Pageantry, Cheers Mark Coronation of Pope John

VATICAN CITY — Pope John XXIII officially began his reign as the 26th successor to St. Peter on Nov. 4, the Holy Father's birthday, when the triple crown of Papacy was placed on his head by Cardinal Cerruti at St. Peter's Basilica.

The Pope took but two minutes to don the ornaments and the faces of the crowd of 300,000 his audience overflowed the St. Peter's Square and reached almost to the top of the Colosseum.

The coronation, according to the custom of the Church, was followed by the traditional procession at the Vatican. The Pope, surrounded by cardinals and bishops, made his way to the Basilica of the Holy Martyr, where the acts of that day were read from the altar.

The following day the Pontiff led the solemn Mass at the Basilica of St. John Lateran.

The Pontiff's coronation was that of a personal representative of His Holiness to the State of Vatican City.

The Pope's coronation was a fitting climax to the 26th week of the Jubilee of the Holy Year, which has seen the Holy Father's coronation as the 26th successor to St. Peter.

Cardinals Pledged American Loyalty

VATICAN CITY — Church officials of the U.S., led by the two American Cardinals, were quick to express their enthusiasm at the coronation of Cardinal Ruperto as Pope John XXIII.

Cardinal Spellman and Cardinal McIntyre were among the American officials who made the first congratulations to the new Pope.

Cardinal Spellman congratulated the new Pope in a telegraphic message.

Cardinal McIntyre congratulated the new Pope in a statement.

The following day the Pontiff led the solemn Mass at the Basilica of St. John Lateran.

POPE JOHN, in Surprise Talk, Gives His Views
On the True Role of the Supreme Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The role of the Pope as leader of the world's 800 million Catholics is undergoing a significant change, Pope John XXIII declared in an interview published today.

"We are living in a time of great upheaval," he said. "In the past, the Church was the cornerstone of society. But now it is the other way around. The world is the cornerstone of the Church."

Pope John said that the Church must be more open to the world outside, and that it must be more willing to listen to the voices of the faithful. He also stressed the importance of dialogue and understanding between different cultures and religions.

Pope John also spoke about the importance of social justice. He said that the Church must be a force for good in the world, and that it must be willing to take a stand on issues such as poverty, war, and human rights.

The Pope said that he is concerned about the state of the world, and that he believes that the Church has a duty to speak out on important issues. He said that the Church must be a source of hope and comfort in a world that is often troubled.

Pope John ended his interview by saying that he is looking forward to the future, and that he believes that the Church will continue to grow and adapt to the needs of the times.

The interview was conducted by Lucio Cube, the Vatican's chief of staff, and was published in the weekly magazine "L'Osservatore Romano." It was his first interview since being elected Pope.

The Pope was elected by the College of Cardinals on March 12, 1958, succeeding Pope Pius XII. He is the first non-Italian Pope in almost 500 years.

Venice Knows Pope John as Man With Common Touch

VENICE (AP) — A man with the common touch — perhaps where you go everywhere you talk to give you the best impression of the man who has two more than 15 years of the city of thousands. POPE JOHN XXXII.

"You stop to talk to a person or a fellow passenger on a motor scooters, Vespa's and the like, without any special gesture. The same thing happens in Venice one now and then, and elsewhere in the city."

A U.S. keeper says proudly: "In his way he is a man of the people. He is like a family."

GO INTO THE PARLIAMENT, CURIA and talk to the people who have been the new Pope's most intimate collaborators in the first place to have something common with the people."

Archbishop Aloisius Girotti, appoints his former Patriarch of Venice, the following way: "In his way he is a man of the people. He is like a family."

BORSOFI, who was his former collaborator, says: "In his way he is a man of the people. He is like a family."

POPE JOHNXXXII is remembered as being much like Pope Pius XII, a former Patriarch of Venice, especially in his open and candid manner.

Fr. Burne to Talk
AT TED MEETING

"He talks to the people. He never speaks in a way that was ever an enemy. He never speaks in a way that was ever an enemy."

As you sit and read the following:

"He has a genuine respect for the people. He never speaks in a way that was ever an enemy. He never makes you feel inferior."
People Are Cities

There is a man about the spirit of the American people. It is his spirit of sobriety, his spirit of soberly examining the world, of considering it, of putting it to work, and of going about his business. America seems always to be in the habit of taking things the way they are and of making the best of them. America is the land of the new, and the new is always the best.

Papal History

The unbridled press which the Pope has exalted these past few weeks is bound to stir up a great deal of excitement and, at the same time, to create a great deal of confusion. The Pope is a man of great simplicity, and his simplicity is his strength. He is a man of simple practical wisdom, and he knows how to get along with people.

The Flag and You

The nation's mark is of the flag for the flag is a symbol of national pride, and it is also a symbol of national honor. The flag is the symbol of the country, and it represents the country.

Tri-State Cooperation

For the union of New York and New Jersey and Newark, we are recommending a tri-state cooperation in everything. We are recommending that the three states work together on everything.

Basilica Maintenance, Papal Pomp Concern of 2 Special Congregations

By James C. O'Neill

Although most of the world's great splendor has been consigned to nobles or monarchs, there are in the Vatican two congregations whose job it is to keep fresh the glory of the Papacy. Among the most outstanding expressions of beauty in the church are the St Sisto Porciano (St. Peter's Basilica) and the Saint John Lateran Basilica. The basilica of St Peter's, in fact, is one of the Seven Wonders of the World. To preserve these beautiful creations of art, the Congregation of St. Peter's and the Congregation of Saint John Lateran (Custody of the Basilica), which have jurisdiction over the basilica of St. Peter's, are engaged in the work of keeping it in pristine condition.

The basilica of St. Peter's is the largest church in the world, and its beauty is awe-inspiring. It was begun in 1506 and completed in 1626. The basilica is the most significant work of architecture of the Renaissance period, and it is considered one of the greatest achievements of human art. The Congregation of St. Peter's is responsible for the maintenance of the basilica, and it is assisted by a team of workmen, who work tirelessly to keep the basilica in pristine condition.

The Congregation of Saint John Lateran is responsible for the maintenance of the basilica of St. John Lateran, which is located in Rome. The basilica is the oldest church in Rome, and it is considered one of the most important churches in the world. The Congregation of Saint John Lateran is assisted by a team of workmen, who work tirelessly to keep the basilica in pristine condition.

The Congregation of St. Peter's and the Congregation of Saint John Lateran are unique in the world, as they are the only congregations in the world that are responsible for the maintenance of a church.

State Department Gives View on Vatican City

WASHINGTON (Nov. 11) — The State Department and the Vatican are holding a meeting at the Vatican on the status of the Holy See, but the two sides are still at loggerheads over the issue of diplomatic relations.

The Department insists that the Holy See is not a sovereign state and has no right to establish diplomatic relations with the United States. The Vatican, on the other hand, maintains that it has the right to establish such relations and that the United States is violating its sovereign rights.

In a press conference today, State Department spokesman said it was "up to the Vatican to decide whether to establish diplomatic relations with the United States."

The official added that the Department had no intention of recognizing the Holy See as a sovereign state, but was willing to engage in talks to try to resolve the dispute.

Unusual Number of Cures at Lourdes

LOURDES (Nov. 11) — Records of 40 cures remarkable enough to be considered as possible miracles — twice as many as usual — have been made at regular intervals in the past, while in the present case the number is unprecedented.

It is believed that the number of cures is increasing because of the increased interest in the shrine.

The shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes, located in the foothills of the Pyrenees in southern France, is one of the most famous shrines in the world. It is believed that the Virgin Mary appeared to St. Bernadette Soubirous in 1858, and since then millions of pilgrims have visited the site to pray for healing and guidance.

In 1899, the shrine was declared a Catholic pilgrimage site, and since then it has become one of the most visited places in the world. The number of cures reported at the shrine is an important factor in the shrine's popularity, and it is considered a sign of the Virgin Mary's intervention in the lives of those who visit the shrine.

The shrine has a three-week annual pilgrimage, and during the pilgrimage, many cures are reported. In 1899, there were 102 reported cures, and in 1899, there were 185. Since then, the number of cures has increased steadily, and in 1899, there were 40 more cures reported.

The shrine has always been a place of pilgrimage and healing, and the number of cures is an important part of its appeal. It is believed that the Virgin Mary has been present at the shrine, and that she continues to work miracles there.

The shrine is located in the town of Lourdes, in the French department of Hautes-Pyrénées. The town has been a pilgrimage site since the 18th century, and it is believed that the Virgin Mary appeared to St. Bernadette Soubirous in 1858.

The shrine is a major tourist attraction, and it attracts millions of visitors each year. It is considered one of the most important shrines in the world, and it is a place of pilgrimage and healing for people from all over the world.
Protests Charge That Priests Helped Algerian Terrorists

LYON, France (AP) — Cardinal Pierre-Louis Pelletier, the Lyon archbishop, said yesterday that he had restrained priests in France from assisting terrorists in Algeria, but he added that he had also given them permission to help the Algerian people in their fight against the French regime.

Pelletier said: "I respect the right of the clergy to assist the Algerian people in their struggle for freedom, but I do not approve of their methods." He also said that he had warned the priests not to become too involved in the political affairs of Algeria.

The cardinal's statement was made in response to a report by the French government that priests in Algeria were providing assistance to terrorists who were fighting against the French colonial government.

The report said that the priests had been supplying the terrorists with arms, ammunition, and other supplies, and that they had also been providing them with shelter and medical care.

Pelletier denied that he had given the priests permission to provide such assistance, but he acknowledged that he had given them permission to help the Algerian people in their struggle for freedom.

He said: "I believe that the Algerian people have a right to self-determination, and I support their struggle for freedom. But I do not agree with their methods, and I do not approve of their violence.""
