Pope Names Cardinal Stritch Pro-Prefect of Propagation

First U. S. Born Cardinal to Serve in Rome Curia

VATICAN CITY (NUN) — Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, has been named Pro-Prefect of the Sacred Congregation for Propagation of the Faith in Rome by Pope Pius XII. He will be the first U. S.-born prelate ever to hold a Vatican Curia position, the special Congregation.

The announcement was made by Cardinal Stritch's personal secretary, Rev. Msgr. Colman O'Brian, who was on hand at the Vatican to receive the Pope's message.

Cardinal Stritch, whose appointment was announced in a November 23 message from the Pope, is the first American-born prelate to hold such a post.

The appointment of Cardinal Stritch marks the first time in the history of the Vatican Curia that an American-born prelate has been given a high-ranking position.

Cardinal Stritch, who has served as Archbishop of Chicago since 1958, was appointed a cardinal by Pope Pius XII in 1958.

The appointment of Cardinal Stritch has been hailed by many as a significant event in the history of the Church in the United States.

How Popular Is Organized Labor?

By Magr. George G. Higgins

Director, Social Action Department, NCWC

Dr. E. Howard Case, a member of the Board of Directors of the Illinois Federation of Labor, has written this book, which he has referred to as "an effort to present the organized labor movement for what it really is, and to prove that there is a place for it in the democratic way of life for each man, whether he is a laborer or a capital owner."

This movement has been in existence for several years, and the author has been a member of the organization for many of those years. He is well informed on the subject, and his work has been most valuable to the make work.

In his book, Dr. Case presents the organized labor movement as it is, and as he sees it. He is not interested in the political方面, but in the economic aspect of the labor movement. He believes that labor is entitled to a share of the profits, and that the organized labor movement is the best means for securing this right.

The book is well written, and the author's views are clearly stated. He is a strong advocate of the organized labor movement, and he believes that it is the best way to improve the lot of the working man.

Constant Vigilance, Patience Needed to Guide Young People

PASSAIC — Constant vigilance and patient waiting will be necessary in the efforts of teachers to mold the characters of the young people committed to their care, was the message of Bishop McInerny to the high school teachers of the Paterson Diocese at a recent meeting of the Catholic Laymen's Guild of Paterson.

Bishop McInerny quoted the following from the catechism:

"In every age, and in every country, the task of the Christian educator is to make the gospel of Christ known to all men, and to prepare them for the work of life and for the duties of citizenship."

The Bishop also said that the Christian educator must be prepared to bear witness to the faith, and must be ready to give an answer for the hope that is in him.

Queen of Peace, Don Bosco Tech In Debuts as NJCC, BPPC Tittlits

NEWARK — By almost identical scores, Queen of Peace and Don Bosco Tech were opening champions of the North Jersey Catholic Conference and the Bergen Parish Catholic Conference, respectively, on Friday night. The two teams were hard to separate in the 44-40 victory in the North Jersey Catholic Conference.

The Queen of Peace seniors in the majority of the lineups, led by Eric Buss, who scored most of his team’s points, and the senior quartet of Mike Bumby, John Bumpus, Timmy Bumpus, and Ralph Bumpus, who combined for most of their team’s points, dominated the game from the opening jump. Buss, who scored 18 points, 14 of which came in the first half, was named the game’s MVP.

Surely, the architect who designed the new parsonage, with its three floors and commodious living quarters, must have been aware of the great need for the renovation and modernization of our religious centers. And we are convinced in this parochial community that the new parsonage, built in keeping with the modern style, will provide the Parson with the necessary facilities to carry out his functions and will prove an inspiration for the Parishioners.

Cooperative Shaves
Equipment Costs

By Joe Thomas

Thanks to Cooperative Supply Services, Bergen Catholic High School is able to outfit its library with chairs for a cooling half the price the school may have had to pay had it chosen not to use Cooperative programs.

That’s because “shopping” is what Cooperative Supply Services, a division of the Jersey Churches of the North, does. It negotiates favorable prices for items used in schools and churches, so that the schools and churches can get the best possible prices for the best quality.

In 1967 Cooperative’s group punched its way through a total of $1,964,371 worth of school needs from the Northern New Jersey area. The total cost of this was $8,264,371.

Have you made your shopping list for next year? Cooperative Supply Services can help you save on school equipment.

Church Dedicates Buildings to God
With Ancient Rituals and Ceremonies

By William F. Jones Jr.

In a ceremony that has been preceded by months of planning, the Associated Press has formally consecrated the new buildings of the Associated Press in New York City.

The ceremony began with a procession of clergy and dignitaries through the city's streets. In the presence of the assembled guests, the Bishop of New York City blessed the buildings, saying, "This is a sacred place, and we will do all we can to ensure that it is used only for sacred purposes.

After the blessing, the Bishop led the assembled guests into the new building, where they were greeted by the Rev. Dr. John Smith, the head pastor of the church. Dr. Smith spoke of the importance of the occasion, saying, "This is a day of celebration, a day when we come together to give thanks for all that God has done for us.

The ceremony concluded with a benediction, after which the Bishop declared the buildings open for worship.

The new buildings of the Associated Press are a testament to the faith of the people who built them. They are a symbol of hope, of love, and of the power of God.

Let us all join together in prayer, that we may be worthy of this sacred place."
Mushrooming Bergen Tops Counties
With 16 Buildings Completed in '57

Fast-growing Bergen County leads the field in Catholic-sponsored construction. The county has had at least seven new school buildings completed this year. Planning is already under way for at least seven more missions are under construction or have already been completed.

New churches, schools, parishes, and the relocation of current structures are being considered and approved by the Bergen County Catholic Conference.

In July, the conference was contacted by Bishop Paul H. Geretti, who said that the conference was considering a plan to build new buildings in Bergen County. He said that the conference would be able to build new churches, schools, and parishes if the county would provide the land.

The conference has already received requests for land from 36 missions in the county. The conference has also received requests for land from 16 other missions in the county.

Holy See Rules On Church Art

The Holy See has issued new standards governing the type of art which may be used in Catholic churches.

- Church structures and offices of sacred art... to enhance the beauty of the Church... shall be located in the nave, or chancel, or in the transept, or in the ambulatory, or in the choir, or in the apse, or in the sanctuary, which may be worthy of the location of the Church.

YES, FATHER!

Fund-raising within the Church can be dignified, effective and indeed pleasant when conducted by experienced men who have integrity, ability and personality.

The degree of success of any Church campaign is dependent on the combination of all these important factors. They are essentials in all campaigns managed by Nieuwenaus Associates in the United States and by its affiliate, Nieuwenaas, Sunday & Co. Ltd. in Canada.

'Bold' Design In Pavilion At Brussels

The exhibit of the Catholic Church at the Brussels Scientific Exhibition will be a pavilion built and owned in its complete and final form.

Entitled "Catholicity," the pavilion will be a four-story building, 150 feet wide, 200 feet long, and 50 feet high, with a roof of glass and steel, symbolizing the unity of the Church and the light of faith. The pavilion will be lit by natural sunlight and will be a symbol of Christian unity.

Financial aid was pledged to the project by the Archdiocese of Brussels, and a committee of eminent architects was selected to give it a truly Catholic design.

Financial Support

In addition to the financial support from the Archdiocese of Brussels, contributions have been pledged by other Catholic organizations and individuals, totaling over $1 million.

Opening of Pavilion

The pavilion will be opened in Brussels in September, coinciding with the World Congress of the International Catholic Union.

The exhibit will feature a display of the Church's history, teachings, and achievements, with a particular emphasis on its role in the advancement of civilization and the promotion of peace.

Massive Artwork

The centerpiece of the exhibit will be a massive artwork depicting the history of the Church, from its earliest beginnings to the present day. The artwork will be a symbol of the Church's unchanging message of love and truth.

Conclusion

The pavilion will be a fitting representation of the Catholic Church's commitment to its mission, and will serve as a source of inspiration and education for all who visit it.

11 New Buildings in Morris Picture

Growth of the Church in Morris County during 1957 was highlighted by the dedication of four new parish buildings. The establishment of new parishes and the addition of new structures in four additional parishes.

Advisory groups to these new buildings included St. Joseph Church in Parsippany, St. Francis of Assisi Church in Denville, St. Mary's Church in Boonton, and St. John's Church in Morristown.

Two of the most significant buildings, however, were the parish center and the rectory, which were dedicated by Bishop McCarthy on Jan. 31, 1958. These projects were the result of careful planning and dedication.

ST. JOHN'S, Morristown, which was dedicated as a parish on Feb. 7, 1957, has a new rectory and was completed without any public money. The rectory, which is located on a small hill, was designed by the parish architect.

Fund Drives 'Build' Parish, Diocesan Unity

By Alice Mac-Brady

A FUND-DRIVE builds more than new school—religion or church. It builds the spirit of a community to sustain the building. And the building itself is the symbol of the community's faith.

When John Divis of the Parish Development Committee of Holy Name Church, Brick, said to the pastor, "The parishioners expect the church building to be completed by next fall," the pastor was quick to respond with a word of encouragement and support. "We will do our best to support this project," he said.

The idea of building a new church was first discussed during a parish meeting in 1984. Several parishioners expressed their desire to build a new church, and the idea quickly gained support from the community. A committee was formed to explore the possibility of building a new church, and the committee worked tirelessly to gather support and raise funds for the project.

The committee's hard work paid off, and in 1985, the parishioners were able to break ground on the new church. The new church was completed and dedicated in 1987, and it has since become a symbol of the community's faith and dedication to their parish.

Eight Catholic Hospitals Plan Construction To Provide Better Service to North Jersey

By Edward J. Grant

Eight Catholic hospitals in the Archdiocese of Newark and Diocese of Trenton are planning major building programs in 1958, which will involve capital expenditures of more than $18 million, with the net five years.

1. Doubles the best capacity of six of the institutions.
2. Important new services in one of them:
   a. Generally improves the services of all eight to their communities.
   b. St. Mary's Hospital, Bayonne, Bibbie, Ely, Nancy, Trenton; St. Mary's, Passaic; St. Vincent, Morristown; Archdiocese of Newark.

Michael's Hospital, Newark: Since the next five-year period ended March 31, 1957, Michael's, Newark, has been the hospital favored in programs which range from the completion of a new course (Bible course) to plans on an 18-story hospital.

When such a plan will take to much completion will depend upon agreeing on the property with which the resting floor spaces are met. Financial problems, including capital, have been discussed so far. The present building is a three-story brick structure, which has been completed.

The hospital includes established in 1924 as a school for nurses. It was incorporated in 1924 as a member of the Catholic hospitals of the United States.

For nursing sisters. The new course for the Sisters of St. Joseph who staff Holy Name Hospital, Teaneck, will make room for more nursing school students in quarters latterly occupied by the Sisters. Description is found at left.
