Digital Humanities Faculty Seed Grant Showcase

Wednesday, April 4, 2018
9 – 11 p.m.
Walsh Library – Beck Rooms

Digital Humanities Faculty Seed Grant Showcase is hosted by the Teaching, Learning and Technology Roundtable Faculty Development & Best Practices Committee.

Follow the Digital Humanities Blog (http://blogs.shu.edu/digitalhumanities/) and the Technology Blog (http://blogs.shu.edu/technology/) for the latest information on all things Digital Humanities and Teaching, Learning and Technology.
The Provosts Office, in collaboration with the Digital Humanities (DH) committee, awarded grants to faculty members from across the university to advance their work using DH tools in their teaching and/or research.

Digital Humanities represent the intersection of research and teaching with technology in the disciplines recognized as part of the humanities or liberal arts. The grants support the integration of Digital Humanities in teaching and learning at Seton Hall University.
