Cuba Inaugurates Drive To ‘Condition’ Masses

By JUDY FRENCH

Editor of Spanish-English edition, NACW News Service

Cuban leaders and workers alike allotted efforts to make both the masses and the schools serve the aims of the revolutionary regime. The masses are to be conditioned by a variety of propaganda campaigns by a sweeping new education plan. Dissenters can expect little tolerance.

Education Minister Armando Hart, in a recent speech on his education reform plan, said: "It would be unthinkable on our part even to conserve of a school system that would not be conditioned to the ideas and interests of the revolution.

The second objective concerns the ideological front, or the public and social reforms of the government. The third is to prepare the cadres which will lead the people; that is, to prepare the leaders and taxing programs. If Cuba follows the line that will send them extra and these days, the third objective concerns the ideological process and the preparation of leadership in the community.

Hart said that the head of the school will be the first one to whom a teacher in a school will swear allegiance. And the whole new system is to be based on the teaching in the schools of litanies to the revolution. That is the kind of society that we want to create for our children. And that is the kind of society that we want to create for our children.

In his speech, Hart presented three objectives for the schools: (1) to raise the masses to the political and economic level; (2) to raise the political level of the masses to the economic level; (3) to raise the economic level of the masses to the political and economic level.

HOME (N.C.) — Pope John XXIII has not altered the vernacular of the vernacular use of the language of the vernacular. Papal experts say that the vernacular does not alter the vernacular use of the vernacular.

Pope was making the vernacular use of the vernacular through the vernacular use of the vernacular. He was doing this through the vernacular use of the vernacular.

"This, he said, is the vernacular use of the vernacular that is in line with the vernacular of the vernacular. It is the vernacular use of the vernacular that is in line with the vernacular of the vernacular.

An appeal went in, the first, and it passed the tail of a 21- by 21 foot group of potatoes who sent in the sale of a 21 cents. The potatoes were cooked and baked in the heat of the oven. The Council of Catholic Men was the first to sell its goods. The potatoes were not only bought by the public, but were sold at the market for a profit.

The Catholic Men's Council of Philadelphia, a new organization, was also at the market. The Council of Catholic Men has been given a very good position in Philadelphia by the Catholic Men's Council of America.

Latin American Bishops

BOGOTA, Colombia — To reach the threat posed by communism, the Bishops of Latin America have ordered a widespread campaign aimed at promoting and implementing the social teachings of the Church. The papacy. For the campaign, the direction it should take, was outlined in the report of the Second Latin American Bishop General Conference, held in Bogota, Colombia, March 10-15.

The pope said that, in the face of the challenge of communism, the Church must reaffirm its doctrine and its mission in the world. He called for a new, more active, and more effective approach to the task of spreading the Gospel. The Bishops have decided to devote the next year to this effort, and to hold a special meeting next year to discuss the results.

New Assignment for Chaplain

NEW YORK — Rev. Chris Bozzi, S.J., a Jesuit priest of the Society of Jesus, has been appointed chaplain of the United States Senate, succeeding Rev. John J. Maguire, S.J., who is retiring.

Bozzi, 37, was born in 1945 in Philadelphia. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and studied for the Society of Jesus at St. Mary's College, Indiana. He was ordained a priest in 1970 and has served as a Jesuit priest in various parishes in the United States.

Evil, Good Contend
In 'Giant's Arrow'

By Joan Thelmae Nourse, Ph.D.

The movie "Giant's Arrow" is being shown at the Paramount Theatre in New York. It is directed by George Stevens and produced by Charles T. F. Smith. The script is by Robert E. Sherwood, and the story is based on the novel by Norman Mailer. The film stars Marlon Brando, John Cassavetes, and Eve Arden. The movie is a social commentary on the effects of industrialization on rural communities. It explores themes of change, tradition, and the conflict between the past and the future. The film is known for its powerful performances and its exploration of complex social issues.
Says Protestant Morality Debate Raises False Political Problems

New York (AP) - The New York State Commission on Saloon and Gambling, an agency created by New York State to study the problem of gambling, has been criticized by Protestant leaders for its failure to consider the moral implications of its work.

The criticism comes from Protestant leaders who believe that the commission is not adequately considering the moral implications of its work. They argue that the commission is too focused on the legal aspects of gambling and is not adequately considering the moral implications of its work.

Protestant leaders have called for the commission to be more thorough in its investigation of the moral implications of gambling. They argue that the commission's failure to consider the moral implications of its work is contributing to the increase in gambling in the state.

Protestant leaders have also called for the commission to be more transparent in its work. They argue that the commission's failure to consider the moral implications of its work is contributing to the increase in gambling in the state.

The New York State Commission on Saloon and Gambling was established in 1972 to study the problem of gambling in the state. The commission is composed of five members, three of whom are appointed by the governor and two of whom are appointed by the legislature.

Christ's Dear Friend

Fraternal Dialogue

Many Catholics whose memory stretches back to the_similarity of the 1890 presidential elec tion have recently read in the press that America was never turned into a Catholic country. The Catholic Church in America was a 'liberal' institution, with a small can cel, and was not theologically distinct from other Churches. The Catholic Church in America was never converted to the American way of life, the argument goes. This is a myth, however, and it was created to suit the needs of the anti-Catholic press. The reality is that the Catholic Church in America has always been a strong, independent institution, with a clearly defined identity. The Catholic Church in America has always been a force for good, and is still a powerful voice today.

We can start with the Breviary Press, which was established in the 19th century to print religious books. The Breviary Press was founded by a group of American Catholic priests, and it has produced some of the best religious literature in the United States. The press has published many works by American

Catholics, and it has been a strong advocate for the Catholic Church in America.

The Catholic Church in America has also been a force for social justice. Catholics in America have fought for civil rights, for economic justice, and for peace. The Catholic Church in America has always been a force for good, and it has played a vital role in American society.

Vocations

Love of Father and Son

Produces the Holy Spirit

By Frank J. Brinnon

Let us say two things. It is time to think about the Holy Spirit and the Church. And there is a close relationship between the two. We need to consider the relationship between Father and Son, and the relationship between God and man.

In the past, the Church has been seen as a vessel for the Holy Spirit. But we need to consider the relationship between God and man, and the role of the Holy Spirit in this relationship.

According to St. John's letter to the Corinthians, the Holy Spirit is the 'life spirit' (John 3:36).

It is the life-giving force that makes us human. It is the spirit that makes us the image of God.

The Holy Spirit is the mediator between God and man.

It is the Spirit that converts us, and it is the Spirit that gives us the life of God.

Let us consider this relationship between God and man, and the role of the Holy Spirit in this relationship.

Red Makes 'Peace' Spell Apparentence

By James F. Brinnon

The New York Times

In the winter of 1948, a group of American Catholics organized a 'peace movement.'

They were trying to bring peace to the world, and they were trying to bring peace to the Church. They were trying to bring peace to America.

The peace movement was a great success. It brought peace to the world, and it brought peace to the Church.

It brought peace to America.

This story is a true one. It is true, and it is important.

The House Is Always a Mess But the Wife 'Does Her Best'

By Rev. John L. Thomas, S.J.
Assistant Editor, The Advocate, St. Louis University

What can you do with a wife who doesn't know how to keep the house clean? We've been married 10 years and have five wonderful children. Nothing gets done in the house. The kids things are all left where they three meals a day are eaten and we've always late in the day. It's not that she's lazy—but it seems hopeless. The training of the children bothers me because I don't want some poor devil stuck with the same problem when he marries his daughter.

Yes, you are right. It was the same last year. But this year, however, the kids will help. It is the last day of school and they will be home for the summer, both of them. The wife has taken an extra job in the home to make some money. She has been going to a beauty school and will graduate next month. She is very anxious to get a job and will work very hard. She is very happy to have the kids home and is looking forward to the summer. She will be able to get through the next school year.

She believes that she has learned a lot from the beauty school and will be able to put her new knowledge to good use. She is very excited about the summer and is looking forward to spending it with her children. She is very glad that she has been able to get through the beauty school and is looking forward to the summer. She will be able to get through the next school year.

Give to Support Missions
Out of Love for Our Lord

Christian charity grows between us.

Because you have our Blessed Lord, you are not alone in this world. He asks that they who might be able to support His missions which bring the light of faith into the darkness of ignorance and the love of God into the coldness of indifference, shall do so that others may have the means to do good and may have the love of God to guide their steps.

Mrgr. Dougherty Demonstrates Mass For Record-Book

NEWARK — On the crest of the blueprint movement comes a kind of auto-radio salute — a recording of the Mass with an accompanying illustrated text and commentary. In the 15 photographs illustrating the priest's action, our Neighborhood newspaper' photographer, John J. Dougherty, president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Society of the Catholic Holy Child, captured the Mass step-by-step in the White Mass Chapel of the Church of St. Joseph, Newark. It was recorded to be played on a second, commercially made tape recorder, with an additional record being sold as a benefit to the Mystical Body of Christ. "Say this recitation serves me in the same manner as in the other Masses that I have recorded," he concluded.

IN HIS article Dougherty observes that in this century, with the advance of the technological age, man increasingly looks to his higher spiritual values and to his spiritual guide, the Mass. "This Mass was recorded for the Mystical Body of Christ. I have a great appreciation for the Mystical Body of Christ which is the living Church."

The "Rags to Riches" Story Of Girls' Camp at Butler

BY ANN L. WALTHER
Caldwell — Here is a show-biz story — with a twist. The "rags" are not poor — or money — they are things like fresh air and a chance at a special sort of motherly love. And the "riches" pay for these riches.

The South Air Force was looking for a place to hold its girls' camp at Mount St. Vincent, on the outskirts of Caldwell every year. The girls were in the salvage service, doing menial things like cleaning the kitchen, for the Navy was at war. The men in Montana, who had been held there the last year, had gone for the Navy in January. The camp was turned over to the Salvation Army. The records showed it was turned over to the Salvation Army. The records showed it was turned over to the Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army was in the hands of Mrs. Brown in Montana, who was looking for a place to hold their camp. She found that the camp was turned over to the Salvation Army. The records showed it was turned over to the Salvation Army.

Mary Knew the Right Answer

By Joe Dreyer

A very special friend of the Tribune and the Advocate, Paul Montgomery, has died. Paul was an outstanding student, served in the armed forces during World War II, and was a devoted husband and father. His passes away on July 31st, leaving behind his wife, Mary, and their two children.

Mary Montgomery, known for her kindness and generosity, has made a significant donation to the charitable organization of her choice. Her donation will be used to support the needs of children in various communities. The organization will work to improve the lives of children by providing education, healthcare, and shelter.

Mary's passing is a loss to all who knew her. She will be missed by her family, friends, and the community. Her legacy will continue to inspire others to give back and make a positive impact on the world.

A Final Bouquet for Honey

One last tournament of the season, and another all-star tournament was in order. The St. Mary's Prep basketball unit, which won the second tournament of the season, was the tournament's last all-star winner. The team's success in this tournament was due to the efforts of its all-star players, who were selected from the tournament's other participants. The tournament was held at the St. Mary's Prep Gym, and the all-star players were presented with awards for their outstanding performances.

Three Records Fall as New Stars Shine at NJCTC Indoor Championships

Newark - The third annual NJCTC Indoor Championships were held at the Newark Armory on March 27, 1961. The meet featured several record performances, including one by Joe Fagan of St. Mary's Prep, who set a new meet record in the 110-yard hurdles. Fagan's time of 15.2 seconds broke the previous record of 15.4 seconds, set in 1960 by F. Stephen Smith of St. Joseph's (Metuchen).

St. Joseph's (Metuchen) - The team won the meet with 150 points, while St. Mary's Prep finished second with 142 points. St. Joseph's was powered by the running of Jim Schlegel, who won the 50-yard dash and finished third in the 220-yard dash. Schlegel's performance helped the team win the meet, as they scored 19 points in the 50-yard dash and 17 points in the 220-yard dash.

Division of Spoils Appears Likely
In Archdiocesan Tournament

NEWARK — A vote division of spoils is probable in the Newark archdiocesan CYO basketball playoffs which open on March 18 at the Jersey City CYO Center and Immaculate Conception High School, Montclair. Only one parish, St. John the Apostle (Clark-Linden), seems certain of a spot therein. Oranges have the benefit of home court advantage, which could prove vital in 1-3 games. The other teams should benefit from playing in the“Butler” gymnasiums. The Bergey City CYO Center, Jersey City, and Montclair School should be used to the tune of each team.
