Mexican Labor Bill Reform Is Sought

WASHINGTON (DC) — Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders have joined in a “Declaration of Consciences” in support of the Mexican labor bill program. The religious leaders have urged moral responsibility among the workers who are suffering hundreds of thousands of men, women and children, as they are reported on the U.S. railways and in other industries in the Southwest. The leaders are advocating the reform of the program, which is under the leadership of the U.S. Catholic Bishops.

The religious leaders argue that the program is not only a moral issue but also an economic one. They argue that the program, which is supported by the Catholic Church, is necessary to improve the working conditions of the workers and to ensure their rights. The religious leaders have also called for the government to adopt a more progressive economic policy to address the issues of poverty and inequality.

The Bishop ended his address by saying: “We are facing a moral crisis and we must be prepared to stand against it. We must be the voice of reason and order in the midst of chaos.”

Uganda Martyrs Cause Renewed Vatican Attention

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Holy See and Catholics of Uganda are marking the 50th anniversary of the Martyrs of Uganda.

The Sacred Congregation of Bishops has taken up the cause for canonization of the 12 martyrs of Uganda, all of whom died for the Faith during the nineteenth century.

In 1960, the Congregation of Bishops approved the cause and established a special commission to study the matter. The commission has been working since 1961.

In July, the commission's report was submitted to the Congregation of Bishops. The report is expected to be completed in the near future.

The Martyrs of Uganda are among the 300,000 martyrs of the Church worldwide.

The ceremony will take place on June 3, 1960.

Delegate Criticizes Intellectuals Who Snuggle Up to Secularists

HOLYWOOD, CA—Archbishop Vagnozzi, speaking at an event at Marymount University where he is currently a visiting professor, has expressed concern about the increasing influence of intellectuals on the Catholic Church. "This is a matter of grave importance," he said.

Church officials are concerned that some Catholic intellectuals are being accused in intellectual circles of being too close to the Church. "These are purely parochial matters," said the Archbishop. "However, we must not lose sight of the fact that the Church is a body of faith, and as such it is under attack."

The Archbishop further pointed out that intellectuals are often criticized because their ideas are not always accepted by the Church. "We must not be afraid of criticism," he said. "We must not be afraid to be wrong, because we are not simply wrong. We are wrong because we believe in the Church."
Permissive Parents

A few weeks ago we had an editorial presupposing the parents as the main agents in the formation of character. It was intended to emphasize the profound importance of the home in shaping the personality of the child and did not grant a recognition to the teaching of immature generations.

The parents are the main agents in the formation of character. It is their responsibility to provide a stable environment that fosters moral and emotional growth. The home is the primary setting where these values are transmitted and where the child learns to distinguish right from wrong.

Liberal Arts Decline?

Two authoritative academic voices have recently weighed in on the decline of the liberal arts colleges in the United States. There is a concern that liberal arts institutions are struggling to attract new students, and that those who do attend may not graduate.

By Dr. R. J. Lath, Columbia physicist and Nobel Prize Winner.

The traditional liberal arts education has been criticized for its focus on humanities and the arts, with little emphasis on science and technology. This has led to a decline in the number of students choosing to attend liberal arts colleges.

While Dr. Lath's criticism is valid, the data shows that liberal arts institutions are still graduating high-quality students who are prepared for a wide range of careers.

Start of Summer

The end of the school year has arrived, and for many, it means the start of a new season. It is a time of transition, with the end of the academic year and the beginning of the summer season.

While the end of the school year is a time of closure, it is also a time of opportunity. It is a time to reflect on the past year and to look forward to the future.

Probers Charge TV Lures With Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the television programs shown during the prime evening hours, from 7 to 10 p.m., are devoted to crime and violence, Sen. Barry Goldwater reported to the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, which he heads, as part of a study of television violence. The senator noted that some of the programs contain 'shocked or terrorizing images, such as the image of a child's body being dragged away from the scene of an auto accident.

WHAT PREVAILS are programs designed to challenge the moral conscience of the viewer, he said, is 'the weak, sordid, and violent,' with a 'vicious and Thưtter' evaluation of the human condition. He called for a 'thorough, objective investigation of the psychological effect of television on children, particularly on children who are sensitive or vulnerable to the influence of the screen.'

The senator said he was concerned that television violence is a reflection of the 'difficulties of our times' and that 'the human condition on television is a reflection of the human condition in society.'

Heretics Her Heroes

REVIEW BY ROBERT E. LEONARD

In the wake of the recent revival of interest in heresy and the publication of a number of volumes on the topic, it is fitting that a book such as 'Heretics Her Heroes' should be published.

The book is a concise and well-written overview of the history of heresy, from the early Church to the present day. It covers the major heresies, such as Gnosticism, Manichaeism, and Catharism, and provides a clear and concise explanation of their beliefs and practices.

One of the key points made in the book is that heresy is not just a historical phenomenon, but a continuing reality in the modern world. The author argues that the Church's response to heresy should be one of understanding and dialogue, rather than condemnation and exclusion.

The book is highly recommended for anyone interested in the history of religion and the Church.
LAWYER AND GUIDIE: Fremont Lake's Attorney General, Bill Johnson, who is president of the Institute of Catholic Men, transacts business in his office. He is a British alumnus of St. Thomas More, 16th-century layman who earned martyrdom. Johnson was the lay apostle in the 16th-century Church who divided the work in the Church and in society and governed the laity with the spirit of St. Thomas More. Johnson is a member of the National Board of the Institute of Catholic Men and vice president of the University of St. Thomas More. He claims that the laity is the true center of the Church and that the laity must shape the Church, not the Church the laity.

The Constitution is the first of its kind, and it is a significant step towards the goal of supporting the missions.
