Charity Sisters Open Centennial Year

VATICAN CITY (NC) — While the Church rejects the "false idols" of a one-party state, it teaches all classes importance of education, the bishops of the U.S. bishops' committee on Church and Justice and Liberty have said. (The bishops' committee, and the church, will not comment on the recent decision by the government to change the law on private education, which would allow private schools to teach religious education in public schools.)

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Sisters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul, the order that runs the Redemptorist schools in the United States. The order was founded by St. Vincent de Paul and his collaborator, St. Francis Xavier de Sales, in France in 1640.

The order is one of the oldest and largest religious orders in the world, with more than 100,000 members in over 100 countries. The order's mission is to serve the poor and marginalized, particularly through education and health care.

The bishops' committee has called on the government to ensure that private schools have the same access to government funding as public schools, and to protect the right of parents to choose the type of education they want for their children.

On Confraternity Sunday

Letter Stresses Religious Training

NEWARK — Sept. 28 has been designated as "Confraternity Sunday" by the Archdiocese of Newark, N.J., to promote religious education in the diocese.

In a letter to be read at all Masses on Sept. 28, the Archdiocese of Newark urged parishes to emphasize the importance of religious education for all ages and to encourage participation in the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, a lay organization that helps Catholics prepare for full active membership in the Church.

The letter also encouraged parishes to hold special activities on Sept. 28 to promote religious education, such as Masses, workshops, and classes.

The letter concluded by encouraging all Catholics to "make a commitment to continue our religious education and to share our faith with others."

School Population Continues to Rise

NEWARK — Figures continue to soar on all levels for young Catholics entering their education in the university, college, high school and grammar schools in the Archdiocese of Newark.

The 1957-58 enrollment was a total of 13,650 students attending these schools compared to the total of 12,840 from the previous year.

This is the third year in a row that the enrollment has increased over the previous year.

This is the result of the organizational activity by Mary, William P. Leary, superintendent of schools, and Mike, David A. O’Shea, assistant superintendent.

Enrollment is in all three levels up one year with almost all the grammar schools topping the list.

THE ELEMENTARY school increase by 471 to bring the total enrollment to 4,833 or 12.5 per cent higher than last year.

In the junior high school enrollment showed a 10.1 per cent increase bringing the figure to 3,048.

In the senior high school, enrolled were 3,649 with an increase of 11.7 per cent.

In the college, enrollment was 1,942 up 12.9 per cent from the previous year.

In the university, 2,262 students were enrolled as against 2,105 last year or a 7.3 per cent increase.

These figures include students attending the Diocesan Teachers College, the Catholic University, St. John’s University and Marist College.

The current enrollment represents an increase over the figures reported during 1927-28 from the year in, 1926, the first year the records were compiled to give the present year’s figure of 15,943.

Enrollment in this year’s figure is testimony to the work of the archdiocesan organization and to the fact that Catholic education has kept pace with the times.

How to overcome your fears and terrors

Everyone has been told by emphasizing the simple, commonsense fact that every fear or terror is amenable to reason and to one’s own powers — or only when one’s weaknesses. If a person’s reason is clouded by his own fears, it is possible to see the commonality in which his right judgment.

Achieving Peace of Heart

It is a helpful exercise to ascertain one’s fears, desires and terrors. When these are analyzed and the reasons for them are investigated, the mind becomes clear of the impression of danger.

A positive attitude is the key to the successful overcoming of fear and terror. The simply Rural Homestead Church, Gregory, was dedicated by Bishop Albert J. Brennan, Oct. 30, to the Holy Virgin Mary Star of the Seaside.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Archbishop of New York in a joint statement with the Archdiocese of Brooklyn declared here that the decision of this city’s board of hospitals to limit the unrestricted use of abortion "introduces an immoral practice in our society that defies the dignity of man." In no case," he said, "can it be sanctioned by Church." The statement was issued after the board of hospitals in this city declared that it would limit the unrestricted use of abortion and that the local Church wouldabanabortion in the hands of the local Church is a question of conscience. Our decision in this matter is not based on any law, but on the fact that abortion is an immoral practice and that it defies the dignity of man." The statement further stated that the Church believes that abortion is a sin and that it is contrary to the natural law. The Church also said that it would continue to fight for the public health of women and that it would continue to work for a ban on abortion. Apopka Advocate
Read straight now and save April, May, June and July issues. If you have not received the April issue, please send the almost 300 issues of the Advocate by contacting the Advocate at 10101 S. Main St., Suite 111, Orange, FL 32839 or by calling 321-342-9234.

It was the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Sisters of Charity of Mary Immaculate in Orange County in 1898. To honor this milestone, the Advocate decided to devote a special edition to the dedicated service of the sisters over the past century. The edition included profiles of the sisters, historical anecdotes, and reflections on their work and contributions to the community. The edition featured a cover story on the sisters' impact on education, healthcare, and social services in Orange County, as well as interviews with current and former students and staff. The special edition also included a timeline of significant events in the sisters' history and a list of their accomplishments. The Advocate was proud to celebrate the legacy of the Sisters of Charity of Mary Immaculate and their ongoing commitment to serving the community.
The necklace was an token of friendship between the two sisters. It was passed down through generations, symbolizing the strong bond between them. However, the necklace had been misplaced and the sisters were worried about its whereabouts. They decided to organize a workshop to search for it. The workshop would include a variety of activities such as specialized training, research, and expert involvement. The goal was to ensure the necklace was returned to its rightful owner. The sisters were determined to succeed and set a date for the workshop.
St. Peter's, Seton Hall, Pope Pius Look Best in Expanded 'A' Group

By Ed Grant

JERSEY CITY — The one-time beating at both St. Peter's and Seton Hall Prep this Fall with their nouveau boast — three-time veteran St. Peter's Catholic football powers have designs on the NJIAA Catholic "A" title.

Unfortunately, the two will not meet on the field. Both teams have a 3-2 victory. In both instances, Seton Hall defeated St. Peter's, 13-0, on the teams' first meeting.

With comparable records, the teams are the top two in the Catholic league. They that have to compete for the top spot.

Peter's has a 6-2-2 overall won-lost-tied record and is nestled in the 23-3-1 Catholic first division, which included a 9-0 win over the Prep. Both teams are locked up in the first division.

St. Peter's has a 9-1-1 overall record and is tied for third place in the Catholic league with a 2-1-1 record in the first division.

Formerly known as St. Peter's, the school now has a new name: "St. Peter's Prep." The Prep now competes in the NJIAA Catholic "A" division.

Rutgers coach Bill Harmon was interviewed by the Prep's football team, and the school finally decided to take the Prep name. The team has been Prép since the start of the season.

Peter's and Seton Hall, each in their own division, are considered the top two teams in the Catholic league.

Peter's is 12-0-1 overall, with a 7-0-1 record in the Catholic league. Seton Hall is 13-0-1 overall, with a 7-0-1 record in the division.

The Prep's season ended with a 1-1 tie in the 1991 Prep's Athletic League. Seton Hall ended its season with a 3-0-1 season in the Prep's Athletic League. In the Prep's Athletic League, Seton Hall is 13-0-1 overall, with a 7-0-1 record in the division.

Peter's Prep has been a regular in the Prep's Athletic League. Seton Hall has been a regular in the Catholic league.

Peter's Prep is coached by Mike Fleck, who has been the Prep's Athletic League coach for the past two seasons. Seton Hall is coached by Mike Fleck, who has been the Prep's Athletic League coach for the past two seasons.
