Commission Hosts Conference on Women Religious and Ministry in New Jersey

On Saturday, October 28, 1995, the New Jersey Catholic Historical Records Commission will hold the next in its series of conferences on Catholicism in New Jersey at the Bishop Dougherty Student Center, Seton Hall University in South Orange, New Jersey.

One of the most familiar symbols of Catholicism in this country until Vatican II was the habited and vowed woman religious - "Sister," as she was known to Catholics and non-Catholics alike. One need only recall how frequently movies or television used the robed figure to help set the mise en scene without words. Not until about the time of Vatican II, however, did scholars begin to examine the life and work of the tens of thousands of women who constituted this vast resource of Catholicism.

The New Jersey Catholic Historical Records Commission focuses in its next conference on the ministry of women religious in the state, from its earliest beginnings until today. This conference can examine only the broad outlines of the story, with illustrative examples and hypotheses that will need further examination. No one-day conference can hope to encompass the entire saga.

Sister Margherita Marchione, M.P.F., will set the tone of the day in her keynote address. Professor Emerita of Italian Studies at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Sister Margherita is well-known for her work on the career of Philip Mazzei, the eighteenth-century Italian thinker and friend of Jefferson. Her latest work is Peter and Sally Sammartino, biographical notes of the late president of Fairleigh Dickinson and his wife, with whom she was long and closely associated.

Following the keynote address, Sister Honora Werner, D.P., will look at the activities of women religious in the field of education, perhaps the ministry for which they have been best known. After a brief discussion period, Sister Catherine Francis, M.S.B.T., will examine the field of social work, in which the communities have been engaged since the beginning.

After lunch, Father Peter Cebulka of the Diocese of Metuchen will turn the group's attention to the contributions of the contemplative communities. Father Cebulka won the Gerety Seminarian Award for his research in this topic. Thereafter Sister Barbara Conroy, S.C., of Saint Joseph’s Medical Center in Paterson will provide insight into the extensive work of women religious in the field of health care. The day will conclude with brief remarks by the Director of the Commission, Professor Joseph F. Mahoney.

The fee for registration and lunch is $20. All those wishing to attend the conference should register by October 16, 1995.

Monsignor Sullivan Retires

One of the founding members of the New Jersey Catholic Historical Records Commission, Monsignor Edwin V. Sullivan, retired from the board this past summer.

A native of Eastport, Maine, he completed his studies at Seton Hall University and Immaculate Conception Seminary at Darlington and was ordained in 1946. Assigned to the faculty of Seton Hall Prep, he taught there until 1953, when he joined the University faculty.

He earned a master’s degree at Fordham University and continued his studies at New York University and the University of Ottawa, where he received his doctorate in 1956. As chairman he built up and expanded the newly-established Sociology Department and headed it for several years. Like all faculty members, he participated in advising and mentoring students, and for many years he travelled with the University baseball team as its chaplain.

Since his retirement from active teaching he has been revising his edition of the Journal of Bishop Bayley for publication. Ad multos annos!

Wigger Letterbook Reconditioned

As reported in this newsletter previously (Spring, 1994), the Special Collections Center at Seton Hall University received a grant from the New Jersey Department of Education to recondition and preserve the letterbook of Bishop Winand Wigger, who presided over the Diocese of Newark from 1881 to 1901. Some idea of the condition of the letterbook can be gleaned from the accompanying photo.

Conservator Janet Koch began the process of restoration and preservation by first flattening and repairing the individual pages. The material was then sent to the bindery of Ocker and Trapp, where each sheet was deacidified and encapsulated in mylar to preserve it. Next, the pages were re-assembled into three volumes and bound. The visible differences are manifest in the second picture.

An important discovery not evident in the pictures is that the work will now have to be called the Corrigan-Wigger letterbook, since the first 75 letters are outgoing correspondence of Wigger's predecessor, Michael Augustine Corrigan, for the years 1878-79. The Wigger letters cover the period 1886-1890.

The Special Collections Department at Walsh Library is looking for a serious volunteer willing to spend a few hours a week to calendar the materials in order to facilitate research by scholars studying the era.
