I. Course Introduction and Objectives
This course seeks to address the choices and decisions that post-conflict states and the international community make in attempts to address past human rights abuses, concerns over reconciliation, and the socio-political challenges regarding justice, as well as more subjective issues like truth. How, and when, in light of weak national institutions do post-conflict states address past human rights abuses? Is there a tradeoff between states and societies that pursue justice over truth, or vice versa? Is there a “window of opportunity” to pursue reconciliation? Can justice truly be achieved in light of the enormous challenges that post-conflict states and societies face? This course will examine these questions and many others and seek to provide some answers to serious and very difficult real-world challenges that many states and societies face.

This class is intended to prepare students for advanced course work in the field. As such, there will be a lot of reading, writing, and thinking required. All times listed in the syllabus reflect Eastern Time.

Learning Outcomes:
1. To examine the challenges surrounding post-conflict reconciliation, justice, and truth
2. To develop familiarity with the basic concepts, theories and perspectives about post-conflict reconciliation and recovery.
3. To analyze limitations of current policy prescriptions and propose solutions to address these shortcomings.

II. Course Materials

1 The instructor reserves the right to modify or adjust the syllabus as deemed necessary during the course of the semester.
Assignments and Grading Rules

1. One Op-ed article: each student will be responsible for writing one Op-ed article on a topic of substantive relevance of their choosing. The goal should be to write about an issue of importance that offers a critical examination and analysis. The Op-ed will be due on or before 20 October, 4 p.m.

2. Abstract and paper outline: each student will write a paper based on a topic of each student’s choice that should be cleared with the professor via abstract and paper outline that will be submitted to the instructor on or before 6 October, 4 p.m. The abstract should be no longer than a paragraph, along with an outline that details how the paper is to be structured.

3. 15-18-page research paper: The research paper should be related to a substantive issue that relates in some fashion to the concepts of justice, truth, and reconciliation that are dealt with in this class. The paper is due on or before 10 November, 4 p.m.

4. Discussion forum/blog: students will be expected to engage in weekly class discussions/blogs. The class forum will discuss topical issues and current events. Each student will have to respond to a question and set of issues. In addition, each student must provide at least one written response to one colleague’s weekly post. Each forum will begin on Monday, 4 p.m. of each week, and will remain open until 11:59 p.m., Friday. Unless otherwise stated, for each discussion, submit 1 initial entry of 150-250 words and at least 1 reply to your colleagues’ entries of 100-150 words.

Citation Style

For all written assignments, it is expected that you will cite your class texts, supplemental readings, and other sources. Be creative and give your own opinions supported by evidence. Do not describe - be analytical and creative. Papers should utilize one of the Chicago Manual of Style citation formats: Author-Date or Notes and Bibliography. The guidelines for these formats are on the course Blackboard page.

Again, please be sure to include either footnotes or in-text citations in ALL work, including blogs and discussion posts. Failure to do so will result in points taken off. Please also ensure that the papers are double-spaced, spell-checked, and legible. They should be in 12-point characters in the 'Times' font. Please use Word document format. All material submitted for the class should be your own work and must not be copied or otherwise plagiarized.

All students are expected to do all of the reading in advance and to take part in the discussions. Taking part in the course discussions is expected, and posting to course discussions only a few times over the duration of the semester does not count as full participatory credit. The quality of class sessions is greatly enhanced when students are prepared to engage the course material in a constructive fashion. Participation will be noted and credited to your grade.

Basis for Grade & Distribution
Discussion Forum/blog 40%
Paper abstract and outline (due on/or before 6 October): 10%
Op-Ed piece (for potential publication due on/or before - 20 October) 10%
Policy analysis paper (due on/or before 10 November): 40%

Papers should utilize one of the Chicago Manual of Style citation formats: Author-Date or Notes and Bibliography. The guidelines for these formats are on the course Blackboard page.

Technical Help:

The first point of contact for any technology related question or problem is Seton Hall University’s Technology Service Desk. Contact the Technology Service Desk by phone by calling (973) 275-2222 or via e-mail at servicedesk@shu.edu.

The Technology Service Desk is staffed by IT professionals Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. through 11 p.m. Outside of these hours, the Technology Service Desk phone is answered by an external technology support service that provides phone support for most University applications, including the Blackboard Learning Management System, Microsoft Windows, and the Microsoft Office suite.

Special Library Resources for Online Students

Seton Hall online students have electronic access to vast information resources of the University Libraries. Students have immediate access to collections of databases, articles, journals, and ebooks from the library homepage. Access to most electronic materials requires the use of a Seton Hall PirateNet ID and password. If the Seton Hall University Library does not include a certain article, the library will obtain a digital copy from another library and email it within 24 to 48 hours of request. Additionally, online instructors post items from the library's collection to the course's Blackboard site. Online students and faculty receive personal assistance from our expert library faculty in a number of ways. General queries can be handled by the Reference Desk, at (973-761-9437) or through our Ask a Librarian page. Subject librarians offer in depth assistance via phone by appointment. The library's research guides provide guidance to finding subject-specific electronic materials.

Communication, Feedback and Email

The instructor will respond to student's emails within 48 hours. If instructor is away from email for more than one day, she will post an announcement in the Blackboard course folder. Before sending an email, please check the following (available on your Blackboard course menu) unless the email is of a personal nature:

- Syllabus
- Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)
- Help forum (Feel free to respond to other students in the Help forum if you know the answer.)
- Blackboard videos on how to use Blackboard features
- Blackboard Q&A, and
- Technology Requirements.

Grades and feedback will either be posted to Blackboard (see My Grades) or as a general announcement to all students, within 5 to 7 days for blogs and discussions and within two weeks for papers after the assignment is due. I will post feedback using the announcement feature when the feedback is one that can benefit all students equally.

It is expected that you use your SHU email address; emails from non-SHU accounts will not be returned.

Netiquette

Netiquette refers to the good manners we use when communicating online. For online discussion netiquette:

1. Think of your comments as printed in the newspaper... your online comments will be seen, heard and remembered by others in this class. Before you make an emotional, outrageous, or sarcastic remark on-line, think about whether or not you would care if it was seen in your local newspaper.
2. Don't be overcome by your emotions. Take a few breaths and step away from your computer if need be.
3. Sign your real name. It is easier to build a classroom community when you know to whom you are responding.
4. Avoid self-centered comments. If you have a great idea, great. If you want to contribute to an ongoing discussion, terrific. But, don’t just tell others about your problems ("I'm frustrated", "My audio doesn't work today") unless it contributes in some way to the class.

5. Avoid negativity. You can disagree. You should disagree. You can challenge ideas and the course content, but avoid becoming negative online. It will impact you negatively, hinder the class discussion, and may give the wrong impression of you to others.

6. There is no need to be aggressive online. No flaming, all caps, or !!!!, or ???

7. Be polite, understate rather than overstate your point, and use positive language. Using bold, frank, overstated language conveys an emotional aggressiveness that hinders your message.

8. Disagree politely. When you disagree politely, you stimulate and encourage great discussion. You also maintain positive relationships with others with whom you may disagree on a certain point.

9. Don't disrupt. Online dialogue is like conversation. If there is a dialogue or train of thought going on, join in, add to it, but, if you have something entirely different to bring up, wait or post it in another thread.

10. Don't use acronyms that not everyone would understand and know.

Academic and Professional Integrity Policy

Work submitted in the course must be the product of each individual student. Contributions of others to the finished work must be appropriately cited and acknowledged. Any work not following these guidelines may be found to be plagiarism. Plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty will be reported to the administration, and may result in a lowered or failing grade for the course and up to possible dismissal from the School of Diplomacy. See University and School standards for academic conduct here:

<http://www.shu.edu/academics/diplomacy/academic-conduct.cfm>

I strongly encourage you to read a brief piece by Rebecca Moore Howard and Amy Rupiper Taggart from Research Matters, entitled, “Using information and avoiding plagiarism,” that is posted on blackboard, under course information, in the section on “Academic and Professional Integrity Policy.” This work provides additional guidance on how to avoid plagiarism.

In addition, to not plagiarizing, students are expected to show the following:

1. Dependability: candidates are reliable, timely, and consistent in their presence and preparation for courses at the university as well as their field settings.

2. Respect & Empathy: candidates are respectful in their address, writing, language, and physical space toward faculty, university staff, school personnel, peers, and students in the field.

3. Open-mindedness: candidates respect the context and experience of others; developing the skills to use that information in classroom conversation, writing, and lesson planning.

4. Integrity: candidates submit original work, fully cite all sources associated with the development of their work (including information from the internet), and recognize that the university fully supports the use of anti-plagiarism software in support of academic integrity. Original student work is expected.

Statement on Students with Disabilities

It is the policy and practice of Seton Hall University to promote inclusive learning environments. If you have a documented disability you may be eligible for reasonable accommodations in compliance with University policy, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, and/or the New Jersey Law against Discrimination. Please note, students are not permitted to negotiate accommodations directly with professors. To request accommodations or assistance, please self-identify with the Office for Disability Support Services (DSS), Duffy Hall, Room 67 at the beginning of the semester.

For more information or to register for services, contact DSS at:

Email: dss@shu.edu
Phone: 973-313-6003
Fax: 973-761-9185
Duffy Hall room 67

Policy on Incompletes:

Incompletes will be given only in exceptional cases for emergencies. Students wishing to request a grade of Incomplete must provide documentation to support the request accompanied by a Course Adjustment Form (available from the Diplomacy Main Office) to the professor before the date of the final examination. If the incomplete request is approved, the professor reserves the right to specify the new submission date for all missing coursework. Students who fail to submit the missing course work within this time period will receive a failing grade for all missing coursework and a final grade based on all coursework assigned. Any Incomplete not resolved within one calendar year of receiving the Incomplete or by the time of graduation (whichever comes first) automatically becomes an “FI” (which is equivalent to an F). It is the responsibility of the student to make sure they have completed all course requirements within the timeframe allotted. Please be aware that Incompletes on your transcript will impact financial aid and academic standing.
