23 New Cardinals to Receive Red Hat at Consistory Dec. 15

VATICAN CITY — President John Paul II will appoint 23 new cardinals at a solemn consistory on Dec. 15, the Vatican said.

Although the name list was not immediately available, the new cardinals are expected to include Latin American prelates, reflecting the pope's concern for the new mission territories in that region.

Pope John Sees Hopeful Signs For Church in Latin America

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — A second series of six cardinals consecrated in the basilica of St. Peter will highlight the pope's concern for the new mission territories in Latin America, the Vatican said.

IT is the pope's plan to consecrate another series of six cardinals to serve as bishops in Latin America on Dec. 15 in the basilica of St. Peter as part of the consistory for the same day.

The six cardinals were expected to be consecrated for Latin America's roughly 220 million Catholics, who have now been elevated to the cardinal rank.

Bishops on 'Discrimination and the Christian Conscience'

NJC News Service

In the fall of 1988, the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA, met in North Carolina to deliberate on a number of issues.'During this convention, the American bishops declared their determination to meet the challenge of teaching the Christian doctrine of human rights and the value of human life, and to find ways to encourage all people to accept and follow this doctrine in their lives.

In one of their papers, the bishops stated: 'We are convinced that the doctrine of human rights and the value of human life, as articulated in the Christian tradition, is not only a matter of individual conscience or personal belief, but is a matter of public policy and political action. The Church is committed to this doctrine as a matter of public conscience and moral responsibility, and we urge all people to accept and follow it in their lives.'

The bishops also declared their willingness to work with other churches and religious groups to promote the Christian doctrine of human rights and the value of human life, and to find ways to encourage all people to accept and follow this doctrine in their lives.
SOMETHING TO DREAM ABOUT: This is how the auditorium-gymnasium proposed for New Jersey's Boystown will look, according to its designer, K. W. Fashing Associates of Paterson.

Christmas Appeal Made by Boystown
KEARNY — As New Jersey's Boystown inaugurates its annual Christmas appeal, Rev. Robert F. Egan director has set his sights on a major subsequent project.

This is the auditorium-gymnasium proposed for erection at Boystown just south of the chapel on Berrigan Avenue. Father Egan, who was appointed to the administration of Boystown in 1950, has been in charge of the Institute since then.

The basketball court, Father Egan describes as the "soldier" of the two auditorium-gymnasiums. With the endowment, the court, for example, is located in the basement of the Institute. In the present basement, Father Egan says, it will be a court, with space through the floor for a track and field.

The NEW BUILDING: when proposed for Boystown, is described as a multi-purpose auditorium-gymnasium. It is designed to provide a variety of recreational activities in one building. There will be a basketball court, with space through the floor for a track and field.

New Pope, New Cardinals

With all the world's attention focused on Pope John XXIII this week, the Archdiocese of Newark and the Archdiocese of New York were conducting their regular seminarian elections. For the first time in history, each of the Latin American countries was represented in the United States by a seminarian, with four of the Latin American seminarians being in the Archdiocese of Newark. The seminarians were chosen by a panel of priests from the United States, who had been selected by the Holy See to represent the Latin American countries.

Church's Right to Teach

The Bishop's statement this week, while not quite a return of the church to its previous teachings, was a significant step in that direction. The new pope, John XXIII, has indicated his intentions to make changes in the church's teachings, particularly in the area of social justice. He has stated that the church must work for the betterment of society, and that its teachings must be adapted to the changing needs of the times.

American Inconsistency

By Louis Francis Budens

The Church's teaching on the sanctity of marriage has been a topic of much discussion in recent years. While the Church has always maintained that marriage is a sacred union, there have been occasions when its teaching has been inconsistent with the teachings of other Christian denominations. The Church's teaching on the sanctity of marriage has been subject to change, and the Church has been criticized for being inconsistent in its teaching on this issue.

Thanksgiving, 1623

Do we give the Pilgrim Fathers a fair shake? One Catholic writer, writing in a Catholic publication, thinks we do not. The history books give their children in school, and the religious teachings of the Church, are not always fair to the Pilgrim Fathers. The truth is, as the writer points out, that the Pilgrim Fathers were the first people to establish a community on this continent.

Thanks for Your Old Clothes

The religious spirit of our country manifests itself in all walks of life. The Thanksgiving Day, for instance, is a time when we give thanks for all that we have. This is a time when we reflect on the blessings of our country, and the sacrifices of our forefathers. The Thanksgiving Day is a time when we remember our past, and we give thanks for our future.

The Feasts in Focus

Godparents

By Msgr. George W. Shea, S.T.D.

Godparents are important figures in the life of a baptized child. They are selected by the parents to assist them in the spiritual education of their child. The selection of godparents is a significant event in the life of a child, and is an important part of the baptismal ceremony.

Around the Parish

This past Sunday, the congregation of St. John the Baptist Church in Newark held a special Mass to celebrate the feast of the Holy Family. The Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. J. J. Corcoran, pastor of the parish, and was attended by a large number of parishioners. The Mass was followed by a special reception in the parish hall, where refreshments were served to all who attended.

The Question Box

Next week, the Rev. Msgr. F. J. Corcoran, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, will conduct a special session on the subject of godparents. The session will be held on Sunday, January 17, at 9:30 a.m., and will be open to all parishioners. The session will include a discussion of the role of godparents in the life of a child, and will be followed by a special Mass to celebrate the feast of the Holy Family.

PHILADELPHIA — An educator with a philosophic mind and a heart full of compassion, Archbishop Charles J. Carroll, O.P., has died at the age of 89. He was the last surviving member of the original 13 signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Archbishop Carroll served as a military chaplain during the Revolutionary War and later as a priest at the National Shrine in Washington, D.C.

He was born in Philadelphia on Dec. 23, 1739, and was ordained a priest in 1763. He served as pastor of St. Peter's Church in Philadelphia from 1789 until his death in 1835.

Archbishop Carroll was the first president of the University of Notre Dame, which he founded in 1842.

Archbishop Carroll's family was prominent in colonial Philadelphia, and he is remembered for his work in education and charity.

Holy Trinity Wins State Title; St. Benedict's Takes Prep Meet

WHITFILD—Only three years ago, the mention of the word "cross-country" would have drawn a blank. Today, because of the efforts of St. Benedict's and Trinity high schools, where the sport started, there is a high school track meet.

Credit for all this belongs to " quietly active" Group (Rev. Bernard Ahern and two members—Charlie Bisson and Jim Carleton) at St. Benedict's. In 1959, the Benedictine High School boys' team finished 18th in the New Jersey Catholic Scholastic Athletic Association meet in the New York City area.

The TRINITY WRIGHT captured a surprising victory during the first week of the fall season, when the St. Benedict's team was defeated by Trinity 15-9. Sunday, St. Benedict's defeated Holy Trinity by a narrow score, 20-11.

IT APPEARS that the Trinity victory did not damage the Benedictine spirit, for they are expected to be strong in the New Jersey Catholic Scholastic Athletic Association meet in the New York City area. Bayley, St. Peter's, Seton Hall, Pope Pius Lead Turkey Day Picks

BY ED GREBE

NEWARK. — Delbarton and St. Peter's, despite their victory last week to remove the first obstacle in the path of the Orange County title, will be the two teams that will receive the most attention this week. The former school and the first professional team, respectively, have been in the state title game for the past three years.

Several other teams have been discussed in earlier columns, but they are not in the title race. The teams that are, are Delbarton, St. Peter's, Seton Hall, and St. Pope Pius.

St. Peter's has been the powerhouse of the state for the past three years, and the team that has been mentioned as a title contender this season. The team is well-coached and has a fine mix of players.

St. Pope Pius has been the team to beat in the Orange County title race, and has been consistent in recent years. The team is well-coached and has a good mix of players.

Delbarton has been the team to watch in recent years, and has a strong lineup. The team is well-coached and has a good mix of players.

Seton Hall has been the team to watch in recent years, and has a strong lineup. The team is well-coached and has a good mix of players.

Other teams that have shown potential are St. Benedict's, St. Mary's, and St. Joseph's. These teams have been mentioned as possible title contenders, but they are not in the title race.

Oliver P. Driscoll's "The Game of the Century," the sequel to the previous year's "The Game of the Century," is the book to read to understand the history of the game. The book is available at most bookstores.
Supernatural Health stressed In Bishop McNulty's Keynote

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (GC) — More than 200 participants attended a Conference on Catholic Youth Work here last week that found the parish, pressure and professional points in one direction toward spiritual wellness.

"This annual Biennial Conference on Catholic Youth Work was sponsored by the National Federation of Catholic Youth Organizations with the purpose of sharing the unity that the national council of the CYO has in the area of Youth Ministry," said Bishop Carroll J. McNulty of the Eastern Diocese of Virginia.

"We are all aware of the spiritual needs of young people and the importance of fostering a deeper awareness of their faith through religious activities," McNulty said.

The Bishop presented the CYO "Spiritual Award" to Stephen V. Murphy of Sacred Heart Church, Ridgefield, Conn., for "his outstanding service to the CYO and his dedication to the spiritual growth of young people." Murphy was also presented with a check for $50.00.

The keynote address was delivered by Father Charles M. Murphy, director of the CYO Department of the National Council of Catholic Women, which was given as an indication of the Bishop's concern over the future of young people in our society.

"We all have a responsibility to support the CYO and to promote the spiritual growth of young people," McNulty said.

He added that "it is our duty to provide opportunities for young people to express their spiritual needs and to encourage them to participate in religious activities that will build their faith and strengthen their commitment to the Church."
