World Sodality Congress To Be Held in Newark

NEWARK — The World Federation Congress of the Sodality of Our Lady will be held in New York on April 27.

This announcement was made by Msgr. John J. Mahoney, assistant director of the National Catholic Educational Association, at a press conference here today.

The Congress will be held in the Assembly Hall of St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, April 27, under the presidency of Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York.

The Congress will be attended by representatives of sodalities from throughout the United States and Canada.

The purpose of the Congress is to bring together the leaders of sodalities to discuss the problems of the Catholic Church and to develop plans for the future of the Catholic Church.

Those interested in attending the Congress are asked to register as soon as possible.

The Congress will begin at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 5 p.m.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

See 4,700,000 in Schools

NEWARK — Over 4,700,000 American children are now attending Catholic elementary and secondary schools.

This figure represents an increase of 100,000 over the previous year.

According to the National Catholic Educational Association, there are 10,500 Catholic schools in the United States.

The increase in the number of Catholic schools is due to the growth in the number of Catholic families.

The National Catholic Educational Association is a voluntary association of Catholic schools.

The association is dedicated to the promotion of Catholic education.

CHURCH MILESTONES

- The Catholic Church in the U.S. officially lists its "militant" status as 50 years ago, June 29. On that date, in 1908, Pope Pius X created an Apostolic Prefecture for the United States, which was named the United States of America. The United States' first pontiff, Pope Pius X, has been declared a saint by the Church. The United States is the only country in the world that has been declared a sovereign state by the Vatican City.

U.S. Was Mission Territory Up to a Half Century Ago

WASHINGTON -- It was only 50 years ago this June 29 that the Catholic Church in the United States officially became a distinct entity. The Church in this country has grown from a small missionary enterprise to a powerful force in American society. The Church has been able to establish itself as a major player in American politics and culture, and its influence has been felt in every corner of the country. Today, the Church is the largest religious denomination in the United States, with millions of members across the country. The Church has played a significant role in shaping American society, and its impact can be seen in every aspect of American life. St. Mary's, Rutherford,
To Mark Golden Jubilee

RUTHERFORD—Fifty years ago, on Apr. 19, 1918, Rev. Joseph Missal, SJ, accepted additional a handful of Catholic families for the first time in a new church, completed in the old municipal building.

Today, St. Mary's parish is a home for a long with over 4,000 families and children in this rôle, an elementary school with a faculty and staff of over 100, and a high school with over 600 students.

BUT THE PARISH with its physical growth was still meager at the outset and as Msgr. D'Ippolito also began construction of the church in 1920. The cornerstone was laid on Apr. 19, 1928. The building contains the seventh and eighth grades of the grammar school, and the basement was completed in 1954. The second floor was refurbished in 1968.

The cathedral—seats and the new parish hall, and the new parish hall, will be completed in the fall. The new parish hall will be completed in the fall. Irish Priest Doing His Best To Convert England by Mail

RAN FRANCISCO (N. Y.)—The eyes of priests glinted with pride today as they listened to the story of Fr. Patrick G. Maguire of New York City who was doing his best to convert England by mail.

After four years of traveling, Fr. Maguire returned this week and his parochial family, including his 1200 parishioners of the Archdiocese of Westminster, received the news of the success of his mission.

Like his predecessors in Rome, Fr. Maguire has taken over the special post of sending letters to Catholics in England and is now working on the five-week program.

The New York Times reports that the Pope has been surprised at the success of his letter-writing campaign.

Mr. Maguire, who has been writing letters to English-speaking Catholics for the past five years, has received a warm response.

The Pope, it is believed, is pleased with the results of the campaign and has ordered that similar efforts be made in other countries.

Bishops Find Red Influence Peasant Education

The bishops of Bolivia have denounced the influence of the red peasant education movement in the country. This organization, which has been active in the Bolivian countryside, is accused of spreading radical ideas among the peasants and undermining the traditional way of life in the rural areas.

The bishops' statement highlights the potential dangers of such movements, which they believe could lead to social unrest and instability. They urge the government to take action to prevent the spread of these ideas among the rural population.

This statement is part of a broader concern within the Catholic Church about the influence of external ideologies on local communities, particularly in areas where there are socio-economic challenges.

Bishops' Conviction Explained by Court

FLORENCE, Italy — The Italian court has upheld the bishops' conviction, ruling that the bishops were guilty of abuse of power.

The bishops had been convicted for their role in supporting red peasant education movements, which the court found to be a violation of the state's autonomy.

The court's decision is seen as a setback for the bishops, who were previously awarded a sentence of three years in prison.

Lithuanian Bishop Calls for Education

The Lithuanian bishop, speaking at an event in Rome, called for education reform, particularly in the areas of religion and morality.

He expressed concern about the growing influence of secular education systems and called for a greater emphasis on religious and moral education in schools.

The bishop's remarks come amid ongoing debates in the country about the role of religion in the public sphere and the need for a balanced approach to education.

Teachers Balk Over Atheism

Teachers at a Catholic school in Lithuania have balked at implementing atheist lessons, expressing concern about their potential impact on students.

The school's director has ordered the teachers to comply with the atheist curriculum, but the teachers have refused, stating that it goes against their religious beliefs.

The incident highlights the ongoing tension between religious institutions and secular education systems, particularly in countries with a strong Catholic presence.

Your Neighborhood Pharmacist Says...
The Bread of Life

A bread before the Blessed Lord fulfilled the design of His most holy Incarnation. It was presented to the faithful in the form of bread to give them the bread of life, to nourish their souls with the supernatural food of the Spirit, and to live forever in the presence of the Most High. This bread of life is a mystery that cannot be understood by the natural mind, but only by the understanding of faith and the spirit.

And They Knew Him

Before the Lord came, the people of the land were blind to the love of the Father. They could not see the hand of God in the events of their lives. But when Jesus came, He opened their eyes to the reality of the kingdom of heaven. He showed them that the kingdom of heaven was within them. He taught them to pray, "Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread...'' And they knew Him.

V. What is the significance of the black sheep in British culture?
The Handicapped: 19th Century - 1965
By John F.党史学习

This is a study of the interactions between the disabled and society, focusing on the period from 1865 to 1965. It examines the attitudes, institutions, and policies that shaped the lives of the handicapped and how they coped with the challenges they faced. The book is divided into two parts: The Handicapped: 19th Century and The Handicapped: 20th Century. It is written in a clear, accessible style, making it suitable for both general readers and scholars.

The Handicapped: 19th Century covers the period from 1865 to 1885, focusing on the lives of the handicapped during the early years of the 19th century. It explores the ways in which society perceived and treated the disabled, the role of religion in shaping attitudes towards the handicapped, and the methods used to care for them.

The Handicapped: 20th Century covers the period from 1885 to 1965, focusing on the lives of the handicapped during the later years of the 19th century and the first half of the 20th century. It examines the changes in attitudes towards the handicapped, the development of new institutions and policies to care for them, and the ways in which they coped with the challenges they faced.

The TEMPTATIONS OF JESUS by R. E. M. Smith. P. F. and Merrill, P. O. Box A, Burlington, Vt. (Hardcover)

The message of this book is that the problem of sin can be resolved through prayer and penance. In the parables that illustrate this message, Jesus is portrayed as a master teacher who helps his disciples understand the nature of sin and the importance of repentance. The book is well-written and provides a clear explanation of the teachings of Jesus.

Protest on Spanish Labor: Snub Film Made in Spain

By William H. Moore

Although, as a movie these two scenes are not long enough to be a feature, they serve as a fine introduction to the story. The film is shot well and the acting is excellent. The story is well-written and realistic. The characters are well-developed and the plot is well-constructed. Overall, this is a fine film that deserves to be seen.
Greetings!

TUCUMAN, May 29—A special Papal Bull was signed by Pope John XXIII this morning in the Vatican, with the approval of the Holy See, granting the new United States bishops the right to teach in their dioceses. The bull was signed in the presence of the new bishops and was accompanied by a letter from the Pope, expressing his hope that the new bishops would continue to work for the welfare of their respective dioceses.

Lawrence O. Talbot, Pope's aide, said that the bull was signed at 11:00 a.m. local time. It is the first bull signed by Pope John XXIII since his election last year. The bull is addressed to the new bishops and to the people of the United States, reminding them of the importance of their role in the Church and of the need for unity and cooperation among them.

The bull also contains a message from the Pope to the world, emphasizing the importance of peace and reconciliation in our time. The Pope expressed his hope that the new bishops would work to promote these values in their respective dioceses.

Addie vs. the Easter Bunny

By June Dwyer

Nan's grandchildren had come in from school, but it was only Addie who was excited. Addie was out on Easter egg hunt, and she had gone to the kitchen for her Easter bunny. And she thought, with a very pleased expression, she was the luckiest girl in the world.

"You won't find mine, sir," Addie told the cook, who finished making the lunch. "Because it's my own bunny!"

Addie leaped onto the table, her eyes wide with joy. "Easter bunny! Addie's Easter bunny!"

Mother was there to advise: "Addie, dear, Easter bunny is a symbol."

"But mine is real," Addie told her. "It's a living bunny!"

Addie hopped down to the kitchen to tell her sister, who was sitting at the table. "Sister, mine is real!"

"But mine is just a symbol," Sister told her.

Addie was about to argue the point when her sister suddenly realized that the rabbit was real. "Oh, I..."

Addie didn't hear the rest of what her sister said. She was too busy jumping around the room. "Easter bunny! Addie's Easter bunny!"

Mother was there to advise: "Addie, dear, Easter bunny is a symbol."

"But mine is real," Addie told her. "It's a living bunny!"

Addie hopped onto the table, her eyes wide with joy. "Easter bunny! Addie's Easter bunny!"

Archbishop to Break Ground for St. James Hospital

NEWARK — With Archbishop Walter Sullivan in attendance, a groundbreaking ceremony for the new St. James Hospital will begin at 4:30 p.m. April 13.

The groundbreaking will be the culmination of many months of planning, fundraising and construction efforts for the new 85-bed hospital, which will be located on the property of the current St. James Hospital on Lodi Avenue.

The new hospital will be the third major project for the Archdiocese of Newark in recent years, following the completion of the new St. John the Baptist Church in Newark in 2010 and the renovation of the former St. James Hospital into a new community health center.

The groundbreaking will feature speeches by Archbishop Sullivan, Newark Mayor Ras Baraka, and other officials, as well as the ceremonial breaking of the first sod.

The new St. James Hospital will be a state-of-the-art facility, providing comprehensive medical care for the community.

The ceremony will be open to the public and will be held at the current St. James Hospital on Lodi Avenue.

For more information, please contact the Archdiocese of Newark at 973-625-1000.
