Catholic Church
Advocate of the Holy Father Leads World In Preparing for Easter

VATICAN CITY — A humble Pope John Paul II led the world's 1.2 billion Catholics Saturday in prayer for peace and justice in a solemn Easter morning Mass at St. Peter's Basilica.

The pope offered the Mass in front of a crowd of hundreds of thousands of people, who overflowed St. Peter's Square, and millions more watched on television around the world.

The pope, in his homily, spoke of the importance of Easter as a time to reflect on the resurrection of Jesus Christ and the hope it brings for a better world.

Pope Changes Good Friday Prayer

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Pope John XXIII has ordered prayers for the prevention of the peace process to be said in every diocese, according to an announcement from the Vatican.

The pope, in a statement released this morning, said he was aware of the difficulties facing the peace process in the Middle East and that he was praying for a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

The announcement came as the United Nations Security Council was expected to vote on a resolution calling for a boycott of Israeli settlements in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Vernacular Chant Tried

VATICAN CITY — 17 of the 17 bishops of the Holy Synod of the Orthodox Church of Russia are meeting in Rome to discuss the possibility of introducing vernacular chants into the liturgy.

The meeting, which is taking place in the Vatican, is being attended by representatives of the Orthodox Church of Russia, the Roman Catholic Church, and the Anglican Communion.

The bishops are expected to discuss the introduction of vernacular chants into the liturgy, which is currently conducted in Greek.

The vernacular chants, which are sung in local languages, are believed to be more accessible to the faithful and to promote a greater sense of participation in the liturgy.

They are also expected to discuss the possibility of introducing vernacular chants into the liturgy in other parts of the world, such as the United States and Australia.

The possibility of introducing vernacular chants into the liturgy is expected to be discussed at a later meeting of the Orthodox Synod, which is scheduled to take place in the summer of 1946.

The meeting, which is being attended by representatives of the Orthodox Church of Russia, the Roman Catholic Church, and the Anglican Communion, is expected to last for several days.

The Rainy Day
That Won’t Trouble Some People

'Tis the rainy season in Kenya, but for one group of people it is not a time of worry. There are more than 2,000 Catholic visitors who have come to Kenya for the annual vacation of the Kenya Catholic University. They are from the United States, Canada, and England, and they are not bothered by the rain.

The visitors, who are mostly teachers, students, and other members of the Catholic community, are attending the university’s summer session, which runs from June 1 to August 15. The university offers a wide range of courses, from introductory to advanced levels, and is known for its strong emphasis on practical training.

Among the visitors are some who are using the rainy season as an opportunity to improve their English skills. The university has a strong program in English language and literature, and many of the visitors are taking courses in this area.

In addition to the academic program, the university offers a variety of extracurricular activities, such as sports and social events. The visitors are encouraged to participate in these activities, which help to foster a sense of community among the students.

The university is located in the city of Nairobi, which is the capital of Kenya and the largest city in East Africa. It is situated in a beautiful location, with views of the nearby mountains and the city of Nairobi.

The university’s summer session is a popular destination for Catholic visitors from around the world. It offers a unique opportunity to study in a country that is rich in history and culture, and to learn more about the Catholic community in Kenya.
Publishes Book on Gregorian Chant for Young Pianists

Nuns at the Abbey of the Immaculate Conception of Mount St. Joseph in Philadelphia have published a book designed to assist girls in learning Gregorian chant for use in their school music programs. They have also included piano arrangements of the chants.

The book, "Gregorian Chant for Young Pianists," is the first in a series of chants that they are publishing for young pianists. The book is designed for use in the classroom and as a companion to their previously published choir book, "The Gregorian Chant in the Classroom." It is intended to be a helpful resource for teachers who wish to incorporate Gregorian chant into their music classes.

The book contains piano arrangements of chants that are suitable for young pianists, with clear and concise instructions for playing the chants. It is divided into sections, each containing chants of different difficulty levels, allowing teachers to choose the appropriate level for their students.

The nuns at Mount St. Joseph are committed to educating young people in the traditional liturgical music of the Catholic Church, and they believe that incorporating Gregorian chant into music education is an important way to promote the liturgical life of the Church.

Community Center Plans Are Outlined

Jersey City — Steps being taken to provide a new community center area served by Christ the King Parish here were outlined recently by Father Francis J. Burke, pastor, and business and religious leaders of Hudson County.

In a statement before the Christ the King Church, the pastor drew a plan showing the area of the center called the "Christian Cultural Center of Hudson County." Although Christ the King Church is the center of the project, it will be available to other churches in the area.

The project is expected to open in 1960. It will seek to provide a place where people can gather for recreation, arts, and social activities. It will also serve as a community center for the area.

In addition to the community center, plans are being made for a community center in the area of St. John's Church in Jersey City. This center will be used for social and religious activities.

The project is being developed by a group of business and religious leaders, including Father Burke, Father Michael J. O'Connor, and Father William J. Thibodeau, pastor of St. John's Church.

The community center is expected to be completed in 1960, and it will provide a new and exciting place for people to gather and engage in meaningful activities.
State Department Offers Poor Defense of Film Deal

By William H. Meotting

According to the most popular public opinion polls, President Packard is facing a major challenge from the State Department in its defense of the controversial film deal between the U.S. and Russia. The Department is putting out information that is not quite accurate, but it is doing its best not to admit it.

This move is part of a larger strategy by the Department to maintain its influence over foreign policy. The State Department is often viewed as the driving force behind the Foreign Policy Act, which has been praised by some and criticized by others.

The move to defend the film deal is seen by some as an attempt to deflect attention from recent criticism of the State Department's handling of other major issues. Critics have accused the Department of being out of touch with American public opinion on a number of key issues.

The film deal itself has been controversial, with some seeing it as a step in the wrong direction and others arguing that it is a necessary move in a changing world. The State Department's defense of the deal may be seen as a sign of the department's strength and influence, but it may also be seen as an attempt to maintain its power and control.

Bishop Sheen Even Better

The Bishop Sheen film, "The Miracle Worker," has been hailed as a powerful and moving portrayal of the life of the famous American educator. The film has been praised for its accuracy and for its ability to capture the essence of Sheen's life and work.

The film has also been criticized for its handling of certain aspects of Sheen's life. Some have accused the filmmakers of oversimplifying Sheen's complex personality and of not fully exploring some of his controversial ideas.

There's little doubt that "The Miracle Worker" is a powerful film, and it has received widespread critical acclaim. It is a testament to the enduring appeal of the life and work of Bishop Sheen.
Grief Turns to Joy, Death to Life, in Easter Vigil Rite

Southermoen life. Sorrow, borne as certe-
stal long, began on Good Friday. This is the season in which the people of the Church gather at the tomb of their Redeemer, Jesus Christ, who passed from earth, and the tombs held their secrets, once again, to the world, in the joy of the Resurrection.

The Easter Vigil begins at about 10:30 in the evening on Holy Saturday, and is a time of waiting, of watching, of learning the Gospel of Easter. The Vigil is a celebration of the resurrection of Christ and the beginning of a new life for all who believe in him.

The Vigil begins with the striking of the Paschal fire, from which is lighted the Paschal Candle, held by the Bishop himself, which symbolizes the light of Christ, the light of the world.

The Archbishop leads the procession of clergy and people, and the Paschal Candle is carried by the Bishop. The procession proceeds to the Altar of Repose, where the Paschal Candle is placed and the vigil begins. The Archbishop then lights the Paschal Candle, and the congregation begins to pray for the light of Christ to shine upon us all.

The Proclamation: The Archbishop proclaims the words of the Proclamation, calling the congregation to proclaim the joy of the resurrection. The congregation responds in response to the Archbishop's proclamation.

The Paschal Candle: The Archbishop gives the Paschal Candle to the Bishop, who then lights it with the Paschal fire. The Bishop then gives the candle to the deacon, who lights it with the Paschal fire, and it becomes a symbol of the light of Christ, the light of the world.

The Easter Mass: The Easter Mass is celebrated in the presence of the Bishop, who blesses the congregation and the gathered flock. The Bishop prays for the light of Christ to shine upon us all, and for the congregation to be united in the joy of the resurrection.

The Vigil Ends: The Paschal Candle is extinguished, and the Bishop extends the light of Christ to the congregation. The Bishop then leads the congregation in the recitation of the Easter Gospel, and the congregation prays for the light of Christ to shine upon us all.

The Archbishop then gives the Paschal Candle to the Bishop, who then lights it with the Paschal fire. The Bishop then gives the candle to the deacon, who lights it with the Paschal fire, and it becomes a symbol of the light of Christ, the light of the world.

The Greatest Event

The greatest event in the history of the world was the Resurrection of our Divine Lord Jesus. From the first moment of this event, everything changed. After the Resurrection, our Lord appeared to His Apostles, beginning with the disciples who were most apprehensive and abandoned, but He not only convinced them of the reality of the event, but also gave them the power to change into life. The Resurrection was the Supreme Proof of His Divinity.

1. To prove His Resurrection, weaving the net and playing games affected in doing in them helped to confirm the fact of Christ's Resurrection. 2. This resurrection was found in the sacred history of the Church, which is known to all. 3. He is the only One who has found the secret of the Resurrection and it is perfectly exemplified in the story of Christ's Resurrection. 4. It is the power of the Resurrection, the power of love and forgiveness.

The Fifteenth State

Growth is a sign of life, and one of the greatest blessings of all wealth, power, and influence. The United States has grown, not only into a nation, but also into a world. Shroud of Turin Genuine In Opinion of Scholar

By James C. O'Neill

ROME (K) — A debate continues as to whether the Turin Shroud, a cloth believed by some to be the burial shroud of Jesus Christ, is genuine. In his latest work, Rev. Edward A. Wawerka, C.S.S.R., offers a comprehensive analysis of the historical and scientific evidence surrounding the shroud.

Wawerka's research, which includes an examination of the chemical composition, physical properties, and artistic style of the shroud, provides a compelling case for its authenticity. He argues that the shroud is not a modern forgery but rather a genuine relic of the first century AD.

The Turin Shroud has been the subject of intense research and controversy for decades. Many scholars believe it to be a medieval forgery, while others maintain its authenticity based on evidence from both the Old and New Testament.

The debate continues as to whether the Turin Shroud is genuine. Wawerka's work provides a comprehensive analysis of the evidence, offering a compelling case for the shroud's authenticity.

Easter is the Day To Be Happy Gay

By Jane Pryor

Nothing can hold back happiness. Nothing can hold back the world aware and now, for there have come a time when you have to share and rejoice. That is the message.

We have spent the days of Lent. Perhaps you have been sad. Perhaps we have been sad. We thought we had to be sad. Perhaps we have been surprised. We have been surprised. We have been surprised.

We have learned how to live. Now it is time to share. Now it is time to rejoice. Now it is time to be happy. God said, 'Be happy.'

It is a time for joy. It is a time for happiness. It is a time for sharing. It is a time for rejoicing. It is a time for being happy.

It is a time to turn to the world. It is a time to turn to God. It is a time to turn to happiness. It is a time to turn to being happy.

Even in Chess

By Msgr. William F. Frelong

I suppose the last place in the world we would expect to find moral wisdom would be on the chess game. But there is one place where it is found — the Catholic University Libraries. And in fact, the Archbishop's Chess Club is a Catholic University Library. We shall find our own church in every corner of the world — in the corner of the library, the corner of the room, the corner of the world. And so it is with chess, the game of life. The Archbishop's Chess Club is a place where we can find moral wisdom. And it is a place where we can find the Archbishop's Chess Club.

Plan Vocation Program For Confraternity Pupils

NEWARK — An ambitious and comprehensive program to provide vacation information to more than 40,000 students in the parish church curricula of the Archdiocese of Newark has been undertaken by the city's Diocesan Vocation Office. The plan has been organized by William P. Connolly, associate pastor of Holy Name Church, Clifton, and is in charge of this activity. In 1959-60 during such school visits on the religious and discussion periods linked to approximately 300 schools of the Archdiocese, the project was limited to about 11,000 students. This year, however, is an extension of this program to include two visits to each school and to extend the program to all students in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the parochial grammar schools, and in those of each of the high schools of the Archdiocese, with the exception of the boys schools at Glen Rock and Irvington. Under the Archbishop's guidance, the project, as approved in 1959, would continue to be developed during the summer and fall of 1960 and would look forward to the following years. The project will be extended to include all of the Archdiocese's schools. A report to the project director and his colleagues in the fall will give a review of the activities of the previous year. The project will be continued.

The project specifically aimed at providing a group of educational and religious guidance to a large number of students in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades of the parochial grammar schools, and in those of each of the high schools of the Archdiocese.

PROCEDURE includes a visit to the school by two representatives of the Diocesan Vocation Office who will speak on the program and the opportunities of the confraternity in the parish church. Two members are assigned to each school during the summer and fall months to give special interest in the program. Each member of the confraternity visits the school at least once a week. This involves the confraternity in the church and the parochial school, both individually and co-operatively, in a program of cooperation with the school inculcating the boys and girls of the parochial school in the confraternity of the church. The project will be conducted by the parochial school, the parochial school, the confraternity of the church, and the parochial school of the diocese.

The program is for students of the seventh and eighth grades and all students of high school in the Archdiocese. The program will be conducted by the confraternity of the church, the parochial school, and the diocese.
