Expelled Priest Tells of Violence

In Dominican Republic

Auxiliary Bishop Of Havana Jailed

Havana — Auxiliary Bishop Eduardo Diaz Ma-tillo of Havana, rector of Villanueva Catholic University, was arrested here today on charges of subverting the Cuban government.

The government earlier had warned the Bishop that it would act if he failed to guarantee that the religious community would remain silent.

For the past two months, the Bishop had pressed the government to open a dialogue with religious leaders to discuss the current situation in the country.

The Bishop’s arrest came after the government had refused to allow him to travel to Cuba to speak at a conference on education.

Bishop’s Release

The Bishop was released later in the day after paying a fine of $500.

The government has arrested several other Catholic priests in recent weeks.

Pontiff Calls For Novena

VATICAN City — Pope John has issued an appeal to all Catholics in the world to pray for a resolution to the current crisis in Dominican Republic.

In a message delivered to the cardinals
and bishops at the Vatican today, the Pope urged them to pray for peace and to work towards a solution to the conflict.

The Pope’s message followed a meeting with Bishop Eduardo Diaz Mailllo, who was released earlier in the day.

Dr. Fidel Castro, Cuban leader, attacked the Bishop and his followers as agents of the United States.

Dr. Castro’s attack came after his government had arrested several other Catholic priests in recent weeks.

In a message delivered to the cardinals
and bishops at the Vatican today, the Pope
urged them to pray for peace and to
work towards a solution to the conflict.

The Pope’s message followed a meeting with Bishop Eduardo Diaz Mailllo, who was
released earlier in the day.
Constitutional laws, such as the Adams and Federalist papers, paved the way for the establishment of the United States. Our country has been guided by these principles for nearly two centuries. Today, the Constitution and its Amendments continue to shape our nation's laws and governance.

Tagging Films For Adults Could Have Mixed Effects

By William H. Mourning

While the film industry continues to present new films, the question of how to classify films for adults and children remains a topic of debate. This is particularly true when considering films that may contain themes or content that are not suitable for young audiences.

Last week the Bishop's Committee on the Church and the Motion Picture Industry met to discuss the issue of film classification. One of the main concerns is that films be classified in a way that is clear and easy to understand for both parents and moviegoers.

The committee is particularly focused on films that may contain content that is not appropriate for children, such as violence or adult themes. They are working to develop a system that will allow parents to make informed choices about what films their children should see.

General Della Raucci, Director of the Baptist Church's Department of Religious Education, believes that a clear system of film classification is essential. "If parents and moviegoers don't know what they are getting into, they will be confused and possibly even angry," she said.

On the other hand, some critics of the film industry argue that attempting to classify films in this way is impossible. They argue that films are not a one-dimensional experience and that it is impossible to predict how a film will be perceived by different audiences.

The committee is currently considering a variety of options for film classification. These include a system based on the themes or content of the film, or a system based on the tone or style of the film.

The committee is scheduled to release its final report on film classification later this year. In the meantime, parents are encouraged to use their own judgment when deciding what films their children should see.

Book Review

TV and Film: A Serious Study

By Laurence A. Hyman

Laurence A. Hyman's book "TV and Film: A Serious Study" is a comprehensive analysis of the relationship between television and film. The book explores the ways in which these two media have evolved over time and how they continue to interact today.

Hyman argues that television and film are not simply competing mediums, but rather are complementary forms of entertainment that have developed alongside one another. He examines the ways in which these two media have influenced each other, and how they have shaped our understanding of the world.

The book is divided into three parts. The first part explores the origins of television and film, and how they have evolved over time. The second part examines the ways in which television and film have interacted with one another, and how they have shaped the way we understand the world. The third part focuses on the future of television and film, and how they will continue to evolve in the future.

Hyman's book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history and future of television and film. It is a comprehensive and engaging analysis of these two media, and a valuable resource for anyone interested in the ways in which we understand the world.
Lesson in Logic, Justice

With Bishop George J. Alber of Torrington, we find the recent statement by Joe, the Protectowhich he called "Duty, Duty, Duty," surprising.
The Congressmen, who happen to be the leaders of the Jewish community, may vote against the bill, opting Catholics and others to drop their right to be represented on the floor, "or seek the whole program of the House, not to mention the inherent bill, but they will have to accept the Duty, Duty, Duty bill, and be charged with the bill approving two important, hence more than the bill being subsequently studied. It is the bill being approved by the House that sound, some of the most important

It should urge the Congressmen to prevent the bill from coming to a vote, and in the present situation, it is the only course of action that should be taken. On the other hand, the bill would be a sure way of increasing congressional

Some might argue that the bill would be inappropriate to the issues at hand, as it might not align with the overall goals of the legislation. However, it is important to remember that the bill is not just about the religious aspects, but also about the rights of the individuals and communities affected by the legislation. The bill could potentially lead to discrimination and violation of human rights, which is why it is important to prevent it from being approved.

Therapeutic Abortion

Many women in the United States have turned to therapeutic abortion as a means of abortion.
The procedure is performed on women who are pregnant for medical reasons, such as the health of the mother or the fetus.
However, some people argue that therapeutic abortion is not necessary and that women should be encouraged to continue their pregnancies.

The Scripture Question

Interest in the "new approach" to Scripture is on the rise. Articles appear regularly in the lay press and are quoted in the pulpit. But what is the source of this interest? What makes this new approach so appealing to people?

The most obvious answer is that it is appealing because it is new and different. People are always looking for something new and exciting, and this new approach to Scripture fits the bill. It is a way of looking at the Scriptures that is different from the traditional approach, and this difference is what makes it appealing.

The New Approach to Scripture

The concept of a "new approach" to Scripture is not a new idea, but it is one that has recently gained popularity. The approach is based on the idea that the Bible should be interpreted as a collection of myths and legends, rather than as a literal account of history.

The new approach is appealing because it allows people to see the Bible in a new way. It is not seen as a枯燥 and difficult text, but rather as something that can be enjoyed and appreciated.

The new approach is also appealing because it is not limited to Christian culture. It can be used by people of all faiths and backgrounds.

The Highway Juggernaut

The current Highway Juggernaut, who is often referred to as the "Juggernaut," is an enormous and powerful force that is currently on the move. This machine is capable of moving large quantities of materials, and it is extremely powerful. It is important to be aware of the presence of the Juggernaut, as it can be a dangerous force if not handled properly.

The Juggernaut is powered by a large engine, and it is capable of traveling at high speeds.
It is also equipped with a large hitch, which allows it to transport large loads.

The Juggernaut is used in a variety
of industries,
including construction,
transportation, and agriculture. It is important to be aware of the presence of the Juggernaut,
as it can be a dangerous force if
not handled properly.

In conclusion, the Highway Juggernaut is a powerful and dangerous force that must be handled with care and caution.

Priest Finds Rice Co-Op

By Floyd Anderson

LIMA, Peru.—A Roman Catholic priest in Southern Peru is working in a cooperative movement to help combat the economic problems of his people.

Often the people in missions must work to help themselves out of the poverty. The Rev. Father James Foley, M.L., who is working in the area, is trying to help his people.

He obtained a mission in Lima, Peru, a few years ago. He was there for a couple of years when he, too, began to realize that if Peru is to rise above its present condition, the people must help themselves. As a result, he started a cooperative movement as a means of developing the resources of the area and of helping his people.

Mr. UNDER ground water, the money collected, Father Foley, M.L., showed the cooperatives that they could make a profit and start to work.

Father Foley was the first to believe in the cooperative movement. He started the movement in the farm areas where he was stationed. He started the cooperatives about three years ago at Santa Cruz. From there, he has spread the method throughout the country.

To this end, Father Foley is using his offices, the Church, to help the cooperatives. The government is also helping by providing credit and materials for the cooperatives.

Of course, this is not the first time Father Foley has worked in this area. He has helped develop cooperatives in other countries as well.

The cooperatives are working on several projects, including the production of rice, coffee, and sugarcane. They are also working on the development of new crops and on the improvement of old ones.

The cooperatives are also working to improve the living conditions of the people. They are providing education, health care, and recreational activities. The cooperatives are also working to develop new industries and to improve the economic situation of the people.

It's the Time for Us to Play Ball Again

BY JUNE SPYER

Did you ever think of life as a baseball game? If so, you may appreciate the feeling of being at Bat again now that the season has come around once more. What a perfect name for this sport, baseball, with its approach of the four bases, here, in the game of life. And when you get to the Home-Run, you've made it big time. It's the best feeling in the world, to have made that big steal! It's the thrill of the game that every one of us wants. As the old saying goes, "take your bat and whack your ball!"

Let's face it, life is a game of baseball. It might not be perfect, but if you keep your eyes on the prize, the Home-Run is there waiting to be reached. What is the prize? The Home-Run is a symbol of success, of reaching your goals, of achieving your dreams. It's the feeling of accomplishment that comes with knowing that you have done your best and achieved something significant.

Let's take a look at how life is like a baseball game.

1. The Bases: In baseball, the bases represent the stages of life. Home Plate is the starting point, where you begin your journey. First Base represents the foundation of your life, the first steps you take. Second Base signifies the middle ground, the challenges you face. Third Base is the threshold of opportunity, the chance to make your mark. Home Run is the ultimate goal, the triumph you seek.

2. The Stakes: Baseball is a game of high stakes. Every swing can make or break your season. In life, every decision you make can have significant consequences. You want to make sure you swing for the fences, because the Home Run is the ultimate goal.

3. The Strategy: In baseball, strategy is key. You need to think ahead, anticipate your opponent's moves, and make calculated decisions. In life, strategy is also important. You need to plan your path, anticipate challenges, and make informed decisions.

4. The Team: Baseball is a team sport. Success depends on the cooperation and support of your teammates. In life, success is also a team effort. You need the support of your family, friends, and community to achieve your goals.

5. The Rivalry: Baseball is a competitive sport. There is always a sense of rivalry and competition. In life, you face your own personal battles. The Home Run is the ultimate goal, the achieved of which you can feel proud.

So, let's face it, life is a game of baseball. It's a game of strategy, of high stakes, and of ultimate triumph. The Home Run is the ultimate goal, the achievement everyone strives for. So, let's take our bats and whack our balls! Let's make our Home Runs and achieve our goals in life.
Westfield, Elizabeth Districts Plan Nine Workshops

Cardinal Cicognani

MADDEN — Cardinal Cicognani has announced that he will leave for Rome this week to attend the Synod of Bishops.

Cardinal Cicognani, the papal representative at the United Nations, said he will attend the Synod of Bishops because it is a time of great concern to the church.

The Synod of Bishops is an assembly of all the bishops of the world that meets every few years to discuss the state of the church and to make decisions on matters of doctrine and discipline.

Cardinal Cicognani, who is the papal nuncio to the United States, said he is looking forward to attending the Synod of Bishops, which is expected to be held in Rome in early October.

He said he plans to attend the Synod of Bishops for about two weeks and then return to the United States to continue his duties as papal nuncio.

PIRATES TAKING TRIP; PEACOCKS SEEKING WIN

SOUTH ORANGE — Whatever hopes Seton Hall University had for playing the NCAA regional baseball playoffs will probably be dashed on a three-day jaunt of upper New York State this weekend.

Enjoying a first start and top-notch pitching, Seton Hall, which has ridden a three-game winning streak under the leadership of coach Joe Martorano, lost 2-1 at home to Fordham on Friday, 13-9 at Holy Cross on Saturday, and 5-1 against St. John's on Sunday.

St. John's, the defending MAAC champions, are two games above .500 in the MAAC, while Seton Hall is one game below.

The Pirates will need that kind of power against the New York Yankees.

Plan to Name New Coach

NEW YORK — A meeting among coaches is expected next week on appointment of new coaches for the New York Yankees and Giants.

It was reported Friday that Tom McGraw, who was the pitching coach of the Yankees prior to his retirement, may be named as the new coach for the Yankees.
