of Reaction-Motors; Mr. John Wilkinson, President of the Northern New Jersey Chapter; Mr. C. W. Hodges of Forstmann Woolen Company; and most recently, Dr. Frank Rugg of Bakelite Co. in Bloomfield.

Another unique feature is the Board of Directors which holds meetings once a month and sets forth the future policies. Every semester a "Board of Review" is held, an exclusive of the S. H. U. Chapter of S. A. M. This board consists of the Moderator, three Professors from the School of Business Administration, three appointed members (students) and the Vice-President. Their job is to evaluate all the members in a professional manner under our student evaluation system. Here the points accredited to a student are

Army Reserve Program

The Commanding General, 78th Infantry Division of the United States Army Reserve invites all students of Seton Hall University to consider the advantages of enlistment in the Army Reserve Program.

The great majority of all students in the university will eventually serve on active duty with the armed forces either as commissioned officers as a result of completion of ROTC training or as enlisted men under the Selective Service Laws after the completion of ROTC training or as enlisted men under the Selective Service laws after the completion of their college careers. With this military obligation in view, the advantages of enlistment in the United States Army Reserve are worthy of consideration. A few of these advantages are listed for the information of all concerned:

1. The opportunity to receive additional military training prior to entry on active duty.
2. The opportunity to accrue longevity for pay purposes and length of service toward retirement benefits.
3. The opportunity for promotion prior to induction into active duty to the various grades of non-commissioned officers.
4. The reduction of the 8-year enlisted service obligation before entry on active military duty.
5. The opportunity to receive pay for reserve training.
6. The opportunity for ROTC students to add to their professional qualifications as a commissioned officer.

Members of the United States Army Reserve are required to attend twenty-four training assemblies per year (two per month) and attend active-duty summer field training for two weeks each summer. For this attendance reservists receive one day's pay of their grade for each two-hour training assembly, two weeks pay of their grade for attending summer field training and a complete issue of clothing.

Students who are interested in additional information may contact the United States Army Reserve Staff, 361 Central Avenue, East Orange, N. J., or appear any Tuesday evening at the above location to contact the Commanding Officer, 2nd Bn., 311th Inf. Regt., presently training at that address. To date, over thirty students from Seton Hall University have enlisted in the above unit. Additional vacancies are still available.

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor:
As I was reading your very fine anniversary issue of The Setonian I noticed a picture of a basketball player on Page 16 with a caption saying that it was Bobby Wanzer. I never saw Bobby Wanzer play before the war, but I did see him in the 1946-47 season and since with the Rochester Royals and I can't see any resemblance between the young man in the picture and Bobby Wanzer. Could there have been a mistake in your picture?

Sincerely,
Mary Noble
Union, New Jersey

Editor's Note: Thank you for the compliment on the anniversary issue. As far as the picture on Page 16 is concerned, it IS Bobby Wanzer. You weren't the only one with that doubt. We have checked and are sure that it is Bobby Wanzer.

On Tour With Glee Club Council Capers

By JOHN O'CONNOR

In February, the Men's Glee Club sang at Sacred Heart Parish, Lyndhurst, participating in a surprise celebration by the parishioners in honor of Father Bernard Moore's twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

A quintet of young women from Caldwell College sang a medley of semi-popular songs and a string ensemble performed. A special feature of the Glee Club's rendition was a barbershop style number dedicated to Fr. Moore entitled "You'll never know the Good Fellow I've Been Until I've Gone Away."

After the entertainment portion of the program, the parish leaders paid tribute to Father Moore. Father John O'Brien, a Professor at Seton Hall University who assists at Sacred Heart over the weekends, stole the show with his anecdotes of the priestly life. The evening concluded with refreshments and dancing for the overflow crowd which attended.

March 3rd—It was an auspicious occasion when the Men's Glee Club took over the studios of W.S.O.U. for an hour long broadcast. W.S.O.U. at 89.5 metacycles FM is the official radio station of Seton Hall University. The Glee Club gave evidence of its extensive repertoire.

Bob Brady, announced the program. The Club's Barbershop Quartet, consisting of Don McKaren, Denis Bonforte, Don Theis, and Bill Gannon, is one of the most appreciated functions of the men's Glee Club. The quartet voluntarily puts in extra time and effort in perfecting itself and always proves outstanding at performances.

The radio program was put on tape, and as is customary for both the annual radio show and Spring Concert, records of the performance were made available to all who desired them. There was a good response to the records, especially for the record which included the two official songs of Seton Hall University. It might be added that the United States Air Forces requested records of our school songs to be used in programs held at their bases.

March 9—No program that the Men's Glee Club could take part in, will equal the honor and satisfaction of appearing as the entertainment at a program which cited Seton Hall University as the outstanding organization of the community. The Chamber of Commerce and Clivics of the Oranges and Maplewood bestowed this auspicious title and citation on Seton Hall at a testimonial dinner. Our President, Monsignor John L. McNulty accepted the honor on behalf of the University. A relaxed and famished Glee Club consumed unheard of amounts of food at a private buffet serving given after the performance. President of the Men's Glee Club, Bill McDermott, took advantage of the atmosphere of the Hotel Suburban to have informal pictures taken of the Glee Club. They should provide much warmth and color to the yearbook of activities, especially the one which caught Mr. Murphy in his forced duty, but which he really enjoys, that of accompanying our every request with his unique piano arrangements. The evening will provide many memories when our voices will have long since been retired behind the muffle of a shower curtain.

March 18—Ah 'twas a beautiful evening of sweet collens and the glory of the Irish in the Hibernian stronghold of Jersey City amid the pleasant sound of a policeman's brogue that St. Patrick's Day was celebrated. And sure the finest of hosts were the cute nurses of Jersey City Medical Center and their choice of entertainment was to be sure a gift from the heavenly saint himself. For the Men's Glee Club numbers a good 40 or 50% of the proudest wearers of the green this side of County Cork.

The Shamrock covered auditorium resounded to the melody of "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen" sung by our soloist Justin Martin. Such a treat was he that the young lad was forced into an encore. After we finished entertaining, the auditorium was cleared for the "Cutting of the Rug" to use the slang expression, and sure it was a fine dance with the likes of Bob Townsend displaying all the good natured antics of a happy Irishman. Not a Setonian could complain of the company of the many pretty Angels of Mercy.

March 21—Feminine pulchritude is such an inspiring audience. We journeyed by bus to the distant site of St. Joseph's College for Women in Brooklyn, New York. The wonderful sisters of St. Joseph's impressed us with their spic and span college, and we began a warm friendship with Father Dillon who remembers an old friendship and acquaintance with our President, Monsignor McNulty.

The Glee Club program featured a negro spiritual "Soon Ah Will Be Done" and a very interpretative arrangement at "Down in the Valley." Without a doubt this was the most enthusiastic audience we have come across in our tour so far, and we were very grateful for the kind reception. After the performance we were treated to refreshments by the young ladies who were attentive to our every need, even to the point where not one member of the Glee Club was standing on the side during the dancing which followed.

After the dance, the entire Glee Club of 65 members took their hosts out for a sandwich. It was a sight, even for Brooklyn, with 65 men in white tie and tails walking down the street in file, with each having a young lady on his arm. And not too surprise was the proprietor of the establishment which we entered, 130 strong. Walking the girls back to school, the neighborhood echoed to the strains of Seton Hall's Alma Mater, and when it finally came time to say goodbye, from the windows of the bus echoed the strains of "Goodnight Sweetheart" as a farewell to our wonderful hosts. The bus ride back was filled with accounts of the wonderful time that was had by all. St. Joseph's College Brooklyn is a sure bet for next year's tour.

Cafeteria Clean-Up Slipping . . .

A few weeks ago the Student Council got the clean-up campaign underway by rearranging the physical appearance of our cafeteria. For a while the results were very gratifying but now that the novelty of the different setting has worn thin, it seems that we are slipping back into the old way of things. It is still our responsibility to keep our cafe clean.

Two weeks ago, it was our good fortune to have on our campus many young ladies. During the course of the day, our guests visited the cafeteria. I am sure that we all accurately guess their reaction to the sight that met them. It was their impression of us, gathered from their stay on our campus, that will be spread to all their friends.

There are those who would say that this is not our fault. They tell us that we need a student lounge where men can go between classes and leave the cafeteria for those wishing to eat their meals. This is probably true. But it does not remove the responsibility of the present condition of our cafeteria from us, the students of Seton Hall.

If each of us would set an example of willingness to cooperate by removing our own refuse, the change in the appearance of the cafeteria would be astounding. We could then be proud to take guests of the University through every part of our school. Now that there are tables easily accessible to all for the deposition of books and coats, there is no need that these be placed on chairs, depriving other students of a place to sit while eating. There are garbage cans placed at conspicuous spots throughout the cafeteria which should make the presence of paper bags, milk containers and the like unnecessary, on the floors and tables.

It is not inconvenient or taxing to deposit your refuse in cans as you leave the cafeteria. If this alone was done it is obvious that the problem would be eliminated with alacrity. It is our responsibility and we must meet it like the men that we are.

Hats Off Department . . . This reporter owes a big thank you to Larz Nordund for his sage advice and counsel on matters scientific with regards to ACS Administration. . . Our hats are off to Vincent Hanlon for his one man, herculean efforts in the cafeteria. . . An orchid should go to the fair ladies who lent their talent to University Nites' production of "Girl Crazy." . . . A gold medal should go to George Spellman for guiding the intramurals through much opposition. . . One citation to Bob Ostermann for his efforts on behalf of The Galleon and the Brownson Debate. . . Joe Gilchrist and Paul Keast leading the way to the Junior Prom to be held at the Taft.

Alpha Sigma Phi picking up momentum as it increases its membership. . . No words can express the gratitude of all of us to Editor Joe Parrillo and his staff for the Thirtieth Anniversary Issue.

Red Bank High School Victors in First Annual Brownson Debate Tournament

By JOE GILCHRIST

The First Annual Brownson Debate Tournament, which was held on campus on Saturday, April 10, resulted in Red Bank Catholic High School winning the first place team trophy with a perfect record of six wins and no losses. The trophy was presented to the team by Msgr. McNulty at a banquet in the evening at which Msgr. McNulty, Eileen O'Connell, and John O'Connor were honored guests and speakers.

The tournament, which was run under the sponsorship of the Brownson Debating Society in honor of the 150th anniversary of the birth of Orystes Brownson, attracted 18 Catholic High School debating teams from all over New Jersey. After competing in three rounds of debates on the topic, "Resolved, that the President of the U.S. should be elected by a direct vote of the people," Red Bank Catholic High captured the beautiful first place team trophy, which has to be won three times before a school can keep it permanently. Tied for second were St. Benedict's of Newark and St. Aloysius of Jersey City, with Seton Hall Prep in fourth place. In the debate of champions, which was broadcast by W.S.O.U., the top affirmative team from Red Bank Catholic High, debated against the top negative team from St. Aloysius High, with the Red Bank affirmative team winning this championship, also. Top speaker of the day's debates was Thomas McCarthy from St. Mary's High School in South Amboy. Bernard Blum of Red Bank Catholic High was runner up.

The participants and their coaches were entertained at a banquet after the tournament during which the individual and team awards were given out. Msgr. McNulty made the keynote speech, welcoming the debaters to Seton Hall and congratulating them on their argumentative and speaking abilities. Miss Eileen O'Connell, radio and television performer who is one of the foremost Catholics in her field, spoke about the opportunities for Catholics to spread their faith through the mediums

Student Workshop Features Speakers

What co-curriculars offer that no classroom, text, or professor can is simply the opportunity in a "laboratory," in which we can experiment with genuine samples of life's ingredients; personalities and situations as real and diverse as those of post-college life; meaningful projects, the precursor of others, far greater, henceforth to be mastered. The keyword: CHALLENGE. The contributions of co-curriculars: a security in the knowledge that challenge we can accept, for challenge we have already successfully encountered."

This quote is from a speech given on Sunday, March 28 at the Student Government Workshop, by Richard Rento of Seton Hall. He was speaking on the value of co-curricular activities on the college campus. After his speech there were three panel sessions at which many useful ideas on student government were advanced by the speakers and later the audiences in discussion periods.

The National Student Government Commission Chairman of the NFCCS, Don Ward of Manhattan, was the final speaker of the

Gustave F. Goerz Honored Again

Gustave F. Goerz, Jr., associate professor of Insurance and lecturer in English at Seton Hall University, has been selected as a repeating Fellow in the 1954 Fellowship Program, sponsored by the American Association of University Teachers of Insurance. Lawrence J. Ackerman, chairman of the coordinating committee for the foundation, issued the announcement last week.

Mr. Goerz's sponsors will be the American Insurance Group of Newark.

Before coming to Seton Hall in January of 1950, Mr. Goerz was employed for 17 years by the Prudential Insurance Company. He resides in Spring Lake, N. J.

Cuozzo Attending Advertising Affair

Robert J. Cuozzo, a senior, is representing Seton Hall at the Fourth Annual "Inside Advertising Week" in New York City. It was announced by Professor Stanley Strand. The week runs from April 18 through April 23rd and will be headquartered in the Hotel Biltmore.

Bob will visit advertising companies and organizations along with approximately fifty top advertising students from throughout the country. In addition to touring advertising, the group will attend a series of conferences, tours, luncheons and dinners. It is described as a one-in-a-million career opportunity as a week-long glimpse into advertising at the highest levels of practice.

An award, naming the Outstanding Advertising Student in America, will be made by the Association of Advertising Men and Women, sponsors of the "Week" to one of these students. The basis for the award will be a special committee report on their observations of the students during the week, along with observations of top advertising executives, and a written report on the "Week" which the students are required to give. Prizes will consist of a $100 prize to the winning student's school along with plaques and other suitable honors.

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T. - Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy - Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.

Companies Sponsor Education Graduate School Setonia Students Has Increased Enrollment

The three sponsoring companies for the Seton Hall University students, recently accepted in the Newark Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, were announced by Dr. Austin S. Murphy, Dean of the School of Business Administration of Seton Hall.

Harold Swallow of the American Cyanamid Company of the Calco Chemical Division, Bound Brook, will sponsor Ernest J. Gansler, while Merwin P. Case of Charles Rittenhouse and Co. of New York will sponsor Joseph J. Fargano. Mr. William Langenberg of Johnson of New Brunswick will sponsor George J. Stone.

The increase of 33% in enrollment in the graduate school of the School of Education of Seton Hall University reflects two trends in the high school teaching field: Dr. John S. Herron, Dean of the School of Education, declared last week.

There are 2,400 course registrations in the School among the teachers enrolled.

"The increase of such a number has been partly due to the greater opportunities for administrative positions in such school systems as in Newark and Jersey City. Until the past 10 years most promotions were through appointment. But now with the competitive examinations the teacher now has a stimulus to better himself."

"This has been especially true by the interest in courses in Administration and Supervision and in Personnel and Guidance.

"Then the salary scales based upon graduate work tends to keep the teacher on his toes as he desires to keep in his chosen field."

Gonzaga. Dealing with the epic, this work is an outstanding work on Italian Renaissance literary criticism. Ansaldo Coiba, a Genoese Monk of the sixteenth century, is notable for his views on the duties and the rights of the citizen. Because of his insistence on the rights of man, his writing is considered to be far ahead of his time.

The edition by Dr. Sarot will consist of an introduction, a biography of the author and a translation of the work itself. Dr. Sarot, Moderator of the Spanish Club, will leave for Europe on June 16th by KLM-Royal Dutch Airlines, and return on September 15th in time for the fall semester.

A meeting of the Academy of Science, Student Affiliate Chapter of the A.C.S., was called to order by President Robert Novack Wednesday evening, March 31, 1954 at 8:15. Freshman Chemistry student James Daly spoke on the mineralogy of Franklin, N. J. Guest speaker, Joseph P. Addonizio, a Seton Hall alumnus, lectured on instrumentation in chemistry.

In his Treasurer's report, Bob Long, stated that $200 had been allocated to Seton Hall's delegates to the Eastern College Science Conference to be held at St. George's Hotel in Brooklyn April 23, 24, and 25. The budget adopted for the Academy's annual banquet to be conducted by freshman members, was $250.

In a progress report concerning activities of the North Jersey Student Affiliate Chapter, William Pierson, Association President, requested that Al Janoski discuss the bulletin to be published for the North Jersey Section's Sixth Annual Convention with Dr. Alya as guest speaker at Rutgers University on May 8, 1954. Al Janoski, a freshman who is editor-in-chief of the bulletin stated that Hewlett Printing Company, printer for The Setonian would handle the job.

The chair announced that William Novack was Senior representative to the E.C.S.C. in Brooklyn and that Frank Dondershine and Al Janoski were to be the University's junior delegates. Ten dollars and ten cents were collected for the mission.

In his talk "Minerals found in Franklin, New Jersey," James Daly stated that there are over 140 minerals in that area and that 30 specimens are not found anywhere else in the world. Four chief ores of that region of Sussex County are Tephroite, Willemite, Franklinite, and Zincite.

In his lecture as guest speaker, Joseph Addonizio, a 1951 graduate with Beckman Instrument Company, discussed instrumentation in Chemistry. Mr. Addonizio declared that spectroscopy was rapidly replacing the wet chemical in qualitative and quantitative analysis. Food composition, fuel properties, breeding, and other applications and the spectroscopic method in research and in developing the composition of drugs, about being shown.

There being no further business, the Annual Meeting adjourned at 11:20 and a reception was given.

Track Team Awaits Relays

On Saturday, April 17th, at Triboro Stadium, the outdoor season was officially opened in the East with the Collegiate Relays. The Pirate thinclads are now preparing themselves for the Penn Relays at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on the 23rd and 24th of April.

Coach Johnnie Gibson has not revealed his entries yet, but it's a good bet that the team will be represented by a class mile relay. Captain Bob Keegan should see action in the 100 yard dash, which will feature John Haines of Pennsylvania, who looms as a threat to break records in any meets in which he might run.

In the sprint roles this outdoor season, the Pirates will have Nick Gianquinto, Jim Kissane, and Jack Levin, as well as Keegan. Levin has been looking much better in practice lately, and should be near the peak he held several years back, he will be a great help to the team.

Distance men Matt Hennessey, George Hesnan, Don Girvan and Sam Purpuri will see action in the mile and two mile events.

Bill Shyne and Jack Heraut, ex-St. Michael's H. S. stars, and Bruce Goodwin, the N. J. State Champ at the 100 and 220 yard dashes, will compose the quarter mile portion of the Frosh team. Shyne may run the 880 or mile and Goodwin the 220 whenever the occasion arises. (Ed. Note: Ed Cryer, who has run on the relay all during the outdoor season, undoubtedly will fill the other spot on the quartet.) George Drabin and little Don "Tat" McQuarrie, recovering from sickness and an injury respectively, will see action in the sprints. Bob Holton, who has just turned out for the team, will also try his luck at the 440. Holton won a watch last year at this time when he ran the 440 leg on Bayonne's winning distance medley relay team at the Penn Relays, and bears considerable watching once he rounds into shape.

As far as the field events go, the Setonians have a young but capable squad. Keegan will be in the javelin and broad jump, sophomore Bill Chabot in the discus and javelin, basketball star Frank Minaya in the shot put and high jump, freshman Bob McCrossan in the shot put, and Frank Bulpe also in the shot put. Dick Heine will also be around for the broad jump and is a good bet to better 23 feet. Last year Heine was one of the best in the East at this event.

Richie Regan, former Seton Hall cage star, was playing ball for the Quantico Marines when they met the San Diego Recruit Depot in the All-Marine Basketball Championship Tournament at Quantico, Virginia, April 14-15.

Service Tournament at Great Lakes, Ill., on April 14-15.

Regan, who has played in 50 of Quantico's 51 games this year, has been a major factor in the team's success. The 6'2" guard has averaged 14.7 points per game to rank as the Marines' second highest scorer behind the phenomenal Paul Arizin.

He and Arizin shared honors as the only Marines selected to the Armed Forces Press Service All-Star team.

Other statistics show that Regan has hit for 44 per cent of his attempted field goals and 75 per cent of his free throws.

In 1952 and '53, it was Richie Regan who teamed with big Walt Dukes to lead Seton Hall to 61 wins in 65 games. As a senior, he helped spearhead the Pirates to 27 consecutive victories and the National Invitational Tournament crown.

Selected for All-American honors and drafted by the Rochester Royals, Regan enrolled in the Marine Corps' Officer Candidate Course last summer. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in September, 1953.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony M. Ruggiero, presently living aboard the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., wish to announce the birth of their daughter, Patricia Anne, who was born at 8:09 A.M., February 9, 1954. "Patti Anne" weighed in at 5 pounds, 15½ ounces, at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital.

Anthony is a graduate of Seton Hall University, he is a Journalist Third Class, USN, attached to the Navy's Fleet Home Town News Center.

Among the newly-commissioned Marine second lieutenants completing the five-month basic training course at the Marine Corps School at Quantico, Virginia, is Manuel J. Martin.

Martin is a graduate of Seton Hall University. He has been assigned to Camp LeJeune, N. C.

The school year is rapidly coming to a close and following this edition there will be only two or three ensuing copies for you enlightenment and stimulation. Ha! Well, at least you will have to find another means of diversion during the hot months than reading the athletic anecdotes contained within this sheet. Some of the more unfortunate students who are seniors will no longer be able to pass away the waste hours scrutinizing the sports reports of this alleged correspondent. Well, to you folks, anyway, J. K. acknowledges his heartfelt appreciation for putting up with his whims and fancies, opinions, and so-called prognostications. Best of luck to you all on the rest of the way of life; and to the remainder of you we simply say that we hope you'll continue reading S.W.T.P. Rest assured we shall continue to utilize this Remington which has done this reporter long and faithful service.

Oh well, that's enough of that. This is no obituary. We aren't halting the presses for a few more weeks yet, anyhow. At this writing, the baseball team is hovering at about the 500 mark. The track team remains to take down the honors for this venerable institution of higher learning. Tennis and golf have been giving evidence of their existence by representing the Blue and White here and there on the court and course.

The basketball team meanwhile enjoys a respite in preparation for as energetic a schedule as the Pirate hoopers have undertaken in some time. At least, a little bird continues to inform us of this, and that school being added to the 1954-55 season. Let us hope what has been relayed through the vine to us is beyond the rumor stage. At any rate, due perhaps to purely selfish and not entirely secret reasons, it's our hope that what has been indicated will soon be verified by someone on the athletic inner circle herabouts.

The past season, while not an entirely fruitful one from the victory standpoint, afforded us an abundance of satisfaction and pleasure. In broadcasting the home basketball schedule in its entirety over WSOU, the happiness and joys derived more than compensated for the difficulties and expenditure of time and energy. Never has it been my pleasure to work with a more affable and amiable personage than my cohort on the broadcasts, WSOU Director of Sports, Syl D'Addario. The pleasant, good-natured sports enthusiast and basketball announcer par excellence graduates in June and presumably exits from campus to Army brown. The void he leaves is comparable to a vast abyss and certainly will create a dilemma to find capable hands in which to entrust the important first "mike." WMGM, we sincerely believe, would not regret auditioning Syl for the vacant sports spot left by the departure of the erstwhile Cal Ross.

As we recall to mind the names of guys going out of here in June for good, several more of the "dramatis personae," as the late great Joe H. Palmer would call them, come vividly to mind. Naturally, this is a sports column and thus we consider only the athletes who are departing.

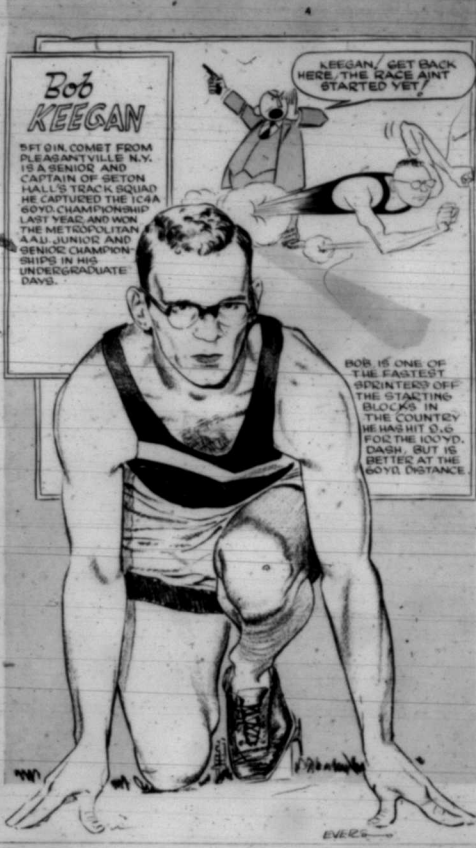

In basketball, there's Harry Brooks and Mickey Hannon, Hank Bock, Bockrath and Hank Cooper. All four prospective members of the solemn cap and gown brigade bid final adieu to Coach "Honey" Russell, Seton Hall University, and the Village of South Orange. Among the group are two who will always be remembered as a pair of the greatest outside threats that have ever trod the campus hardwood.

Track, too, contributes its seniors whose wanderlust anxiety asserts itself. Captain Bob Keegan, Jack Levin, Dick Heine, Justin Tracey, Jim McNally, and Nick Gianquinto join the June wayfarers. Maybe I'm crazy, but I'm willing to wager they'll regret the day they run their last race. Sure, they'll tell you that they are tired and anxious to hang up the shoes but don't believe 'em. Anyhow they'll miss the days off and vacations.

Well, we said we weren't going to write the 1954 obituary but it's a good thing we didn't swear to it, for the temptation was too great. Pardonnez-moi, s'il vous plait—whatever that means.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY:

Gary Nardino claims to have covered no less than 79 basketball games during the expired season. Such a distinction is second only to that of O.L.K., the "Super Scribe" . . . Bill Leggett does as fine a mimic of veteran-turf sportscasters Brian Field and Fred Caposella as we've ever heard. Nothing would please us more than to see the affable Mr. Leggett situated at one of the country's horse tracks calling the races—preferably Saratoga. Why? We would see him more. . . . WSOU is broadcasting all home games of Seton Hall University's baseball team with Sports Director Syl D'Addario, John Kennedy, and old J. K. on the scene to convey the action.

Pirates Impressive In Season Opener, Nip Montclair 1-0

By GARY NARDINO

The Seton Hall baseball squad opened its 1954 diamond season with a 1-0 victory over Montclair State Teachers College at Montclair. Phil Walker went the distance for the Hall giving up three hits. Walker struck out six while giving free passes to three Indians. The Pirates picked up the games sole tally in the fourth inning when Don Tallagnon doubled and scored on Jimmy Reardon's single.

The Pirates suffered their first setback at the hands of Fairleigh Dickinson College at South Orange. Don Heckha went all the way for Fairleigh giving them a 6-3 victory. Lou Tichenor started for Seton Hall. In seven innings he gave up six runs three of which were earned. Tichenor whiffed three and walked four.

Seton Hall jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first on singles by Charley Dourney, Jim Dimino and Jim Reardon. Fairleigh picked up one run in the second and in the fourth, two hits, three errors, and a walk gave Fairleigh a 4-2 lead. The men from Rutherford added two in the sixth on a two-run double by John Keffeher. A final Pirate tally in the seventh frame left the count at 6-3. Coach Ownie Carroll relieved Tichenor in the eighth with Mike DeRogatis, who gave up one hit and struck out three men. Hank Bockrath finished up for the Pirates in the ninth. Seton Hall left 12 men on base.

In their next outing Seton Hall was set back by Villanova to the tune of 4-1. Barney Kumert pitched good ball, going 8 innings for the Hall giving up 4 hits and as many runs. He struck out 9 men and gave up three walks. The Pirates once again displayed their inability to sustain a drive by leaving a total of 15 men on base.

Villanova scored in the first inning when McGarry's single was followed by a triple by McGuchen. McGuchen then scored on a passed ball. The Pirates chalked up their only run in the second on a triple by Don Tallagnon backed by Paul Jamison's single. In the fifth a passed ball gave Villanova their final run.

Seton Hall overcame LIU's three-run rally in the ninth with a three-run surge of its own in the bottom half of the innings to score an 8-7 victory at Setonia field. The Seton Hall triumph evened the Pirate's record at 2-2. Phil Walker went the distance for Seton Hall.

Long Island scored three runs in the ninth to move out in front 7-5. Seton Hall started its winning surge when Mickey Hannon pinch-hit a triple to left. Hannon scored when Barney Kumert's grounder was booted. Don Tallagnon came across with the winning run on a catcher Joe Duffe's passed ball.

An error hit batsman Henry Klossowski's second triple of the game brought across LIU's first two runs in the ninth. A squeeze bunt scored Klossowski with the third tally.

Seton Hall moved out to a 4-1 lead in the first as Tallagnon unloaded a three-bagger with the bases loaded and Charley Dourney followed with another triple.

Seton Hall entertains the Port Dix nine April 21st and the 23rd travels to Villanova. A rescheduled game with LIU will be played at Long Island on the 26th.

Openings on Track Squad

By ED CRVER

The outdoor track season is getting into swing, and that's a sign on most athletic fields for the campus sport men to be seen in the various weight events. But here at Seton Hall there is a distinct lack of field men to balance the team as it should be.

If you happened to read the history of the track team in the anniversary issue of The Setonian, you realized that the track team cannot be bypassed in this school for consistency in turning out the best year after year. Although it is usually one of the smallest in number, it can always rank with the best.

This season Coach Johnnie Gibson has sent out an urgent plea for more recruits to the field events. This includes the broad jump, high jump, shot put, discus, javelin, and pole vault. All those willing to put in the time from about 3:30 to 4:30 Monday to Thursday will immediately be accepted to the team and receive expert individual coaching which will bring the utmost from their particular talents.

For any of you who want to join a sport which gives you the chance to prove yourself in inter-collegiate competition without the fear of being benched all season, track is what you are looking for. If any of you have the qualifications for any of these events, why not report to practice at the aforementioned times? The team works out between the board track and the tennis courts.

Feature This Week

These activities, and many more, have made the Society one of the most prominent organizations on campus, and it is one of which both The Setonian and Seton Hall are proud.

Another unique feature introduced this semester is that the officers of the Chapter are elected at the beginning of April, so that they can have a breaking period of two months before they actually carry on the activities of SAM in September. Under the guidance of the old officers, these incumbents become familiar with the evaluation system, the Board of Directors, and the methods used in preparing research projects, as well as other phases of SAM activities.

The elections were held, and the new officers are as follows: President, Hugh Schneider; Vice-President, Edward Houston; Secretary, Michael Slane; and Treasurer, Anthony Hecak. Student Council Delegate is William Tschornitz.

Next week the American Chemical Society will be featured.
