K. of C. Urge 'No' Vote
On College Bond Issue

HAPPY MEETING: Pope John XXIII reviewed Archdiocesan list and Auxiliary Bishop Curtis at the Vatican. The Papal audience was planned after the New Jersey Knights of Columbus held a conference at the New Jersey State Capital in Trenton. The $66.8 million proposed in the bond issue would provide funds for new churches, parochial schools, and community centers.

NEWARK - The New Jersey Knights of Columbus have issued a Public Service Bulletin urging the faithful to vote against the $66.8 million bond issue for school construction. The bulletin states that the bond issue is unnecessary and will not benefit the educational needs of the faithful.

The bulletin stresses that the bond issue is not needed, as evidenced by the recent construction of the new cathedral in Newark and the new convention center in Atlantic City. It also points out that the Knights of Columbus have already contributed millions of dollars to the construction of schools and churches throughout the state.

The bulletin concludes by urging the faithful to vote against the bond issue, as it is not necessary and will not benefit the educational needs of the faithful.

The Knights of Columbus also assert that the bond issue is a waste of money and will not benefit the educational needs of the faithful. They note that the bond issue is not needed, as evidenced by the recent construction of the new cathedral in Newark and the new convention center in Atlantic City.

The bulletin concludes by urging the faithful to vote against the bond issue, as it is not necessary and will not benefit the educational needs of the faithful.
Ask Labor, for Christian Concept of Work

VATICAN CITY — Claiming the impetus of working men since the 18th century, Pope John XXIII has called for labor and management to achieve a "truly Christian conception of human work.

The Pope spoke in the dignity of labor to delegates gathered in the Vatican City, where he praised the activities of the Italian Confederation of Labor by the Italian governmen

He said that workers were urged to keep in mind that their work must be carried out in true "Christian spirit" and for the "true peace of their society"

In the course of his message, Pope John also urged workers to translate into their daily work the "social doctrine of the Church". He said that it was necessary to translate the principles of the social doctrine into practical terms.

PREVIOUSLY, the Holy Father had stressed the importance of an "intransigent Christian stance" in the world, and had emphasized the need for a "Christian" approach to the problems of labor and management.

In his message, the Pope said that the Church's position on labor and management was not aimed at the establishment of a new society, but rather at the improvement of the existing one.

In conclusion, the Pope said that it was necessary to work for the "true peace of our society" and to do so in a "Christian spirit".

The Pope ended his message with a call to the workers to continue their efforts and to work for the "true peace of our society".

Praises Family Life Apostolate For 'Outstanding Progress'

SOUTH ORANGE — A true understanding of religious culture dating from early Christian times is one of the best aids to religious education of children available to today's parents, according to Rev. Francis A. Weiser, S.J., Father Superior of the Jesuit Secondary School of South Orange. He has been working on this since his days in the University of Wisconsin, where he presided over the Christian action group. Father Weiser gave the keynote address at the sixth annual Family Life Institute attended by 1,200 couples, educators and students. About 250 have participated in the previous years. Bishop Bishop S. O'Malley, Diocese of Newark, was among those who attended the conference.

ARCHBISHOP BISHOP HAROLD H. HART, who presided at the opening Mass of the 7th Annual Family Life Institute held at St. Mary's Cathedral last Wednesday, said: "We are seeking cooperation everywhere to present, to people who circle the streets, what we believe in. We are seeking cooperation in the homes. The home is the last frontier in the battle of the soul." He mentioned that he had visited families in the Hills in’ a recent visit to this area.

Bishop James F. Johnson, Chairman of Life dynamics, also called the Hills "the last frontier" in his address. "It is here we must do battle. We must use the talents, skills and experience we have to bring the Gospel to this land," he said.

The Hills are of the utmost importance to the Church. Bishop Johnson said that the work of the Church is not limited to the Hills but is spread throughout the city. He called for a "united effort" in the Hills to bring the Gospel to the people. "We must work together to bring the Gospel to the people," he said.

For the past three months, a "Gives Us a Singer" feature has been heard on New Jersey radio stations. A number of localities have joined in the campaign to enlist anyone and everyone in the field of music. The church music department of the Archdiocese of Newark has been the pioneer in this venture, and the results have been most encouraging. Now the interest is being continued, and the program is being expanded to include all types of music, both sacred and secular.

The program is being conducted by Rev. Oliver P. Devine, director of music for the Archdiocese. Each week a different type of music is featured, and the listeners are encouraged to participate in the singing of the songs. The program is broadcast on WOR-FM, the Archdiocesan station, and on other stations throughout New Jersey.

The purpose of the program is to encourage the study and appreciation of music, both in the church and in the home. The program is designed to help people develop their vocal abilities, and to improve their understanding of music. The program is also intended to provide a means of bringing people together, and to promote a sense of community.

Anyone who is interested in participating in the program is encouraged to contact Rev. Devine, or the music director in their local church. The program is open to anyone, regardless of age or experience.

Outline Testing Procedure For State Scholarship Program

Television - Details for the procedure under which a new and improved testing system for college scholarships for the state of New York will be conducted were announced at the Educational Testing Service yesterday. The new program is being established under a cooperative agreement between the state and the service.

The system, which will be used for the first time this year, is designed to provide a more accurate and equitable method of evaluating the academic achievement and potential of high school seniors. The tests will be administered at the schools and scored by the service.

Information gained through the new system will be used to establish a common set of standards for all colleges and universities that participate in the program.

The first phase of the program will involve the administration of a battery of tests to all high school seniors in the state. The results will be used to determine eligibility for scholarships.

The second phase will involve the administration of additional tests to those students who are eligible for scholarships. The results of these tests will be used to determine the amount of scholarship aid to be awarded.

The third phase will involve the administration of tests to all students who are enrolled in college programs. The results of these tests will be used to monitor the progress of students and to determine the need for additional scholarship aid.

Conclusions:

The new system is expected to provide a more accurate and equitable method of evaluating the academic achievement and potential of high school seniors. The tests will be administered at the schools and scored by the service.

The information gained through the new system will be used to establish a common set of standards for all colleges and universities that participate in the program.

Pope John's First Year Leaves Enduring Mark

The Vatican City (N.C.) — Nearly a year has passed since "we have a Pope" rang across the world from the seven days after his election. On the day John XXIII left his native village of Hum, in the northern Italian region of Trent, the Archdiocese of Trent was placed under the guidance of a new head, and the popes of Rome were again in the hands of a native of Lombardy.

John XXIII was elected pope on June 3, 1962, the day theamble of the Council of Trent was signed in the Vatican. He was the second native of Lombardy to become pope of Rome, and the first since Pius IX.

John XXIII has been the first pope to work directly with youth in a manner not known in the Church for centuries. He has sought the help of young people in a number of his decisions, and has spoken to them directly on a number of occasions.

The pontificate of John XXIII has been marked by a number of significant events, including the Second Vatican Council, which began in 1962 and continued until 1965. The council has been described as a "new birth," and has been characterized by a number of changes in Church law and practice.

The pontificate of John XXIII has also been marked by a number of controversies, including the sale of indulgences and the role of women in the Church.

The pontificate of John XXIII has been characterized by a spirit of openness and reform, and has been described as a "new birth." He has been praised for his efforts to bring the Church closer to the people, and for his efforts to work for peace and justice.

Story of Trotsky Focuses On Murderous Red Mind

St. Joseph's Sets Contest Record

By Joe Dever

This week marks a first in the history of the Young Advocates Club contests. It is a very important first for St. Joseph's, Paterson, and for Sister Kathleen Combs.

Our Judges have announced the three winners of the American nation-wide contest, the fourth grade and fourth grade class and for Sister Kathleen Combs.

The first prize of $15 in bills made in Mary Brownie by the members of the Junior Young Advocates Club was won by Joseph's Club. A miniature Columbus and his horse covered with silver dust were a great deal of work on the part of the students. It is a very fine creative work by the members. Keenly interested and fully enjoying the contest, they certainly showed the two months up until now their best work thus preparing the discovery of this great idea.

The judges clearly feel that the fair members are really going to win the blessing of the students.

Farewell October

October is closing out. With November in the air, and so many things happening in the autumn season, it is hard to believe how fast the season is flying by. The days are getting cooler and the leaves are changing color. It is a perfect time to enjoy the outdoors and take advantage of the beautiful weather. Whether it's a fall foliage hike or a cozy night in, there is something for everyone in the month of October. Get ready to embrace the season and make the most of the remaining weeks before winter arrives.
Hackensack Is Major Barrier
To Petreans' Unbeaten Record

By Ed Grant

HACKENSACK — St. Peter's Prep faced the greatest challenge of the season when it meets a fast-improving Hackensack team on Saturday.

The Petreans, after their narrow escape against Delaware Valley last week, are listed as 2-point underdogs in this contest.

The Petreans are off to a 1-0-1 start in the National Prep League, but their scoring average of 30.0 is 15 points ahead of second-place Delaware Valley. The Indians are 1-1-0.

Hackensack, unbeaten in three games, is averaging 33.7 points a game. The Indians have lost only once in 21 years of prep football, and they have not lost a prep game since the 1930 season.

The Indians are led by a strong defense and a powerful rushing attack led by Bob Brzencak, who has scored five touchdowns and averages 6.9 yards per carry.

The Petreans, however, have the superior passing attack, with Mike Linn scoring five touchdowns on 56 passes for a 4.0 average.

The Petreans have scored 21 points in two games, but their defense has struggled against stronger opponents.

The Indians have scored 49 points in two games, but their defense has struggled against weaker opponents.

The Petreans are coming off a 17-14 loss to the Indians, but they are expected to bounce back.

The Petreans are favored to beat the Indians, but the game is expected to be a close one.

The Petreans are expected to fare well against the Indians, but the game is expected to be a close one.

PONTIFF BOLSTERS POLISH BISHOP

WARSAW (CNS) — Bishop take a happy turn. A promise to the Holy Father, on whose name a new Polish bishop has been appointed, has received a personal appeal from Pope John XXIII on Monday, January 31, 1960. The Pontiff said he "considers it important that the Holy Father be given the opportunity to express his personal wish to the Bishop of the diocese." The Pope's statement was made in reply to a letter from the new bishop, Most Rev. Wladyslaw Kociejewski, who was consecrated last week.

In a letter dated February 1, the Pope said he "assumes the responsibility of the duty to convery the wishes of His Holiness with respect to the Bishop of the diocese."

The Pope's action was taken in response to a request from the new bishop, who asked for a personal message from the Pope. The request was made in a letter dated February 1, which was published in the official Vatican newspaper, l'Avvenire, on February 2.

In his letter, the Pope said he "considers it important that the Holy Father be given the opportunity to express his personal wish to the Bishop of the diocese." He added that he "assumes the responsibility of the duty to convey the wishes of His Holiness with respect to the Bishop of the diocese."
