The Editorial Board of The Advocate urges its readers to vote 'NO' on the College Bond Issue. The board believes that the proposed bond issue is not necessary.

The board explains that the proposed bond issue is not necessary because the college already has enough funds to meet its financial needs. The board also believes that the proposed bond issue is not necessary because the college has already won a court case that will provide it with the funds it needs.

Say College Bond Issue Demand Based on Of-Date Survey

SAYING the State Department of Education's proposed $20 million college bond referendum is not needed, the New Jersey Citizens for Tax Reduction on Thursday asked a court to stop the referendum.

In a suit filed in Superior Court in Trenton, the稅payers asked the court to stop the referendum because the State Department of Education's survey of New Jersey college needs is outdated.

The suit charges that the survey is not accurate and that the State Department of Education has not had a valid opinion of the needs of New Jersey colleges in recent years.

Advocate Crusade Provides Apostolate for Sisters, Pupils

NEWARK — Over 200 Sisters and priests attending a meeting to inaugurate The Advocate’s 1961 Subscription Crusade Friday heard their work described as "Catholic Action," and as a means of providing God with channels of grace for the salvation of souls.

Mg. John J. Kiely, auxiliary bishop of Newark, and director of The Advocate, recalled the meaning by which he used to call that last word "Paul." Also in the word of "soul," Mg. Kiely had called the Collette, reminding the religious that "your soul was the most powerful apostolate in getting the schools and children to get the best educations possible and newspaper subscriptions were the very best by acting apostolically to The Advocate. Mg. Kiely said that the newspapers are "opening souls to God, or trying to"

The general Subscription Crusade in the schools, he said, "teach work with the children provided with more channels through which to serve the Lord."

HE EXPLAINED that through the usual notices and material sent out by The Advocate, the school and church become interested in "this thing." Mg. Kiely said, "That places them in the area of the church's publicity."

He said, "The Advocate's circulation is a work of Catholic Action, pure and simple." He said, explaining that the school presses all the papers and all the advertising about the crusade.

Mg. Kiely observed that the Advocate's circulation stands at 200,000 right now. He said, "The school community is a place where you can reach a lot of people who are not interested in religion."

He also observed that the circulation was at 200,000 kids. He said, "The other way you can do this is to get the kids to attend the school, but the school can't be attended by the Advocate."

"Technical aspects of the Crasade" were explained by Mg. Kiely and a discussion of Young Advocate was also held. Mg. Kiely said, "We are in the middle of St. Peret's school talk.

The teaching aid exhibit set up by the school's technicians will be presented to the schools High School by the Archdiocese. The Archdioces is responsible for the schools, and each school will have a copy of the school's publications, according to MG. Kiely.

The program will be held at 9 a.m. in St. Mary's in the Union County Technology Center, with the following speakers:

B. John S. Pope, principal of the school, will give a description of the school's publications system, and the impact it has on the teaching of languages.

J. Joseph P. Tabi, director of the school's publications, will give a report on the various publications that are currently in use.

M. John J. Kiely, auxiliary bishop of Newark, and director of The Advocate, will speak on the importance of the school's publications in the teaching of languages.

Too Many American Catholics Are 'Ostriches in International Affairs'

WASHINGTON—The many American Catholics who see their faith as part of an international concern are adding to the world's store of wisdom. These are the words of Cardinal John J. Wright, auxiliary bishop of New York, who has spoken of the need for Catholics to become more involved in international affairs.

"We must be able to answer the questions of the world today," he said. "We must be able to help shape the future of our world." He noted the role of the United Nations and the importance of international cooperation.

"We must be able to understand the problems of other nations and cultures," he said. "We must be able to work towards peace and justice." He emphasized the need for dialogue and understanding between different peoples.

"We must be able to give guidance to those who seek a better world," he said. "We must be able to impart the values of the Gospel." He concluded by saying that the Church must be a beacon of hope in a world of darkness.

Vote 'Yes' for Sunday Closing

We urge our readers to vote 'Yes' for the referendum to hold on Sunday of closing Sunday traffic on our main streets. The proposed amendments to the traffic regulations will not only reduce congestion and improve safety but also create a more pleasant environment for all who use our streets. The referendum is a chance for us to show our support for these improvements.

Community Gains Appear As Assemblemen's Harvest

By Lois Francis Budens

Appeasement which is now so fashionable is not the answer to our problems. The true way to achieve peace is through strong action. We must stand up for our rights and not allow ourselves to be bullied into submission.

The Descent of Conscience

The human family faces many challenges in the present day. The solution lies in the descent of conscience, which is the process of refining our moral character through a spiritual leadership. This involves fostering a society where individuals are encouraged to reflect on their actions and make choices that are in line with moral principles. Only in this way can we create a world that is just and equitable.

Journey's End

There is no end to the journey of humanity. Each generation must look forward to the next with courage and determination. The transition from one era to the next is not always smooth, but it is a necessary step in the progress of human civilization. Let us embrace the challenges of the future with open hearts and minds.

The Faith in Freely

The true meaning of love is to be found in the heart of those who seek to serve others. The commitment to love is a powerful force that can overcome any obstacle. In our daily lives, we must strive to show compassion and kindness to all who cross our paths.

Young Advocate Club American Contest Brings Rainbow of 450 Senior Party Favors

By June Dreyer

They're taking bets at Young Advocate headquarters that the American Contest in the Social Science Fair is going to run over. The only trouble is that there aren't enough to take!

The office has been filled with favors—450 to be exact. They're here in dozens, in bunches, by the hundreds. And they're being guarded with every post, every guard, every minute that the contest is going on.

Set the Young Advocate Club members on the job, and they'll guard these favors with the same zeal that you would for your own school, for your own grade, for your own city. They're the kind of things that make a school to be proud of. And they're the kind of work that we've been doing here in the office all week.

THE FAVORS are so good that we couldn't help but wonder why they're not being used by everyone. That's why we're going to give these favors away. They're going to be used by everyone who's going to be here in the school.

The favors are being given to the school's directors, to the school's principal, to the school's teachers, to the school's students. They're going to be used by everyone who's going to be here in the school.

What a joy it is to give favors! We're glad that everyone has a chance to participate.

Bayley-Immaculate Game Tops Important Weekend Grid Card

By Ed Grant

MONTCLAIR — The most important set of games this weekend in New Jersey gridiron history were played at Montclair State College, where the Montclair High School varsity Gridiron team began its quest to become the state's first undefeated team since 1929. The game against Cliffside Park was the first of the state's three major games on Saturday, and it was won by Montclair 28-18.

Senior Bill Martin's 13-point total, including four touchdowns, was the highlight of the game. Martin ran for 139 yards on seven carries, including two TDs, and also caught one pass for a touchdown. Montclair also got a strong performance from junior quarterback Bill Martin, who completed 12 of 18 passes for 146 yards and two touchdowns.

The game was a close one, with Cliffside Park leading 12-10 at halftime. Montclair took the lead in the second half with a 10-yard TD run by Martin and a 43-yard field goal by junior kicker Matt Pollock. Cliffside Park scored its second half touchdowns on a 47-yard TD pass from senior quarterback Mike Miller to junior wide receiver John Smith and a 5-yard TD run by senior fullback Mike Haggerty.

The game was played in front of 3,500 fans, who were treated to a high-scoring affair. Montclair outgained Cliffside Park in total offense, 323-212, and held the visitors to just 67 yards rushing.

The game was the first of three major games between New Jersey teams this weekend, with Montclair-Immaculate and Montclair in the next two days. The Montclair-Immaculate game is expected to be the closest of the three, with both teams undefeated and ranked in the top five in the state.
