Pope Outlines 3-Fold Duty of Preachers

VATICAN CITY — Pope John XXIII has outlined three duties for preachers, saying that they are "to preach the word of God, to be good teachers, and to be a good example.

"Preachers have the duty to proclaim the word of God," the Pope said. "They have the duty to be good teachers, to guide the faithful in their spiritual journey. And they have the duty to be a good example, to live their faith in a way that inspires others.

The Pope said that preachers should also be attentive to the needs of the faithful, saying that they should be "attentive to the needs of the faithful, to the problems of the faithful, to the concerns of the faithful.

The Pope also urged preachers to be vigilant in their work, saying that they should be "vigilant in their work, to be alert to the dangers of the world, to be vigilant in their work to protect the Church and to serve the faithful."

The Pope concluded his message by saying that preachers should be "good shepherds, good teachers, and good examples, to guide the faithful in their spiritual journey, to preach the word of God, and to serve the faithful."

The Pope outlined his message in a letter addressed to preachers, which was published in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano.

Cardinal to Assist Formosa University

BOSTON—Cardinal Cushing has launched a $200,000 fund drive to help build a Catholic university on Formosa. He revealed that money will be needed to work on the university, but that Pope John has already pledged $800,000 toward the work. Cardinal Cushing said that he has pledged to seek the support of the U.S. within two years.

The drive will be conducted by the Cardinal, his coadjutor and his successors. The Catholic said that the work of the university will be in the hands of the Catholic University of Formosa, which will be founded upon similar lines to the Catholic University of America, of which he is a former president.

The new university will be known as the University of Catholic Culture. The original plan was for a university on Formosa. It was then decided that the university should be established in China and was accordingly renamed the University of Catholic Culture.

The university was taken over by the Vatican in 1947. Archbishop J. O. (Cardinal), the head of the university, was in Formosa when the university was established.

4 Truths Are Contained In Doctrine of the Trinity

By Frank J. Hahn

The doctrine of the Trinity is a fundamental teaching of the Catholic Church, and it is one that is often misunderstood. The doctrine of the Trinity teaches that there is one God in three persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. This doctrine is contained in the Nicene Creed, which is recited at Mass and other Catholic ceremonies.

Blanshard and His Cult of Democracy

By Magr. George G. Higgins

During the present day, a little-known writer named Arthur Blanshard has made a remarkable impact on the world of academe. His ideas, which are gaining in popularity in both the United States and England, are presented by Blanshard as a basis for the whole of his philosophy. This is the key to his success, for it is evident that he is determined to create a new generation of thinkers who will be able to think for themselves.

Blanshard's ideas are based on the concept of democracy. He believes that democracy is the best way to govern a country, and that it is essential for the success of any society. He also believes that democracy is the only way to ensure that the rights of all people are respected.

Blanshard's ideas have been widely discussed, and they have received a great deal of attention. His book, "The Cult of Democracy," has been a bestseller, and his ideas have been discussed in the pages of leading newspapers and magazines.

Blanshard's ideas have also been criticized, and some have argued that they are too idealistic. However, Blanshard's ideas have gained a great deal of support, and they are likely to continue to be discussed for many years to come.

Is State Obscenity Law Invalid?

By Joe Thomas

NEW YORK—A full-page advertisement for a smutty book and magazine shop, bearing the caption "Now you can buy anything you want!" ran yesterday's edition of the New York Times with the intent that it may have appeared in a book store. The advertisement was a full page and featured a picture of the book store's logo, which included the words "The New York Times" and "New York Times." The advertisement was for a book store that sold smutty books and magazines, and included pictures of the books and magazines available for sale.

AT THE 67th Annual Convention of the National Review Association in New York City, John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for President, was quoted as saying, "We need a new kind of thinking in this country. We need to look at the world with fresh eyes, to see what the problems are, and to find solutions that will benefit all of us."

However, the main focus of the convention was the discussion of the state of the country and the need for economic reform. "We need to focus on creating jobs and improving the lives of working people," said Kennedy. "We cannot afford to ignore the problems that face our country and the people who live here."

KAPLAN ON A BOOK: In an interview with the New York Times, author Kaplan, who is known for his political columns, said, "I think the current political climate is a result of the way the media has covered the news." Kaplan claimed that the media has created a "false sense of urgency" by focusing on issues that are not actually important.

However, Kaplan's book, "The Culture of Slavery," was banned from the New York Public Library. The author had been a vocal critic of the library's decision, but the ban was lifted after several months of controversy. "I'm glad that they finally lifted the ban," Kaplan said. "It's important that we have access to a wide range of ideas and perspectives, even if we don't agree with them."
You Found 604 Ways to Say I Love You

By June Doerr

The great writers are always trying to find a new way to say "I love you." There are thousands of ways of saying it. They are as varied as the hearts of those who utter them.

Our hearts beat for many reasons. Sometimes it is because of a person. Sometimes it is because of a place. Sometimes it is because of a thing.

I love you is a simple phrase. It can mean so much. It can mean nothing. It can be said in a thousand different ways.

I love you can be written in a letter. It can be spoken in a phone call. It can be sung in a song. It can be danced in a dance. It can be painted in a picture. It can be carved in a stone.

I love you can be shown in an act of kindness. It can be shown in a sacrifice. It can be shown in a gesture. It can be shown in a smile. It can be shown in a tear.

I love you is a universal language. It is spoken by all people. It is understood by all people. It is felt by all people.

I love you is a powerful force. It can move mountains. It can break chains. It can change the world.

I love you is a simple phrase. But it is a phrase that can carry so much meaning. It is a phrase that can touch so many hearts. It is a phrase that can make the world a better place.

The world is full of love. It is everywhere. It is in the air. It is in the water. It is in the food. It is in the clothes. It is in the cars. It is in the houses.

The world is full of love. It is a beautiful thing. It is a wonderful thing. It is a thing that we should all cherish.

I love you is a simple phrase. But it is a phrase that can carry so much meaning. It is a phrase that can touch so many hearts. It is a phrase that can make the world a better place.

Nothing Definite Yet Regarding Opening of 3rd Fatima Secret

The Fatima Portugal (NO)—When Fr. Joao Anzaldo of Evora, Portugal, who has been the official representative of the Catholic League for the Pastoral Care of the Armed Forces, released full-length notes concerning the third Fatima Secret in Rome, it was learned from Catholic League sources that the Vatican had not approved the release of the notes.

These notes, which begin with the appearance of Fatima’s mother on May 13, 1917, will be revealed as a result of an agreement between the Vatican and the Catholic League for the Pastoral Care of Armed Forces. The agreement, which was drawn up by the Vatican and the Catholic League, was ratified by the Pope in 1921, who then appointed the Catholic League as the official representative of the Pope in the matter of the Fatima Secret.

The Pope, who has been the ultimate authority in the matter of the Fatima Secret, has not yet indicated whether he will accept the notes or not. However, sources close to the Vatican have indicated that the Pope will not reject the notes, but will also not approve them, pending further investigations.

The release of the notes is expected to be made within the next few weeks, but the exact date has not been set.

The notes will contain the full story of the Fatima Secret, including the details of the apparitions, the messages, and the responses of the Papal officials. The release of the notes is expected to shed new light on the mystery of Fatima and the Virgin Mary’s message to the three shepherd children.

The release of the notes is also expected to have a significant impact on the Fatima pilgrimage industry, which has been growing rapidly in recent years. The pilgrimage industry is estimated to bring in millions of dollars to the Portuguese region of Fatima, where the apparitions took place.

The Fatima Secret has been the subject of controversy and speculation for many years, with some people believing that the messages contain important insights into the future of the world. Others believe that the messages contain important spiritual guidance for Catholics.

The release of the notes is expected to provide a new perspective on the Fatima Secret and its significance. The Vatican has been cautious in its approach to the release of the notes, but the release is expected to provide a new opportunity for the faithful to understand the message of Fatima.

Holy Name Meeting Urges Sponsorship Of Good Reading

NEWARK — "Ask yourself, 'is there anything I can do with everyone whom I come in contact, to eliminate this misery?""

This was the keynote of Bishop Curtis' remarks Feb. 29, as he addressed nearly 300 priests, laymen and laywomen at the dedication of the Archdiocesan Catholic High School. Bishop Curtis counselled and urged the principal speaker at a noon meeting of educators and leaders of the Archdiocesan Catholic High School, Newark.

The meeting was sponsored by the Holy Name Society of the Archdiocese of Newark to discuss the expansion of Catholic education in the Archdiocese, and the increasing need to provide a program already adopted by the Archdiocese in the 1975-76 school year. The program, called "The Quality of Education," is designed to help students and their families achieve a greater understanding of the Church's teachings.

Sunday Sales Appeal Heard

JERSEY CITY — Decision has been received by Bishop Cushing for the judgment of County Judge Paul J. Duffy in the appeal on a Sunday sales legislation court case. The decision, as reported by the New Jersey Supreme Court, was adopted Nov. 26, 1975, and the Appellate Division is likely to be hearing the case in the near future.

The Bishop, speaking at the appeal on Sunday sales, said that the decision was expected to be a test of the issue. "It is a question of the future of the Church in the state, and the future of the Church in the United States." The decision is expected to be announced by the Appellate Division on Tuesday, and it is expected that the decision will be announced on the same day.
