School Issue Helps To Topple Socialists

BRUSSELS, Belgium — Using the poll results to stir up a new campaign, leaders of the nation's Catholic-oriented party, the Social Christians—except in power in Brussels, the capital—have thrown their weight behind an issue that should be of interest to all Belgian voters.

The Social Christians, who have been dropped from power by the Socialists in Brussels, are leading a campaign to get a new law passed that would allow Catholics to vote in local elections. The issue has been brought to the attention of the voters in Brussels by the Catholic-oriented party, the Social Christians, who have been trying to gain control of the city council for many years.

The Social Christians believe that the new law would give them a better chance to gain control of the city council, and they have been working hard to get it passed. The issue has been a major campaign issue for the Social Christians, and they have been working hard to get as many votes as possible.

The Social Christians have been working hard to try to get the new law passed, and they have been successful in gaining a majority of the votes in the city council. The new law was passed by a vote of 21 to 19, and it will take effect soon.

De Gaulle's Platform

The world breathed a sigh of relief when France, the world's third largest country, finally decided to enter the Common Market, and the world rejoiced in hope of a peaceful and prosperous future. However, the decision of the French government to join the European Economic Community (EEC) has raised many concerns and criticisms among the European nations.

One of the main concerns is the role of France in the EEC and its impact on the other member states. There are fears that France may use its position to weaken the Common Market and to promote its own interests. The French government has been criticized for its lack of commitment to the objectives of the EEC and for its unwillingness to compromise on certain issues.

Moreover, the decision of France to join the EEC has also raised concerns about its impact on the global economy. The French economy is heavily dependent on the European market, and the entry of France into the EEC could have significant implications for the global economy.

Despite these concerns, the decision of France to join the EEC is generally seen as a positive step towards greater cooperation and integration in Europe. The French government has committed itself to the objectives of the EEC and has shown a willingness to work with its partners to achieve these objectives.

In conclusion, the decision of France to join the EEC is a significant development in the history of Europe. Although there are concerns about its impact, the decision is generally seen as a positive step towards greater cooperation and integration in Europe. The French government has committed itself to the objectives of the EEC and has shown a willingness to work with its partners to achieve these objectives.

Police Brutality in Reverse

Police brutality is a global issue that is frequently discussed in the public press, and the offenders of these crimes are often like-minded and unsupportive of one another. However, there are some who are currently supporting civil rights and police brutality is a constant concern, even for those who are not directly involved. These individuals are often seen to ignore the law and are not afraid to take extreme measures to protect their rights.

Police brutality is a serious issue that must be addressed by the police and the community at large. It is important to ensure that police officers are held accountable for their actions, and that the community is protected from the use of excessive force.

In order to maintain a competitive edge, companies must continually invest in research and development, and they must be willing to adapt to new technologies and market trends. This requires a strong commitment to innovation and a willingness to take calculated risks.

Damaging Admissions

Southern Illinois University has long been a leader in the field of education, and it is the proud home of many of the nation's finest universities. However, the institution has faced challenges in the past, and it has had to confront difficult issues in order to maintain its reputation.

One of the challenges faced by the university is the issue of admission standards. The university must ensure that it maintains high academic standards while also providing opportunities for students from diverse backgrounds.

In order to address this issue, the university has implemented a number of policies and procedures to ensure that it is providing a fair and equitable admissions process. These efforts have helped to improve the university's reputation and to ensure that it remains a leader in the field of education.

Sacred Heart Month

RUTHERFORD — Major new construction in St. Mary's parish is in the offing. It was announced by Monsignor David D'Andersia, the pastor, at the conclusion of his 33rd anniversary in the priesthood and the golden jubilee of the founding of the parish.

The new construction, plans for which were completed by an architect and fund raising campaign by the parishioners, will be built on the slope behind the church, and will be directly connected with the church building.

The new construction will provide a new rectory, a new parlor, a new kitchen, and a new heating and air conditioning system. The new rectory will be large enough to accommodate the pastor and his family.

The parishioners of St. Mary's have always been proud of their church and have been active in raising funds for its construction.

VOTES FOR CHARITY

By Jean Daye

In the summer, we go out to cover the election, or play golf, or hit the beach, or do what ever we think of. But the one thing we all have in common is... We all vote. It's not only about the candidates, it's about what they represent.

In the second meet of the series, against the St. Michael's Catholic High School, Feyrer again displayed his abilities and scored 22 points, including a win in the 110-meter hurdles with a time of 14.8 seconds. His performance was so impressive that he was awarded the Most Valuable Player of the meet.

The event also featured several other impressive performances, including the St. Michael's Catholic High School's 400-meter relay team, which set a new school record with a time of 44.6 seconds. The team consisted of Feyrer, John Smith, Michael Jones, and Robert Brown.

In addition to Feyrer's performance, several other Catholic school athletes excelled in their respective events, demonstrating the high level of talent and competitive spirit present in the conference.
