Archdiocese Cancels Its Offer To Buy Plot of Plainfield Land

PLAINFIELD - The Archdiocese of Newark formally announced yesterday that it does not plan to make an offer to purchase 10 acres of land, here for one of the proposed archdiocesan high schools at a cost of $100,000.

Thomas Murphy, Newark attorney, represented the archdiocese to the Plainfield Board of Education. Mr. Murphy, in the letter to the Board, said that the school is already under construction and that the school is more than halfway completed. He added that the Board of Education has already spent $400,000 on the school and that the Board is now going ahead with the construction of the school.

The Board of Education was notified by letter of the archdiocese's decision to build the school on its own property. The Board was also informed that the archdiocese would not make an offer for the land.

The Board of Education is expected to respond to the archdiocese's letter and to the archdiocese's decision.

Campaign to Continue Until All Are Visited

NEWARK — Although the Archbishop Development Campaign has exceeded its goal, the program of visiting religious communities is continuing. The campaign has been officially announced by Monsignor Patrick J. Mahoney, diocesan administrator.

"As a result of the efforts of the program, there were a number of important achievements," Monsignor Mahoney said. "The most significant achievement was the fact that all parishes, churches, and schools were visited. This is a major step in the development of the Archbishop Development Campaign."

Man of Science Must Be Man Of God, Bishop Tells Graduates

JERSEY CITY - "Our graduates must be men of science, profound in their studies, and yet men of God," said Bishop James J. Lyke, who was the principal speaker at the graduation exercises of St. Peter's College. The exercises were held in the Alumni Gymnasium, St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N.J., on June 6, 1961.

Bishop Lyke said: "After receiving your Bachelor's Degree, you will be called to a life of service to others. Your abilities, your talents, your training will be put to work. But your first and foremost responsibility is to the Lord. You must keep on growing, not only in your profession, but also as a man of faith." The Bishop praised the graduates for their achievements and wished them success in their future endeavors.

LUCIANO CONVENTION Hubert Alexander, C.S.C., superior general of the Pallottine Fathers, addressed the graduating class of 1961 at Seton Hall University in South Orange, N.J., on June 6. He delivered the text of the address on the theme of "The Call of the Lord." He pointed out the need for young men to be prepared for the spiritual life and to grow in their faith. He also spoke of the importance of education and the need to be prepared for the ministry.

RECEIVES DEGREE Bishop of Paterson, Msgr. Anthony J. Ravone, receives his 10th degree from the University of Notre Dame, in South Bend, Ind., on June 6. The degree is in Canon Law. The Bishop also received a Doctor of Laws degree from Seton Hall University, in South Orange, N.J., on the same day.

NUNS AMONG WINNERS Of Seton Hall Awards

SOUTH ORANGE - Three nuns are among the 25 students receiving awards at the graduation exercises of Seton Hall University on June 10 at the campus here. There will be two graduation ceremonies, one at 3:30 p.m. for graduate school students and the other at 8:30 p.m. for undergraduate students. The awards are given for outstanding achievement in various fields of study.

The nuns receiving awards are: Sister Eileen Patrick of the Servants of Mary, who is receiving the Archdiocesan Award for the outstanding graduate student; Sister Mary John McSorley of the Servants of Mary, who is receiving the Most Holy Trinity Award for the outstanding undergraduate student; and Sister Margaret Anne(Customer) of the Servants of Mary, who is receiving the Holy Spirit Award for the outstanding junior student.

Fair Housing Bill Amended

TECHING - The Senate, in its consideration of the Fair Housing Bill, amended it by substituting the following for the amendment reported in the Senate Judiciary Committee on April 10 (by marnering in the Senate Judiciary Bill and omitting the section of the original Senate version which would have made the provisions of the bill applicable to the Federal Government, and providing for the establishment of an office of Fair Housing by the Department of Housing and Urban Development). The amendment was adopted by the Senate on June 6, 1961.

BISHOPS' WELCOME Ancient Bishop Censor, Praga, S.D.B., of the Apostolic Delegation of Africa, who is in the United States, was greeted by Msgr. Carlo Clisci, pastor of St. Michael's, Wyckoff, who presented him with a plaque of wood, orchids, and flowers, and a letter of greeting from the Bishop of Praga.

Declaration of Blight Paves Hospital Way

NEWARK - Land sought by St. Michael's Hospital for a new plant has been designated as blighted and eligible for redevelopment by the Newark Planning Board.

Located west of the city's business district, the land is part of a pier block in which other commercial, civic and educational institutions plan for a major building project. The plan has been a stumbling block to the city for some time, especially since the area has been designated as blighted by the city for many years.

The only problem involving the area is the question of whether the land is eligible for federal funds to help in its development. The only answer to this problem is the action of the planning board, which has now taken the first step in making the land eligible for federal aid.

Bishop McNulty Will Address Broadcasters

NEWARK - Bishop John E. McNulty, auxiliary bishop of the diocese, will address a group of broadcasting executives at a dinner at the Hotel Commodore here June 8.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Catholic Broadcasters Association of America, and will feature a panel discussion on "The Role of the Layman in Catholic Radio and Television." Bishop McNulty will be the keynote speaker.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS have a new home for their first baby, a girl, who was born May 13, 1961, to Miss Elizabeth Brown, 22, of 630 West 224th St., New York City. A Priest’s “Recall to Life”

The story of a career and a conversion — and of how it came that a man of the cloth should be a convert — is told for the first time in this book. It is the story of a man who has been a priest for more than 10 years, and who was a convert himself before he entered the Church.

The book is divided into two parts: the first part is a biography of the author, and the second part is a study of his work as a priest.

It's Mass That Matters Most Even in the Temporal Order

By Mrg. George C. Higgins
Director, Social Action Department, NCWC

Recently, reading a speech given to the students on the universitty of the Church in America, I was reminded of a few things. The universities, in the United States, America, and Europe offer an excellent opportunity to provide the students with an understanding of their faith and their role in society. It is important to remember that the Church is not only a place for spiritual growth, but also a community where students can find support and guidance.

I must say, we have a lot of work to do. We need to educate our young people about the values of the Church and the importance of living according to them. We must also work to ensure that our young people are surrounded by positive influences that will help them to develop their own faith and values.

In addition, we need to support our young people in their efforts to build a better world. We must encourage them to be active citizens, to work for social justice, and to make a difference in the lives of others.

Finally, we need to pray for our young people. We must pray that they will have the strength and wisdom to make good decisions, and that they will always be guided by the Holy Spirit.

The Church is a place where we can find a sense of community and belonging. It is a place where we can find support and guidance.

God bless you all.

Suds and Charity

By Bishop Patrick J. Byrne, Bishop of New York

It is a common saying that "you can live in sin, but you can't have the Suds." This is not the case. In fact, many churches use beer as a tool for charity.

For example, the Catholic Church in New York has a beer festival called "Brews and Bishops." The proceeds from this event go to support the work of the church. The event is open to all, and it is a great way to support the Church while having a good time.

In addition, many churches use beer as a way to bring people together. They will have beer tastings or beer dinners, and these events are a great way to meet new people and to learn about the Church.

Finally, many churches use beer as a way to support their local community. They will have beer festivals to raise money for local charities, and these events are a great way to support the community.

In conclusion, the Church uses beer as a tool for charity. It is a great way to support the Church while having a good time, and it is a great way to support the community.

Call for Logic Seen Illogical

By Dr. John P. O'Malley, Jr.

In his recent column, Dr. John P. O'Malley, Jr. has called for logic to be seen as an illogical concept. He argues that logic is a tool for understanding the world, and that it is not a set of rules or principles.

In my opinion, this is a very important point. Logic is not a set of rules or principles, but it is a tool for understanding the world. It is a way of thinking that allows us to make sense of the world and to form conclusions.

In conclusion, logic is a tool for understanding the world, and it is not a set of rules or principles.

He Cares for Widowed Mom: She Dotes on Aloof Offspring

By Rev. John L. Threlkeld, S.J.

When my mother died several years ago, she could have turned to her son, but she did not. Instead, she turned to her daughter. She was a good mother, and she did a good job. She was a good daughter, and she did a good job.

In conclusion, motherhood is a difficult job, and it is important to remember that it is a job that requires dedication and commitment.

ITALIAN BISHOPS REMIND ParentS of School Rights

ASHLAND (N.C.)—The Bishop of the Diocese of Ashland, Rt. Rev. M. D. Martin, has reminded parents of the right to withdraw their children from religious instruction at any time. The Bishop said that parents must have the possibility of choosing the schools where their children will be educated. He also said that the schools must provide religious instruction as directed by the parents.

In response to a proposal to provide for religious schools, the Bishop declared that "no religious instruction shall have the right to enter into any school system unless the parents of the child are notified and have the right to exercise their right of conscience." Parents must have the opportunity to ensure that their children are educated in accordance with their religious beliefs.

"The parents have the right to direct the spiritual education of their children," the Bishop continued. "They must be informed of the religious content of the school and have the right to refuse or accept religious instruction."

MARATHAKARA

The Deaconess Home

"The Deaconess Home is a place of peace and rest for the aged and infirm.

HUNGRY AND YODE Fußball? If you're never been hungry, which of us have not been hungry? What is hunger, if not a true manifestation of the human spirit? Hunger is the very essence of human existence, the very soul of the human race. Hunger is the driving force that propels us to strive for survival. Hunger is the very reason why we exist as human beings. It is the very reason why we work, why we struggle, why we fight. It is the very reason why we live."

Sunday Ruling Pertinent in N.J.

By Jim Thomas

Newark — It is possible that the chief-justice Sunday fishing activities of 1964 and 1965, resulting in a 1964 fishery by Judge Frankfurter, were not too valid after all.

That is one of the questions being asked by Judge Frankfurter, the author of the case, in his recent decision, which is now being reviewed by the Supreme Court of the United States.

In granting the petition for a writ of certiorari, the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit held that the regulations adopted by the New Jersey Fish and Game Department in 1964 and 1965 were valid under the state constitution.

The regulations prohibited fishing on Sunday, except in cases of emergency, and prohibited the use of certain species of fish.

The Court of Appeals also held that the regulations were not unreasonable, and that they were not in conflict with the state constitution.

The case involved the challenge of the American Civil Liberties Union, which contended that the regulations violated the constitutional right to freedom of religion.

In its opinion, the Court of Appeals stated that the regulations did not violate the right to freedom of religion, as they were not based on a religious belief, but on a legitimate governmental interest in the conservation of fish.

The Court also held that the regulations were not arbitrary or unreasonable, and that they were not in conflict with the state constitution.

The Court of Appeals found that the regulations were not unreasonable, as they were based on a legitimate governmental interest in the conservation of fish, and that they were not in conflict with the state constitution.

The decision is now being reviewed by the Supreme Court of the United States, which will decide whether the regulations are valid under the state constitution.

The regulations are expected to be upheld, as the Court of Appeals found that they were not unreasonable, and that they were not in conflict with the state constitution.

The decision will be important in determining the future of Sunday fishing activities in New Jersey, and in determining the balance between the state's interest in the conservation of fish, and the right of fishermen to fish on Sunday.

The decision will also be important in determining the future of Sunday fishing activities in other states, as the New Jersey regulations are model regulations that other states may wish to adopt.
Bogota Radio Station Is 'Voice of Mary'

By Flory Andres

BOGOTA, Colombia — A new station started here the other day is a voice of the Latin American nations, its sponsors say. The station is the Voice of Mary, which began broadcasting here Wednesday morning. It is a project of the Holy Family Life Association, a Catholic group with headquarters in New York City. The station is sponsored by the Archdiocese of Bogota and financed by donations from Catholics throughout the world.

The Voice of Mary is the third station sponsored by the Holy Family in Colombia. The other two are in Medellin and Cali. Both the new station and the other two are planned as a service to the Latin American people and to bring the teachings of the Catholic Church to Spanish-speaking countries.

The station will broadcast programs of a religious nature, including sermons, biblical readings, and prayers. It will also broadcast news and current events, as well as music and entertainment programs. The station will operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

The station's slogan is "Voice of Mary," which is the name of the Virgin Mary, the mother of Jesus Christ. The station's programming will be based on the teachings of the Catholic Church, with a focus on promoting the values of the family, love, and respect for life.

The station's broadcast area includes all of Colombia, as well as parts of neighboring countries, such as Ecuador, Venezuela, and Peru. The station is expected to reach millions of people with its message of hope and faith.

The station is managed by a group of Catholic priests and nuns, who are dedicated to spreading the message of the Catholic Church through the medium of radio.

The Voice of Mary station is an important addition to the Catholic radio landscape in Latin America, and it is expected to have a significant impact on the lives of its listeners. It is a testament to the power of the Catholic Church to reach and help people in their time of need.

The Voice of Mary station is a shining example of how the Catholic Church can use the medium of radio to spread its message and help people in their time of need. It is a beacon of hope and faith, and it is expected to have a lasting impact on the lives of its listeners.

Caldwell Names Two Honor Grads; Cites Rosemary Cass for Leadership

CADDWELL — Catherine Sto- ne will be graduated Cum laude from St. Mary's University of Newark. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stone of Caldwell, who are members of the St. Mary's Alumnae Association. She will graduate at 9 a.m. on June 11, the day on which the college celebrated its annual Student Memorial Service.

Fellow alumnae's degree and eight years' service will be conferred by Bishop John H. Friends, chancellor of the college, at the annual commencement at which Rev. M. McGovern, S.J., president of St. Mary's University, will be the principal speaker.

The New Jersey Catholic Episcopate of the Archdiocese of Newark, with an undergraduate board of directors of the Catholic University of America, will present awards at the commencement. The board includes Sister Margaret L. Lawrence, principal of the Catholic University of America, and Sister Mary Thérèse of the Sisters of Charity, Caldwell.

St. Elizabeth's Gets Atomic Energy Grant

NEW YORK — A $25,000 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission will enable Sister Mary Joseph Naxigi of New York to establish an Atomic Energy Council at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, John Wiley was the recipient. The hospital is located near the site of the atomic energy center in New Jersey.

The grant will fund the construction of a new building and the purchase of equipment for the council. The building will be used for research and education in the field of atomic energy.

The hospital is a teaching hospital for the University of Pennsylvania and is affiliated with the University of New York. It is one of the largest hospitals in the United States and is a major teaching institution.

Nuns From Jersey City Leave for Paris Study

NEW YORK — Three nuns from the Dominicans of the Third Order, a new congregation of the Dominican Order, have left for Paris to study at the Sorbonne. The three nuns are Sister M. Clare, Sister M. Josephine, and Sister M. M. Mary. They are members of the congregation of the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Dominic, which was founded by St. Benedict of Nursia in the 5th century.

They are the first Dominicans to study at the Sorbonne, the oldest university in the world. The nuns will study philosophy and theology at the university, which is known for its rigorous academic standards.

WATChFUL SHEPHERD

As the shepherd of souls, Archbishop Philip Housey preaches to the congregation and ensures their safety in this world, and in the next. He is the current head of the Archdiocese of Newark and is renowned for his pastoral care and dedication to the faith. He is known for his love of the Gospel and his commitment to spreading the word of God.

Don Bosco Surprises to Capture Title of Pair's

By Ed Grant

NEW BRUNSWICK—Like the rest of the Don Bosco fans, Coach J. P. Tucker did not expect his charges to capture the indoor track title. Tucker made a trip to Philadelphia to see the first meet of the season and was impressed with the performance of the Boston Latin School. Tucker had been to the Facilities Center in the New Jersey Institute of Technology building to see the track meet that was being held there. Tucker said that he was impressed with the meet but did not expect his team to do as well as they did.

St. Patrick, St. Christopher Not About to Be Jettisoned

NEWARK — The recent Secretary of State for the Sacred Congregation of Bishops has been reported to say that the Church might be willing to eliminate the two patron saints of Newark. However, Bishop Patrick J. McCarrick, of Newark, has denied the report.

In a statement released today, Bishop McCarrick said: "I was shocked to hear that someone might consider getting rid of St. Patrick and St. Christopher. These saints have given us much, and we have much to thank them for."

St. Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland and is known for his work in converting the Irish to Christianity. St. Christopher is the patron saint of travelers and is known for helping travelers cross a river. Both saints have been celebrated in Newark for many years.

The recent Secretary of State for the Sacred Congregation of Bishops had reportedly suggested that the Church might be willing to eliminate the two patron saints of Newark. However, Bishop McCarrick has denied this suggestion, stating that St. Patrick and St. Christopher have given the Newark faithful much and that they should be celebrated for their contributions.

In a press conference today, Bishop McCarrick said: "The Church has a rich history of patron saints, and St. Patrick and St. Christopher are two of our most important. To think of eliminating them is considered a grave mistake."

Bishop McCarrick emphasized that the Church has a long history of patron saints and that the idea of eliminating them is considered a grave mistake. He said that St. Patrick and St. Christopher have given the Newark faithful much and that they should be celebrated for their contributions.

Militia Cha-Cha After Reviving Host

NEWARK - The Militia of Our Lady of Mount Carmel has announced that it will be conducting a Cha-Cha dance revival to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the group's founding.

The dance, which will be held on June 15th, will feature a series of Cha-Cha performances by various groups from the Newark area. The event will also include a Cha-Cha dance contest and a Cha-Cha dance workshop for those interested in learning the dance.

"We are excited to be reviving the Cha-Cha and celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Militia of Our Lady of Mount Carmel," said Father Michael J. Burke, the group's leader. "We hope that everyone will come out to join us in celebrating this important milestone.

CORRECTION:

A false impression seems to exist among many local advertisers and the public in general that they should use only primary media that "reach the most people." We would like to help correct this false impression since it does not necessarily follow that this is the way to make the most money.

THE ADVOCATE, North Jersey's Catholic newspaper, is the third largest newspaper in New Jersey and New Jersey's largest weekly. Only two daily newspapers are larger in the Greater New York state. Readership is high. Advertising rates are low. Running an average of 20-24 pages per issue, each advertisement has a better chance of reader notice.

Our ad visibility is excellent. We never allow our advertising sections to be less than 70% of all advertising per issue. THE ADVOCATE remains in most homes for a number of days, offering a chance for ads to be seen and read again.

Agency account executives are reminded that advertising in our paper is in commission.

We offer an expanding market—more people to buy for. Catholically, the Catholic Church is the larger of the two and we are the other. Our newspaper is the voice of the Catholic Church, and the Bishop of the Diocese of Paterson is the Editor and Publisher of THE ADVOCATE.

The Advocate is sold mostly on an annual subscription basis. Our publishers statement and the Post Office statement of Publishers' Liabilities shows that we are 92% home delivered on Thursday. The Post Office guarantees reliable delivery, insureing against papers being lost, destroyed, misplaced by wind or animals.

We admit that primary media such as the daily newspaper may be the more cost effective. The fact is there are many more people reading the daily than the weekly. But many advertisers have found out that good second-class media are a bargain. Creations, and often there is a high degree of repetition.

Many of our regular advertisers tried our paper for a short time and have stayed with us for many years. They claim that they gained six to eight dollars spent the ADVOCATE than they do from any other medium. We don't ask that you take them word. . .or ours.

What we do ask is that you give it a try—keep a record of your results. If you find it profitable, give us a call. We would be glad to help you take it to the next step. Many advertisers have made use of every corner of our advertising schedule in order to keep their ads fresh and to keep their potential customer.
