In a statement last week the Ganguzzas declared: "We feel that the wishes of the people should be honored immediately and in the complete spirit with which the referendum was presented." The two Valley Fair officers also compared their action with that of highway stores planning legal action and taking other steps to remain open on Sundays. Then they added: "Valley Fair feels it will be best to honor the wishes of the voters."

The Valley Fair opening on Sunday reflects how well the action of the store conforms with its officers' written statements.

The Advocate will accept no further advertising from Valley Fair Discount Center.

To Lay Cornerstone of Church, Bless New Rectory in Garfield

GARFIELD — The cornerstone of the new church in Holy Name parish here will be laid by Archbishop Boland at 3 p.m., Nov. 21. At the same time, the Archbishop will also bless the new rectory. Rev. Raymond P. Beach, O.F.M., is naster.

Ground for the structures was broken by Father Raymond on Dec. 1, 1957. The rectory was built first and the priests moved into it in September, 1958. The old rectory was then torn down.

Meanwhile the old church had been demolished and construction started. While the new church was being built. was being built, Masses were said in the auditorium of the ol, built in 1952.

THE NEW CHURCH is of co temporary design with an exterior of iron spot buff brick, matching the school and the new rectory. Located on Marsellus Place, corner of Passaic St., the building's dominant note is a 60foot bell tower equipped with Schulmeric Carillon chimes with a record-playing attachment.

The entrance is impressively modern. Directly over it will be placed a statue of the Christ Child, executed in Cararra marble. Focal point of the facade is a ble. Focal point of the facade is a large stained-glass window with the inscription IHS, set in a sunburst and surmounted by a dove. The church, including the choir loft, will seat 600 persons. ROSELLE - The one-day campaign which took place Nov. 1 in St. Joseph the Carpenter parish here has been reported an overwhelming success by Msgr. James J. Carberry, pastor. The objective was a minimum of $400,000 to provide funds toward construction of a new high school gymnasium auditorium as well as expansion of present school fa-committee and the parishioners expansion of present school facilities.

The returns as of Nov. 7 totaled $409,000, and with ear final results now recorded, the figure is close to $500,000.

"All of us at St. Joseph's are thrilled with the wonderful response the parish made to our appeal," said Msgr. Carberry, and I must certainly pay tribute to the cooperation and enthusiasm that was a part of the campaign both among the 600 men of the souras of 20th Century-Fox.

Before starting his script, Vale visited the locations where St. Francis lived and worked. These will figure among the colorful backgrounds, to be filmed in Italy.

THERE HAVE been several movies about St. Francis. None has presented a powerful, popular interpretation of the mystical appeal he exercised. On the screen his grace of spirit, his love of the poor, his oneness with ball nature and the miraculous stigmata have been so overstream over the practical experience of world-ly men.

There is one big difficulty about Sister Lucinie: she probably never existed, probably never would exist. A person such as she is not impossible, but is improbable and therefore, according to an old, old dictum, so much the worse for Mme. Pascal-Dasque.

Sister Lucinie is a radiant being and one cannot help admir-ing her; and there is a marvel-ous touch in the reader's first introduction to her, where her splendid blitheness of spirit is quelled by the about uelled by the pharasaic scandal taken by a narrow-minded old nun. LUCINIE. By M. L. PascalDasque, Kenedy. 32.75 (Adults only, because of advanced content and style.)

"Lucinie," for all its brevities, is an ambidious work. It takes a mystic for its central character and tries to interpret the secret of dwelling with God while working for men. The aim is noble but, like most noble aims, very difficult of fulfilment.

The plot is quite simple. A nursing nun in Algeria has been changed by a bitter experience from a gay, light-hearted person to one who is reserved and distant. The experience has, however, not only thrown her back upon herself but has driven her to more profound prayer. She is a more profound prayer. She cause the concerns of the work of the prayer p SAVINGS and Loan Assn. 40 Commerce Street, Newark 2 Mitchell 3-0260 Boily, 9-4; Wed. to 8 p.m. PREE PARKING across the street Daily, 9-3; Thurs to 7 p.m. RESERVE YOUR SEATS NOW BY MAIL OR AT BOX-OFFICE!

On the American educational scene the problem of financial support by the state res perhaps the thorniest question. Besides the ques-tion of the wisdom or at least the extent of state support, the manner of its distribution for the benefit of all parents needs a fairer solution. We peneut of all parents needs a fairer solution. We believe that a newly formed group with the name Citizens for Educational Freedom offers the correct solution in proposing that state or national grants for schooling be given directly to parents for use in schools of their own choice.

use in schools of their own choice Private schools have been counted out of direct support by the state. These schools, both religious and non-religious, have long suffered from the unfairness that deprives of assistance ents who exercise their American right to use a private school for their child.

Somewhere and at some time it will become necessary to develop a system that divides equality with all citizens the benefits of state assistance hout impairment of their right to choose the

______ The foundation for such a system already has been set on the American scene by the G.I. bill which made available certain educational dollars for use by veterans in the schools of their choice. These grants were made rather to the arship bills also incorporate a similar right of the recipient to choose the school he wishes to

Citizens for Educational Freedom aims at widening this principle of direct assistance to parents rather than to schools to embrace all state or governmental support. They see in the system a safeguard for the constitutional right of parents to choose freely the child's school, a well as the ending of the present unfair distribution to those only who choose the public schools.

Under this kind of plan the educational dol-lars would be granted in fair proportion to all parents. Parents in turn would use those dollars in the school of their choice. Many would choose public schools; some would choose religious schools; while others would ivate religious schools such as the parish hools of Catholics and of Lutherans.

Education Grants to Parents The proposed plan has everything.

It is constitutional. It does not grant aid to igious schools but to parents. While the present and of the Supreme Court would rule unconstitutional direct grants to private schools, the Supreme Court has made it clear that the right to educate belongs to the parent in first place. Aid directly to the parents to assist them in this fundamental task accords fully with constitutional

At the same time the public school system is protected and accorded the permanent place in American education that it will likely have. Many parents will choose these public schools in which to invest the educational dollars granted to them by the state. The public school system will continue to several these systems are supported to the state. will continue to serve those parents who will be attracted by its educational offerings.

Moreover the American and Constitutional right to choose one's school will be safeguarded for all. That right does exist; but many must pay a financial cost to make use of their right whenever they choose a school that gets no state support. With the new system no school would get direct support but_every parent would equally get assistance and through the parents support would reach the schools. Then with full right and without unfair cost parents would have their constitutional choice of schools.

Finally, this originals of direct great the schools.

Finally, this principle of direct grants to parents is applicable at every level of education wherein state support is in question. This simple formula can quiet much of the conflict that ...arks the educational scene of our land.

Because of this basic fairness and because of its constitutionality we should like to see fuller discussion of the principle of educational grants directly to parents rather than to schools. We believe that most American citizens can be won over to this kind of approach and thereby one large area of questions about governmental support of education can be settled. The literature published by Citizens for Educational Freedom from its headquarters at 3109 S. Grand Blvd. Room 25, St. Louis 18, Mo., will assist the spread

Our National Shrine

Washington is a city of many momumental buildings that stand as memorials to our nation's heroes, to Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson the rest. On Friday, Nov. 20, a monumenta polic church will formally be arrayed in the ranks of our capitol's monuments, a memorial to God's heroine, Mary the Mother of Jesus. It will be known as the Shrine of the Immaculate

The shrine will compare in beauty with Washington's noblest monuments and with the great churches of the past. It is the largest Catholic church in the United States, and one of the seven largest churches in the world. Its architecture is Romanesque Byzantine, that is, a combination of the architectures of Romanized Europe before the rise of the Gothic and the eastern architecture associated with Byzantium, that is, a estantinople. The shrine is not a lifeless or constantinopie. The sarine is not a increas imitation of these forms, but an imaginative and creative use of them. The materials used in the shrine are mostly domestic. It is therefore traditional and contemporary, Catholic and American.

Every Catholic American must come to know the meaning of the shrine and the reason why it stands, as every American should know the Washington Monument and the reason why it stands. The shrine stands as a symbol of the dedication of hearts. This dedication took place in 1846 when the states of the Union numbered 28 and the Bishops of the country were counted at 22. Meeting in Baltimore the Bishops dedicated the Catholic Church in America to Mary the Mother of God under her title of the Immaculate Conception. This dedication of the country to Mary was given Papal approval the following year, and Mary Immaculate became the pa-troness of the Church in America. In a chapel in crypt of the shrine a lovely

In a chapel in crypt of the surine a lovely tomb holds the mortal remains of the fourth rector of the Catholic University. It was Bishop Thomas Shahan who conceived the idea of a national shrine in Washington to symbolize in stone the dedication of the American Church to Mary Immaculate. The vision of Bishop Shahan received the approval of the American hierarchy and of Pope Plus X. In 1919 plans for the proposed shrine were drawn by the firm of Maginnis and Walsh. Between 1922 and 1931 the crypt was completed. Not until the Marian Year 1954 was the work taken un again Now this phase of the work.

the course of time the Catholics of the nation will come here to do honor to Mary Immacu——notably the late and to appeal for her powerful intercession. The shrine is a majestic witness to our faith in God, to our love of Christ and His Blessed Mother. It is also a witness to the fact that the Church in America has reached its maturity when it can raise a monument of such beauty that compares with the glories of the Christian art of the old world.

Tokens of Thanks

At various times during the year we are asked to put our own needs in the background and give thought and action to assist in filling the needs of others. Except for these reminders, many would not take advantage of the ever ent opportunities God has so abundantly wered upon them. One of these reminders is the annual Bishops Thanksgiving Clothing Collection. We are asked to share our surplus and usable clothing, shoes and bedding with our brothers-in-Christ through-and bedding win our bothers-in-christ through-out the world who have so little.

This appeal, organized in every diocese in the country, has met with unusual success. Each year tons of clothing are collected from gen-erous Catholics. The Catholic Relief Services, NCWC, the agency that directs the collection reports that during 16 years of operation over 2-1/2 million tons of food, clothing and drugs have been shipped to countries in need all over the world. The value placed on this material exceeds $804 million

While we boast of the material relief we have rendered to the destitute on other lands, we must, in all humility, admit that even such staggering figures are far below our capabilities.

Never can we say we've done enough . . . no more than we would want God to declare a moratorium on the gifts He bestows on us.

Although they agree that mediocrity is the word for TV programs, and that the medium should elevate its sights, the critics differ in their opinions as to what the TV public wants. Like Joseph Wood Krutch, whom we quoted a week ago, Dr. Waterman believes that all the mass media "have underestimated the desire of our citizens to learn and to know."

Mr. Lippmann, on the other hand, thinks the TV public has been getting what it wants, but adds that the medium should nevertheless aim not at "what will be most popular, but what is good," not at "popularity and profit but at excellence and the good life."

Mr. Benton's position lies in between. He does not believe "our people are so far gone in self-indulgence that they would continue to seek only amusement, bemusement and begulement" from TV — "if they were informed of and educated to the use of the alternatives."

Knowing an alcoholic and having to live with one are entirely two different worlds.

After 14 years of living with one, my husband, I gave up, but not until I had exhausted every way I knew. I spent years of covering up, making excuses, telling lies and fooling myself while things just got worse. I tried to understand. I read all I could find, attended AA meetings, consulted psychiatrists, priests, lawyers and doctors. I even contacted the V.A. hospital but got the same answer all over.

Phone Listing For Churches

Editor:

Why is it general practice for Catholic churches not to have telephone directory listings?

In these days of extensive traveling, the visiting Catholic usually finds the non-Catholic public familiar with the name and location of the nearest Catholic church, but not with Mass hours or the name of the pastor or priest in whose name a phone or priest in whose name a ph may be listed.

It would certainly be in the interests of convenience, as well as of good public relations with the community, to encourage our churches to have phone listings for their rectories; also to let the local newspapers listing church services to include their Sunday and weekday Masses, novenas and other services.

Some rectories seem annoyed at having to answer inquiries. Some ask, "Are you a member of this parish?" Isn't the important point that a Catholic, perhaps a daily Communicant from out of town, wants to get to out of town, wants to get to Mass and on time?

pines. The priest was Rev. Patrick Cashman, S.S.C.

The "gekko" is rarely seen but frequently heard, his call resembling the dialect word, "O-O," which means "yes."

At the wedding, the bashful bride was unable to answer when asked by Father Cash-man: "Do you take this man to be your lawful husband?" But from his nook in the ceiling, the "gekko" provided the an-swer as the congregation broke into laughter.

RESEARCH is an Ingredient of Industrial Success in New Jersey?

The human brain is the most important ingredient in successful research . . . and research is one of the most important ingredients of industrial success. In many ways, New Jersey leads the nation in its widely diversified research programs and facilities.

Ten per cent of the nation's research facilities are concentrated in New Jersey. Expenditures exceed $620,000,000 a year. An estimated 21,700 scientists and engineers are active in New Jersey laboratories.

It is estimated that some 500 firms are active in research in "The Scientific State" today. The results of a current survey show clearly that the state is one of the greatest research centers in the U.S., if not the largest.

Teen Ground Rules Compiled in Westfield

WESTFIELD — What are the ground rules for a teenage party? What about year-round jobs for high school students? What is a sensible curfew time on dancing dates? And what about this business of some steady?

this business of going steady?
A volunteer committee of couples from the Holy Trinity High School Parents' Guild, assisted by their priest-moderator and by members of the student and by members of the student council, have tried to answer these questions in a booklet called, "Consensus," the result of a year-long study of the problems current to raising teenagers.

THE BOOKLET is directed to the parents in the hope that it will buttress individual famit will buttress individual family standards by presenting a set of justified basic mnimums established by common agreement and adhered to by a large group of parents. It is, in other words, an answer to the frequently heard teen plaint: "But everybody else is doing it."

From start to finish, the emphasis of "Consensus" is on the affirmative rather than the neg-phasis of "Consensus" is on the affirmative rather than the negative. Under each of its basic headings — "Dating," "Parties," "Curfew," "Jobs" — it first talks about the things to do, before getting down to the things to "don't."

ON DATING, for instance, it suggests group-dating at dan-ces, ball games and house par-ties for freshmen and sopho-mores, with individual dating to start in junior year. Double dating is encouraged, but not blind dating. And parents are

The listed arguments against steady dating are impressive:
"Deprives teens of many enjoyable friendships ... crimps personality growth ... gives false security ... engenders social laziness ... increases danger to moral temptations ... instills premature desire for marriage."

Parents should be told where it is, who's going to be there, who the date is, the mode of travel and the time of return.

Open house parties, all-night "hen" parties or weekend house parties are discouraged. A full list of instructions for the young host or hostess is provided with three important rules: "No gate-crashers (the students voted 4-1 for this one), parents unobtrusively in evidence, and well-made plans to keep the guests entertained."

Generally, the point was made that there should be three alarm clocks in each teen's brain one for the time to get started home; one for the deadline agreed upon for a particular date with both sets of parents, and one (a maximum), which should never be surpassed.

CARS AND JOBS-two items more important to boys than to girls — are the final topics. #### Russell's Return to Health Brings Delbarton Ivy Title

MORRISTOWN — Denny Russell came back to full health one week too late to save Delbarton's long winning streak, but early enough to help the Green Wave wrap up its ninth consecutive Ivy League title with a 24-0 defeat of Morristown School on Nov. 13.

Out most of the season with an injured shoulder, Russell had appeared in two earlier games for Delbarton, but was not up to his 1958 form, when he scored seven touchdowns, many on long seven touchdowns, many on long runs. He tallied once against Oratory, was held scoreless in the loss to Blair, but broke out for two six-pointers against Morris-

Russell got the first touchdown on an 11-yard end sweep and the second on a three - yard gallop around the flank. But he also had a 48-yard run to set up the first touchdown for Frank McGuire, who also acquired a pair on sprints of eight and 28 yards.

THE VICTORY finished the Ivy League season for Delbarton with a 4-0-1 record, the same as Newark Academy, which tied the son. This is the second time with-in three years that Delbarton and Newark have tied for the title and the two deadlocks with the Minutemen are the action Minutemen are the only marks on the Green Wave's Ivy League record since the loop was founded in 1951. Delbarton closes out its season on Nov, 20 at home against Hun and is expected to win handily. This would close out the season with a 5-1-1 mark, pretty fair for most teams, but one of the worst in Green Wave history. Oratory, which was whacked by St. Benedict's, 33-0, over the Benedict's, 33-0, over the eekend, figures to bow again on Nov. 20 at Harrison.

The New Legislation

The NJSIAA will hold its annual meeting Dec. 7 at Newark and, as usual, has sent out to member schools and newspa-pers a copy of the legislation to be voted on that day. Six proposals will come before the member schools and. for once, the legislation con tains few controversial propos als. Only one rule—that which would set the starting date for the basketball season at the second Friday in December seems likely to stir up a floor

We'll take the rules one by one and try to explain their merits, or lack of merits:

(1) Schools organizing one year at a time shall be eligible for provisional member-ship when the 11th grade (ju-nior class) is organized, pend-ing final approval of the State Department of Education.
This is an excellent idea and should be passed unanimously. It will have more effect in in-dividual sports such as swim-prohibited.

The NJSIAA already has rules to fully cover this situa-

(3) A change in the public (3) A change in the public schools groups to read: 0-209 for Group I, 201-350 for Group II, 351-550 for Group III and over 550 for Group IV.

This has long been under discussion and is past due. It also the best of the school of the school

Jersey Catholic individual scoring title is just about in the prochest of Bill Nelsard Oreset

DON BOSCO Tech and St. ing title is just about in the pocket of Bill Nolan of Queen of Peace, following his 13-point outburst against Bergen Catholic last weekend.

Nolan now shows 76 points with one game to go and his closest rival is Sal Garcia of Don Bosco at 50 points. It doesn't seem possible that anyone can catch Bill at this point, but then, strange things have been happening all season.

The race for second place is something else again. There are nine players within striking distance of Garcia, including Bobby Hackett of St. Luke's, the only team which still may play two more games. This depends on whether the Lucans reschedule their rained-out tilt with St. James of Penns Grove.

Ron Zazzara of Oratory appears to have the scoring crown for ends wrapped up with his 48 points and John DeNota of Seton Hall has moved into a commanding position in the con-

(4) The second Friday in December shall be the opening date for regularly scheduled basketball games.

Last year, a date of Dec. 15 for this rule was narrowly de-feated. The new setup would put the start of the season at for the basketball season to open on Dec. 14. It might be better simply to rule.

(5) There shall be no more than two regularly scheduled baskethall games per week (the week to run from 12:01

a.m. Sunday to midnight Sat-

Salerno

This rule should go down, it represents a sort of last bid by the NISIAA to exert unnec school programs. It would par-ticularly affect Catholic schools who play some games on Sun-day. It will not stop teams from playing two games in as many days. Better to simply pass a rule requiring a 48-hour wait between games.

(6) The basketball season (6) The basketball season closes on Mar. 31 and no interscholastic games may be played after that date unless sanctioned by the NJSIAA.

This one gets rid of, for once and for all, the regulation which prohibited basketball players from enjoying their sport after Mar. 31 in independent tournaments or informal sport after Mar. 31 in independ-ent tournaments or informal competition. (It eliminates the words "nor shall members of the basketball squad participate in any basketball games").

This rule is backed chiefly by Catholic schools and by the public schools of Union County where the umpteenth incident concerning the old rule occurred last year. It should pass with as heavy a vote as possible. Above, we said that the fifth rule represented a last attempt by the NJSIAA to exert un-weening control over individual school athletics programs. Our reason for making this state-ment is found in the subcom-mittee reports on other sug-gested rule changes.

In two cases—the question of junior varsity players appear-ing in varsity contests and the question of a boy participating in two sports simultaneously— the committee has recommend-ed that the responsibility be left in the hands of the principal and athletic director of

The wisdom of this decision can be found in the fact that inividual schools and local leagues already have such reg-ulations. Some leagues prohibit the jayvee boy doubling up in basketball to promote more even competition on the junior varsity level. Many schools forbid a boy taking part in more than one sport at a time present constitution recom-mends that teams play only eight games a season, but al-most all play nine.) This one again should be an individual matter. Where schools have handsome athletic boys all come from the same neighborhood, there is probably no need for a football camp. But where neither of these con-

Nuns Taught Her How By Msgr. William F. Furlong

Florence Nightingale is a name that shines forth brilliantly in every history of modern nursing. She restored it in England to its long lost position of respect. And it was largely due to her influence that women were first employed as nurses in military hospitals.

She was not a Catholic, but she begged England's Cartillong the second of the long to second on the long to a Catholic, but she begged England's Car-dinal Manning to secure a nun's training for her nursing career. She studied the methods of nursing and hospital manage-ment with the Sisters of St. Vincent de Paul in Paris. To the Cardinal she wrote, "What training is there compared with that of a Catholic nun? Those ladies who are not Sisters have not the chastened temper, the Christian grace, the accomplished love-liness and energy of the regular nun. I... do not speak from enthusiasm but from ex-

Have Confidence

In his Encyclical "On the Catholic Priesthood," Pope Pius XI referred to "the very heavy responsibilities" of the priesthood which made St. John Chrysostom, St. Ambrose, St. Gregory the Great, St. Charles Borromeo "and many other stalwarts of the Christian priesthood tremble in fear."

The same fear is often responsible for young men deciding not to become priests. "I don't have what it takes to be a good priest," they will tell you, Of course, they don't. But God will give it to them.

a good priest, they will tell you. Of course, they don't. But God will give it to them.

That is what Pope Pius XI said in the same Encyclical, "Along with the . . . exalted powers, . . . the priest received a new and special grace with special helps. If he does his part faithfully by cooperating with the divine promptings of grace, these aids will enable him to carry out the duties of his office worthily and courageously." There is nothing to fear!

Excluding the communist-dominated areas of China, North Koréa and North Vietnam, the number of native priests in Africa and Asia has, in the past 40 years, increased more than 700%!

The response to priestly and religious vocations is overwhelmingly greater among these recent converts than among the Catholics of America. How can we account for

Do the Asiatic and African youths appreciate Christianity more; do they understand better the shortness of time and the endlessness of eternity, or do they just love God more than the young Catholic men and women of America? St. Alphonse Liguori Said:

Letter Indicates Werfel Did Not Become Convert

MUNICH — A letter from famed Jewish author Franz Werfell did not become a Catholic before his death, although he lieved in Christ.

The letter, written from Hollywood, was dated July 6, 1941, about four years before his death. It has been published here by Voices of Time, a Jesuit monthly. Werfel said:

Werlel Did Ivol Become Convert witness of Divine Revelation, and their mission is "a part of the reality of Christianity"; (2) he for his death, although he believe in Christ . . My mystical, and I dare say Catholic, faith is the very backbone of my poetry and of my epical and dramatic work."

However, he said, he had not formally adopted the Catholic faith because: (1) He felt that the Jewish people are the visible be a baptized Jew could be a baptized Jew could."

Well, we've got the answer for you. And right in the Delray Beach Area, Florida's most gracious place to live.
Of late you've been reading that Delray is fast becoming the best ress in Florida. Now here's your chance to become a part of all this.

FLORIDA HAS SO MUCH TO OFFER!

the joy of having a brand new, all year home, with plenty of ground lawns and your very own grange, lemon, grapefruit trees, and gorgeous flowers blooming the year round. And all at a price you can afford to pay.

A NEW IDEA! "Windward Palms" is a new concept in property development. There are now some developments with well-selected property, reasonable taxes.

But that's just where we start. Members of our group have not only all these advantages, but many more; innumerable plots to select from, quarter acres or full acres; our own architect will custom-plan a beautiful tropical home individually to your taste, at a special low fee; our own builders will erect it, in just a few months, at actual cost plus only a very modest profit. Local financial institutions are generous and understanding in their assistance.

There's a beautiful municipal golf club only five minutes away, a fine lake nearby, and the incomparable ocean beach less than ten minutes from your front door.

LIFETIME PROTECTION! Your levely home is protected by building restrictions and covenants in all deeds so the neighborhood characteristics will be maintained. Property values should always be assured.

There's so much more to tell - things we'd like you to know. So if gracious Florida living on a part or full time basis is on your mind, why don't you write to "Windward Palms," P. O. Bex 1535, Delray Beach, Florida. If you prefer to talk about it, call in New Jersey Diamond 3-3943.
