Kerala Reds Try Again

TRIVANDRUM, INDIA—The communist government of Kerala, a state banned and adopted a controversial anti-communist policy, tried to crush a peasant movement here. The police, carrying the aid of the Indian army, cordoned off the town and arrested several people. The state government had earlier tried to suppress a similar movement in the area.

Expelled Missionary Reports Vietnamese Remain Steadfast

MACAO (N.C.) — The 300 Vietnamese Catholics under the care of an Italian missionary in this Portuguese colony were relocated in China, according to the missionary himself. The move, according to the missionary, was made because of political reasons.

Father Paquette, a missionary who has been working in the colony for the past 10 years, said that the Vietnamese had been kept in isolation from the other inhabitants of the colony. He added that they had been subjected to various forms of harassment and discrimination.

Father Paquette said that the Vietnamese had been kept in separate quarters and that they had been forced to wear separate clothing.

He added that the Vietnamese had been forced to work in isolation and that they had been prevented from attending religious services.

The missionary also said that the Vietnamese had been forced to live in squalid conditions and that they had been subjected to various forms of abuse.

Pope John Ursberg Venetians

To Greater Love of Mary

WORTH News Service

Following is a translation of a radio message delivered by His Holiness Pope John XXIII on the Feast of Our Lady of Health, September 11, 1958, by Pope John XXIII. The Pope told his audience that the Church must show brotherly concern not only for the faithful in the West, but also for those in the East.

Beloved sons of Venice and the provinces of Veneto:

The consecration of the Universe that has taken place for the peace of the Church, and the harmony of the East, has been the object of our special prayer. We have had the special favor of participating in the solemn celebration in honor of Our Lady of Health, in Venice, and in the Church of the Solitude in Bologna.

How, then, can we fail to fill our hearts with a special filial love for the Virgin of Health, the glory and the majesty of the Church, the mother of all Christians, and our own mother also? For her, we have been born to love and live in the Church and to live the life of the Church.

We echo the prayer, "Our Lady of Health, help us!" and we repeat it with all our heart, with all our soul, with all our mind, and with all our strength.

May the Virgin of Health give us the grace to live in the Church and to live the life of the Church.

The Church and the world.

Our Lady of Health, help us!

We ask you, O Mother of God, to help us and to protect us.

Fire Alarm!

Fire is a frightening thing; previously we have written about its potential dangers. After all, the kindergarden class probably attends some fire drill each year. However, recent events in Hoboken have demonstrated once again how crucial it is to understand the dangers of fire and the importance of taking steps to prevent it.

The fire drills in our schools have always been important, but recent events in Hoboken have made them even more crucial. The loss of life in the kindergarten class appears attributable to the fire, which started in the basement and quickly spread to the upper floors of the school. The fire was started by a group of children who were playing with matches. The fire drills in our schools have been crucial in helping to prevent such tragedies from occurring again.

The fire drills in our schools have also been important in helping us to understand the importance of fire prevention. We must take steps to prevent fires, not just in our schools, but in our homes and communities. It is crucial that we understand the importance of fire prevention, and that we take steps to prevent fires from occurring.

First, with emotion.

"The prayer of the just is a pleasing incense to the Lord. . . . ?" (1 Peter 5:10). An incense that goes up to heaven. A prayer that is the sacrifice of the soul. A mention of the name of Jesus. A charity that never faileth.

MISSIONARIES NEED HELP TO CARRY OUT GOD’S PLAN

God gave us this beautiful earth because He loves us and wants us all to make it a better place in which to live. His Son was the first missionary and He has kept on sending us others ever since. Missionaries visit all over the world and bring the good news of salvation, teaching others how to live their lives as God wants them to live. These Christian souls must be willing to die for the faith, in a country that does not accept it. It is not enough for the conso-

Missionaries are in need of your help.

We need two of these, with a total of 4.000 francs.

Canadian schools and the Missions in Sumatra, the boys and girls there need your help. It is our duty to offer them a chance of complete self-sufficiency.

Bishop Stanton has written:

"It is my humble request to you personally, at this time when the needs of the heart are so great, to help us to carry on the great mission of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith."

Priests have the Primary Union of St. Paulists, a movement in which priests can learn how to be better priests while helping the poor and the needy.

The Vatican's program also runs for a annual dinner to every parish and a seminar on the first Friday of the month. The program is open to all priests and seminarians who are interested in learning more about the Vatican's work.

WHAT IS THE GOAL? Mag. Furlong says his goal is to help the priest to be a better priest for every Catholic Church. He says that the idea is to help priests to be able to give in the way of a mission or apostolate.

Furlong's office also publishes a newsletter, for "Christians for Christ," an nline Bible study program for priests and seminarians. Last year there were more than 50,000 subscribers in the United States. These subscriptions are payable in advance.

Both realize that the need for more Catholic priests is great. We should work harder that, too. If you have a prayer that you would like them to pray, you should let them know.

Americans Are at Home in Rome In the Church of Santa Susanna

By John T. Maloney

Boston — American priests are among the many friendly and helpful people who make the Church of Santa Susanna in Rome a welcoming place for visitors from many different countries.

The Church of Santa Susanna is one of the many churches in Rome that is open to tourists and visitors. It is located on the Via della Conciliazione, a street that runs along the Tiber River.

Many American priests serve in the Church of Santa Susanna, and they offer Masses and other religious services on a regular basis. They also help to welcome visitors and visitors to the Church.

The priests at the Church of Santa Susanna are very friendly and helpful. They are always willing to answer questions and help visitors with their needs.

For example, one priest at the Church of Santa Susanna was able to help a visitor who was looking for a place to stay in Rome. The priest directed the visitor to a nearby hotel and even helped to make a reservation.

Other priests have helped visitors with their spiritual needs. For example, one priest was able to help a visitor who was feeling very lonely and needed some comfort. The priest offered to pray with the visitor and to listen to their problems.

The Church of Santa Susanna is a wonderful place to visit. It is a great place to learn more about the Catholic Church and to experience the hospitality of the American priests who serve there.

There are many other churches in Rome that are open to tourists and visitors. I encourage you to visit them all and to experience the warm welcomes that you will find there.

Legion of Decency Pledge
A Mistery to Too Many

By William H. Mourning

The Legion of Decency Pledge is a voluntary agreement between individuals and religious organizations to abide by a set of moral principles. In essence, it is a pledge to refrain from participating in activities or products that are considered immoral or inappropriate. The Legion of Decency is a group that promotes social morality and is affiliated with the Catholic Church. The pledge is often used in the context of movie ratings, where certain films may be deemed unsuitable for audiences of all ages due to their content.

In recent years, the use of the Legion of Decency Pledge has been controversial. Some argue that it is an effective tool for maintaining moral standards, while others believe it is a outdated and unnecessary. The pledge's influence on movie ratings is a matter of debate, with some claiming it has had a significant impact on the types of films that are produced and distributed.

The use of the Legion of Decency Pledge in the context of movie ratings is a complex issue. It involves considerations of freedom of speech, artistic expression, and moral responsibility. The debate continues as the film industry and religious organizations grapple with the implications of the pledge and its role in regulating content.

Primary Job of Schools to Develop Christians, Pius Said

Following is a translation of an address delivered in Toronto, Canada, on Tuesday evening at the convention of the International Catholic Educational Association. Father Pius Furlong addressed the assembly of Catholic educators on the topic of "Religious Education in the Catholic School".

Furlong stressed the importance of developing Christians in the school. He pointed out that the ultimate goal of education should be the formation of committed and loyal Christians.

The schools, he said, have a unique role to play in the religious education of their students. The challenge is to foster an environment where faith grows and flourishes, where the students are encouraged to reflect on their beliefs and live them out in their daily lives.

Furlong emphasized the need for a curriculum that integrates faith and learning. He advocated for the use of teaching methods that engage the students' minds and hearts, and that help them to see the relevance of their faith in the context of their lives.

He concluded by calling on Catholic educators to be the "shepherds" of their students, guiding them on the path of faith and forming them into faithful and committed Christians.
