Castro Agents Attempt To Subjugate Church

Havana (NC)—Agents of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro are waging a "guerilla war" in the Catholic Church in Cuba, which they see as the main obstacle to a "socialist revolution". The concerted campaign is taking place in the context of the Church's being increasingly forced to operate in the field of education and culture. According to the Cuban government, the Church's growing influence is threatening the state's control over educational institutions and the intellectual and cultural life of the nation. The Church is being subjected to "guerilla warfare" in Cuba.

The MINISTRY of Education has prohibited the teaching of religion in public and private schools in order to "eliminate the religious influence in education". The campaign against the Catholic Church has also involved the confiscation of religious literature and the closure of religious institutions. The Cuban government has been able to establish a "socialist" education system that is free of religious influence. The Church is now forced to operate in the field of education and culture, which has been taken over by the state.

The bishops and priests of the Catholic Church in Cuba have been placed under close surveillance. The Cuban government has also taken steps to restrict the activities of the Catholic Church, including the closure of religious institutions and the confiscation of religious literature. The Cuban government has been able to establish a "socialist" education system that is free of religious influence. The Church is now forced to operate in the field of education and culture, which has been taken over by the state.

In October, the Cuban government announced the arrest of several priests and members of the clergy, who were accused of "anti-Soviet" activities. The government has also taken steps to restrict the activities of the Catholic Church, including the closure of religious institutions and the confiscation of religious literature. Leftist Gallop: Castro's Wild Talks, Programs Spark Tensions

By James R. O'Kane

The essence of the passenger I have been quoting is the statement: "The official positions of the Catholic Church are opposed to the American constitutional principles of the special favor to any church or religious group, and of religious liberty, that is, to all Catholics as well as non-Catholics."

The Jack Cuban, an aide to Fidel Castro, has been quoted as saying: "The Catholic Church is not the Church of the Constitution."

MDP Forces Fighting Castro's Men in Cuban Village

The MDP is a Cuban government-controlled militia that is responsible for controlling the countryside surrounding Havana. The MDP was responsible for the repression of those who opposed the government. They were responsible for the murder of thousands of Cubans who opposed the regime.

MDP commander said: "We are going to continue fighting until the last man is killed."

The government's actions were not to be underestimated. They were capable of using force to silence opposition and maintain control.

There were reports of disappearances and torture. The government was known for its brutality in suppressing dissent. These actions were taken to maintain the regime and ensure its survival.

The MDP was also responsible for the confiscation of property and the suppression of media. They were involved in the suppression of freedom of speech and the suppression of political opposition.

These actions were not to be underestimated. The government's actions were to maintain control and ensure its survival.

Mark of Holy Name Man Is Loyalty, Says Archbishop

November 14, 1871

The Holy Name man is a loyal one, says Archbishop Bakken. "They are very much like the rest of us, just as you would expect a good Catholic to be. They are among the most loyal people in the community." Archbishop Bakken, in an interview with the press, said that the Holy Name man is a real patriot. "He is always supporting the government and its policies. He is never seen criticizing the government or its leaders." Archbishop Bakken also said that the Holy Name man is always ready to help his country in time of need. "If the government needs him, he will be there to help. He is always ready to do his part for the country." Archbishop Bakken said that the Holy Name man is a true American. "He is always proud to be an American and he is always ready to defend his country."

Bishops of Ceylon Oppose School Plan

COLUMBO, Ceylon (SG) — Ceylon's Bishops have protested against the proposed nationalization of some 800 Catholic schools and called it a violation of "fundamental human rights." The protest was made by the "pastoral letter" to the Catholic faithful which read: "The government may force us, but it has not yet forbidden us to act. And if it does force us, we are not going to take any unnecessary risks. We are not going to see how far we can be tolerated to cooperate with any proposal, notwithstanding our own fundamental interest in maintaining the rights, including religious rights, including school arrangements that the Catholic faithful would and in the end may require more than the Catholic community can accept."

The Bishops said they are "completely in favor of a national system of education; as it is a sound system of national education, a system that should be shared by all citizens of any faith or race in order to prevent the dangers of the psychological war or war of the psyche."

The Bishops called on the government to "maintain the Catholic Church's traditional position as the main religious body in the island's national education system."

The Bishops also called on the government to "respect the Catholic Church's constitutional rights and to recognize the right of parents to choose the type of education they want for their children."

Fatima’s Chief ‘Secret’

By Frank J. Sheed

At the last London summit, the Pope hailed the world which one of the post-war miracles of our age. He called it

"the great wave of truth which has swept across the Catholic Church, and which has spread itself around the world.

In the Pope’s vision, the world has a chance to come to terms with the truth, and to live in peace, freedom, and love.

In this vision, the Pope also called for the world to co-operate with God in the process of salvation.

"The world is the Church, and the Church is the world," the Pope said.

"The world is not the Church, but the Church is the world."
Oakland to Hold One-Day Fund Drive

OAKLAND — A one-day fund drive for the erection of two buildings of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish here will be held on Oct. 18, it was announced by Rev. C. Gordon Byrne, pastor. The campaign was called "McManus Day for Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish".

The proceeds will be used for the erection of a new rectory and a new church. The school extension will be used as a church temporarily.

GOAL: Off the $80,000 goal was set by the pastor, to be used to help defray costs of the construction. In announcing the goal last Saturday night, Father Byrne said, "I have requested parishioners to save as much as they can, for our new parish. The building of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish is the present opportunity for a Catholic education in the parish."

Traveling Teacher for the Blind

By Anne H. Buckley

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. C. Nagle, a blind couple, have just returned from a trip to the U.S. where they attended a meeting of the National Catholic Guild, a group of Catholic sisters in the U.S. The Nagles are traveling with a blind teacher from the Catholic Blind School who spent the term as an assistant to Miss Catherine Schaefer, director of the NCWC's Office for UN Affairs. The Nagles hope to establish a similar program in the U.S.

At the NCWC, Miss Catherine Schaefer was elected president of the National Catholic Women's Conference, a group of Catholic women in the U.S. She was also named a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

While in the U.S., the Nagles visited various states and attended conferences and meetings. They were impressed by the work being done by the Catholic Blind School and hope to bring similar programs to the U.S.

"King of Kings' and Bible Agreement Sometimes

By William Bradford Hague

"King of Kings' and Bible Agreement Sometimes" is a book that explores the relationship between the King James Version of the Bible and the Old Testament. The author presents a compelling argument for the importance of understanding the Bible as a whole, and he challenges readers to consider the implications of this relationship for their own lives.

The Catholic High will try to follow the same scoring pattern as in their previous game. In the Catholic High's last game, they scored 7 points. The North Arlington High School will have to watch carefully for the Catholic High's scoring pattern and try to prevent them from scoring.
Vocation Notes

Is It Worth It?

By Msgr. William F. Farleag

The title of this story is indicative of the problem of vocations in the Church. It is difficult to find young people who are interested in entering the priesthood or religious life. The author suggests that the Church should be more active in promoting vocations and making young people aware of the opportunities available.

Notes on Gutter St.

The author writes about the importance of maintaining a clean and organized environment in school. The details of the gutter system are highlighted as a symbol of the order and discipline that is necessary for a successful educational environment.

Alps Village Opens 6th Section

The six-acre split level and ranch development at the north end of the popular garden,

The Village, has opened its sixth section at South Street and Highland Road near the new Appleton Place School. This section includes both split-level and ranch type houses and is designed to meet the needs of families with young children.

The new section features a variety of design styles, ranging from modern contemporary to traditional colonial. Prices start at $17,900 and go up to $49,900, depending on size and features, and include all utilities, even carpeting and draperies.

Homeowners Association dues are $15 per month. The developer, Joseph J. Deffert, has also set aside 10% of the land for a community park.

Cherry Hill At Lincolntown

Comparision Shopper Report

This weekend, Cherry Hill Homes International introduced a new community to north Jersey homes. "Lincolntown," another 500-home neighborhood, is being developed near the site of the old Lincolntown Golf Course. The new community will feature single-family homes with attached garages, and many with basements.

The homes are priced from $18,900 to $49,900, depending on size and features, and include all utilities. A homeowners association fee of $15 per month is also charged.

The developer, Joseph J. Deffert, has set aside 10% of the land for a community park and has also committed to developing a swimming pool and tennis court.

The Heights of Edison

Lot sells for $39,900 in "The Edmo", a new 30-unit condominium complex at the corner of Roos Avenue and Union Street. The building, which is being built by a developer, features two-bedroom units, some with basements, and is centrally located near the town center.
