Supreme Court Takes Suit Challenging Obscenity Law

TRENTON — The State Supreme Court has resumed its 8-month-old suit attacking the constitutionality of New Jersey's anti-obscenity law.

Hearing is set for the seven justices — Chief Justice William Gibbons — who are to hold open May 13 and 14.

The case is the appeal by Robert M. B. Smith, who has served as president of the American Medical Association, and his wife, Margaret F. Smith, of Essex County, who were convicted in 1960 of violating the law.

The Smiths were acquitted by a verdict of not guilty on the charges of obscenity.

The case was appealed to the State Supreme Court, which set aside the conviction and remanded the case to the Superior Court for further proceedings.

Assembly Passes 6 Drug Control Bills

TRENTON — Six bills designed to control traffic in narcotics and disorders to the use of hallucinogens were approved by the Assembly May 8 and sent to the Senate.

The three bills, although drafted by numerous law enforcement officials, face a dubious future. They are expected to be killed in committee by a joint majority position.

One bill, sponsored by a majority bloc of 26 years in the Democratic party, would require a drug license for all persons engaged in the distribution of narcotics. The bill also includes provisions for the registration of all persons found in possession of narcotics. It would also require those found in possession of narcotics to be held on evidence for at least 15 years before a first offender. Possession, however, would become a second offense if increased so that it would be a violation if a person were found possessing a quantity of amphetamines.

Another bill calls for the use of the so-called "secret table" to prevent possession of narcotics. The table, according to the sponsor, would require a person to prove possession of narcotics to a government official, who would then be responsible for presenting a bond in order to release the drugs.

A related bill would give the state a health commissioner power to seize any suspect merchandise.
Theologians Believe Relations Between Churches Improved

BELFAST, N.Y. (Catholic) Catholic theologians writing in the area of Christian union today believe that future conferences should give serious consideration to several questions, which several speakers felt were key to the furtherance of future ecumenical efforts.

There is an opinion of some who would like to see a "great wall" of separation between Protestant churches in order to prevent further divisions and to prevent secular influences from affecting the Protestant churches. However, there is also a view that such a wall would only serve to further isolate the Protestant churches from the rest of the Christian community.

There is a feeling that in order for true Christian unity to occur, there must be a willingness on the part of both the Protestant and Catholic churches to work together in order to address these questions. It is hoped that future conferences will give serious consideration to these issues in order to move towards greater cooperation between the churches.

Royalty in Rome

The official visit of the British archbishop of the Church of Rome has been a very special occasion for Catholics in Canada. The Jesuit Superior General, Fr. W. J. Costigan, OFM, of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda Fide in Rome, was the guest of Pope Leo XIII in July and August of 1891.

In his visit to Canada, he spoke to large audiences in many cities and towns. He also visited the bishops and priests of the country. His visit was a great event for the Catholic Church in Canada.

Italian Risorgimento

Italy celebrates the 138th anniversary of its unification. The Risorgimento, or Italian nation, is a cause célèbre in history. The unification of Italy was a complex process, involving a struggle for independence from foreign rule and the establishment of a single nation-state.

In 1861, the Kingdom of Italy was established with Victor Emmanuel II as king. The unification of Italy was a significant event in European history and had a profound impact on the development of modern Italy.

Transubstantiation Means The Change of Substance

By Frank J. Sheed

The doctrine of transubstantiation is one of the most controversial aspects of the Catholic Church's teachings. It is the belief that during the celebration of the Eucharist, the bread and wine are transformed into the body and blood of Jesus Christ.

The Church teaches that at the moment of consecration, the bread and wine are spiritually and essentially transformed into the body and blood of Jesus. This is a mystery that defies human understanding, but it is part of the faith of Catholics.

Encirclement of U.S. Goal of Communists

By Louis F. Budenz

The encirclement of the United States is a goal of the communists. They are working to undermine the democratic institutions of the United States and to establish a communist state.

The communists believe that the United States is an imperialist power, and they are trying to prevent the United States from expanding its influence around the world. They are also trying to overthrow the government of the United States and to establish a communist dictatorship.

The communists have many methods at their disposal to achieve their goals. They use propaganda, sabotage, and subversion to spread their ideas and to weaken the institutions of the United States.

Dangers Times

In this decade of wars and wars of words, of atomic bombs and missile warheads, we can see the world on the brink of disaster. The cold war is a threat to peace and to the future of humanity. It is a time of great danger and uncertainty.

We must work to prevent war and to create a world of peace and cooperation. We must promote international understanding and dialogue. We must work to solve the problems of the world through peaceful means.
God Loves You

Prosperity's Danger

By Bishop Fulton J. Sheen

The Eucharist is the focal point of the Church of Christ on earth. He is the center of His Church, and it is impossible for any Christian to remain true to the religion of Jesus Christ unless he loves and serves God through Jesus Christ. For this reason, we must give our devotion to Our Lord Jesus Christ, and we must always be mindful of His teaching and example, in order that we may be true to the Church and to the spiritual life of the Christian age.

Organization Needed in Economic Life

By Dr. George C. Higgins

Canada, Social Action Union, is a new form of labor union, which attempts to bring about a greater social equality. The basic principle of this union is the recognition of the value of the worker, and the recognition of the worker's right to control his own work. This union is not interested in the profit of the employer, but in the welfare of the worker.

Free and Happy Youngsters? Neighbors Call 'Em Monsters

By Rev. John L. Thurston, S.J.

Achilles Professor of English, Il Louvain University

How much freedom should young people have? This is a question that has been debated for many years. In recent years, however, there has been a growing trend toward giving young people more freedom. Many educators and parents believe that young people should be given more freedom to make their own decisions, and to explore their own interests. However, this trend has also been met with some resistance, as some adults believe that young people need to be more disciplined and controlled.

Urges Complaint ON TV Violence

RARE, Pa. - Congressional leaders on TV violence should not encourage the child's reading habits, said Dr. John N. D. Wood, director of the Federal Communications Commission.

"Children are experiencing too much violence," Dr. Wood said. "We must protect the children from this harmful influence."

"The Federal Communications Commission is trying to do its part in protecting the children from this harmful influence," he said. "We are trying to ensure that TV programs are not harmful to the children."

Sightseeing in Rome Their ‘Apostolate’

Rome — Since last week and have visited so many works of art and architectural wonders, the Ladies of Seton Hall are bound to be absolutely exhausted. The tour groups they are with are equally tired, but still methodology to their tour for some more sights.

THE LADIES FIELD — That the exceptional interest in the Vatican and all of the museums in Rome was not limited to the tour groups. Many of the members of the tour groups had been to the Vatican and all of the museums in Rome.

THE LADIES FIELD — Was so excited to see the Vatican, and all of the museums in Rome.

Native Clergy Necessary For Spread of the Church

For the secular extension of Christ’s kingdom as a sphere, a clergy is a necessity. As the Church’s handmaids and officers, they are the human instrument, the most needed. and most priceless, by which the Church can be made to live in the world. A clergy is also the most indispensable. As persons of proven grace and consecration to the religious life, they can be trained to use the Church’s own means of sustaining the Church’s power, to bring the Church’s message to the people, and to give the Church the means of supporting its mission. A clergy is the most essential. It is the Church’s greatest need. And without a clergy, the Church cannot live. A clergy is the Church’s most precious asset. And without a clergy, the Church cannot live. A clergy is the Church’s most precious asset. And without a clergy, the Church cannot live.

Mother Has the Whole World Spinning

By June Drayer

The whole world for Reba, the eight-year-old school girl, was-her yard. She had been looking forward to it all summer and she was ready to travel when she cracked open her shoebox and there, peeking at her, was the bird's nest that she had made several weeks ago. Her nest was the focus of her world for the whole day.

Mother was the other half of the world, but this time she was the one in the yard. She had spent the morning reading the newspaper and looking at the weather forecasts. With a smile, she said, "Good morning, Reba!"

Reba looked up from her drawing and said, "Good morning, Mother!"

Mother then asked, "What would you like to do today?"

Reba replied, "I want to build a birdhouse for the birds."

Mother said, "Great idea! Let's go to the store and get some supplies."

Together, they went to the store and bought nails, wood, and a hammer. Reba was determined to build the best birdhouse ever.

As they walked back home, Reba asked, "Can we start building right away?"

Mother said, "Yes, let's get started!"

Mother helped Reba measure and cut the wood, followed by hammering the nails into place. Reba was thrilled to see the progress they were making.

After a few hours of hard work, they had a finished birdhouse. Reba was proud of her creation and placed it outside for the birds to use.

Mother looked at Reba and said, "You've learned a valuable lesson about perseverance and hard work."

Reba smiled and said, "I know! And I'm proud of myself!"

Mother was happy to see her daughter's success and said, "I'm proud of you too, Reba."

Together, they sat on the porch and watched the birds swoop in and out of the birdhouse, enjoying their new home.

Mother was grateful for the simple joys in life and knew that together, they could conquer anything.
