The Gospel of Thomas

The Gospel of Thomas is a collection of sayings of Jesus, written in Coptic. It is one of the gnostic gospels, although it is not considered canon by the Catholic Church. The sayings are often fragmented and cryptic, and the text has been the subject of much scholarly debate. The Gospel of Thomas is thought to have been written between the first and second centuries AD.

Push World Communism

By Louis Francis Budens

It's hard to believe that it has been 2019 years since the death of Jesus Christ. For those of us who are Christians, this year marks the 2019th anniversary of the crucifixion of the Messiah. As we reflect on this great event, we cannot help but wonder about the impact it has had on our world. Was the crucifixion of Christ simply an event that took place in the past, or does it continue to shape the world we live in today?

The Faith in Focus

By Msgr. George W. Shen, S.T.D.

The faith of our fathers was a faith that was rooted in the soil of their land, a faith that was passed down from generation to generation. It is a faith that has stood the test of time, a faith that has proved to be true. And yet, even in the face of persecution and oppression, this faith continues to thrive.

Society for the Propagation of the Faith
Architects of the New

For many years Father John B. Sheehan has been prominent in the field of Catholic correspondence work. He is now in the United States for the purpose of making a tour of missionary work among the Catholics of this country. He will be at St. Mary's Church, New York, on Sunday, September 1, at 7:30 o'clock, to address an audience on the subject of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. The lecture will be free and open to all.

The Society for the Propagation of the Faith is a papal foundation, established by Pope Pius VII in 1822, to aid the Church in its missionary work. It is a voluntary association of Catholics who contribute to the society for the purpose of providing funds for the support of missionaries.

The Society has two principal objectives: first, to assist in the conversion of non-Catholics; and second, to assist in the education and improvement of the Catholic laity.

The Society's work is carried on through the Central Missionary Office in Rome, which is under the direction of the Society's three members: the Pope, the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishop of Rome. The work is supervised by a council of bishops, which includes the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of Rome.

The Society's work is financed through contributions made by Catholics who believe in the importance of missionary work. Contributions are made on a voluntary basis, and are not compulsory. Contributions are accepted in all denominations, and are not limited to Catholics.

VACATION NOTES

You Are My Hands
By Mrs. William F. Poulard
A very strong looking creature hung over the entrance of the building. It was the statue of St. Ignatius Loyola, and it was the only part of the statue that was not old and rusty, and when it was taken from the building the eyes were closed, and the mouth was open, and the arms were crossed, and the fingers were grasped, and the head was tilted slightly to one side. The statue was about 4 feet in height, and it was made of bronze.

The statue was very old, and it had been standing in the same place for many years. It was located in a small town, and it was a popular tourist attraction.

Every day, thousands of visitors walked past the statue, and they admired its beauty and its age. They took pictures of it and shared them on social media. Some even brought offerings of flowers and candles, and others left messages of appreciation and gratitude.

The statue was a symbol of hope and inspiration for the people of the town. It reminded them of the power of faith and the importance of keeping their spirits high, even in the face of adversity.

The statue was very dear to the people of the town, and it was a source of pride. They were proud of its history and its significance, and they were determined to preserve it for future generations.

When asked about the statue, the mayor of the town said, "This statue is a symbol of our town's rich history and our people's strong faith. It is a reminder that we must always stand strong and never give up."
Pack Warsaw Churches
For Easter
WARSAW, Poland — Easter dawned here as a triumphal climax to a Holy Week which saw the churches literally awash with worshippers. Communist Poland offered a striking contrast to other Tory
Catholic countries where only a few people are seen in church. But in Warsaw, churchgoers thronged the streets from dawn to dusk.

Throughout Poland, however, Easter was observed with great solemnity. In Warsaw, the Easter tree was decorated with flowers, lights, and other decorations.

Churches throughout the city remained open throughout Holy Week. People streamed into the churches to pray and reflect on the meaning of Easter.

Daily Masses were offered at various churches throughout the week. The following schedule was observed:

Wednesday
- St. John's Cathedral, 6:30 a.m.
- St. Mary's Basilica, 7:00 a.m.
- Holy Trinity Church, 8:00 a.m.

Thursday
- Sacred Heart Church, 6:30 a.m.
- St. Anthony's Church, 7:00 a.m.
- St. Joseph's Church, 8:00 a.m.

Friday
- St. Peter's Church, 6:30 a.m.
- St. Paul's Church, 7:00 a.m.
- St. James Church, 8:00 a.m.

Saturday
- St. Michael's Church, 6:30 a.m.
- St. Andrew's Church, 7:00 a.m.
- St. Thomas Church, 8:00 a.m.

Sunday (Easter)
- St. Patrick's Cathedral, 6:30 a.m.
