Your Obligation to Observe Traffic Laws in New Jersey

NEW SHRINE CHURCH: A new church, the planing of which has been announced for the site of the old Spalding, is shown above in an architect's sketch. In the home of community leader Angelo Jannone, nephew of the Brooklyn alderman, construction is expected to begin shortly in honor of our Blessed Lady.

Sunday Sales Bans Upheld in Courts

COLONIA L. — Supreme Court in Ohio and Indiana have ruled that local governing Sunday mercandize are valid.

In Ohio, the court by a 5-2 vote upheld the convictions of a man and woman guilty of doing business on Sunday.
In Indiana, the court, in a 4-1 decision, sustained a state statute which makes it a crime to operate retail stores on New Year's Day and Saturday.

Ohio Law allows some activity except for stores which are "in a cluster," or small group of buildings, that are

Says Sunday Sellers, Buyers Incur Guilt

TOLEDO — Bishop George J. Rehling of Toledo has called upon Catholics to support merchants who close on Sunday.

In a pastoral letter, Bishop Rehling said such mercantile despise "economically and morally," since they "sell their goods for the benefit of the rich..."

Rehling said this is not an "economic solution," but he said it is the "right path of business and of morals." He also said it is a way to "honor the Lord of this earth..."

Orphans Need Love, Kindness More Than Food, Pope Says

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI has the need for love, kindness and charity, and said that the love of Christ is "the greatest gift of all..."

He said that unlike food, which can be stored and kept, love and kindness are always fresh, and that they must be given to those who are in need of them.

"Love them," he said, "and you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have given something that is truly valuable to those who most need it..."

Says Church Paved Way

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI, at an audience to 20,000 Italian workers, said that the Church has paved the way for "a new and authentic" situation in labor relations.

"The Church," he said, "has always been concerned with the interests of the working class..."

Vatican Press Office Servce
As Press-Holy See Liaison

VATICAN CITY (CNS) - The Vatican Press Office, created by Pope Pius XII in 1939, is now 50 years old. The agency, nestled in the basement of the Vatican Secretariat of State, has been providing the world's news media with accurate and timely information about the Church and its activities for the past five decades.

In its first 50 years of existence, the Press Office has maintained an unbroken record of providing accurate and reliable information about the Holy See. The agency has been praised for its professionalism, dedication to truth and fairness, and for its role in ensuring that the world's news media have access to accurate and timely information about the Church.

The Vatican Press Office was established by Pope Pius XII in 1939, and has been led by a series of outstanding clerics, including Father Paul E. Gallagher, who served as the office's director for 22 years.

Today, the Vatican Press Office is led by Msgr. Paul V. Gallagher, who succeeded his father, Msgr. Paul E. Gallagher, as director in 2017. Msgr. Gallagher is a highly respected and well-respected scholar and theologian, and is widely regarded as one of the leading experts on the history and doctrine of the Catholic Church.

The Vatican Press Office is committed to providing the world's news media with accurate and timely information about the Church and its activities. The agency is dedicated to ensuring that the world's news media have access to accurate and timely information about the Church, and is committed to maintaining a high standard of professionalism and integrity.

The Vatican Press Office, now 50 years old, continues to serve as a vital link between the Holy See and the world's news media, providing accurate and timely information about the Church and its activities.

Birth Control Tag Rankles BOSTON — After working 15 years to promote human fertility, Dr Joseph P. Doyle of St Elizabeth's Hospital here has seen himself labeled a "fertility killer" because of his stand on a "new birth control" method.

The paradox between his position before the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, where he was elected to the new method's steering committee last month, and his present stand on a "new birth control" method.

The position was changed on the issue by his former colleague at the college, Dr. Joseph B. M. Doyle, who said he had been "one of the most outspoken opponents of the method" and would no longer assist in its promotion.

Priest Declares New Pastoral Techniques Needed in Suburban Areas of the U. S.

WASHINGTON (DC) — The Church's pastoral work must be "radically rethought" and "new techniques developed" in the suburban areas of the country, said Msgr. Joseph F. Horan, O.M. in an address to the American Institute of Social Thought.

"The suburban areas of the United States are a new frontier for the Church," said Msgr. Horan, who is a member of the Catholic Church's Pastoral Council. "We must develop new pastoral techniques that are appropriate to the needs and concerns of the people living in these areas.

The Church must be more flexible and adaptive in its pastoral work, and must be willing to change its methods in order to be effective in the suburban areas. We must be willing to experiment and try new approaches in order to find what works best for the people we seek to serve.

The Church must also be willing to be critical of its own methods and to be open to new ideas. We must be willing to listen to the people we serve and to learn from them, in order to be effective in the suburban areas.

The Church must be willing to be creative and innovative in its pastoral work, and must be willing to take risks in order to be effective in the suburban areas. We must be willing to be bold and imaginative in our pastoral work, in order to be effective in the suburban areas.

Sister Teresa of Spain Beatified

VATICAN CITY (NC) — A Spanish nun who burned at the stake because of her faith was honored today by the Roman Catholic Church as the third苫 women ever to be beatified.

The ceremony was attended by Pope Paul VI, who presided over the service and presented the new saint's relics to the congregation. The nun, who is also known as Sister Teresa of Jesus, was born in Spain in 1607 and joined the religious order founded by St. Ignatius Loyola in 1540. She lived a life of poverty and simplicity, and she is said to have received visions of the Virgin Mary.

During her lifetime, she was known for her charity work and her dedication to helping the poor. After her death in 1653, she was buried in a humble grave, but her saintly life was not forgotten.

The beatification ceremony was attended by a large number of people, including members of the Spanish and German delegations. The Pope said that Sister Teresa was a model of humility and simplicity, and he praised her dedication to helping the poor.

Sister Teresa's feast day is September 18, and she is known as the patron saint of Spain.

Religious Boom

CHICAGO (AP) — Loss of faith, conformity and boredom are the three principal heights of American culture, according to a recent study.

The study, which was conducted by the Gallup Organization, found that a majority of American adults said they were either very or somewhat religious. However, a smaller number said they were not religious at all.

The study also found that a majority of Americans said they were religiously affiliated, but a smaller number said they were not religiously affiliated.

Discussing Morality of Atomic Warfare

LONDON (NO) — Highly powerful nuclear weapons could be used against legitimate targets in a purely defensive war, William GSTAAD, Swiss Foreign Minister, said in the course of a seminar here.

Archbishop GSTAAD has admitted that he does not believe it has been tried to arrange a peace settlement which would be a reasonable chance of ending the war to prevent greater losses. But he said the end of the war can only be worthwhile if it is sure to contain the future.

The ARCHBISHOOP expressed great concern for the position on the war as far as possible.

"If this be a war, a nation would have to stand in the way of war," he said. "But in the end, the world must come to an end in which people are no states. It cannot be expediently, now, to continue the war."

Doubious Appeals Use Mails In Seeking Contributions
By William F. Jenkins Jr.

NEWARK—After an American Postal Alliance Frequently to legitimate worthy of charity. It is only common sense, however, to ensure yourself that the organization which solicits your money is truly legitimate.

This caution was expressed by an official of the Archdiocese of Newark after receipt of the Judgments of Junior Court at any such organization operation.

While the letterhead might present the appearance of a prayer meeting or a church group, the official said, the text of the letter might be a discussion of a business venture. In addition, the letter might contain a statement that the money would be used for charitable purposes.

The official warned that the solicitation might have appeared from the archdiocese's Diocesan Communications and Community Affairs Office.

In fact, the official said, it might have appeared from a solicitation agency.

According to the official, the solicitation might have been directed to persons who have donated money to the church in the past.

The official recommended that the recipient of the solicitation verify the legitimacy of the organization before donating money.

Quarter Century at St. Michael's

Hospitl's 'Night Angel' Takes Rare Holiday for 50th Jubilee

By Bill Buckley

NEWARK — It won't be necessary to persuade Sister Angela to take a night off. The "Night Angel of Mercy" of St. Michael's Hospital won't be remembered this year.

But, on May 29, Sister Angela, who has observed her golden jubilee of religious life this year, will be remembered by many. She will be remembered for her work in the hospital, and for her dedication to the sick and the needy.

Sister Angela, a member of the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word, has been a nurse at St. Michael's Hospital for nearly 50 years. She has been a part of the hospital's history for almost as long as it has been in existence.

Sister Angela has been described as a "night angel" because of her work at night. She has been known to stay up all night at the hospital, taking care of the sick and the needy.

God Backs Traffic Laws

When Pope Pius XII addressed the Pontifical Academy of Social Science on the subject of the "right to life" of the unborn child, he pointed out that the birth rate is sustained by public policy and economic conditions. He further noted that the current high birth rate in the United States is due to the increased demand for labor and the improvement of economic conditions. He also stated that the present economic forces cannot be directed by the family alone, but that the family is also dependent on economic and social conditions.

The pope expressed his confidence in the American government to take the necessary steps to solve the problem of overpopulation. He said that the American government has been very successful in the past in solving economic problems and that it is likely to be successful in the future.

Golden Mother's Day

Mother's Day is the day when we should give our mothers a special gift to show our appreciation for all they do for us. It is a time to remember the love and support that mothers give to their children, and to express our gratitude to them.

A Modern Pilate

The term Pilate refers to the biblical figure of Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor of Judea, who is known for his role in the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. In modern times, Pilate has become a symbol of moral and ethical confusion, and is often used to describe individuals who are unclear about their own values and beliefs.

Glory Road

The American Indian tradition is rich and diverse, and it is important to understand the values and beliefs that underlie it. One of the key principles of the American Indian tradition is the importance of community and the need for cooperation and mutual respect. This is exemplified by the story of the Pilgrims, who came to America in search of a better life and found a new home where they could live in harmony with nature.

To Your Parish

Dear Parishioner,

I hope this message finds you well and that you are enjoying the beauty of spring. As we approach the season of Holy Week and Easter, I wanted to take a moment to reflect on the themes of sacrifice and resurrection.

In these days of challenges and uncertainty, we are called to present Christ to the world with our lives as a living testimony of faith and devotion. Let us remember that Christ overcame the forces of evil and death, and that through His sacrifice, we are made holy and reconciled to God.

May God bless you and your loved ones, and may you find peace and joy in the company of those who love you.

Yours in Christ,

DIACONAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

Not All the Funds Used for Education

By Rev. Michael C. Lintz

The Lady of Mercy, Howland

You have often come across the initials D. D. F. It is the Department of Development of the Diocese of Paterson. How do D. D. F. funds get spent? And why do we need so much of them? Let us try to answer both of these questions.

The need for the funds of the D. D. F. is a situation of the Diocese. Of course, there aren't any funds specifically set aside for this purpose. But when a Diocese such as ours has an insatiable appetite for new schools, you can get a clear idea of the situation. We are talking about an estimate of $2 million annually for new Diocesan schools. The need for such monies is evident to everyone.

What does this mean? Well, you can see how the funds of the D. D. F. are needed to help finance the construction of new schools. The need for such funds is not unique to the Diocese of Paterson. It is common to all Dioceses everywhere.

The next question is: Where do these funds come from? The answer is clear: they come from the Diocese of Paterson. The funds are raised by the Diocesan Development Fund.

Every Diocese needs to have funds available for such purposes. But the funds of the D. D. F. are not the only source of money for the Diocese. There are other sources, such as the Diocesan Capital Fund, the Diocesan Operating Fund, and the Diocesan Endowment Fund.

Some Read—Don't Head

By Bishop Fulton J. Sheen

A recent article in The Catholic World quotes an American Episcopal bishop as saying: "The most important object of religious education is to produce Christians, not Catholics."

In this context, the bishop was not speaking of the religious education of children, but rather of the religious education of adults. He was talking about the need for a religious education that would produce Christians, not Catholics.

The bishop was not suggesting that the primary goal of religious education is to convert people to Catholicism. Rather, he was saying that the primary goal of religious education is to produce Christians, people who live their lives according to the teachings of Christ.

Indulgences Remit Punishment of Sin

By Rev. John J. Sheehan

Indulgences are not a holdover from the Middle Ages. They remain in existence today, and are intended to help the Christian soul in its spiritual struggles.

Indulgences are not a license to commit sin. They are a means of obtaining remission of punishment for sins that have been committed, and are intended to help the Christian soul in its spiritual struggles.

The Church has always recognized the value of indulgences. They have been held to be a means of obtaining remission of punishment for sins that have been committed, and are intended to help the Christian soul in its spiritual struggles.

The Church has also recognized the value of indulgences as a means of obtaining remission of punishment for sins that have been committed, and are intended to help the Christian soul in its spiritual struggles.

The Church has also recognized the value of indulgences as a means of obtaining remission of punishment for sins that have been committed, and are intended to help the Christian soul in its spiritual struggles.

Maryknober's Unique Mission Is the Formulation of Ideas

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (CNS) — Father William A. Kaschmitter is a man with a mission, creating a web that connects Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

Kaschmitter was a graduate student at the University of Kansas, where he had to pay for his tuition and living expenses, leading him to develop an online platform that allows people to contribute to the mission.

"But," he says, "we have a vision for the future that we believe is possible with the help of technology and the internet.

In his spare time, Kaschmitter is working on a novel that he hopes will become a bestseller, continuing his mission to spread God's word.

Bureau Gleanes Rome News For U. S. Catholic Readers

By Fred Anderson

Just as the spring flowers take root in the earth, bringing life and color to the barren land, so it is with the news service office of the BNS that the news of Rome is spread to Catholic readers in the United States. The BNS, headed by Father Turek and O'Neill, is a work of faith and dedication, feeding the spiritual hunger of Catholics across the nation.

This issue of the Advocate includes a letter from Joan Caldwell, a student at Caldwell College, expressing her thoughts and feelings about the days that have passed since she was a little girl,

The Jesuit to Talk

In South Orange

Braving the pressure to give an all-out battle for the Church during the political and social upheavals of the 20th century, the Jesuits have become a controversial figure in the Catholic Church. In his latest work, "The Jesuit to Talk," Father John O'Neill provides a candid look at the challenges faced by the Jesuits in the modern world.

Pope Pius X: Families of Those Lost During War

NWC News Service

Following is narration of an address delivered in Italian and French on March 30, 1935, in an audience of 30,000 people in St. Peter's Square by Pope Pius XI. The pontiff declared that to observe the solemnity of Easter was the duty of all Catholics and that those who might be consoling in their hearts, should do so in the silence of their own homes. He also reminded them that Easter was the time of the saccharine, of the sacrifice of Christ and that it was the time of the resurrection. He added that in order to consider the dignity of the resurrection of Christ — the resurrection of humanity and moral resurrection — the sacrifice of Christ, the sacrifice of humanity and the resurrection of humanity must be kept.

We gaily welcome your desire to receive Our Blessing, beloved families and families of those missing in war.

Unfortunately, we cannot remain with you at length. Our time is limited. Besides, we have already dealt repeatedly with the distressing subject of war, delving into its practical causes, and in its effects, attempting to compensate for its suffering. We continually fight against it, and its progress is gradually stopped. Our final goal is the establishment of international organization to work for the banning of all prizes of war, and all war in the world.

We give the victory and fulfillment to your desire.

We wish the families of those missing in war to receive Our Blessing.

Pope Pius XI

1579-1939

In memory of the Pope of the Mystics.
By John Dayer

If all of the boys and girls in the world believed in the beautiful things the Young Advocates write to us in the Lourdes column, we would have no more real worries in our lives. The children from the Evangelists, or the North Star boys, or the Sacred Heart girls, would make the world a better place to live in.

This week the judges worked diligently marking the photographs of the boys and girls entered in the seventh and eighth grade. They had to go through 800 photos, and it was not an easy task. We are glad our members continued to communicate with us.

SIDER REAL (infant) is the winner in the seventh grade boys category. In the eighth grade girls category, the winner is Calista, the proud parent.

These photos are now in the hands of the judges, and we can’t wait to see the winners. Our members should be proud of their children and their participation. If we members want to make the world a better place, we must take action.

AIDS RESEARCH is a topic that should be a hot topic for our members during the summer. There will be opportunities to learn more about it. We hope our members will take advantage of these opportunities.

A column for our members is a part of our interest in this field.

Mother's Day

THE TRIBUTE in mother's Mother’s Day is not soma-only to the devoted loving heart in mother's heart, but also to the loving heart of the nation. The story is one of devotion, of sacrifice, of service. It is a story of unselfish love, of un conditional giving, of a love that knows no bounds.

Mother’s Day is a day to honor all mothers, not just the one who is in your life today. It is a day to remember the mothers of those who have passed, and to celebrate the mothers of future generations. It is a day to remember that love is the greatest gift we can give each other.

Mothered

Motherhood is the one true calling that transcends all others. It is a calling that is not chosen, but is given. It is a calling that is not easy, but is necessary. It is a calling that is not always understood, but is loved.

Bloomfield — Despite a lack of cooperation from the Bloomfield Board of Education, a spring break retreat for students at St. Leonard Church, Cresskill, will be scheduled by Rev. William H. Hogan, S.J., principal of St. Peter's Preparatory School. The school newspaper, the "Prep," has announced that the principal will be in charge of the spring break retreat planned for St. Leonard's.

A week ago a student at the school reported to principal Hogan that the spring break dates were already scheduled for other retreats. The student pointed out that several other retreats in the area were already planned, and only two weeks of school time were available before the end of the semester. Hogan said that he had no objections to the student's plan, as long as the scheduled retreats did not conflict with Bloomfield services.

"We have already arranged for a retreat for three days on May 21, and another for May 22," Hogan said.

"We have also arranged for a retreat for three days on May 23, and another for May 24."

Hogan pointed out that the student had not arranged for any other retreats, and that the school was not in session on the days mentioned by the student.

"We have no objection to the student planning a retreat for the spring break," Hogan said. "We do not believe that the student is in conflict with any other retreats, as long as he does not conflict with the dates that we have already arranged for.

Bloomfield, N.J., was informed by Rev. William H. Hogan, S.J., principal of St. Peter's Preparatory School, that the school newspaper, the "Prep," has announced that the principal will be in charge of the spring break retreat planned for St. Leonard's.

Leaders Meet in Two Conferences
As Season Hits Halfway Mark

SONORAN - This is the week for big decisions in both the Panam Red and Athletic Conference and Tri-Century Catholic Conference, provided of course that the Panam Red is still in the picture.
St. Joseph's and St. Lukes, fielded for the PBCC battle for the first time in 11 years, with the same mix for both. Peter Fafaul (3-0), and Eddie Gagni with the two key men in the battle. St. Lukes will have its second string on the front line for the first time since the last year to meet, so the scorecard will be in favor of the Panam Red.

VARIOUS winners will have to be decided this week, but the 10-year-old war between the two will be decided this week.
