Obscenity Inquiry In Union

ELIZABETH — A year after an Essex County Grand Jury presentation sparked a successful police drive against the sale of obscene literature there, the Union County Grand Jury has opened a similar investigation.

Eight witnesses were heard at the initial hearings on June 16 and 20. Prosecutor H. Douglas Stine, who initiated the investigation, said additional hearings are anticipated and expressed the opinion that the jury might study the problem right up to September when its term ends.

TESTIFYING on the 16th were State Sen. Robert C. Crane, Rev. Thomas Doherty of St. John the Apostle, Linden, and Dr. Matthew McCue of Elizabeth.

Senator Crane, author of 1957 legislation tightening laws against the sale of obscenity, is a member of the recently authorized Senate Assembly commission which will study the problem of obscenity. Father Doherty is moderator of the parish decency committee which has functioned successfully in Linden for eight years. Dr. McCue is chairman of the Citizens Cooperative for Decent Literature, a county-wide, non-sectarian organization.

Among those heard on the 20th were representatives of the newsdealers and the wholesale distributors, and the head of the Menlo Park diagnostic center.

Various witnesses were asked to help define obscenity, discuss the effectiveness and operation of citizens' campaigns, submit samples of material they considered to be obscene, discuss possible harmful effects such material might have on disturbed people, outline the problems facing newsdealers and distributors and suggest areas in which police officials could possibly cooperate.

China University Progress Told

NEW YORK — Sites in five Formosan cities have been selected for colleges of the new Catholic University of China, it was revealed here by Archbishop Paul Yu Pin, exiled Archbishop of Nanking, who will head the university.

The school will be located on Formosa and is intended to continue the work of the Catholic Fuijen University of Peking, which was seized by the communists.

Archbishop Yu Pin said the sites have been donated by local governments and individuals. He also noted that the school has been given official recognition by Nationalist China and that construction will begin in January, a year ahead of schedule. The university's first college will open in October, 1961, as will its proposed graduate school for Chinese studies.

Bishop Establishes 3 New Parishes, Moves 15 Priests

PATERSON — Bishop McNulty this week announced the erection of three new parishes in the Diocese of Paterson, and the appointment of five pastors, three for the new parishes which up to now have had mission status.

He also appointed one mission administrator, transferred three assistant pastors and gave six newly ordained priests their first assignments. All appointments are effective July 1.

The new parishes are St. Christopher's, Parsippany, Rev.

Msgr. Scully

Lawrence E. McGinley, pastor; St. Pius X, Montville Township, Rev. Joseph J. Meyer, pastor, and Immaculate Heart of Mary, Wayne, Msgr. Edward J. Scully, pastor.

The other two pastors are Rev. James E. Doherty, Holy Cross, Wayne; and Rev. Gilbert Crawford, O.S.B., Notre Dame of Mt. Carmel, Cedar Knolls.

Rev. James J. Rugel, assistant at St. Brendan's, Clifton, has been appointed administrator of the Mission of Our Lady of the Valley, Preakness.

THE TRANSFERRED assistant pastors are Rev. John De Jong from St. Anthony's, Hawthorne, to Holy Trinity, Passaic; Rev. Eugene Romano from Blessed Sacrament to St. Andrew the Apostle, Clifton; and Rev. Ralph S. Attanasio from St. Andrew the Apostle, Paterson, to Blessed Sacrament, Paterson.

The first assignments of the newly ordained priests are listed

MSGR. SCULLY, a native of Newark, was ordained on Nov. 18, 1930, in St. Patrick's Pro-Cathedral, Newark. He served as assistant at St. Anne's, Jersey City; St. Bernard's, Plainfield; St. Michael's, Newark; and St. (Continued on Page 4)

Holy Father Joins Romans In Adoring Holy Eucharist

ROME — Participation in Rome's annual procession and act of adoration to the Holy Eucharist on the Feast of Corpus Christi highlighted Pope John's activities this week.

Some 75,000 took part in the twilight rites which came to a climax when the Holy Father lifted a silver monstrance in Benediction under the Arch of Constantine to bless the thousands kneeling in the square in front of the Colosseum.

GOLDEN LIGHTS illuminated the rugged arches of the Colosseum and the twilight was further brightened by hundreds of candles carried by the clergy.

As it darkened, a Roman Monsignor knelt by the Pope's side, holding a candle so the Pontiff could see the text of a discourse he was giving on the Eucharist. Later some one supplied a flashlight.

Gesturing toward the huge marble arch above him in the heart of classic Rome, Pope John paid tribute to the edict of Constantine which permitted religious freedom to Christians in the fourth century.

After praying for success of the Second Vatican Council, the Pontiff discussed the Eucharist, noting that it constantly feeds the spiritual life of individuals and of the Church. It is a "most secure support," he said, "because Jesus, the Divine Host, is the food of eternal life and the pledge of future glory, opening for earthly life a vision of heaven."

THIS WEEK the Holy Father also spoke on medical aid in rural areas, urged a group of new-lyrics to strengthen their spiritual life through devotion to the Blessed Sacrament, granted an official audience to Argentine President Arturo Frondizi and sent a congratulatory message to the association of German Catholic women teachers.

Discussing medicine, Pope John said physicians are second only to priests in serving mankind. He added that when they perform their "lofty mission . . . for the benefit of rural groups, it acquires a special merit since it concerns people who are engaged in particularly hard work."

When death does draw near, the Pope said, it is "comforting" to know that the attending physician "is conscious of the immortal destiny of man and is, therefore, a helper in everything that can really aid the transition from temporal life to life without end."

President Frondizi was received with all the pomp and ceremony reserved for heads of states. The Pontiff held a private 15-minute conversation with the Argentine leader and then greeted the entire party in Spanish, praising Argentina's "loyalty to its Catholic traditions."

Early this week it was announced that Pope John would broadcast a message to Catholics of the Belgian Congo on June 30, the day the country becomes independent.

Newark Changes Involve 74 Priests

NEWARK — Seventy-four priests of the Archdiocese of Newark received new assignments in appointments announced this week by Archbishop Boland. Nine pastors were assigned, three priests transferred to archdiocesan agencies, 35 assistant priests transferred and 27 newly ordained priests received their first assignments.

PASTORS WITH new assignments are: Rev. W. Gordon Byrne, pastor of Immaculate Conception, Darlington, appointed to the newly established parish of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Oakland; Rev. Albert J. Ask October Fatima Rites

FATIMA (NC) — All dioceses in the world have been invited to hold special services Oct. 12 and 13, paralleling rites here marking the 43rd anniversary of the last Fatima apparition.

The invitation was contained in letters sent to Ordinaries throughout the world by Bishop Joao Pereira Venancio of Leiria, in whose diocese Fatima is located.

THE BISHOP said that he hopes to encourage a world-wide movement of prayer and penance in fulfillment of the wishes expressed by the Blessed Virgin during the apparitions at Fatima. The conversion of Russia would be the special intention of such a movement, he said.

The Blessed Virgin first appeared to three Portuguese peasant children here on May 13, 1917. She instructed them to return to the place of the apparitions on the 13th of each month, until October, when she made her last appearance to them.

During the series of apparitions the Blessed Virgin urged Catholics to do penance and pray for the conversion of Russia.

Four Americans on Key Council Planning Unit

VATICAN CITY — Three American Cardinals — Cardinal Spellman of New York, Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles and Cardinal Muench, former Papal Nuncio to Germany, who is now a member of the Roman Curia — are among 73 Church leaders from throughout the world named to the central coordinating commission charged with planning the Second Vatican Council.

In all, 33 Cardinals were named to serve on the commission by Pope John XXIII. Selected to head the commission was Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

A FOURTH American was among the 23 Archbishops selected for the commission. He is Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinatti, chairman of the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Prelates holding similar posts in other countries were also chosen for the commission.

Every continent and almost every nation are represented in the selections. There are representatives of every race and color also, as well as three appointees from behind the Iron Curtain, three heads of religious orders and four Oriental Rite Patriarchs.

Canada will have three representatives on the commission, including Cardinal Leger of Montreal and Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto.

Fourteen Latin American prelates, six of them Cardinals, were also named as members, among them the ranking prelates from Cuba, Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, the Dominican Republic and Mexico. In all but Mexico there have been Church-state conflicts of varying intensity in recent years.

THE THREE commission members from behind the Iron Curtain are Cardinal Wyszyński of Poland, Archbishop Josip Ujčić of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and Archbishop Jozsef Groesz of Kalocsa, Hungary.

Representing religious orders will be Abbot Benno Gut, O.S.B., Abbot Primate of the Benedictine Confederation; Most Rev. Augustine Sepinski, O.F.M., Superior General of the Friars Minor, and Very Rev. John Baptist Janssens, S. J., Jesuit Superior General.

Oriental Rite Patriarchs named to the commission are Coptic

Archbishop O'Connor Communications Post Given to American

VATICAN CITY — Archbishop Martin J. O'Connor, rector of the North American College at Rome, has been named president of the secretariat to handle questions on communications media for the Second Vatican Council.

Archbishop O'Connor thus becomes the only prelate not a Cardinal to head one of the agencies created by Pope John to prepare for the ecumenical council.

THE ARCHBISHOP, who recently returned from the U. S. after receiving an honorary degree from Notre Dame, is currently president of the Pontifical Commission for Motion Pictures, Radio and Television. He was named to that post in 1954 by Pope Pius XII. Pope John recently gave the commission permanent status as an office of the Holy See.

In addition to naming Archbishop O'Connor to head the communications secretariat, Pope John named Cardinal di Jorio to direct an administrative secretariat which will expedite organizational plans. This secretariat is in addition to the 12 commissions already announced, appointments for which have been made.

It was also announced that Rev. Sebastian Tromp, S. J., will serve as secretary of the preparatory commission concerned with theology. Father Tromp, a native of the Netherlands, is on the theology faculty at the Pontifical Gregorian University.

New Jesuit Province Formed; Fr. Shanahan to Be Provincial

NEW YORK — The retiring president of St. Peter's College has been named Provincial of a newly designated Jesuit Province.

Very Rev. James J. Shanahan, S. J., for 10 years president of the Jersey City college, has been appointed Provincial of the new Buffalo Province. His appointment is effective immediately.

Establishment of the new Province and Father Shanahan's appointment as Provincial were announced this week by Very Rev. John B. Janssens, S. J., Superior General of the Society of Jesus.

Rev. Edward F. Clark, S. J., has been named president of St. Peter's College (see also page 3). Buffalo Province results from a division of the New York Province into two provinces. Very Rev. Thomas E. Henneberry, S. J., continues as Provincial of the New York Province.

THE NEW BUFFALO Province covers the territory of upper and western New York and includes the Albany, Buffalo, Ogdensburg, Rochester and Syracuse Dioceses. In that area Jesuits conduct two colleges: Canisius in Buffalo and LeMoine in Syracuse. There is also a Jesuit high school in Buffalo and one in Rochester.

In Buffalo the Jesuits conduct St. Michael's and St. Ann's parishes. They direct retreat houses for laymen in Syracuse and Albany. At Auriesville is Sacred Heart Retreat House, conducted by the Jesuits exclusively for priests.

Also at Auriesville is the Shrine of the North American Martyrs, site of the martyrdom of St. Isaac Jogues, St. Rene Goupil and St. John de la Lande in the 17th century. On the grounds of the shrine is located Our Lady of Martyrs Tertiarity where young Jesuit priests receive a final year of spiritual training before beginning their active priestly ministry.

Near the Canadian border at Plattsburgh, N. Y., is Bellarmine College, a novitiate and house of studies and house of studies at Poughkeepsie, and Loyola Seminary at Shrub Oak. New York Province Jesuits are also chaplains at six hospitals within the New York Archdiocese and Brooklyn Diocese.

The New York Province will continue to supply personnel and material help to the Philippines, a practice which began more than a quarter of a century ago.

The division into two Provinces takes place immediately.

FATHER SHANAHAN, provincial of the new Buffalo Province, was born Aug. 27, 1907, at Souyet, N.Y., son of Dr. William T. Shanahan, A. graduate of Christian Brothers Academy, Syracuse, he attended Fordham University before his entrance into the Society of Jesus at St. Andrew-on-Hudson, Poughkeepsie, on Aug. 14, 1928.

After completing philosophical studies at Woodstock College, Father Shanahan was assigned to St. Peter's College from 1933 until 1936. Returning to Woodstock College for theology, he was ordained on June 21, 1939. After a further year of study at Woodstock, he was assigned to the Jesuit Tertiarity at Auriesville, N. Y., for a final year of spiritual preparation for his priestly ministry.

In 1941 Father Shanahan was assigned for three years to Canisius College, Buffalo. From 1944 until 1946 he served as chaplain in the Armed Forces. Thereafter he returned to Canisius College until his appointment in 1949 as president of St. Peter's College.

He is past president of the New Jersey Association of Colleges and Universities as well as of the New Jersey College Fund Association. He was also a member of the committee on liberal education of the Association of American Colleges and past chairman of the Eastern Regional Unit of the National Catholic Educational Association.

In June, 1956, Seton Hall University conferred on him an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. In 1958 he was awarded the Stella della Solidarieta Italiana de Prima Classe of the Republic of Italy. He is a member of the New Jersey State Scholarship Commission. In 1960 the Outstanding Civilian Service Medal was conferred on him by the Department of the Army for his leadership in ROTC affairs at St. Peter's College.

DURING HIS term as president of St. Peter's, Father Shanahan was instrumental in inaugurating the ROTC (1951); pre-medical and pre-dental advisory committee (1952); graduate scholarship committee (1952); pre-engineering program (1955); adult educa-

To Promulgate Rome Statutes

VATICAN CITY — Rome's new diocesan statutes will become law when they are promulgated by Pope John XXIII on June 29, the Feast of St. Peter and Paul.

The statutes were presented for review to the pastors of Rome at the Rome diocesan synod, Jan. 24-31. It is possible that they have been revised by the Holy Father since then.

Pope John announced the date for promulgation during a discourse in St. Peter's Basilica. He did not reveal when the new code would go into effect.

Press Group To Elect Officers

NEWARK — The newly organized New Jersey Catholic Institute of the Press will elect its first officers at a meeting 8 p.m. June 27 at the Robert Treat Hotel. The Institute is an organization of Catholics in the mass communications field.

Membership applications are still being accepted for the charter group, and will be accepted at the Monday night meeting.

Nominated to be the first president of the Institute is Walter E. Corris of the Elizabeth Daily Journal. He was chairman of the steering committee which laid the ground-work for the organization.

ALSO NOMINATED are Neil Dougherty of Reach-McClinton Advertising; Peter A. Confalone of The Advocate and William C. Reilly of Sign magazine, vice presidents; Gertrude E. Moran of Know magazine, treasurer, and Robert Guillen, Elizabeth Daily Journal, secretary.

Directors nominated are Joseph Carragher, Newark Star Ledger, for newspapers; Donald P. Smith, Rigas-Fitz Maurice Advertising, for advertising and public relations; and Eugene M. O'Mara, Newark Evening News; Albert Carragher, Newark Ledger; Robert Hayes, Newark News; Arthur Maraldi Jr., of Horan Engraving Co., and James Fitzgerald, Hudson Dispatch, for membership at large.

Xavier Awards Insignis Medal To Archbishop

NEW YORK — An alumnus of Xavier High School, Archbishop Boland was awarded the Insignis Medal for outstanding achievement at the 118th commencement of his high school alma mater. Other duties kept the Archbishop from being present and the award was made in absentia.

Archbishop Boland is one of the first four chosen by the alumni to receive this new honor, awarded to distinguished graduates.

The award is given in three categories, clergy, military, and professional, arts and business. The Archbishop is one of four Xavier graduates who are members of the hierarchy. The alumni number 400 in religious life.

Father Russo Named Pastor of St. Philip Neri

NEWARK — Rev. Alaric Russo, S.A.C., has been appointed pastor of St. Philip Neri Church here by Archbishop Boland, it was announced this week by Very Rev. G.J. Carcich, S.A.C., Provincial of the Immaculate Conception Province of the Pallottine Fathers.

Father Russo succeeds Rev. Amalio Greco, S.A.C., former Air Force chaplain, who has been appointed pastor of All Saints Church, Brooklyn. He has been pastor at St. Philip's since last September.

Father Russo was ordained on July 8, 1934, in Rome where he studied for the priesthood. In the past he has held offices in the Province, such as Vicar Provincial, rector and master of novices of the Pallottine Fathers' novitiate and seminary. Since last September he has served as assistant pastor in Baltimore.

Franciscans Regain Jerusalem Monastery

JERUSALEM (RNS) — The Franciscan monastery on Mount Zion in the New City of Jerusalem has been restored officially to the Franciscans by the Israeli government. It had been badly damaged and had to be evacuated by the Franciscans in 1948 during the Arab-Israeli War.

Built about 25 years ago, the monastery is located near the Cenacle, or Chamber of the Last Supper, which also is the traditional site where the Holy Ghost descended upon the Apostles.

OFF TO SCHOOL: Boarding plane at Newark Airport Saturday for Wisconsin where they will study special education techniques at St. Coletta's School are Sisters Anne Rosalie and Mary Immaculate of the Sisters of Charity, and Filippini Sisters Lillian Ernest, Geraldine Canale, Victoria LiPuma and Cecilia Rotondo. Sisters will teach classes for mentally retarded this September.

Retarded Children to Have Parochial School Education

NEWARK — Mentally retarded children of the Archdiocese of Newark will have the opportunity of a parochial school education beginning next September under an expansion of the special education programs.

Archbishop Boland this week announced that six special education day classes will be inaugurated in Newark and Jersey City under direction of the special education department of the Mt. Carmel Guild. The Archbishop said that additional day classes will be started during the next few years, and that plans are being made for a residential training school with diagnostic and research facilities.

Six Sisters left Saturday for St. Coletta's School, Jefferson, Wis., where they will take six weeks of laboratory courses for full certification in classroom management of educable retarded children. These Sisters, and others to be assigned to the program later, will conduct the special classes.

REGISTRATION for the classes will begin July 1 at the Catholic Guidance Center, 47 Central Ave. During the initial phase of the program, registration will be limited to boys and girls between 12 and 15 who are classed as "educably retarded."

The overall special education plan, to be put into effect during a three-year period, will provide a program for retarded children from pre-school age through 16 years old. The plan envisions each community of teaching Sisters appointing representatives to participate.

The Archbishop termed the plan "the fulfillment of the Christian obligation to teach all children who are educable." He commended Msgr. Joseph A. Doelling, director of the Mt. Carmel Guild, for the planning of the new services, and Mother Johanna Marie, superior general of the Sisters of Charity of St. Elizabeth, and Mother Carolina Jonata, M.P.F., provincial superior of the Religious Teachers Filippini, for releasing the six Sisters for the work.

THE GROUP studying at St. Coletta's includes Filippini Sisters Geraldine Canale, Lillian Ernest, Victoria LiPuma and Cecilia Rotondo, and Sisters Ann Rosalie and Mary Immaculate, both Sisters of Charity. The latter two hold masters' degrees in special education.

The Sisters have scholarships from the National Catholic Education Association and the Order of the Alhambra of New Jersey. The Guild is paying all their other expenses.

St. Coletta's, operated by Franciscan Sisters, was founded 50 years ago as the first Catholic institution to give instruction and resident care to the retarded.

Archbishop Boland expressed gratitude to others who helped formulate the new program: Rev. Francis R. LoBianco, assistant supervisor of schools for special education; Dr. Genevieve Hunter of Fordham University; Rev. Elmer Behrmann, specialist in special education of the Newark Public schools, and her staff; Genevieve SanFilippo, Angelo Bruno and Carl Lozito, who have worked with the special education department of the Archdiocese.

Protest Clifton Library Action On 'Open Shelves'

CLIFTON — For at least 13 years, the Clifton Public Library has, as a matter of policy, considered various books unfit for reading by growing-ups.

The books were stocked, catalogued and shelved but were available only to adults. As of May 19 that policy was discontinued.

Now, unless the policy was changed after The Advocate went to press, any 13-year old boy or girl who possesses a general library card can get anything he or she wants from the library's open shelves. No questions asked.

The new policy was adopted by the Board of Library Trustees May 19. The decision to place all library books on the open shelves squeaked by with five favoring it and four opposed.

The five who voted in favor of releasing the books based their action on the American Library Association's so-called "Bill of Rights."

THE MEMBERS voting to open the shelves to all comers regardless of age or maturity were: George Kulik, president of the board; Mrs. Paul Dittreich, Wilbur Sommer, John Derco and Mrs. Martin Sukenick. It was the latter who introduced the "open shelves" resolution at the May 19 meeting. Kulik cast the tie-breaking vote.

Opposed to a policy that would make all books available to teenagers were Ward Dunnican, Marie Muth, Mrs. Herbert Seijas and Mrs. John E. O'Brien.

The action by the majority members has aroused considerable ire among Clifton citizens. The secular press has been covering the situation closely but, according to a board member and other citizens, the coverage, particularly as to headlines, has been slanted in favor of the "wide-open" library. The "letters to the editor" columns have been filled with the controversy but most letters have defended the stand taken by the minority on the library board.

The library board is actually subordinate to the City Council, and the four minority members brought their case to that body.

On June 7, the City Council voted 4-2 to request the Library Board to rescind its action of May 19. Voting to send the letter were William Brogan, Emil Gacy, August LaCorte and Frank Yingling. Opposing it were Arthur Sullivan and Sam Monchak.

Mayor Stanley Zwiwer excused himself from the vote.

With this action by the City Council, the matter of the "open shelves" policy was taken up again June 16 at a library board meeting.

Mrs. John E. O'Brien introduced a resolution calling upon the board to rescind the action of May 19, which had authorized all books of whatever nature to be placed on the open shelves. Her resolution pointed out the feelings of the City Council and called for adherence by the board to the City Council's wishes.

Books of certain categories, her resolution stated, "should be returned at once to the shelves of this library under the same restrictions, conditions and status as they enjoyed for the past 13 years prior to said action of this board."

Ohio to Assist Spanish Speaking

COLUMBUS (NC) — A state organization has been formed here to assist Ohio's Spanish-speaking persons, especially the estimated 15,000 migrants here during harvest time.

The Ohio Catholic Council for the Spanish-Speaking is a new arm of the Ohio Catholic Welfare Conference, coordinating agency maintained by the seven Bishops of the state.

Rev. Francis X. Schweitzer of Ada, chairman of the council, described it as the first branch of the newly organized National Catholic Council for the Spanish-Speaking, which has Chicago headquarters.

Msgr. Smith, Founder-Editor Of Register Chain, Dies in Denver

DENVER — Msgr. Matthew J. W. Smith, crusading editor-in-chief of the Register system of Catholic newspapers which he founded, died June 15 after an operation for a ruptured ulcer.

Solemn Requiem Mass for the 69-year-old journalist was offered in Immaculate Conception Cathedral here June 20 after his body had lain in state in St. Francis de Sales Church where his brother, Msgr. Gregory Smith, is pastor.

BORN JUNE 9, 1891, in Altoona, Pa., Msgr. Smith was ordained here June 10, 1923, 10 years after being named editor of the Denver Catholic Register, then privately owned. At the time, he and a business manager were the staff and the paper had a circulation of 2,800.

Today, the Register has a staff of 150 with the 33 papers in the chain having a combined circulation of 800,000. It was his initial success with the Register that led Msgr. Smith to petition his Bishop for permission to expand operations. Msgr. Smith—he was named a

Msgr. Smith

MSGR. SMITH was not one to shun controversy. His hassle with the Ku Klux Klan in the 1920s led to threats against his life and a bodyguard followed him wherever he went.

The Klan sought to embarrass him by planting a woman spy in a residential home for women where he lived and served as chaplain. He came home one night and found the woman in his room going through his papers. He calmed the frightened woman, had long talks with her and eventually baptized her in the Catholic Faith.

Among the contributions Msgr. Smith made to Catholic journalism was the founding of the Register College of Journalism, which has a charter from Colorado to confer degrees.

Farm Policies Criticized

CHICAGO — Government farm policies were sharply criticized here as favoring large farms over family farms.

A statement adopted by the executive committee of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference asked that "unlimited subsidies" be abandoned along with the importation of Mexican nationals for farm work.

THE COMMITTEE said subsidies are justified only when given "in proportion to the needs of the recipient and with a view to the effect... upon the common good." The common good is not served, the committee implied, when individual farmers are given "tens or even hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money."

Such subsidies, the committee also charged, "often enable wealthy farmers to increase their acreage at the expense of relatively poor farmers."

The committee also saw the large farmer being subsidized through the importation of the Mexican nationals. By supplying an underpaid work force to large farmers, the committee said, the government creates unfair competition for family farmers and helps depress wage rates for American farm workers.

Carmelite 3rd Order Meets in Teaneck

TEANECK — The Third Order of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel at St. Anastasia's here held its monthly services on June 13 and were addressed by Rev. Andre Hertel, O.Carm., director.

Gus Grieder, prior, was awarded the Marian Citation for distinguished service in the St. Anastasia Chapter at the 13th national conference of the Carmelite Third Order held in Chicago. A report on the conference was given by Mrs. Albert Luongo, mistress of novices.

Catholic Digest Plans Two New Editions

NEW YORK (NC) — The Catholic Digest will launch foreign editions for the Philippines and India, in September bringing to 10 its domestic and foreign editions.

John McCarthy, director of international editions, said the new editions, to be published in English in Manila and Calcutta, will make the Digest the largest international Catholic publication in the world.

GREAT DAY: Rev. Jerome Gallagher, O.F.M., pastor of Our Lady of the Holy Angels Church, Little Falls, is congratulated by Bishop McNulty on his silver jubilee in the priesthood. Bishop McNulty presided at the Mass of Thanksgiving, June 19.

Guidance Unit Assists 160 in First Year

JERSEY CITY — When the Mt. Carmel Guild Guidance Institute celebrates its first anniversary July 1, it will have given psychiatric assistance to approximately 160 children and adolescents. The Institute, a psychiatric-diagnostic and treatment center located at St. Francis Hospital, was dedicated last July 1 by Archbishop Boland.

"In the nine month period from July 1 through Mar. 31 the center has received 111 applications for assistance," it was reported by Rev. Francis R. LoBianco, appointed executive director of the Guild's clinical program by Msgr. Joseph A. Dooling, Guild director and founder of the institute.

Father LoBianco added that by the time the full year's report has been compiled next month, the number of applications will have grown to 160.

During the first three quarters of the first year, the institute's services included 299 patient interviews, 256 parent interviews, and 150 case conferences. Currently there are 44 clients in treatment at the institute which operates on a 40-hour week basis.

THE CLINIC, Father LoBianco said, has an annual budget of over $40,000, most of which is financed by the Archdiocese of Newark. He said there is no assistance from the Mental Health Association of Hudson County, and the fee scale, based upon the family's ability to pay, hardly defers the cost of the clinic's services.

During its first year the clinic has undergone expansion of both staff and facilities. Recently it acquired and renovated new quarters — a suite of nine rooms comprising the entire first floor of the former nurses' residence at the hospital. Included are new offices, secretarial equipment, psychological facilities and psychiatric treatment rooms.

The permanent staff includes: in psychiatry, Dr. John Novak, Dr. Bede Howard, Dr. Nellie Mitchell; in psychology, Charles LePrince; in psychiatric social work, Oscar Smith.

Continuing on the professional advisory board are the members of the first staff, a temporary group which laid the groundwork for the center. They are: Dr. Francesco Figurelli, Dr. Beatrice LeCraft, Katherine Medley, William F. Bailey and Jeanette Waters.

FATHER LOBIANCO emphasized that "the philosophy and psychology of the institute has been initiated and implemented by the professional staff and has never been ordered or prescribed by the higher administrative offices of the Church."

NOT FORGOTTEN: Msgr. Michael G. Kemezis, center, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, Elizabeth, was celebrant June 12 of a special Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, for victims of communist oppression in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. Assisting him were Rev. Peter Totoraitis, left, of Holy Trinity, Newark, and Rev. Peter Zemeikis, St. Michael's, Bayonne. The Mass was part of a Baltic States Freedom Committee rally, marking the 20th year of Soviet domination of the three countries. The little girl is wearing the Lithuanian national dress.

Fr. Edward Clark Named President of St. Peter's

JERSEY CITY — Rev. Edward F. Clark, S.J., since 1956 academic vice president of Fordham University, New York, has been appointed president of St. Peter's College, according to an announcement by Very Rev. John B. Janssens, S.J., Superior General of the Society of Jesus. Father

Clark succeeds Very Rev. James J. Shanahan, S.J., president for the past 10 years.

Father Clark was born in New York City, son of the late James E. and Belle G. Clark. After graduation from Fordham Prep he entered the Society of Jesus at St. Isaac Jogues Novitiate, Wernersville, Pa., in 1932. After completing philosophical studies at Woodstock College, he was assigned to Canisius High School, Buffalo, from 1939 until 1941. Thereafter he was instructor at Fordham University, prior to his return to Woodstock College for theological studies.

After his ordination on June 17, 1945, Father Clark spent another year of further study there before his assignment to Manresa Hall, Port Townsend, Wash.

In 1948, he was named assistant professor of philosophy at St. Peter's College, after serving as circulation manager at America. He then studied at the University of Minnesota, where he obtained his degree in higher educational administration. From 1951 until 1956 Father Clark was dean of St. Peter's College, when he was appointed academic vice president of Fordham University.

Besides serving on the Council of Higher Educational Institutions in New York City, Father Clark was director of the Metropolitan Educational Television

Association. He is also a member of the Association of Higher Education of the National Educational Association; National Catholic Educational Association, Asia Society, Religious Educational Association, New York State Examinations Board, Mid-

States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, where he has served as visiting evaluator and consultant to both high schools and colleges; Association of American Colleges and Universities, and American Council of Learned Societies.

Father Clark is the brother of Very Rev. Francis X. Clark, S.J., Provincial of the Philippine Province of the Society of Jesus, and Rev. Joseph T. Clark, S.J., professor of philosophy at Canisius College, Buffalo.

Grant Is Given To St. Peter's

JERSEY CITY — St. Peter's College has received a grant of $16,000 from the National Science Foundation for support of research entitled "Electric Discharge through a Metallic Capillary" for a period of two years under direction of Dr. Po Lee, assistant professor of Physics.

Students who are physics majors in the Honors Program will participate in the research. Dr. Po Lee has been on St. Peter's faculty since 1958. He received his B.S. degree in 1932 from Ta-Tung University, Shanghai; M.S. in 1948 from the University of California; and Ph.D. in 1951 from University of Southern California. From 1954 to 1957 he was professor of physics at the National Taiwan University, Taipei, Taiwan. He is a member of the American Physical Society.

Priestly Function Seen for Medics

MIAMI BEACH (NC) — Those who minister to the sick participate in the priesthood of Christ, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll of Miami told delegates to the 109th annual convention of the American Medical Association here.

Not only is Christ found in His suffering members, but He is also found in those who, joined to Him by faith and grace, care for the sick," the Bishop said in a sermon at the annual memorial Mass.

Bishop Carroll said doctors minister to Christ and in place of Christ. "The work of the physician and work of the priest are but two phases of the same thing; in their functioning they overlap and they share a common ideal in Christ," he declared.

Outing for the Blind

NEWARK — An excursion to Point Pleasant for 232 blind people and their guides was sponsored Sunday by the Mt. Carmel Guild Center for the Blind, under chairmanship of Helen M. Reilly. Activities of the center, except for braille classes, the monthly newsletter, library service and discount service, have been suspended for the summer.

Can Family Picnic

NEWARK — The Cana Club of Sacred Heart, Vailsburg, will hold its sixth annual family picnic June 26 at Golden Gate Park and Pool, Parsippany-Troy Hills. Mr. and Mrs. David Broadfoot are chairmen. Edward Golan-kiewicz is reservations chairman.

Bus Ride Ruling Draws Appeal

NEWTON, Conn. — The organization which unsuccessfully challenged Connecticut's school bus law has announced that it will ask the U. S. Supreme Court to review the decision given by Connecticut's highest tribunal.

Connecticut law allows communities to use tax funds to transport children to non-public schools. The law was challenged by the Citizens for the Connecticut Constitution, Inc., as being a violation of federal and state constitutions.

The U. S. Supreme Court in the past has upheld the validity of transportation given to non-public school pupils.

Vincent's, Madison. He was appointed pastor of Holy Cross, Mountain View on Jan. 1, 1945.

With the establishment of the mission church of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, Packanack Lake, he took up residence there on June 20, 1959.

Father Rugei was ordained on June 15, 1946, in St. John's Cathedral and has been assistant at St. Brendan's until his present appointment. He is the first director of Cana in the Diocese.

THE BOUNDARIES OF St. Christopher's parish, Parsippany, have been defined as follows:
 "Beginning at a point where the new Route 202 intersects State Highway 10, thence in a northerly direction along the west side of the new Route 202 to the intersection with Parsippany-Troy Hills Township line; thence along the north side of Parsippany-Troy Hills Township line to the intersection with Reynolds Ave.; thence along the west side of Reynolds Ave. in a northerly direction to its intersection with Smith Road; thence along the west side of Smith Road to its intersection with Littleton Road; thence along the west side of Littleton Road to State Highway 46; thence along the south side of State Highway 46 to its intersection with Pocono Road; thence along the east side of an imaginary straight line in a southwesterly direction where said imaginary line would meet State Highway 10 at Glacier Road; thence in an easterly direction along the north side of State Highway 10 to the point of beginning."

The boundary lines of the St. Pius X parish, Montville Township, "shall correspond to the boundary lines of the civil community known as the Township of Montville."

IMMACULATE HEART of Mary parish, Wayne, has been defined as follows:
 "Northern boundary — Ratzer Road from State Highway 23 to Alps Road; eastern boundary — west side of Alps road beginning at Ratzer Road and continuing to the point where French Hill Road runs off Alps Road; southern boundary — beginning at the point where French Hill Road runs off Alps Road and following the same line as the southern boundary of Packanack Lake territory and a continuation thereof to State Highway 23; western boundary — from the point where the southern boundary reaches State Highway 23, along the east side of Route 23 to Ratzer Road."

Rev. William M. Giblin to St. Mary's, Rutherford.

The assignments of the newly ordained priests, also effective June 25, are listed on Page 20.

FATHER BYRNE was born in Orange and attended Seton Academy, St. John's School and Seton Hall Prep and University. He was ordained May 21, 1932, by the late Archbishop Walsh.

He served at St. Stephen's, Kearny, from 1932 until 1935, with the exception of a tour of duty with the armed forces in 1941-45. Father Byrne was administrator of St. Stephen's from Sept. 15, 1952, until July 2, 1955, when he was named pastor of Immaculate Conception, Darlington.

FATHER GRIFFITH was born in Bloomfield, attended Sacred Heart School there and Seton Hall Prep and University. He was ordained May 21, 1932, by the late Archbishop Walsh.

In 1934 Father Griffith received the masters degree in mathematics at Columbia University, and was assigned as professor of mathematics at Seton Hall Prep and later Seton Hall University. In 1952 he became one of the few U. S. priests to be granted "summa cum laude" a doctorate in pure mathematics by the Ukrainian Free University in Munich.

FATHER HESS was born in Elizabeth and attended St. Michael's School there, and Josephinum College, Columbus, Ohio. He was ordained May 25, 1933, in Columbus by Bishop James J. Hurley.

He served as assistant at St. Ann's, Newark, and at Holy Family, Union City, before returning to St. Ann's as pastor Apr. 19, 1953.

Father Donnelly was born in Newark and attended Holy Name School, East Orange, Seton Hall Prep and University. He was ordained June 10, 1933, by the late Archbishop Walsh.

He served as assistant in St. Mary's, Jersey City, and St. Michael's, Cranford, before he was named pastor of St. Mary's July 6, 1957.

FATHER ROSINSKI had served at St. Adalbert's, Elizabeth, before being assigned to St. Ann's, Jersey City, Sept. 11, 1954.

Father Heimbold, who served at St. Aloysius, Newark, before being assigned to St. Augustine's, Newark, July 6, 1957, was named director of the Essex County Council of Catholic Nurses, June 5, 1957.

Father Simko served at St. Joseph's, Bayonne, before he was named administrator of St. Stephen's, Newark, June 23, 1958.

Politics More Than Religion Seen Behind Spanish Events

MADRID (NC) — Political, more than religious or moral, considerations were behind recent events involving Church authorities in Spain, government circles here maintain.

These events grew out of separatist movements in the Basque provinces and Catalonia, they say. In both areas, large numbers of Catholics, including priests, support the separatist stand.

IN CATALONIA, Abbot Aurelio Escarre, O.S.B., of Monserrat Abbey, the region's major religious shrine, sent a telegram to Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish Chief of State, protesting against "repression and tortures inflicted on young Catholics." The young Catholics had been arrested following a separatist demonstration at a Barcelona concert.

There also was the release of a 6,000-word statement signed by Basque priests protesting against what is described as government violation of civil rights in their area, police brutality against political prisoners and press censorship.

As reported here, the statement, which came from sources considered reliable, was unsigned. It claimed 340 Basque priests had signed it and sent it to the Bishops of Vitoria, San Sebastian, Bilbao and Pamplona. The Barcelona arrests took place at a concert held while Franco and members of his government were in the Catalan capital. The arrests followed a demonstration caused by the government's withdrawal of permission to sing "Song of the Catalan Flag." Words to the song had been printed and distributed to the audience by a group of young men.

THE STATEMENT of the Basque priests said that they constantly see persons arrested "who even privately express political views contrary to those of the government" or who distribute leaflets which contain nothing "false or unjust." These persons are imprisoned for months or even years without trial, the statement charged.

Although not mentioning the statement, Ecclesia, an organ of Spanish Catholic Action, editorially denounced the use of physical and mental torture by police to obtain confessions from persons under arrest. The editorial did not mention any specific instances in which torture had been used.

Police officials, Ecclesia said, must not only protect society from those who break the law, but also from the abuse of power by their own agents.

The areas involved in these events — the Basque provinces and Catalonia — lie in northern Spain along the French border. Both have long histories of local autonomy and their own languages. Together they have a population of some five million — nearly all Catholics — who account for about a sixth of the total population of Spain.

During the Spanish Civil War both areas backed the communist-supported Republic, which had granted them autonomy. This autonomy was lost following the victory of the Franco forces.

The present government, which follows a policy of centralization, opposes regional claims and especially the use of local languages.

Caught in this conflict, the Church has found itself in a difficult position. On the one hand, it is accused of supporting separatism; for it has fought tenaciously to preserve its right to preach and give catechetical instruction in Basque and Catalan languages. On the other hand, it has also been charged with countenancing the suppression of natural rights because it has not battled government efforts to suppress separatism.

Electronic Guides Short-Circuited

VATICAN CITY — Roman churches may no longer install coin-operated machines which play a tape recording giving the history of the church in a language chosen by the listener.

The electronic guide books have been installed in a number of the city's historic churches for use by tourists.

The Rome Diocesan Review, published by the Vicariate of Rome, said the vicariate had been approached for permission to install such devices, which resemble wall-telephones. The vicariate referred the request to the Sacred Congregation of Rites, which turned it down.

Migration by Priests Limited by Vatican

VATICAN CITY — The Holy See has ruled that priests from Latin America and the Philippines may not migrate to the U.S. or Canada for any reason or any period of time without permission.

The limiting decree was issued by the Sacred Congregation, the congregation which would have to assent to the move. Permission may also be given by Vatican diplomats accredited to the nation from which the priest seeks to leave.

ACCORDING TO the decree, priests may not leave for North America without permission even to study. Similar regulations govern priests from Europe and the Mediterranean area who wish

THE LORD IS GOOD

TO THEM THAT HOPE IN HIM, TO THE SOUL THAT SEEKETH HIM. The truth of these words is known to all of us.

They are taken from the Introit of the Mass for the Sacred Heart of Jesus. FATHER LUKE MANALEI, pastor of 500 Catholics of the village of POOZHIKOL in the southern part of INDIA, needs a small Church; presently he is celebrating Mass in a tiny house on week-days and in the open air, weather permitting, on Sundays. His parishioners have the ability to build a Church if they can secure the materials, the cost of which is $3,000. These people, as do all devout Catholics, truly seek Our Lord, and they place their hope in Him for all things, both temporal and eternal. Our Lord's goodness in temporal matters is often made manifest through devout people who are financially able to help those less fortunate than themselves. Are you able to give a small or large donation to help build this Church?

REFUGEES

During this WORLD REFUGEE YEAR, which is now drawing to a close, MUCH HAS BEEN DONE to help the millions of people who are exiles from their homelands. MUCH REMAINS TO BE DONE, however, because the Refugee Problem is far from being solved. Of particular concern to us are the PALESTINE REFUGEES who are our special charge. A pamphlet entitled TWELVE YEARS IN EXILE has been sent to all those on our mailing list—it tells the story of the Pontifical Mission for Palestine, the Mission of Charity which was established by Pope Pius XII and is being continued by Pope John XXIII. If you have not received one of these pamphlets, we will be pleased to send you one on request.

IMITATORS OF CHRIST

To model our lives on the life of Our Saviour insures our salvation. All Catholics, worthy of the name, try to become as Christ-like as they can, in their chosen fields of work. Boys and girls who are called to the priesthood, brotherhood, or sisterhood, are invited to embrace a life that is the most perfect imitation of the life of Christ—a life of poverty, chastity, and obedience. SISTER DORA and SISTER ALICE are novices in a Community whose very name is descriptive of the religious life: SISTERS OF THE IMITATION OF CHRIST; they are now in a novitiate in INDIA. NAZH HAYEK and SAD ZARKA are seminarians in Jerusalem, looking forward to the day when they will be given the powers of Christ's Priesthood: power to offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, power to administer the sacraments—powers that will truly make them "other Christs." Before beginning their active ministry for Christ six years of training is necessary for seminarians, two years of training for novices. Could you pay for the education of a priest ($600) or of a novice ($300)?

ORPHAN'S BREAD CLUB
 THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN in the Near and Middle East would be hungry and homeless, were it not for two glorious facts—for centuries Catholic priests, sisters, and brothers, have been willing to devote their lives to the care of orphans in this section of the world, and for centuries generous Catholics the world over have been willing to make the sacrifices necessary to finance this work so pleasing to God. If you join our ORPHAN'S BREAD CLUB you would be doing your bit to provide care for both the bodies and souls of these children. Membership dues are $1.00 a month.

Jesuit Book Expert Lists Five Guides for Teachers

ST. LOUIS — In assigning books for student reading, Catholic teachers should judge the work, not the writer, in the opinion of Rev. Harold C. Gardiner, S. J., literary editor of America magazine.

That rule was one of five set down by Father Gardiner at an institute on "Morals and Aesthetics in Literature" at St. Louis University.

Father Gardiner also said the teacher should:

- Weigh the objectionable parts of a work against its total effect. ("Four-letter words do not of themselves make a book obscene," he noted.)
- Determine whether sin is described in such detail that it would be a temptation for the normal reader.
- Remember that literature is not intended to teach one how to live ("One doesn't go to a novel to learn, although learning could be a by-product. One goes to a novel for pleasure," he said.)

Leftist Wins Bolivia Election Despite Opposition of Bishops

LA PAZ, Bolivia (NC) — The candidate of Bolivia's ruling leftist party — a party the Bishops have accused of favoring communism — has won the presidency of the nation.

Victor Paz Estenssoro, candidate of the National Revolutionary Movement (MNR), was elected following a campaign in which more than 50 persons were killed and scores injured.

A FEW DAYS before the elections Archbishop Abel Antezana y Rojas of La Paz had warned Catholics, who constitute more than 90% of Bolivia's approximately 3.5 million people, not to vote for candidates who deny God.

In an apparent reference to the left wing of the MNR — a wing led by Paz Estenssoro — the Archbishop also urged Catholics not to vote for those who replace right with force and freedom with intimidation.

Last December the Bolivian Bishops charged the ruling party with favoring communism while calling itself anti-Red. Archbishop Antezana declared in a pre-election pastoral letter that failure to vote was unpatriotic and anti-Christian. He scored those who violate the constitution and use public funds for the support of political parties and party members.

ANOTHER Bolivian prelate, Bishop Luis Rodriguez Pardo of Santa Cruz de La Sierra, injured by pro-communist militiamen last year, protested unsuccessfully against another election measure — the installation of a machine gun emplacement in the tower of his cathedral by militiamen.

Meanwhile, the manager of the radio station in Santa Cruz was arrested and publicly mistreated by militiamen for broadcasting an election appeal of the Christian Social Party. In addition, a Catholic Action leader was beaten by the militia for distributing leaflets.

Social Christian spokesmen stated that they could not take part in an "electoral comedy." They claimed that ballot boxes sent to rural areas were already stuffed with votes for MNR candidates.

The pre-election incidents were the latest in a series of violent outbreaks that occurred during the past year and led to protests by the Bishops.

ALTHOUGH FOUR other parties presented candidates, the Bolivian election was contested mainly between two factions of the MNR, which has ruled the country since 1952.

Presidential candidate of the "Authentic," the less radical MNR group which broke away from the rest of the party because of its communist tendencies, was Walter Guevara Arze. The leftist faction backed Paz Estenssoro, who served as president from 1952 to 1956. The group's vice presidential nominee was the pro-communist secretary general of the country's mine workers' organization, Juan Lechin, whose heavily armed militia played a violent role in the campaign.

In their December letter, Bolivia's Bishops not only accused the MNR of favoring communism under a cloak of anti-communism, but also criticized the government for permitting the leftist-led militia to operate outside its control. The militia has attacked priests and even a Bishop. During a local uprising in Santa Cruz last year Bishop Rodriguez was struck with the butt of a gun by a militiaman.

HONOR STUDENT: Christina Wahl of St. Anne's parish, Fair Lawn, receives an award from Archbishop Boland for maintaining an average of more than 90% for four years at Immaculate Conception High School, Lodi. The Archbishop presided at the high school's commencement June 15.

Calls Sweden Too 'Indifferent' To Protest Against Catholics

DARIEN, Conn.—In Sweden, where the Church is only beginning to recoup the losses of the Protestant Reformation, Catholics face many problems — but intolerance is not one of them.

According to Bishop K. Ansgar Nelson, O.S.B., of Stockholm, religious intolerance has disappeared from Sweden — for what he calls an "unfortunate reason." Explains Bishop Nelson: The Swedish people have become indifferent to religion so Catholicism no longer seems important enough to arouse their prejudices.

Bishop Nelson, Sweden's only Bishop, addressed members of the New York, Worcester and Fitchburg units of the St. Ansgar's Scandinavian League, Saturday, at an outing at Vikingsborg, the convent of the Swedish Brigittine nuns here.

CATHOLICISM, wiped out of Sweden during the Reformation, began its slow return 10 years ago under the Catholic Queen Josephine, Bishop Nelson recalled. Even now there are just over 26,000 Catholics in the Swedish population of seven million, only 19 parishes, most of them consisting only of a chapel in an apartment or private dwelling, only 70 to 90 converts a year.

Sweden's tolerant indifference to the Church, he said, has enabled Catholicism to expand, but more priests and funds are needed if more impressive progress is to be made.

He noted that one parish covers an area as large as England and Wales together and is served by one priest who travels almost constantly in his Volkswagen. Sweden's priests, the Bishop added, have to do their own housework after their rigorous day, because their salaries are too small to afford help.

BISHOP NELSON noted that the introduction of women to the ministry of the Swedish State (Lutheran) Church has occasioned much criticism among the clergy, and that it is not inconceivable that this may prove "the last straw" which could precipitate their return to Catholicism.

Difficulties facing the Catholic Church, according to Bishop Nelson, include: the many different national origins of Sweden's Catholics, who spring from immigrants; and the lack of Catholic education.

HE SAID there is no released-time program for religious instruction of Catholic students in state schools, and there are only three Catholic schools, all primary schools. He cited a dire need for at least one secondary school to educate Catholic teenagers living with non-Catholic relatives.

Bishop Nelson stressed the need for personnel, observing that this may be the time for American Catholics to reciprocate Europe's past missionary activity here by sending priests — as well as prayers and funds — to Sweden.

Osservatore Refutes Claims by Gomulka

VATICAN CITY — Osservatore Romano, Vatican City daily, has challenged a claim made by Polish communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka that the Church is free in his country.

Gomulka, writing in the American quarterly review, Foreign Affairs, had said: "Complete religious tolerance exists in Poland; it is guaranteed by the state, is universally recognized and is not questioned by any honest foreign observer."

OSSERVATORE said such statements are quite contrary to the truth. It denied that concessions made by Poland to the state in recent years could be described as "tolerance."

It added that the only reason the Church has any measure of freedom at all is due to the fact that in 1956 the communists were forced to grant, not the freedom to which the Church is entitled, but a few of the rights which had been violently denied it after 1950.

Citing religious instruction in the schools as an example, Osservatore said Poland "shows clearly its wish to take back the slight 'concessions' made under force of necessity." It said religious instruction "is seriously trampled once more by administrative harassments, by individual and collective pressures, by the excuses and insidiousness of the school authorities."

Polish communists, and communists everywhere, Osservatore stated, "tolerate—that is, bear with—Catholicism because religious faith cannot be abolished by decree. But they are determined to make it disappear."

Spanish Workers Said Suffering Brunt of Inflation

MADRID (NC) — A Spanish Catholic workers association has complained that Spain's working class has been forced to shoulder the heaviest burdens in the nation's efforts against inflation.

In an outspoken declaration to all Spaniards and "to all who have responsibility in the guidance of the nation," the Workers' Confederation of Catholic Action (HOAC) asked for a "just distribution of sacrifices" among the poor, the rich and the state.

Further complaints in the statement were: Workers were not consulted or given reasons for the sacrifices demanded of them.

The Spanish working class "in many circumstances finds itself without genuine representation and without means to make itself heard."

The present sacrifices of the workers were made necessary by a previous "policy of inflation that brought the entire national economy to the brink of collapse."

Worker Guild Plans June 27 Meeting

NEWARK — The Guild of St. Joseph the Worker will hold its last pre-summer meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 27, at Essex Catholic High School. At that time plans will be made for the annual Labor Day Mass and Communion breakfast. Rev. Aloysius J. Welsh is moderator of the Guild, and Joseph Puzo, president.

Sick Encouraged To Aid Vocations

PHILADELPHIA — Some 125,000 copies of a prayer to be said by sick people and invalids for vocations have been distributed here with the help of the Serra Clubs of Philadelphia.

Purpose of the project is to encourage sick people to offer their sufferings to God for the cause of promoting vocations.

POPE PIUS XII canonized 33 saints.

Trujillo Ousts Six Priests

SAN JUAN, P.R. — Six priests expelled from the Dominican Republic by the Trujillo regime have arrived here after being placed on a plane by agents of the Dominican government.

The six priests, all Spaniards, are: Rev. Angel Abad Garcia, C.M.F., who was stationed in Ciudad Trujillo; Rev. Rufino Martin, O.S.A., and Rev. Santiago Vela, O.S.A., both of the Central Augustinian School in La Vega, and Rev. Jesus Marugan Oses, O.S.A., Rev. Pablo Marin Solano, O.S.A., and Rev. Luis Valbuena Gomez, O.S.A., who were also stationed in La Vega.

FATHER ABAD Garcia said he learned of his impending expulsion on June 7, when a government agent told him to leave the country as soon as possible. He said the government was hostile toward him because of statements appearing in a newspaper published by his parish.

Relations between the Trujillo regime and the Church have been deteriorating since January, when the regime claimed it had suppressed a plot by priests and seminarians to overthrow the government.

Meanwhile, the Inter-American Peace Committee, an agency of the Organization of American States, has issued a report condemning the Trujillo regime.

Among other documents cited in the report was the recent pastoral issued by the Bishops of the Dominican Republic in which they asked clemency for political prisoners.

The peace committee's report said "flagrant violations of human rights" exist in the Dominican Republic and predicted that they would lead to an increase in Caribbean "tensions."

Rules Permission Necessary To Attend Secular College

ST. LOUIS (NC) — Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter of St. Louis has ruled that Catholics may not attend a non-Catholic college or university without his written permission.

The prelate said his permission will be granted only when parents and student promise in writing that the student will follow the Newman Club program at the school, or if there is no club, pursue a similar program conducted by Church authorities.

For Elected Officials

Discuss Possibility of Conflicts Between Moral, Official Duties

UNION CITY — Two national Catholic publications — Our Sunday Visitor and The Sign — asserted in current articles that no conflict exists between Catholic doctrine and the Constitution.

Our Sunday Visitor, weekly newspaper supplement published in Indiana, contains as its lead story in the June 26 issue an article linking religious tolerance and Catholics in politics. Write ten by Rev. John F. Cronin, S.S., assistant director of the NCWC Social Action Department, the article said the Church does not try to "form the consciences" of its members on moral issues in political life.

THE JULY issue of The Sign, published here monthly by the Passionist Fathers, in an article by Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati, similarly states that "a Catholic in office has no obligation in conscience to attempt to obstruct the fulfillment of any law by some futile action of his own." The Archbishop is chairman of the NCWC administrative board.

Pointing out the distinction between the executive function of the President and the legislative function of Congress, the Archbishop said: "Neither the President nor any executive officer can be charged with responsibility for the morality of an act of Congress.

"No President of the United States, whether he be a Catholic, Protestant, Jew or infidel, can nullify an act of Congress. If, as a Catholic, he is convinced of the immorality of a specific law, he can take a passive attitude toward its enforcement. And thereby he violates neither his conscience nor his oath of office."

$11,000 Given Education Fund

NEWARK—Alfred E. Driscoll, chairman of the business industry committee of the New Jersey College Fund Association, announced this week that the Steel Foundation, Inc., has made a gift of $11,000 to the educational organization. He said this gift increases the total received this year to $302,005 from 186 corporations.

Mr. Driscoll, former governor of New Jersey, pointed out that the campaign this year already has exceeded last year's final results of $156,430 from 176 corporations. In the original campaign in 1954-55 $25,510 was given by 19 corporations. The current campaign, the sixth conducted by the association, will conclude June 30 and solicitation will continue until that time.

DISCUSSING the Catholic attitude toward public schools, Archbishop Alter noted they were established "in order to provide free and universal education." Catholics, he added, "approve this twofold objective. If there were no public schools we would have to create them."

However, he said, the use of tax money to support an educational system which excludes religious training benefits only those who want to exclude religion from the schools. Nevertheless, he pointed out, the duties of the President "have nothing to do" with the question of aid to parochial schools.

Concerning possible participation in non-Catholic religious ceremonies by a Catholic President, the Archbishop said that Canon Law "specifically states that civil officials can be present passively, for good reasons at public solemnities, funerals, weddings and similar functions. There would be no problem in following the usual protocol or accepted practice."

ARCHBISHOP Alter also said there is no obligation for Catholic officials to push for an American representative at the Vatican. "In fact," he declared, "there is considerable reluctance among some Catholics to favor such diplomatic exchanges" in view of the widespread unfavorable reaction which such a development would have on the public relations of the Church in this country.

In the article, the Archbishop also gives his views on the Catholic attitude toward religious tolerance, Church-state relations in Spain and some Latin-American nations, and the relation between religious beliefs and policy decisions by elected officials.

Summer School To Open at Pequannock

PEQUANNOCK—Rev. John H. Dericks this week announced establishment of the Holy Spirit Summer School, which will open June 28 and conclude July 29.

Special remedial and review classes will be held each week from Tuesday to Friday inclusive. The school will cover the fourth through the seventh grade with special tutoring in arithmetic, reading and English. Both reading and English will stress vocabulary skill.

Father Dericks has appointed Paul S. Avenoso school director. He is a graduate of Seton Hall University and now attends graduate school, majoring in personnel, testing and guidance.

Registration is by mail June 23-28. Those interested should write to Paul S. Avenoso, Holy Spirit Summer School, P.O. Box 687, Pequannock, N.J.

Bright Buttons For Holy Father

ROME—A new painting of the Holy Father shows the buttons on his cassock clearly because the Pope himself suggested that the artist do so.

The portrait for which the Pontiff sat is the work of Alexander Clayton of Dallas and is destined to hang in the University of Dallas, a Catholic institution. Five weeks after starting the portrait, Clayton showed it to Pope John and invited him to suggest alterations before the work was completed.

The Pope's only request was that the artist show the cassock buttons more clearly. He explained that he associated the buttons on a priest's cassock with his first recollections of wanting to become a priest. He told how as a boy serving Mass he had always been intrigued by the priest's buttons and made a point of counting them. There were always 22, the Pope said.

Puerto Rican Progress

The Irish have their St. Patrick's Day, the Italians salute St. Rocco — but to the Puerto Rican, St. John the Baptist's feast this week will spark fiesta and fireworks.

Somewhat like the forerunner of Christ, the Puerto Rican has sprung up here out of nowhere. All of our older cities must face the fact that he is here to stay; possibly migration from the island may decline, but the soaring Puerto Rican birth rate will guarantee his permanent presence here in the states, in North Jersey.

The Puerto Ricans have traded a beautiful tropic isle, with its picturesque beaches, flamboyant vegetation and sun-drenched climate for the concrete, the cold-water flats, the icy winters of Newark and Paterson and Jersey City. More than the weather greeted their arrival with a chilly reception. Long-time residents looked with mistrust and disdain on these swarthy-skinned, poverty-stricken newcomers, who walked their street chatting an alien tongue.

As a result, absentee landlords victimized these naive strangers, factory doors slammed in their faces, blame for all violence in the city fell on their bewildered heads; old-timers in the neighborhood packed up and left when the Puerto Rican came searching for rooms.

The Irish have forgotten that back in the '80s they too were refused lodging because of their "dirty clothes, rough speech and offensive manners." They had left hovels of poverty and misery, and arrived here, for the most part, uneducated, even illiterate. The Irish had the superior advantage of knowing the language, and therefore of assimilating more quickly; but, as a result, they gave to all others the label of "foreigners."

The Italians have forgotten that because of their darker-hued skin, they were ranked beneath the tall and fair Anglo-Saxon in culture and civilization; they were dubbed pagan and superstitious because of native religious customs; they were regarded as the source of municipal squalor and corruption; Protestants even tagged them as tools of the Vatican.

The Germans have forgotten their own early struggles to preserve German culture, customs and tongue in their new homeland under the slogan of "Language saves the Faith." They have forgotten the picture of New York's lower East Side: "Something like 40 families are packed into old two-story houses; additional crowds were accommodated in back-yard shacks; they were damp, with no water or sewage; that was a typical ghetto, teaming with Germans and Irish and Italians, before the turn of the century.

These national groups have come a long way since. The Puerto Ricans can do the same. Hundreds have already become substantial homeowners; others have entered professional fields of social service and teaching; industries rely more and more on their manual dexterity; the "bodega Hispana," with its line of native groceries and tropical fruits, dots downtown corners; the September opening will find increased numbers of Spanish names listed on our parochial school rosters.

The Puerto Rican is in our cities to stay. He is already making noteworthy progress. His advance will be accelerated if fellow-citizens offer him a welcoming hand instead of a clenched fist.

St. Paul in Malta

Next Wednesday, June 29, Catholics everywhere will once again be celebrating the Feast of St. Paul. The observance will have a very special significance this year on the tiny Mediterranean isle of Malta, for 1960 marks the 19th centenary of the arrival there of the Apostle of the Gentiles. Archbishop Michael Gonzi of Malta opened the celebrations last January; the feast of the two Apostles will usher in the final month of commemoration, to be attended by Cardinal Muench as special Papal legate and by prelates and pilgrims from many lands.

Paul's career is unique in the infinitely varied annals of the Church. A Jew from Tarsus in Asia Minor, he completed his education in Jerusalem, the Roman authorities transferred him to the capital at Caesarea. Foreseeing his ultimate trial and death, Paul hoped to acquire further souls for Christ. Paul appealed to Caesar, exercising the right of every Roman citizen to stand trial in Rome.

Luke, who accompanied Paul on the Roman prison-ship in the early Fall of 60 A.D., narrates the events of the fateful voyage. After leaving Crete the fragile vessel fell in the path of a furious hurricane, was tossed and turned, almost sank a dozen times before being violently thrown against the coast of Malta.

The Christian history of the island begins with Paul's three-month visitation. The Phoenician-speaking inhabitants, marveling at Paul's miraculous deeds, took him at first for a god, were soon placed under instruction and many were converted. It is even said that the Roman governor accepted the Faith and later became St. Publius, Malta's first Bishop.

The fact that the Church today is still a mission-minded Church is due in large measure to the example and accomplishments of the greatest of all missionaries, Paul the Apostle. Even the seemingly modern emphasis on the training of a native clergy and episcopate in all mission lands is a return to the methods of St. Paul. While Maltese Catholics thank God for the brief but fruitful stay of the zealous Apostle on their island, Catholics throughout the world, in gratitude for their own precious gift of faith, should join them in honor and veneration of the great Apostle of the Gentiles.

and portioned praise or blame wherever it was due.

The blind hatred of the truth which had halted his Master's work was all too soon to bring Paul's apostolate to an end. Arrested in Jerusalem, the Roman authorities transferred him to the capital at Caesarea. Foreseeing his ultimate trial and death, Paul hoped to acquire further souls for Christ. Paul appealed to Caesar, exercising the right of every Roman citizen to stand trial in Rome.

Helping Hand

Super-Natural Life Needed To Enter God's Kingdom

By Frank J. Sheed

When we come to die there is only one question that matters—have we sanctifying grace in our souls? If we have, then to heaven we shall go; there may be certain matters to be cleared, or cleansed, on the way: but to heaven we shall go, for we have the power to live there. If we have not, then to heaven we cannot go; not because we lack the price of admission, but because quite simply our soul lacks the powers that living in heaven calls for.

IT IS NOT a question of getting past the gate, but of living once we are there; there would be no advantage in finding a kindly gate-keeper, willing to let us in anyhow! The powers of intellect and will that go with our natural life are not sufficient: heaven calls for powers of knowing and loving higher than our nature of itself has, we need super-natural life; and we must get it here upon earth. To die lacking it means eternal failure.

WE MUST look at grace more closely if we are to live our lives intelligently. Two things about it must be grasped.

First: It is supernatural, it is wholly above our nature, there is not even the tiniest seed of it in our nature capable of growing, there is nothing we can do to give it to ourselves. We can have it only as God gives it, and He is entirely free in the giving. That, as we have seen, is why it is called grace; and because its object is to unite us with God, it is called sanctifying grace.

Second: Even the word supernatural does not convey how great a thing it is. It is not simply above our nature, or any created nature. It enables us to do—at our own finite level, but really—something which only God Himself can do by nature: it enables us to see God direct.

That is why it is called "a created share in the life of God." That is why those who have it are called "sons of God": a son is like in nature to his father; by this gift we have a totally new likeness to Our Father in heaven.

GIVING US this new life, God does not give us a new soul with new faculties. He inserts it, sets it functioning, in the soul we already have: by it our intellect, which exists to know truth, is given the power to know in a new way; our will, which exists to love goodness, is given the power to love in a new way.

We get the supernatural life here on earth. Not till we reach heaven will it enable us to see God face to face and love Him in the direct contact of the will. But even on earth its elevating work has begun; it gives the intellect a new power of taking hold of truth—by faith; it gives the will new powers of reaching out to goodness—by hope and by charity.

Faith, then, does not mean simply feeling that we believe more than we used to; hope does not mean simply feeling optimistic about our chances of salvation; charity does not mean simply feeling pleased with God. All three may have their effect on our feelings; but they are not feelings; they are wholly real.

The super-natural life in our souls is a new fact, as real as the natural life we have to start with. The powers it gives are facts too, they enable us to do things which without them we could not do: they are as real as eyesight, and considerably more important. Without eyesight, we could not see the material world. But without sanctifying grace we should not be able to see God direct, which is the very essence of living in heaven.

NOT ONLY THAT: Here below we should not be sharers of the divine life, sons of God, capable already of taking hold of

Kremlin Promoting New Mob Activity

By Louis F. Budenz

Of the several problems thrust upon us by the new roughneck era in Soviet operations against the U. S., not the least is furnished by the "intellectual mobilization" of the world comrades for this expanding "class war."

When Khrushchev sarcastically consigned our President to teaching kindergarten, his intent was undoubtedly to destroy the "image" of Mr. Eisenhower as a leader. This should have taught us that while our great mistake was in going to the summit at all, our great merit was in not submitting on Berlin.

WE KNOW from the Kremlin that we owe thanks to Konrad Adenauer for this stand. Every communist utterance says this down to the pink throwaways distributed by the thousands by the Communist Party of Manhattan County.

In that leaflet we read: "The only world figure openly glad about the conference failure is Adenauer, and many are asking whether our foreign policy and relations with the socialist world are not being dictated by a government openly nurturing the fascist beast again."

But this pictorialization of our President as the humble pupil of the "fascist" ogre Adenauer was only one of Khrushchev's reasons for belittling Eisenhower. The other was to arouse among the comrades the sense of contempt for many of our "American intellectuals," in their failure to know that summitry would lead to the shriveling of our country's position in the world.

AS FOR the communists, it may at first seem odd that they have prepared the universal mob scenes against our representatives that this column predicted months ago, by sharpening their own intellectual adhesion to Marxism-Leninism. And yet, that is the way the Kremlin insures that its followers understand what they are about.

And so, there is now issued by the Foreign Languages Publishing House of Moscow a new and impressive textbook in at least 25 languages and for 83 countries, known as "The Foundations of Marxism-Leninism."

God by faith and hope and charity, capable of meriting increase of life.

This increase of life has to be realized; one can be more alive or less, and our life in heaven will differ according to the intensity of faith and hope and charity in our souls when we come to die.

We shall go on to consider these three virtues in detail. Meanwhile concentrate upon one truth—grace is not just a way of saying that a soul is in God's favor; it is a real life, with its own proper powers, living in the soul; and he who has it is a new man.

booklet form by American communists in order to insure a wide sale and study. There we learn the book includes "an introduction on the Marxist-Leninist outlook," with which the communists must precede all other considerations of their theory and practice.

We also read: "The unshakable foundation of the entire edifice of Marxism-Leninism is its philosophical teaching — dialectical and historical materialism." It is precisely this "dialectical materialism" which is almost unknown to much of our intellectual leadership, in official Washington, in our press, and in our colleges. Very little mention of it is made in non-communist books on the theory and practice of communism.

And yet, from the Kremlin itself, we learn that this dialectical materialism must be our first consideration in analyzing communism. We were fully aware of "dialectical materialism," we would never have gone to the summit and we would never have yielded to Red pressure in asking Khrushchev to come here.

MOSCOW HAS also published translations in many languages, including English, of the three volumes of Karl Marx's "Capital" and is beginning a many-language translation of all 40 volumes of V. I. Lenin's complete works.

That the communists are to use this intellectual "confirmation" of their views to steel themselves for mob scenes in the U. S. and elsewhere is admitted by Gus Hall, their new leader. In the Worker he is quoted as saying: "The New York-San Francisco wave of mass activities has set the pace for the whole country."

He praised "the midnight peace march through mid-town New York" staged after the mass meeting of the Sane Nuclear Policy Committee. He also urged that there be more rough stuff such as "the magnificent one-week fight" against the House Committee staged by the "people of San Francisco."

Members of the Apostolate for Vocations can gain a plenary indulgence under the ordinary conditions on: June 24, Feast of the Sacred Heart. June 29, Feast of St. Peter and Paul. A partial indulgence of 100 days may be gained for each act of charity or piety performed for the intention of fostering vocations to the priesthood.

THE QUESTION BOX

Q. What does the Church mean when it says: "Charity covers a multitude of sins?"

A. These words are the words of St. Peter (1 Peter 4.8): "But above all things have a constant mutual charity among yourselves; for charity covers a multitude of sins."

St. Peter's words mean simply that if you are charitable, you will hide and not publicize the sins of others. Your charity covers the multitude of faults of others by silence.

The words are a restatement of the proverb: "Hatred stirreth up strife; and charity covereth all sins" (Prov. 10.12); and of that other thought: "He that concealeth a transgression seeketh friendships; he that repealeth it again separateth friends" (Prov. 17.9).

Thus St. Peter's words do not refer to the forgiveness of our sins, as if charity covered over the sins we had committed. Rather he refers to the charity of our speech that we pass over in silence the sins of others.

Q. I did not go to confession before Easter time ended. What should I do?

A. If you are in mortal sin, by all means go to confession at your first chance. Would you walk around with a bomb on your person not knowing whether it was about to explode or not? Mortal sin will cast you into hell if it's there when death comes. Why walk around with this constant risk when a good confession can end the danger? Meanwhile, even before you get to confession, make a very sincere act of contrition to the good God whom you have offended.

Q. What is meant by the Church in saying: "It is better to marry than to burn?"

A. These words are words of St. Paul, written to the Catholics of Corinth in his First Epistle, 7.9. The Corinthians had written to ask Paul about certain marriage questions. The matter of celibacy entered into the discussion.

The celibacy of St. Paul is clear in tradition; and St. Paul appeals to this state of himself when he tells the unmarried and the widows that it is good for them to remain unmarried. However, he recognizes that celibacy is a special grace and that all are not given it. He adds, therefore, for those who would consider celibacy beyond their willingness to endure, the advice that it is better for them to marry than to be constantly beset with concupiscence and the risk of impurity because of their failure of control.

The expression, "It is better to marry than to burn," is a dramatic way of saying that celibacy would be so difficult for some that they ought to be advised to marry, since one purpose of marriage is relief of concupiscence.

Q. Would a rich man who lived in sin be forgiven because during his life he was generous to the poor and needy?

A. Mortal sin is taken away only by sorrow for it; either by perfect sorrow, which removes sin immediately although the duty of confession remains; or imperfect sorrow together with the absolution of the priest or the reception of Extreme Unction.

Sorrow is required whether one be rich or poor. Therefore, if the rich man who is sinful does not repent of the sins, he will not be forgiven.

Of what value then are good works like almsgiving and charity when one is deep in sin? Should he give up these good works too?

They will help him—not after he is dead, but they will help him now. In fact, these good works may keep alive his recognition of his sins and win for him from God the extra grace that he needs for conversion from sin. It may well be that his continued charity will ultimately win for him the grace of final repentance so that he may go to heaven rather than to hell.

Notice that this comes about through the grace that God may give to inspire sorrow for the sins. His sorrow then will obtain the forgiveness.

For this reason those who are in sin ought to be encouraged to as many good works as possible; their wills may thus be touched to accept the grace that God holds out to them.

Castro Unconvertible

The Advocate is not anxious to be a prophet of doom, but it is gratified to realize that it cautioned against too much enthusiasm for Castro more than a year ago. It is clear now that principles of terror and despotism by which Castro drove out the old dictator and assumed the power himself have not been converted into principles of freedom and respect for the individual and his inalienable rights. There seems to be no prospect of such a conversion. This is a real tragedy. The dynamism and the vitality that are so integral a part of Castro might have been converted into something memorable rather than something regrettable.

Strangely enough, in the neighboring Dominican Republic, the same repression and retrogression, the same terror and despotism are being used to enslave a captive people. Strange that the old dictator Trujillo and the new liberator Castro, while they proclaim different goals, use the same methods and arrive at the same suppression. Obviously the sight of a people with little education, beaten by years of poverty, calls forth a desire for their exploitation and betrayal. The spectacle of such a people becomes too great a temptation to be overcome. There only remains the hope that the sight of such people will some day convert tyrants into democratic humanitarians, men whose initial faith in God and belief in the brotherhood of men will not be destroyed. There remains only the hope that the ruthless militarists and governmental profiteers will be converted.

At the same time that this spectacle fills onlookers with fear and foreboding, another force fills them with hope. The voice of the Church has risen above the tumult, denying the power of the prison to terrify or confiscation to control. In Cuba, in Oriente Province, the very seat of the Castro beginning, the hierarchy and the priests have sounded the tocsin that may convert Castro to the idealism that once inspired him. With a bravery that amounts to heroism the Church has spoken, has alerted the people to that which the government would conceal, has clearly marked the enemy within the gates lest the people be distracted by alarms of a non-existent enemy without.

Simultaneously, the dictator Trujillo has demanded the recall of the Papal Nuncio from the Dominican Republic because the Nuncio and the Bishops have been so determined in opposing the brutalization of the people and the betrayal of human rights. In the so-called Republic the Bishops have been almost the only ones to protest against the "sickening excesses of the government" and only the Bishops and the clergy had the courage to proclaim that there was very little difference between persecution in the Dominican Republic and in communist China. With the perspicacity that comes from defying tyrants and defending people for 200 years, the Church is able to recognize and label tyranny and exploitation, whatever name it bears.

It might be wise for those in this land who would restrict the voice of the Church and limit her influence, those who fear lest her voice be heard in governmental high places, to observe the realism and the intrepidity of the Church. Almost the only voice in the entire Caribbean area raised in defense of those principles upon which American democracy is based is the voice of the Catholic Church. If there is any conversion of Castro and his ilk it will be because the voice of the Church has recalled them to their former idealism. It would seem that the voice of Rome is not entirely the ominous thing it is made to appear.

Responsibility of Youth

During the past month many events have taken place which are world shaking. The collapse of the Summit meeting and the subsequent trip of our President to the Far East have had a sobering effect on the minds of the American people. In reviewing the failure of the Summit meeting, and more particularly the explosive incidents of the President's trip to the Far East, there has been brought into focus the continuing threat of communism and its international aspiration. It has also in one sense awakened the American people to the dire threat which still exists against our American way of life. However, there is another element in today's world that is worthy of attention and consideration and that is the part that is being played by the youth of the world in the cold war.

One incident after another reminds us of the irresponsibility of youth and the great danger that exists by reason of their susceptibility to what is wrong. In our own country at a Congressional hearing in California the youth of that area, under what is suspected to be the direction and encouragement of communist sympathizers, stormed the hearing, created chaos and confusion, and necessitated the strong resistance of the San Francisco police to quell what could have been a riot. In Korea, once again college students led a rebellion which brought about the dismissal of President Syngman Rhee and a new government is now being formed.

The most frightening of all the recent events involving youth was the recent demonstration which took place in Japan. Protesting the impending visit of President Eisenhower, Japanese youth carried on violent demonstrations and created such chaos that they were successful in having the Japanese government cancel the visit of President Eisenhower. The Japanese government recognized that it was only a minority which was demonstrating and also established the fact that it was supported financially by the communists and was thoroughly and effectively arranged by the left wing group in Japan. To the credit of the official government of Japan, the security pact was ratified so that the attempts of the violent local threatening misled youth of Japan did not nullify the relations between the United States and Japan.

Out of all of this America can learn a great lesson. Youth can be misled. Youth can be violent. Youth can be wrong. It is dangerous for us to assume in our own country at a Congressional hearing in California the youth of that area, under what is suspected to be the direction and encouragement of communist sympathizers, stormed the hearing, created chaos and confusion, and necessitated the strong resistance of the San Francisco police to quell what could have been a riot. In Korea, once again college students led a rebellion which brought about the dismissal of President Syngman Rhee and a new government is now being formed.

This Suffering Little Girl Didn't Forget the Missions

Sometimes even little children make a will. Some time ago, for instance, a small girl in the Middle West made her will in the midst of much suffering.

This child received many gifts from interested people; often they were in the form of money. Since the sick girl was suffering from cancer and the parents were not rich people, the money was used for her care.

A few days before the little girl died she requested her mother to use the money to buy whatever was needed for her, and that whatever was left should be sent to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith for the poor children of the world.

The child died on the Feast of the Sacred Heart. Her mother sent what was in her little treasury to the society as the child had requested. It was after she had suffered that she was mindful of the children of the world, which shows that love and suffering go hand in hand.

Where there is love, Catholics make sacrifices, and thereby suffer for the missions. Please give some thought to this and do what you can for the missions. And do not forget the missions in your will.

Sister Thanks

Newark Group
Grateful for a generous check sent the Maryknoll Sisters working for TB patients in the Orient, Sister Mary Augusta writes that the gift, from a Rosary Society of the Archdiocese, "will help ease the lot of many in their afflictions."

"We have a young boy," writes Sister Mary Augusta, "who carries water for our TB patients. Kyong Soo is his name. His father is a patient and has been sick for more than three years. There are eight other children in the family, so mother has to support them all."

"We supply food each week for the family and the father is receiving regular medical care. With the extra money earned, Kyong Soo is able to attend school, which makes him very happy. Thank you again."

Bishop Stanton In Plainfield

Bishop Stanton will make an appeal on behalf of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith on June 28 at St. Bernard's, Plainfield, Msgr. Charles B. Murphy, pastor.

Bishop Stanton is deeply grateful to Msgr. Murphy and to the other pastors of the Archdiocese for their cooperation in making these appeals possible.

Tells of Work In Kenya, Africa

Kimangua, Kenya Colony, Africa, is considered a promising location. Kilgallon Fathers from Ireland write of its progress and ask your prayers for continuance of their success.

"You would not know the hospital," they write. "It has been whitewashed and has 10 beds complete with mattresses, sheets, pillows, pillow cases and blankets."

"Yet the people prefer to sleep on the floor because they are afraid of soiling the white sheets. Kimungu was busy when opened, but things are slack now with only 12 patients. They say there is very little food in the villages and the people are preparing for the coming rains. They can't afford to be sick."

"The boys are taught singing twice a week by Sister Scholastica to get ready for a choral competition in which ours will be the only Catholic school taking part. Msgr. Dunne is getting his own workmen to help with our school building."

"In poor repair, the school doors will not shut without first being banged. There are still no windows on the back veranda. The brick building so far has been built by my people, and they have promised to help with the 'digging' for the new section."

Priest Becomes Foster Father

A Capuchin priest in India tells how the desperate need of the poor has made a foster father of many a missionary:

"A young woman with three cleanly dressed children was waiting for me when I returned from the school. She was Madavi, a Hindu."

"Madavi's husband had fallen from a tree two years ago and the shock had left him a mad man."

"Even if Madavi worked all day she could earn only one rupee (20 cents), far from enough to support her mother, husband and children. She was giving me the children to educate and to have for my own."

Obituary

It is a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead that they may be loosed from their sins. We recommend to the prayers of our readers the repose of the soul of the following who has recently departed this life:

Margaret E. McVeigh

"With difficulty I found a school which would accept the children without charge for board. I worried my friends until they gave me enough money to buy clothing and books. The other day I met Madavi, and she expressed her great happiness that her children have a home."

"I am happy that I have Rajakumar and his two brothers as my children. I will help them become children of God, and they too will be happy."

Father Cerullo Marks 25 Years In Priesthood

JAMAICA, N.Y. — Rev. Quentin Cerullo, C.P., formerly of West New York, observed his silver jubilee in the priesthood on June 12 with a Mass of Thanksgiving in the chapel of

Father Cerullo

Immaculate Conception Monastery here. The sermon was preached by Rev. Eugene Fitzpatrick, C.P., of the monastery.

Father Quentin, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rosco A. Cerullo, was ordained on June 15, 1935, in St. Patrick's Pro-Cathedral, Newark, and celebrated his first Mass in Our Lady of Libera Church, West New York.

For several years he served in the Passionist monastery at Serra Madre, Calif. This was followed by a period on the Mission Band of the Passionist St. Paul of the Cross Province until his current assignment in Jamaica.

St. Bonaventure Alumni Elect

ST. BONAVENTURE, N.Y. — Edward Cain of Westport, Conn., is the new president of the St. Bonaventure University Alumni Association. A 1927 graduate, Cain was elected to a two-year term at the annual reunion.

Cain succeeds Terrence McShane of New York, who has headed the association the past four years. McShane was named a member of the Board of Advisory Regents, a group now being formed whose function will be to advise and consult on the growth and development of the university.

Serving with Cain will be David Curtin of Bolivar, N.Y., vice president, and Leo Fahey, Birmingham. The association conferred its annual alumni award on Thomas Byrnes of Rochester.

Jersey Brother Is Iona Graduate

NEW ROCHELLE — Brother James A. van Koolbergen, F.S.C.H., son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. van Koolbergen, 164 Ell Rd., Hillsdale, has graduated from Iona College here.

Brother van Koolbergen received his bachelor of arts degree, magna cum laude, and also was the recipient of the Latin Award presented by the Alumni Association.

A graduate of St. Andrew's School, Westwood, and St. Cecilia's High School, Englewood, Brother van Koolbergen completed his novitiate at Santa Maria, West Park, N. Y., and his scholasticate at St. Gabriel's, Lakewood, before going to Iona College.

He will be assigned to teach in Irish Christian Brothers schools in North America.

Many Problems for Church In Independent Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (NC) — The Church faces an uncertain future here in the Belgian Congo, which is to become Africa's newest independent state on June 30.

Among the chief problems threatening the Church in the Congo — which has more Catholics than any other African country — are racial strife, tribal warfare, growth of native sects and communist infiltration.

The Congo, plagued by outbreaks of violence since the beginning of 1959, is a country almost twice the size of Alaska. Its 13,539,000 people include 4,865,813 Catholics and 604,663 taking instruction in the Faith.

Missionary efforts in the Congo began before the discovery of America but modern missionary work dates from the 1880s when the Congo Free State was set up.

The Apostolic Vicariate of the Belgian Congo was established in 1888.

Today the Congo is divided into six archdioceses, 26 dioceses and seven apostolic prefectures, erected last November by Pope John. There are three native Bishops and 2,776 priests, of whom 389 are Congolese. Ten years ago there were 154 Congolese priests.

Jewish Election Year Report Studies Anti-Catholic Bias

NEW YORK (NC) — The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith called here for public discussion on why only white Protestants are selected to be candidates for the presidency.

Discussion so far, the Jewish organization said, has degenerated into talk about the fitness of a non-Protestant to be President, rather than "constructive and healthy dialogue" about how this discussion itself contradicts U. S. political theory.

Noting that in the past year, Protestant objections to a Catholic as a presidential candidate have increased, the report said "a distressing amount" of the discussion "is anti-Catholic bigotry," "a disquieting proportion" of it being of the gutter variety.

The report, titled "The Religious Issue in the 1960 Election Campaign," was presented to the league's national executive committee meeting here by Henry Edward Schultz, league chairman. It was prepared under the supervision of Arnold Forster, general counsel.

The report says four per-iodicals have a "strong anti-Catholic bias": the Western Voice, published in Colorado; the Christian Heritage, formerly the Converted Catholic, published in Sea Cliff, L. I.; the Methodist Challenge, published in Los Angeles; and the Voice of Freedom, published in Nashville, Tenn.

The Anti-Defamation League also said that anti-Catholic extremists today are circulating petitions, seeking a million signatures, to demand that neither party nominate a Catholic for President or Vice President.

The league also distributed a companion study titled "Prejudice and Politics." A 55-page pamphlet, it was written by Charles P. Taft, chairman of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, and Bruce L. Felkner, executive director of the committee.

Priest Is Unique Teacher-Trainee

By Anne Mae Buckley
NEWARK — There were many unique qualities about one graduate of the Columbia University School of Education this year.

To begin with, he ranked first in the class which received the master's degree in special education last Thursday.

Then too, he was the first priest ever to have participated in the teacher training program at Lexington School for the Deaf where he did stints as teacher, observer and speech therapist as part of the degree qualifications.

Finally, he was the only man in the class.

THE UNIQUE GRADUATE was Rev. John P. Hourihan, director of the Mt. Carmel Guild Apostolate for the Deaf of the Archdiocese of Newark. And possibly the most remarkable thing about his new degree is that while he was devoting 54 hours a week to it as a commuting student, he was also directing the broad Catholic program for the deaf of New Jersey's four northern counties.

How did officials of Columbia University's School of Education feel about admitting to the special education program such an unusual student? Says Father Hourihan: "They were elated to learn that the Church is willing to send leaders of its special education programs to school for internship which will qualify them for the direction of speech and hearing centers."

"Internship" is the term applied to the teacher training program at Lexington School. Father Hourihan and the 11 other special education students spent half of each school day at Lexington where they observed the 250 deaf children enrolled there, did student teaching under direction of the class teachers and practice teaching under direction of the supervisors of the school, and made practical studies of speech therapy, auditory training, language development and related techniques.

HAPPY TALK: Tots at Lexington School for the Deaf seem to be enjoying their language class taught by Father Hourihan. Class and school supervisors observe in background.

A SPECIAL PROGRAM of field trips was set up for Father Hourihan by Dr. Leo Connor, educational director of the Lexington School teacher training program. "Since the Mt.

Carmel Guild plans to develop hearing and speech centers as well as special classes for the deaf and hard of hearing in parochial schools," Father Hourihan explained, "Dr. Connor arranged for me to visit various hearing and speech centers in the metropolitan area to study their structure and progress."

The Mt. Carmel Guild recently opened the first such hearing and speech center at St. Francis Hospital, Jersey City, under Father Hourihan's direction and supervision. The centers he visited for study included: Bellevue Hospital and St. Joseph's, New York City; Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore; Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C.; and Clarke School in Massachusetts.

AMONG THE MANY gags which grew out of Father Hourihan's unique position in the special education class was a picture of the Lexington School teacher training class—himself and the 11 female students—which appeared at a convention of the New York Schools for the Deaf. The caption read: "Our father, who art in Lexington . . ."

Then there was a line from a graduation-time skit in which the 1960 special education class instructed the class of 1961 to get its own priest "because we're taking ours with us."

DURING THE year-long study-intern stint, Father Hourihan maintained a rigorous routine. He rose before 6:30 a.m. to travel from the Newark Guidance Center, 47 Central Ave., where he lives, to St. Francis Xavier Church where he would say the 7 a.m. Mass. After a quick breakfast he was in his car, part of the daily commuter parade across the Hudson—and fitting in his daily Rosary as he drove.

By 9 a.m. he could be seen, attache case in hand, mounting the steps of Lexington School at Lexington Ave. and 67th St. in one of Manhattan's plushiest districts.

FROM 9 A.M. TO 3 P.M. he would be a student and/or teacher at the school, where students who range from three-year-olds to teenagers addressed him as "Father John," and where he taught everything from social studies to sewing. ("All right, if you have to know . . . yes, I can sew. My mother taught me when I was a little boy . . .")

At 3 p.m. it was time to journey uptown to Columbia where classes lasted until as late as 7 p.m. Most of the time he could then return to the Guidance Center for supper, but on Thursdays, when he had to be at the Newark Catholic Deaf Center at 7:45 p.m. for meetings, his evening meal was a sandwich munched during the drive from Manhattan to Newark.

EVEN THE MOST casual observer would have to admit that versatility is Father Hourihan's long suit—how many roles has he played during the past year: priest, educator, student, commuter, etc. And in so many incidents he was a pioneer.

For example, for many of the children at Lexington School, he was the first priest they had ever come in contact with. "The non-Catholic students thought of me as a teacher rather than as a priest," Father Hourihan recalls, "that is, until their hamster got sick and they asked me to pray for him."

FEAST OF SPRING: Grazina Fidleris, 13, wearing Lithuanian national costume, brings bouquet of roses and rue (the national flower of Lithuania) to Msgr. Kemezis for the Corpus Christi procession at SS. Peter and Paul. In background is base of carved Lithuanian cross in rectory garden.

Corpus Christi Custom

ELIZABETH — The pageant of music and flowers that was the Corpus Christi procession in pre-war Lithuania — as well as in other European countries — survives in miniature in SS. Peter and Paul Lithuanian Church here.

In the procession of the Old World past, the Blessed Sacrament was carried through the streets of the village by the priest followed by the people. Flower wreaths and bouquets decorated flags and banners, as well as the houses along the way.

The procession paused four times — three times at the homes of selected good people, and once at the church. At each stop the Blessed Sacrament would be placed on an altar, hymns would be sung and the beginning of one of the Gospels would be read.

"WE STILL HAVE the Corpus Christi procession," says Msgr. Michael G. Kemezis, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul, "but we don't go outside the church, and only the altar boys and little girls in white dresses and veils take part. "But we do use four altars and as the procession reaches each we place the Blessed Sacrament on the altar and we read the beginning of one of the four Gospels."

Msgr. Kemezis explained that the procession goes first to the St. Joseph altar, then to a portable altar set up in the rear of the church for this occasion, then to the Blessed Virgin's altar and finally to the main altar. All the while the people sing a Eucharistic hymn in Lithuanian.

The procession at SS. Peter and Paul was held June 19, the Sunday after the Feast of Corpus Christi, June 16.

IN THE EARLY DAYS of the parish all the flowers which decorated the altars and were carried by the children were brought by the people from their gardens. Only a few members of the industrially located parish still have gardens and these continue the custom. The Old World custom of decorating the altar with live birch trees had to be discontinued.

"Lithuanians love flowers," says Newark-born Msgr. Kemezis. "At the time of the Corpus Christi procession the whole village would be in bloom.

"In Lithuania, when a young man came to court a girl," Msgr. Kemezis revealed, "he would look first at the garden. It was thought that if the garden were well-tended and beautiful, then the girl had an aptitude for running a home well."

"Of course he would see first the rue ("ruta") — the beloved national flower of Lithuania which grew in every garden." Msgr. Kemezis has the hauntingly sweet-smelling, always-green rue growing in the rectory garden.

A LOVER OF plants and flowers, Msgr. Kemezis even had the colored panels in the huge Lithuanian-style carved altar in the church painted green. "The gold in the altar signifies heart and the sacrifice of love," he explains, "and the green means life."

He is fond of reminding his parishioners of the oppressed Lithuanian nation that their flower signifies their bitter-sweet struggle and their spirit to remain alive.

Home-Style Surgery Recalled By Dr. Whelan on Anniversary

PASSAIC — Persuading the patient to go the hospital was more than half the battle for the surgeon of 50 years ago, according to Edward P. Whelan, M.D., who recalls that hundreds of operations used to be performed in the home.

Nevertheless, as Dr. Whelan was honored at a surprise luncheon commemorating his golden anniversary on the staff of St. Mary's Hospital recently, it was noted that he has performed some 21,000 operations since 1910.

DR. WHELAN'S reminiscences, including some startling ones about the ethical fee schedule in the old days, were made as he accepted a solid gold scalpel presented by St. Mary's medical staff. Back in 1899, according to the Passaic County Medical Journal, Dr. Whelan said, a physician charged 50 cents for an office call, $1 for a house call, and sometimes, if there were a distance to travel, $1.50.

Dr. Whelan, who attended St. Bridget's School and St. Peter's College, both in Jersey City, and the Medical College of Virginia (Class of 1908), joined the staff of St. Mary's June 10, 1910.

Dr. Whelan has been a fellow in the American College of Surgeons since 1919, and has worked at New York Orthopedic Hospital and St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, in addition to contributing to medical journals and teaching.

SISTER EILEEN Teresa, administrator of St. Mary's, also reminisced as she addressed the doctors and others at the luncheon, including Mrs. Whelan. She recalled that St. Mary's began in 1895 with 12 beds and now thrives as a 315-bed modern hospital.

From the minutes of the first meeting of the board of governors in 1895, Sister Eileen quoted: "After much discussion, it was unanimously agreed to discontinue sweeping the carpets in the wards and to expend the sum of $4.50 for a carpet-sweeper."

And then from an 1896 meeting: "Because of the nuisance to the nurses and patients, the board voted to prohibit visitors from bringing dogs and other animals into the hospital."

Sister Eileen Teresa called it a "very happy and unusual occasion for St. Mary's Hospital and its medical staff to have a member celebrate his golden anniversary as a physician," and thanked Dr. Whelan for "50 years of faithful service as a doctor and an outstanding surgeon in this community."

World Church at His Fingertips

VATICAN CITY—Pope John literally has Newark and Paterson at his fingertips.

This is so because on June 21 he was given a unique globe by the Divine Word Missionaries. The globe — the largest being manufactured today — is the only one which indicates the geographical boundaries of each of the nearly 2,200 dioceses and other ecclesiastical districts in the world.

Standing six feet high and measuring four feet in diameter, it is made of plexiglass. The superimposed lacquered map of 10 basic colors is illuminated from within by a neon light and is equipped with an electric motor by which it rotates on its axis.

THE ECCLESIASTICAL map, which took about 18 months to complete, is the work of Rev. Henry Emmerich, S.V.D., a native of Switzerland who heads the Map Making and Statistical Institute at Divine Word headquarters in Rome. He is also a part-time cartographer for the Sacred Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith.

However, the idea for the giant globe originally came from the Holy Father himself.

SIX WEEKS after being elected Supreme Pontiff, Pope John had an audience with Archbishop Pietro Sigismondi, secretary of the congregation. Part of the discussion dealt with the division of a mission diocese, and the Archbishop pointed out the area involved in the Mission Atlas published by the congregation that year.

The atlas, almost two feet long and more than a foot wide, contained statistical data and 44 maps in color indicating the boundaries of dioceses and other Church jurisdictions in the missions. That, too, was the work of Father Emmerich, in collaboration with Divine Word Brothers who run a large offset press near Vienna.

Flinging through the atlas, the Pontiff looked up at Archbishop Sigismondi and asked if there were not something similar for the whole world. He said that as the new Pope he would have to know the location of all the dioceses in the world, not just those in mission lands.

POPE JOHN said it would be ideal for him if the geographical boundaries for the whole Church could be indicated on some giant globe that he could keep in his private study. There he could refer to it when needed and Bishops who were making their "ad limina" visits to report on the condition of their dioceses would not have to waste valuable time explaining their location.

Archbishop Sigismondi took the problem to Father Emmerich. Father Emmerich took it to the Jro Publishing House in Munich and immediately set about drawing the necessary maps so that the Holy Father would have Newark and Paterson and 2,198 other jurisdictions — and a certain amount of selected information about each, including rank, location of diocesan headquarters, the rite to which it belongs and the Sacred Congregation to which it is subject — at his fingertips.

The globe includes all diocesan changes made up to May of this year. Future changes will be made by hand by Father Emmerich.

Pontiff 'Passes' Spanish Test

VATICAN CITY—Pope John XXIII claims he is a beginner in Spanish as well as in English, a language the 78-year-old Pontiff is now learning.

The Pontiff had prepared a Spanish-language address for a group of Spanish pilgrims.

Pope John prefaced his remarks by saying in Italian: "Now be patient with me, I am a beginner in Spanish."

However, he read the text with good pronunciation, although faltering a few times. When he finished the talk, he said, "Now I have completed my first Spanish-language examination."

After apologizing for having ruined a few words, the Pope promised he would try to speak Spanish better. Then he added, as though speaking to himself, an Italian saying that indicates near desperation: "Don't die, horse, the grass is growing."

Why Holy Father Elevated Negro

HONOLULU — Pope John preferred to dramatize the cause for racial justice rather than expound it in an encyclical and for that reason he selected a Negro — Bishop Laurian Rugambwa of Rutabo, Tanganyika — for elevation to the Sacred College of Cardinals.

According to Auxiliary Bishop Thomas W. Muldoon of Sydney, Australia, the Holy Father himself gave that as his reason for the move. Bishop Muldoon was one of 14 missionary Bishops personally consecrated by the Pope in May. During a visit here, the Bishop recalled that at a private audience with the new Bishops the Pope said:

"I might have published an encyclical on the racial question but I preferred a gesture — a gesture with meaning. I took an African Bishop and elevated him to the College of Cardinals. No one can mistake the significance of that gesture."

FUN ON DECK: One of the many Missionary Sisters of Our Lady of Africa who board Mediterranean liners between Genoa and Naples to look after the sick and the very young is shown making friends with a tiny passenger.

Have you tasted the bread that was never meant to be sold?

It's called Monks' Bread and has long been the daily bread of the Trappists of the Abbey of the Genesee, a mainstay in their austere diet.

A tall, thin loaf, different and more delicious than any you've ever tasted, this healthful bread has become popular overnight. Actually this bread was never meant to be sold. But visitors to the Abbey of the Genesee were so enthusiastic about it that the Monks agreed to share it with the outside world.

Recently the Bond Bakers were given the privilege of baking Monks' Bread for you. Monks' Bread baked by Bond, following the Trappist recipe, is now at your favorite store in White, Whole Wheat and Raisin loaves. Do try it.

Dad, Ike, Tom Dooley Share the Advocate Winners' Spotlight

By June Dwyer

At long last we have received the results from the judges of the Past and Future contest. We are going to announce the winners in the Junior division first so we can give our readers plenty of time to get some patriotic spirit for the great day of July 4 — when we first knew the full meaning of Independence.

Next week we will announce the winners in the Senior division of the contest. We will also print the winning graduation addresses of the winners.

THIS WEEK'S contestants did a wonderful job of writing in 150 words or less about their favorite American hero. The boys and girls wrote about a lot of different people — which goes to prove that it takes a lot of good people to make a great country.

The winners told about their favorite people too, and their words had that extra ring to them that will bring checks in the mail and beautiful certificates for them to frame.

A $5 first prize check is going to our youngest entrant — Philip Ganz, a kindergartner from St. Stanislaus Kostka, Garfield. Philip lives at 95 Pacific Ave., Garfield, with his favorite hero — his dad.

You can read what our young winner has to say on this page. He was taught this year by Miss Sophia.

A $3 SECOND prize check is going to Susan Elizabeth Kist of St. Aloysius, Caldwell. Susan, who lives at 29 Beverly Rd., West Caldwell, is taught by Sister Padraic in the fourth grade.

Susan chose our President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, for her favorite hero. Why not read her entry on this page and see why.

The third prize of $2 is going to another fourth grader from St. Aloysius, Caldwell. She is Phyllis Lombardi of 502A Bloomfield Ave., Caldwell. Phyllis, who chose Dr. Tom Dooley for her favorite American, is also taught by Sister Padraic.

That's it, Young Advocates, the winners of the first half of our contest. Be sure to be with us next week to read the entries of the senior winners.

HONORABLE MENTION certificates are awarded to the following Young Advocates (names are listed in alphabetical order): Dennis Alia, Mt. Virgin, Garfield; Sister Margaret.

Paul Alrutz, Our Lady Queen of Peace, Maywood; Sister Antoinette Bosco.

Joseph Bassani, Queen of Peace, Maywood; Sister Antoinette Bosco.

CDA Delegates Plan Trip

NEWARK — Mary C. Kanane, state regent of the Catholic Daughters of America in New Jersey, met recently with the delegates who will represent the 15,000 state Catholic Daughters at the national convention in the Hotel Hilton, Pittsburgh, July 10-14.

North Jersey delegates attending with Miss Kanane are: Mrs. Douglas Hennessy, past state monitor, a member of Court Anastasia, Teaneck; Mrs. James Carmichael, Court Miller, North Plainfield; Mrs. Charles Saunders, Court Paulus Hook, Jersey City; Mrs. John Rossi, Court Dover; Mrs. Robert Hodge, Court Victory, Rahway, and Ella Lisa, Court Grandwood, Palisade.

Dominicans Name New Supervisors

CALDWELL — Mother Dolorita, mother general of the Sisters of St. Dominic, has named two supervisors of schools and five new superiors.

Sister M. Germaine, principal of Mt. St. Dominic Academy, Caldwell, has been named supervisor of Dominican high schools. Sister M. Margaret, former superior of Our Lady of Peace, New Providence, will be supervisor of Dominican grade schools. The joint position was formally held by Sister M. Miriam, who will become superior of St. Aedan's, Jersey City, replacing Sister Edmund, whose term has expired.

OTHER NEW superiors named to fill six-year terms are: Sister Catherine Bernadette of Sacred Heart, Lyndhurst, named superior of Our Lady of Peace, New Providence; Sister Marita, registrar of Caldwell College, named superior of St. Philip's, Clifton, replacing Sister M. Corita; Sister Geraldine Marie of St. Mary's, Rutherford, named superior of St. Boniface, Jersey City, to succeed Sister M. Claude; Sister M. Leo of St. Aedan's, Jersey City, named superior of St. Theresa's, Kenilworth, to succeed Sister M. Lucy. Sister M. Celine has also been named sub-prioress of the community to succeed Sister M. Herbert, who retains her position as vice principal of Mt. St. Dominic Academy.

Jersey City Girl Receives Habit

NEWBURGH, N.Y. — Sister M. Jane Dominic, the former Nancy Mehem of Jersey City, received the habit of the Sisters of St. Dominic of the Congregation of the Most Holy Rosary June 7 at the Mt. St. Mary-on-the-Hudson Motherhouse.

Sister Jane Dominic is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mehem. She is a graduate of St. Paul's School and the Academy of St. Aloysius, Jersey City.

Air Saint

ROME (RNS) — Authorities in the Italian town of Pisa have asked the Vatican to designate St. Bona of Pisa as patron saint of airline hostesses.

St. Bona, who was born at Pisa in 1156 and died there in 1208, became known throughout her life as a globe-trotting saint who devoted herself to helping pilgrims.

She is reputed to have left Italy for the Holy Land at the age of 13 to carry out her self-imposed mission. From that time until the age of 50 when her feet had become swollen, she dedicated herself to helping and encouraging pilgrims to the Holy Land and other shrines in Europe.

NEW POST: Sister M. Margaret, O.P., principal of Our Lady of Peace, is shown cutting a cake at her farewell party given by the parishioners, after six years as first principal of the New Providence School. Looking on is Rev. Peter J. Doherty, pastor.

Essex Girl Gets Habit

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. — Sister Mary Antoinette, the former Edith Davis of South Orange, received the habit of the Helpers of the Holy Souls at the novitiate of Our Lady of Providence here recently.

Sister Mary Antoinette will study at Chappaqua for two years before going to the Paris (France) motherhouse for a final year of study.

SISTER MARY Antoinette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Davis, is a graduate of Our Lady of Sorrows School South Orange, and Our Lady of the Valley High School, Orange. The Helpers of the Holy Souls are a missionary community who do nursing and social work particularly in large cities.

Braille Degree for Busy Lady

NUTLEY — A woman whose activities run the gamut from medicine and dentistry aid to membership in the professional women's club, has recently received her degree as a braille transcriber from the Library of Congress, Washington.

Mrs. Joseph A. Reilly of Nutley received certification for her book written in braille, "The Life of Mother Seton." Mrs. Reilly was tutored in braille at the Mt. Carmel Center for the Blind, Newark, by Brother Barnabas, M.S.S.T., of St. Joseph's Shrine, Sterling. Brother Barnabas also is blind.

MRS. REILLY, who spends a good deal of her time working for the Guild, will continue to write books in braille, principally on the religious theme, to be distributed by the Guild to hospitals and shut-ins. At present she assists Brother Barnabas, editor of See-Hear, the Guild's monthly paper, which is also written in braille.

Mrs. Reilly is currently president of the Essex-Montclair District Council of Catholic Women. Other activities include membership in the Women's Guild of Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry, the Mother Seton Guild, Tri-Town Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the Nutley Woman's Club, and Court Gratia, CDA.

She is past president of the St. Mary's Rosary, treasurer of the Rotary Annex and a volunteer worker at St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic.

Missionary Order Will Train African Sisters in U. S. Colleges

WASHINGTON (RNS) — A U.S. community of nuns announced plans for a mission program that would bring native Sisters from a communist-threatened area of India to this country for college training.

The "Sisters of Mercy of the Union," a community of 7,000 nuns who operate 10 colleges in the U.S., will enroll two native Sisters from Kerala in each of their colleges annually. Described as the religious equivalent of the government's effort to train native leaders in U.S. schools, the plan is the first of its kind undertaken by an American community of nuns.

UPON COMPLETION of their studies, the native Sisters will return to the Indian state which has experienced many church difficulties in recent years. A communist regime which for a time controlled the state's educational system refused to admit priests and Sisters as students, and Catholic schools, hospitals and orphanages have consequently experienced a shortage of trained personnel to staff the institutions.

Mother Mary Regina, R.S.M., mother general, said in four years the program will be returning 20 educated Sisters annually to Kerala. She said the community was concentrating on one Indian archdiocese to give strength of numbers.

"The influence of two or three trained Sisters would soon be lost through lack of continuity," she observed.

Mother Mary Regina also pointed out that the returning Sisters would form the nucleus for native training centers. "It is generally agreed that sending 'westerners' is not the answer to the problem," she added.

Agagianian, Pro-Prefect of the Sacred Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith in Rome, expressed hope in a personal conversation with him that the venture might be initiated by other religious communities.

Mother Mary Regina reported that she already had received offers from other religious communities who wish to participate in the program.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE: Charles Martowlis of Blessed Sacrament, Elizabeth, received a special award at his graduation — he was honored for having perfect attendance through all eight years of grade school. His record also includes perfect attendances at Mass and Communion. Charles, a member of the drum and bugle corps, is the recipient of the Boy Scout Ad Altare Dei medal and the Parvuli Dei Cub Scout award.

With North Jersey Women Last Reports

By June Dwyer

The last reports of officers and the last projects of the year are slowly coming in as the season closes out for warmer and more relaxing activity.

Farewells
Farewells are being said in a big way by the women of St. Anne's, Fair Lawn. They have slated a card party for June 24 at 8 p.m. in the school hall for the benefit of St. Joseph's Village, Rockleigh. Mrs. John Jadamec is coordinator assisted by Rev. Harold Blake, O.F.M., pastor, as honorary chairman.

The Morris County chapter of Caldwell College Alumnae have circled June 23 for their farewell meeting. The agenda will unfold at the home of Mrs. Anthony Scerbo, Berch St., Bonton, at 8:15 p.m. . . . The Junior Catholic Daughters of Court Anastasia, Teaneck, held a successful dessert - fashion show at Arnold Constable recently. Over 175 persons attended the affair, directed by Mrs. J. Malloy assisted by Mrs. James Coleman and Mrs. Richard Berta . . .

New Leaders
The list of new officers grows and grows. Mrs. Charles T. Henderson was recently installed as president of St. Clare's Hospital Auxiliary, Den-ville. She will be assisted during the year by Mrs. Joseph F. Kuchta, Mrs. Armand E. Beley, Mrs. James W. Phelan and Mrs. Fred C. Henn . . . Mrs. Fred Job assumed the role of grand regent of Court Gratia, CDA, Belleville, June 21. She will be assisted by Mrs. C. J. Kunst, Mrs. Stanley Koval, Mrs. Fred Scott, Mrs. Arthur Watts, Mrs. Chester Murphy, Mrs. Willard Simpson, Mrs. David Liddell, Mrs. Paul Phillips and Mrs. Martin Simmons . . .

Rosarians of Our Lady of Sorrows, South Orange, elected the following new officers: Mrs. Charles Deubel, president; Mrs. John Matthews, Mrs. John Campbell and Mrs. Edward Skeffington . . . Mrs. John J. Madura was elected president of St. James Rosary, Springfield, recently. She will be assisted during the year by Mrs. Joseph Affitto, Mrs. William Loeffler, Mrs. Charles Denalinger and Mrs. Nicholas Farah. Installation took place this month.

Halleck, Murray Rate Top Billing On 1960 All-Archdiocesan Team

By Ed Grant

NEWARK — St. Benedict's Prep, St. Mary's (E) and Seton Hall Prep have placed three men apiece on The Advocate's 1960 All-Archdiocesan baseball team, one which has no repeaters from the 1959 first team.

Representing the Bees are junior pitchers Frank O'Brien and Tony (Bomber) Candelmo and senior first baseman John Brogan. From Seton Hall come senior catcher John DeNoia, junior pitcher Jeff Gausepohl and senior third baseman Billy Lennon. The St. Mary's boys are all seniors: second baseman Billy Murray, shortstop Bobby Halleck and outfielder Vince Kazalonis.

Murray and Halleck, who have been teaming up since sophomore year as the double play combine at St. Mary's, share "Player of the Year" honors. It is almost impossible to separate this pair, who have been bedeviling Union County high school and American Legion foes over the past three years. Here is a rundown on the team position by position:

PITCHERS — There were few pitchers with "big" records this season and so the unusual choice of two St. Benedict's boys was possible. Candelmo carried the burden in the first part of the season and finished with an 11-4 record. O'Brien was tops at the end of the year and had an 8-1 record.

Gausepohl was chiefly responsible for Seton Hall's strong stretch run and ended the campaign at 9-2. Topping the second team is Joe DeSantis of Walsh with 9-4, while his mates are Mike McCartney of St. Mary's (R), 6-5, and Roy (No-Hit) Turci of Bergen Catholic, who pitched much better than his 4-3 record might indicate.

CATCHERS — A plethora of good catchers made the choice here extremely difficult. DeNoia, an honorable mention last year, leaped over two 1959 second choices to make the first team along with Don Bosco Prep's great all-around athlete, Steve Murray. Larry Hrebiniak, long-ball hitter from St. Peter's, held his second team slot, but Richie Boczon of St. Benedict's lost out to Jim Manhardt of St. Mary's (E) another long-ball specialist.

INFELDERS — The first quartet combines great fielding and solid hitting. Brogan is as fine a glove man as you can find and belted the ball at a .407 clip. Halleck showed a .418 average, while Murray hit .353 and stole 28 bases. Lennon, who alternated between third and short, had an over .300 mark. On the second club are Tommy Stocker of Seton Hall at first base, Charles Gutschmidt of St. Joseph's (W), a .424 hitter, at

DePaul Girls In Bike Test

HIGHLAND PARK—Patricia Rourke, a recent graduate of DePaul Regional High School, and Cornelia "Pooch" Harrington, who will be going into her senior year there, have earned trips to the women's national bicycle championships next month.

The two DePaul stars qualified by placing first and second, respectively, in each of three races in the state women's cycling championships here Sunday. Patricia, 17, was the defending champion. Events included the half-mile, mile and two-mile races.

Miss Rourke will be making her second appearance in the nationals, having placed fourth a year ago. This year the nationals are listed for Milwaukee July 15-17.

Miss Harrington will be no stranger to Milwaukee. It was there where as a 15-year-old she astonished ice skating experts by qualifying as a member of the U.S. Olympic speed skating team.

second base, Pat Honey of Queen of Peace, last year's first team choice, at shortstop, and Frank Heaney of Walsh at third. Honey and Heaney both hit .394.

OUTFIELDERS — High averages mark both the first and second team garden selections. Kazalonis, with a late start, batted .424 for St. Mary's, Richie Higgins of St. Mary's (R), a second team choice the past two years, lifted himself up to first with a .425 average and Bill McFadden of Walsh batted .415.

Gene O'Sullivan of Holy Trinity, who dropped from first team in 1958 to honorable mention last year, moved up to second team with a .323 average. John Eltzholz of Immaculate Conception showed a .392 mark and Dan Hopkins of Bergen Catholic batted a .365 record.

UTILITY — The two first-team nominations here are really all-around stars. Larry Kackos of Marist can play almost anywhere on a ball field and do a good job, while his bat blazed with a .419 average. Ray Sneden of St. Aloysius had the highest average of all the players at .491 and also bore his team's pitching burden with a 6-5 record.

Making the second team in this department were Ernie Klaskha, a .390 batter and 3-3 pitcher for St. Luke's, and Kenny Clough, the stickout of a rookie St. Mary's (JC) team with a .386 average. Both were chiefly shortstops, but could fill in anywhere in an emergency.

Halpin Sparks Thomists In Drive for Junior Title

NEWARK—If John Halpin keeps pitching the way he has in his first two starts for St. Thomas the Apostle (Bloomfield), there won't be much of a race in the Essex County CYO Junior Baseball League.

Halpin was the winner again last Sunday as he set down St. Paul the Apostle (Irvington), 4-1, the run St. Paul's scored being the only one Halpin has given up thus far. His latest effort was a four-hitter.

Other junior games found Sacred Heart (Vailsburg) nipping St. Lucy's (Newark), 8-7, and St. Michael's (Newark) playing St. Rose of Lima (Newark) to a 7-7 standoff. This week St. Michael's gets the opportunity to see what it can do with Halpin while Sacred Heart goes after its second win at the expense of St. Rose.

Seton Hall, Pope Pius, Don Bosco Tech Headed North Jersey Baseball in 1960

NEWARK—Seton Hall Prep, Pope Pius and Don Bosco Tech gleaned the major share of honors in the 1960 baseball season, one which had more than its share of surprises, upsets and disappointments for the 39 North Jersey Catholic high school teams.

The Pony Pirates repeated as NJSIAA "North Jersey" "A" champions, winning 10 of their last 11 games and defeating Don Bosco and Pope Pius for the title. The Eagles showed the best won-lost record in the area, 16-2, and also took the Tri-County Catholic "A" Conference crown.

Don Bosco Tech was perhaps the major surprise of the campaign. The pitching of Billy Taylor brought the Rams their first Passaic-Bergen Catholic Conference title and also got them past St. Mary's (E) and Walsh for the NJSIAA North Jersey "B" crown.

TWO TEAMS WHICH started the season with high hopes — St. Benedict's and St. Mary's (E) — performed well enough, but still lost out on their major bids for glory. The Bees did take the unofficial state prep school tourney, carving their way to a 21-5 record, but were beaten in the first round of the Greater Newark Tournament.

St. Mary's made a bid to sweep three major titles and wound up with none. The Hill-toppers, starting slowly, lost four of their first seven games, then won their next eight. But with the high stakes on the table, they were beaten successively by Don Bosco Tech in the state "B" tourney, by New Brunswick in the Greater Newark Tourney and by Linden in the finals of the Union County tourney.

IT WAS A CAMPAIGN which saw many fine athletes end their high school careers—boys like Bobby Halleck, Bill Murray, Jim Manhardt and Vince Kazalonis of St. Mary's (E), Bill Croal of St. Bonaventure, Gerry Mackin of Pope Pius, John Brogan of St. Benedict's, Joe Riccardo of St. Mary's (P), John DeNoia of Seton Hall and Lou Chiarolanio of Bayley-Elland.

Catholic teams fared none-too-well in mixed leagues. Delbarton came closest to a title in the North Jersey Ivy League, dropping a crucial game to Morristown School, 1-0. Morris Catholic made a belated rush in the Northwest Jersey Conference, but after the verdict was in. None of the Hudson County Interscholastic Athletic Association entries made much of a din in the divisional races there.

The number of teams which finished above the .500 mark for the season dwindled from 10 to eight, as most teams enjoyed indifferent, near .500, campaigns. Aside from the title contenders already mentioned, the only other in the elite class was St. Aloysius at 14-5. The overall won-lost record dropped from 304-285 last season to 316-311 this year.

ON THE WHOLE, the new varsity teams did very well. Morris Catholic posted an 8-4 record, St. Mary's (JC) finished at 7-7 and St. Anthony's showed a 6-6 mark. Essex Catholic was the only one below .500 and even it had a good mark for a no-senior club, 8-13.

The top improvement of the year came from St. Joseph's (W) which jumped from 2-18 to 10-7. Not far behind was St. Aloysius (6-10 last year) and Pope Pius (11-9 in 1959). Biggest drop was suffered by St. Cecilia's (K), which went from 12-3 to 3-13. (Come back, Billy boy.)

For next year, the tip is to watch the big three: St. Benedict's, Seton Hall and St. Peter's, all of whom bring back their pitching staffs virtually intact. Among smaller schools, Walsh, Don Bosco Tech, St. John's and Immaculate have a lot returning and, of course, Morris Catholic, as well as Essex Catholic, had no graduation at all this year.

North Jersey Standouts In All-Star Cage Bill

JERSEY CITY — Danny Waddleton of St. Michael's (UC), Joe Kelly of St. Peter's Prep, Jim Manhardt of St. Mary's (E) and Ron Zazzara of Oratory will be the representatives from North Jersey Catholic High Schools in the first annual all-star high school basketball doubleheader sponsored by the Hudson County CYO at Roosevelt Stadium on June 29.

Waddleton will appear in the feature game of the night, playing for the East entry in the All-American East-West contest. Kelly and Manhardt will be members of a New Jersey all-star group which will face a similar team from New York in the preliminary game which starts at 7:30 p.m.

Manhardt, Kelly and Waddleton were members of The Advocate's All-North Jersey team this past season. Manhardt was also the "Player of the Year" and a member of the All-Metropolitan team chosen by the Catholic weeklies of the area. Zazzara was on the All-Union County Team.

THE EAST-WEST game has gathered the finest high school talent from all parts of the nation. Coaching the East club will be Tom Morgan of Englewood, while the West team is handled by Spin Salrio of Chicago. In the preliminary tilt, All Hallows mentor Dick King will tutor the New Jersey quintet, while Roy Rubin of Christopher Columbus High School is the New York pilot.

Waddleton will have for his teammates such giants as Jay Buckley, a seven-footer from Bladensburg, Md.; John Thompson, another seven-footer from Archbishop Carroll of Washington D.C.; Roger Brown, the 6-5 star of Wingate, N.Y.C., and Barry Kramer, 6-4 ace of Linton, Schenectady, N.Y.

Other members of the East team are George Leftwich of Archbishop Carroll, Ron (Itchy) Smith of Camden's undefeated state Group IV champions, Archie Roberts of Holyoke, Mass., Connie Hawkins of Boys High School, Brooklyn, and Dennis Lynch of Exeter Academy, a former Red Bank Catholic star.

THE WEST TEAM also has its seven-footer in Bill Chmeliewski of Holy Redeemer, Detroit, Mich. It is even taller on the average than the East squad, for it also includes George Wilson (6-8) of Marshall, Chicago; Paul Silas (6-7) of McClymonds, Oakland, Calif.; Lawrence (Bumpy) Nixon (6-6) of Galesburg, Ill.; Joe Louis

With Kelly and Manhardt on the New Jersey team are Mike Checkan of Passaic, Golden Sunkett of Camden, Art Woliansky of Weequeah, Nick Werkman of Trenton Catholic, Luke Menter of Englewood, Fran Sullivan of Bayonne, Leroy Peacock of Moorestown and Ken Ryan of Hasbrouck Heights.

The New York team includes Miles Aikens of George Washington, Nolan Brackett of DeWitt Clinton, Jack Tracy of Curris, Rich McClory of All Hallows, Ronnie Miller and Warren Lischulz of Columbus, George Humann of St. Helene's, Miles Dorch of Cardinal Hayes, Art Burke of Chelsea Vocational and Jim Boatwright of Thomas Jefferson.

St. Ann's Reaches Finals in Essex

NEWARK—St. Ann's, Newark, won the city championship in the Essex County CYO Grammar School Baseball League by beating St. Leo's, Irvington, here 4-3 in a playoff between divisional winners.

St. Ann's is scheduled to meet the suburban winner on June 29 at a site to be decided. St. Mary's and Holy Family, both Nutley, and Our Lady of Lourdes, West Orange are in contention for suburban honors.

ST. MARY'S was to play Holy Family this week for the Division IV crown. Both clubs had 8-2 records going into the game, having beaten out Immaculate Conception, Montclair, and St. Thomas the Apostle, Bloomfield, both of whom ended at 8-3, in the closest race in any division.

Our Lady of Lourdes won the Division III title after beating its two chief competitors in one week. The West Orange nine ended its divisional season with a 10-1 record by clipping St. Joseph's, West Orange, 10-7, and St. John's, Orange, 8-7. Those two tied for second with 8-3 showings.

Danny Waddleton

Caldwell (6-5) of Freemont, Los Angeles; Dick Faglano (6-6) of Oakland, Calif.; and Charles Nash (6-5) of Lake Charles, La.

Other members of the West team are Ricky Kaminsky (6-1) of Bellaire, Tex.; Tom Baxley of North Miami, Fla., and Jeff Mullins of Lafayette, Lexington, Ky.

St. Ann's is scheduled to meet the suburban winner on June 29 at a site to be decided. St. Mary's and Holy Family, both Nutley, and Our Lady of Lourdes, West Orange are in contention for suburban honors.

Samuel Di Ubaldi, president of the local, takes part in the congratulatory rite.

Petreans Off to Europe

JERSEY CITY — A 36-day tour through Western Europe, including visits to Rome, Lourdes and the Passion Play at Oberammergau, began for 30 St. Peter's Prep students when they took off from Idlewild Airport on June 22 at 7 p.m.

Rev. Cornelius J. Carr, S. J., principal, and Rev. Edward J. Snyder, S. J., athletic moderator, will lead the excursion which will take the boys through Portugal, Spain, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Belgium and London before they leave for home on July 28.

In addition to the 30 Prep students and the two Jesuit priests, the group also includes Walter Ily, a lay teacher at St. Peter's, and four boys from other Catholic high schools, including one from Delbarton. Cost of the trip is $1,085, all expenses included.

"THE IDEA WAS first broached to me several years ago by some parents," Father Carr explained, "and, after checking with other Jesuit schools which had run similar excursions, I sent out feelers to parents two years ago. We had about 80 or 85 replies, asking for more information, and so we went ahead with the arrangements."

The other principals had urged the idea on Father Carr for its great educational value. The chance to see first hand places they had only read about in books, the chance to try their knowledge of school-learned languages like French or German were two things pointed out as of inestimable worth.

The boys landed in Lisbon June 23 and will journey from there through the Basque country of Spain to Lourdes. From the shrine, they will go on through southern France to Italy and then to Rome where they hope to have audiences with Pope John XXIII and also with the Superior General of the Jesuits, Very Rev. John B. Janssens, S. J.

NEXT ON THE docket is a journey through Northern Italy to Austria and then to Oberammergau for the Passion Play. After this, they will visit Switzerland, sail up the Rhine to Cologne and then on to Belgium and finish up with visits to Paris and London.

Aside from the stops at Lourdes, Rome and Oberammergau, the exact daily itinerary has been left as flexible as possible to give the group a chance to pick its own spots of interest at each stop.

Union League Topsy-Turvy

ELIZABETH—Only five games have been played so far in the Union County CYO Intermediate Baseball League and already things are in a turmoil. Four of the teams already show at least one loss while the fifth, Holy Rosary (Elizabeth), has been tied by winless St. Mary's (Plainfield).

After that tie no one expected Holy Rosary to beat St. Joseph's (Roselle), which had won its first two starts. But that's just what Holy Rosary did, winning 1-0 on Carl Stallone's fourth-inning homer and Phil Meshinsky's four-hit pitching.

IN ANOTHER game, SS. Peter and Paul (Elizabeth) got a neat performance from Les Wojtala, who fanned 15 and gave up four hits in beating St. Mary's, 10-2. He also had a triple and a double. Frank Wysocki also tripled for the winners.

Five games are listed in the six-team circuit in the next seven days with the first round due to close July 1. The schedule (with all games at 6 p.m.):

FRIDAY, JUNE 24
Blessed Sacrament (Elizabeth) vs. St. Joseph's (Roselle), Rahway River Park
SS. Peter and Paul (Elizabeth) vs. Holy Rosary (Elizabeth), Wheeler Park, Linden
St. Patrick's (Elizabeth) vs. St. Mary's (Plainfield), Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield

TUESDAY, JUNE 28
Blessed Sacrament vs. Holy Rosary, Mattano Park, Elizabethport
St. Joseph's vs. SS. Peter and Paul, Romashean Park, Kenilworth

Junior Loop In Bayonne

BAYONNE — A four-team junior CYO baseball league has been organized here with the entries including St. Vincent's, Mt. Carmel, Our Lady Star of the Sea and St. Andrew's.

Henry Sureski has been named league director. Two rounds will be played with the winner of each half meeting for the championship and the right to play the Jersey City titlist for the county crown. All games will be played on Mondays and Wednesdays starting at 6 p.m.

Chiarolanza Given Award at Bayley

MADISON — Lou Chiarolanza has been given the Knights of Columbus Award as the outstanding athlete at Bayley-Ellard High School.

The graduating senior quarterbacked Bayley-Ellard's football team and batted .400 during the baseball season.

CHRISM is a mixture of olive oil and balm.

LIVINGSTON CAMPERS: Jane and Shawn Winberry of St. Philomena's, Livingston, appear happy about prospects of another season at the Essex County CYO Day Camp located at the Livingston parish. Here they get the lowdown on the outings planned for the season from Rev. Vincent F. Affano, county CYO director.

FIRST GRADUATES: Bishop McNulty, Sister M. Angelina, principal of Our Lady of the Lake Regional High School, and Msgr. John F. McKenna, school director, are pictured with the school's inaugural graduating class. The first graduation took place June 15.

CYO Day Camps Open In Essex and Union

NEWARK — Five day camps operated by the CYO in Essex and Union Counties will open their eight-week seasons on June 27.

The Essex camps are located at St. Paul the Apostle (Irvington), St. Thomas the Apostle (Bloomfield) and St. Philomena's (Livingston). Special campers' Masses will be held at each location at 9 a.m. on opening day.

UNION CYO camps will be located at St. Michael's (Elizabeth) and St. Bartholomew's (Scotch Plains). Campers also will attend Masses at those sites on the 27th.

John J. Fay of Elizabeth, a teacher in the Linden school system, has been named director of both camps, taking over for Raymond S. Molnar, county program director.

Opening day in Union will be taken up with registration, physical examinations and other organizational details.

CYO Swimmers Register June 25

MONTCLAIR — Registration for the swimming club to be sponsored by the Essex County CYO at the Seton Hall University pool will be held at Seton Hall on June 25 from 9:30 to noon. Membership is open to boys between the ages of 7 and 14.

The eight-week season will open July 5 with the club operating Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. While daily and weekly memberships will be available, only season members will be eligible for swimming instructions.

Classes for beginners will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Instructions for junior and advanced swimmers will be given Tuesdays and Thursdays. A professional three-man staff will direct the program.

THE SCHEDULES for Essex and Union camps are almost identical, with the Monday to Friday sessions starting at 9 a.m. and running to 3:15. Daily programs will include swimming, arts and crafts, athletics, bus excursions, special tournaments, indoor games and other activities.

The Union camps are still accepting applicants. Bus service is being arranged.

In Essex, the Essex County Council of Catholic Youth, young adult division, announced it will give a number of scholarships to deserving youngsters who would not otherwise be able to attend camp.

Golden Knights to Defend State V.F.W. Drum Title

ASBURY PARK — The Golden Knights of Blessed Sacrament (Newark) will defend the state V.F.W. junior drum and bugle corps championship at the high school field here on June 25.

Blessed Sacrament has won the title the last two years and four times in all. St. Vincent's Cadets (Bayonne), another previous winner, is expected to provide the chief competition.

In all, 17 corps are entered in the competition, including St. Patrick's (Jersey City), St. Lucy's (Newark), and Our Lady of Lourde (Paterson). The contest will start at noon and will be followed by a parade in the evening.

BLESSED SACRAMENT sponsored its seventh annual Cavalcade of Music June 18, with the Garfield Cadets topping a field of six with a score of 84.81 at Newark Schools Stadium. The Queensmen of St. Catherine's (St. Albans, L.I.) were second with 82.80 points.

The Golden Knights staged an exhibition as did the parish's development corps.

Additional Reports Add To List of Scholarships

NEWARK — The request for scholarship information from North Jersey Catholic high schools brought more returns this past week and principals are reminded that there is still time in which to forward their lists which should include recipient's name, type of scholarship (full or partial) and school to be attended.

The Sisters of Charity of Convent have revised their scholarship totals after receiving a report from St. Cecilia's (Englewood). St. Cecilia's led all the schools conducted by the community, reporting 45 full scholarships and 24 state scholarships worth a total of $74,000. Schools taught by the Sisters of Charity in this area thus won 120 full scholarships and 163 state awards.

Holy Rosary Academy reports that Janice Carmody won a full scholarship to Pace College and partials to Misericordia and Fairleigh-Dickinson. Caroline DelMonte a full scholarship to Villa Maria College. Kathleen Gallagher full scholarships to Creighton and Fordham and partials to Seton Hall and Claremont Secretarial.

At St. Anthony's, Robert Szablinski won a scholarship to Seton Hall, Antonia Januzzi a partial to the Eastern School for Physicians Aides and Marcella Durbec a grant from the Auxiliary of the Hudson County Medical Association.

MARY ALICE Fulham of Sacred Heart won partial scholarships to Notre Dame (S.I.) and Misericordia and Patricia Novicke won a Junior Achievement Scholarship to Drake Business College. An addition to the list of honors announced for St. Elizabeth Academy is a citation for Marilyn Italiano.

With no graduation this year, Morris Catholic's top awards went to Thomas Curtin and Regina Rovinsky in junior year, John Coleman and Patricia Burnet in sophomore year and John Farmer and Christine Maher in freshman year for "most exemplifying the Catholic way of life."

Joyce Eckert of St. Michael's (JC) won a partial scholarship to Berkeley Secretarial School.

At Our Lady of the Valley, four-year scholarships have been won by Peter Killen to Michigan State, Mary Cicarella to

Asbury Gables Offers New Cape Code Model

NEPTUNE (PFS)—The Big 7 Plus 2, a furnished, expandable Cape Cod model, dubbed the Edgeware, makes its formal public appearance this weekend at the 150-house Asbury Gables community on Edgeware Place and Wakefield Road just off Route 33. It is priced from $16,990. Asbury Gables is in Holy Trinity parish. The Cape Cod has been designed as a Comfort Conditioned Home featuring full insulation and housepower for electrical living. One of five distinct models offered by builders Isadore and Harold Strauss, the new Cape Cod is designed for the growing family. It joins other models designated as the Berkeley Colonial ranch, the seven-room Gable split-ranch, the 7 1/2 room Neptune ranch, and the 8 1/2-room Asbury split-level.

The homes are offered on fully landscaped plots one-quarter acre and larger in an area which features city sewers and all improvements. They can be purchased with liberal F.H.A. or conventional financing terms for summer and Fall delivery dates. Available with seven rooms and two baths, the Edgeware Cape Cod comes in three front elevations with a full shed dormer and second floor expansion area. A covered entry up a stoop leads into a foyer with guest closet. Off the foyer on the main floor is a 17 by 13-1/2 living room with picture window, a 10-1/2 by 10 dining room, a 16 by 11-1/2 master bedroom, an 11 by 10 second bedroom, a tile bath with vanity, wall mirror, medicine cabinet and tub with shower, and a 13 by 10 kitchen with breakfast area and door leading out to the yard.

June '61 Set for Opening Golf Course at Atlantis

TUCKERTON (PFS)—June '61 has been set as target date for opening the 18-hole championship golf course under construction at the Atlantis seashore resort community fronting on Little Egg Harbor in the Tuckerton area. The completed community is expected to be New Jersey's largest club-planned resort city. Atlantis is being created by American Land Investment Corp. of Plainfield, currently developing the 1,200-home Baywood-on-Barnegat Bay lagoon resort community in Brick Township. The golf course, which will be private and restricted to use of Atlantis home owners and their guests, was designed and is being created by George Fazio of Flourtown, Pa.

15 Homes Sold at Cherry Hill

LINCROFT (PFS) — Dave Shane and Mary Stoloff, developers of Cherry Hill at Lincroft, reported 15 sales since the opening of the tract, offering a choice of five models, a two-story colonial, bi-level and two split level models priced from $22,900, including four bedrooms. They are distinguished by the following features: Giant 23-ft. recreation room finished in lauan mahogany paneling, scientific balcony kitchen with built-in oven, counter-top burners, dishwasher and white ash cabinets, separate breakfast area, master bedroom suite with walk-in closet and private bath, 2 1/2 or three baths, 12 x 15 formal dining room, and dramatic center hall with semi-circular staircase and powder room. St. Leo the Great Church and elementary school, and the new Christian Brothers Academy, are one block from the property.

Darlow Village Opens in Colonia

COLONIA (PFS)—Opening this weekend in a setting of beautiful shade trees on W. Lake Ave. here is a new community of 30 split ranch homes, called Darlow Village. The developer of the project is Harold Levine, who previously built Avenel Park, Avenel; Gwenn Estates, Iselin; and Upton Homes, Rahway. Stanford Realty is sales agent. Homes at Darlow Village are offered in a choice of four exterior elevations, priced from $21,300. They have eight large rooms and 1 1/2 baths. There are three or four family-size bedrooms, foyer entrance, picture-windowed living room, full size dining room, science kitchen with built-in oven, counter-top range, birch cabinets with Formica work counters and rear door, colored ceramic tile bathroom with colored fixtures and full vanity, finished recreation room with sliding glass door to patio, laundry room, utility room, built-in two-car garage. Exteriors are of wood shakes all around. Forced air heating is gas-fired. Wooded plots of 7,500 square feet are fully landscaped. A model home, furnished by Star Furniture Co. of Fords, is open for inspection daily and Sundays. City sewers and all utilities are being installed and paid for by the builder. Darlow Village is in St. John's parish, Clark Township.

2,000 Visit Holiday Estates

TOMS RIVER (PFS) — Over 2,000 persons have visited "The Duchess," new English-manor type split-level model recently opened at Holiday Estates, Bay and Vaughn Aves. The house sells for $15,500.

This is the second model being offered by Hovnanian Corp., the builders.

The other is "The Rancher" for $13,500.

Kevoik Hovnanian, head of the building firm who imported the plans for "The Duchess" from England, said this model is one of the most popular in New Jersey.

He said often 200 people tour "The Duchess" simultaneously, waiting in line to inspect its unique workmanship.

Spaniard Claims Cure at Lourdes

PAMPLONA, Spain (NC) — Victor San Jose, 40, has returned here from a pilgrimage to Lourdes claiming he has been cured of a paralysis that had afflicted him for six years. San Jose said that he had been paralyzed from the waist down since 1954.

Bishop Protests Proposals On Teacher Appointments

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (RNS) — Bishop Richard L. Gully of Georgetown warned here against threatened government control of the Catholic schools in this British crown colony. He told his faithful they must defend by every possible constitutional means their right to provide religious education for their children.

In a special statement, he said that a recent "outspoken" attack upon dual control of the British Guiana schools by Minister of Education R. Rai "shows how seriously our Catholic schools are threatened," especially by demands that non-Christian as well as Christian teachers be accepted as teachers in the denominational schools.

Under the system of dual control, the religious denominations own and operate schools, and the Ministry of Education makes "grants-in-aid" to pay teachers' salaries. In addition, the ministry prescribes the curriculum to be followed in the schools.

"Mr. Rai," Bishop Gully said, "objects to Catholics and members of other denominations insisting on having teachers of their own religion in their schools and he is opposed to religious qualifications counting in the appointment of teachers. The minister points to the fact that money for the teachers' salaries comes from government . . . but he passes over in silence the very substantial contributions being made to education in our country by the Christian denominations."

The Bishop said that Rai, in speaking about "non-Christians who are not able to obtain appointment and promotion in schools of the Christian denominations," ignored the fact that "if non-Christians had built schools as the Christians have done, this problem would never have arisen."

He stressed that "if the government pursues its declared policy of building more government schools this will provide ample opportunity for non-Christian teachers to obtain appointments and promotions."

"Catholics," he said, "have made enormous sacrifices in order to provide schools to enable Catholic parents to give their children that education in their religion which is their right and which is their duty to ensure. For this Catholic teachers are essential."
