Mailed Smut Due at a Million Homes

WASHINGTON — Up to one million American children will receive a sexual instruction program through the mails this year, according to Paul McCluskey, secretary of the National Catholic Lay Council and the National Catholic Religious Education Conference, which published the report.

Speaking at a conference attended by officials of women's organizations, McCluskey said the program is to be called "The National Catholic Lay Council's Program of Sex Education for the Catholic Home" and will be mailed to homes with children of all ages — 4 to 16 years.

SMUT DISTRIBUTION

The program will be distributed by representatives to women's organizations who will carry the booklet to parents at their meetings.

The booklet, "The National Catholic Lay Council's Program of Sex Education for the Catholic Home," contains 27 pages and is priced at 31 cents.

In charge of the program is Paul McCluskey, who said it is a project of the National Catholic Lay Council, which is controlled by the National Catholic Religious Education Conference.

The conference will carry the booklet to women's organizations, including the Catholic Women's Christian Council, and will return it to the conference for mailing to those who want it.

The booklet will also carry information on how to carry the program to parents and how to use it.

Interracial Council Pledges New Efforts on Anniversary

NEW YORK (MNS) — A year after peace talks with the SCLC ended and the movement entered its critical phase, New York City Mayor Robert F. Kennedy pledged to continue the fight for civil rights on the anniversary of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The mayor, speaking at a rally in Central Park, said the city would continue to work toward racial equality, even as the nation faced new challenges.

"The dream of Dr. King will not die," Kennedy said. "The fight for justice will continue. We will not rest until every American is treated with the respect and dignity that is their due."
Morristown Benedictines Will Be Ordained May 23

PATerson — Four Benedictines monks of St. Mary Abbey, Morristown, will be among 14 young men ordaining Bishop McShann on May 23. They will receive their Orders at 9 a.m. in the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist.

Cuban Reds Falter In Labor Drive
HAYAN (N.C.) — Partial returns in elections now being held by Cuba's 2,500 trade unions indicate that the Reds are not as strong as had been expected. The workers have been active in a number of cities, but the elections will not be completed until early June.

The elections are of great importance in the labor situation here. Initial returns indicate that the unions have won a majority of the votes cast, even in such cities as Havana, Santiago and other places.

About 80,000 Cubans work in the Havana tobacco factories—no other union has been able to gain even a foothold in so many of these plants. The ability to win elections is a step toward breaking the grip of the big business men on the labor situation here.

Squaring the Circles

Most of the money given to Canada's farms is not spent on food at all. It is spent in the purchase of equipment, machinery, and supplies. This is a common problem in many countries, where the government spends a large portion of its budget on agricultural projects that do not benefit the farmers directly. However, it is important to remember that without these investments, the agricultural sector would not be able to sustain itself. It is essential to find a balance between these two aspects, ensuring that the funds are used effectively to support farmers and the overall economy.

Naming Juvenile Delinquents

The end of the war brought an increase in juvenile delinquency. The lack of discipline in the family and the community, combined with the loss of a sense of purpose, led to a rise in criminal activity among young people. It is crucial to address these issues by providing adequate resources and support systems to help young people make better choices and prevent further problems. Understanding the root causes of delinquency is essential in finding effective solutions.

Overstreet Book Attacked By U.S. Communist Head

By Louis Francis Budena

How bewitched the Red empires, how bewitched is the world! Even though it is characterised by a multitude of criminal enterprises, none of which has ever been fully described or comprehended, the world is still an idealised community of those who have charmed the Red empires.

But the overriding problem of the world is the Red empires. The Faith in Focus

Effects of Eucharist

By Mgr. George W. Sheu, S.T.D.

Shore and Beyond in vietnam there is the difference between the concept of the Church and the Church it represents. The Church itself, the one that we know as the Catholic Church, is a unique and special institution. It is the body of Christ, the living embodiment of his teaching and example. It is the community of believers, united in faith and worship, through which God's grace is made known to the world. The Church is the vanguard of the kingdom of heaven, the moral and spiritual leader of humanity. It is the Church that holds the key to salvation, the door to eternal life. It is the Church that teaches us the way to God, that guides us through the darkness of sin and suffering, and that leads us to the light of redemption. It is the Church that provides hope and comfort in times of need, that offers solace and support in moments of trial. It is the Church that is the source of all good, the provider of all that is true and just.

Mary's praises are sung all over the world during May in the celebration of ocean's missions. The month of May, which is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary, is a time for devoted Catholics to give back to the Church. For many years, Our Lady has been represented as a mother who has generously provided for her children. Similarly, Jesus, the Son of God, is portrayed as the perfect example of sacrifice and love for humanity. In this context, the image of Our Lady is often portrayed as a mother who has generously provided for her children. Mostyn Passes Up Olympic Chance to Join Brothers

CHEVROLET - The announcement, made by Jack Mostyn of Duke University's Track Team, that he would not rush to be one of the world's greatest olympic sprinters, left many people to ponder how much better the games could have been if he had chosen to participate. The 22-year-old student athlete had been favored to win the 200-meter dash.

The weekend found Mostyn in New York, where he had been invited to run in a meet at New York City. He had accepted the invitation and was scheduled to run in the 200-meter dash on Saturday and in the 440-yard dash on Sunday.

MOSTYN'S announcement came as a surprise to many, including his coach, Dr. Robert J. Johnson, who had been looking forward to Mostyn's performance in the Olympic trials. Johnson had been confident that Mostyn would make the team, but he was disappointed to learn that Mostyn had decided to forego the trials.

Mostyn has been one of the most outstanding athletes in the country, having won the NCAA championships in the 200-meter dash and the 440-yard dash. He has also set several American records.

Mostyn's decision to forego the Olympic trials has raised questions about the future of his athletic career. Many speculate that he may have chosen to focus on his studies and leave athletic competition behind.

Did He Or Didn't He?

NEWARK - A courtyard was virtually empty on the 13th floor of the New Jersey State Street Building, which houses the New Jersey State Street Building, when Mary Alice Mostyn, 20, a student at the University of New Jersey, walked into the courtyard and asked, "Do you believe in the existence of ghosts?"

"I don't know," said a student who was walking by. "But I've seen some strange things happen around here."

Mary Alice Mostyn has been studying at the University of New Jersey for four years and has been a member of the New Jersey State Street Building since the fall of last year. She has been involved in several campus activities, including the University of New Jersey's Student Government Association.

Pirates Tourney Hopes Ride on St. John's Game

SOUTH ORANGE - The only game that matters is the one against St. John's University. That's the philosophy of the Pirates, who hope to win the tourney this year.

"We've got to win the St. John's game," said Coach Joe Smith. "If we don't, we won't have a chance to win the tourney."
FOR MARY: Students in all North Jersey Catholic high schools held solemn services in honor of Mary May 31. At Bishop O'Connell High School, during May, here, Sister O'Donnell, Ann McNamara, Carol Mattfeld and Mary Srolick of St. Matthew's Union City say their Rosary before the shrine in the school hall. On May 31, the Rev. Francis Kronk will crown the statue at a ceremony in the school auditorium.

CLIFFTON QUEEN: Catherine Conquint, St. Philip's the Apostle, Clifton, is rescued Queen of the Passion Play Festival's CYO (Chaplain Sisters' CYO) by her president, Catherine Cusick to District King John Needler of St. John's Parish.

THE VOTING POWER in Passaic election was returned to the Society of Mary.

Refugee Year Gains Support

WARRINGTON - Catholics in this area have begun work on the "World Refugee Year" observance. Mayor John J. Dougherty was named chairman of the Warrington Catholic Refugee Year Commission.

The program for a year-long celebration was outlined by Mr. Dougherty at a meeting of the annual assembly of the Catholic Church in the United States. The Mayor expressed his appreciation for the support shown by the various groups involved in Refugee Year activities.

"We are all aware of the need for increased cooperation in the care of refugees," Mr. Dougherty said. "Our hearts go out to the millions who are suffering in foreign lands."

The Mayor also mentioned the importance of education in Refugee Year work. "We must educate our people about the plight of refugees," he said. "We must teach them the value of international understanding and cooperation."
