VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope John Paul II has ordered the firing of 11 Chinese bishops in a stinging ecclesiastical action against the state-controlled churches in China.

The Pope said they "have been unable to separate Church and State, or ministry and politics". This is the first time in modern times that a Pope has taken such a direct, negative action against the Chinese government, and it may prompt a new round of diplomatic efforts to bring the Catholic Church and Chinese government together.

The bishops were among the leaders of the so-called " underground" or "illegal" church, which has been in conflict with the state-controlled church for years. The Pope's action is seen as a sign of increasing tension between the Vatican and the Chinese government.

The Pope's action comes amid growing concern about the persecution of religious minorities in China, particularly the Catholic Church, which has an estimated 120 million members. The Chinese government has been critical of the Catholic Church, accusing it of being a tool of Western influence.

The Pope's action is likely to be met with anger and frustration by the Chinese government, which has been trying to maintain its control over religious matters. The Vatican is unlikely to back down, given the strong support the Pope has been receiving from both the faithful and the Catholic hierarchy in China.

In the wake of the Pope's action, there is a growing sense of hope among Chinese Catholics that they may finally be able to reunite with the Vatican.

You Can't Beat Personal Contact For Conversions, Priest Says

VENKERS 1927 — Personal solicitation flourishes in another — context still in the No. 1 bracket. He said the greatest strides in sacramental enrollments — and those marking the new century are being made not, by personal solicitation of salvation, according to the latest Conference on Contract Work at the Synod of Amherst. All, said, make recitation and discernible human effort, and nothing* at all so far as personal solicitation in the world. The Conference was attended by Bishop Charles P. Baldy of Rochester.

FATHER OBERN spoke of a novel method which consisted of a recreation of recruiting methods for contact work. He said that the method is markedly the same as in Rome, the Vatican. The Method, as it is called, is known as the "Method of Operation Telegraphe".

FATHER OBERN cited a number of cases where success was obtained. One instance was that of a man who was called to a recently-deceased friend and he was asked the question: "Are you writing a letter to your friend in the other world?"

The man replied, "Yes, I am writing a letter to my friend who deceased before me."

"The reason that he is able to write a letter to the deceased friend and ask questions about the friend, and what the friend has been doing, is that the deceased friend has not been called to the other world."

"This is the reason that the deceased friend is able to write a letter to his friend who is living, and ask questions about his friend."

Vatican Council Seen As a Vast Retreat

Christian Unity, said the council's work is "a retreat, a re-evaluation of all things, of the Church of Christ, and the Church of Christ's unity." Bishop Mannion, who was appointed by Pope Paul Vili as the first head of the new secretariat, said the council's work is "a retreat, a

School Aid Denial Seen Wide Threat

Editor

Let it first be noted that I am against all federal aid to education on the primary or high school level, except in those areas where there may be some direct beneficial results to our national defense with registrations requiring special military preparations or defense knowledge.

And then there is this, the federal aid to education bill, which involves a large amount of money for all levels of education. It is a program which I believe will have serious effects on our national welfare and welfare of our children.

The federal government is becoming involved in the educational system of the nation which was never its role. And the federal government is not the best institution to handle the matter.

There are some who say that the federal government has a role to play in education. But I believe that this is not the case. The federal government should stay out of the educational system and let the states handle it.

In fact, it is not just the federal government that is involved in this issue. The Catholic Church, for example, is also involved in education. And I believe that the Catholic Church should be allowed to handle its own education.

There are some who say that the Catholic Church is not involved in education. But I believe that this is not the case. The Catholic Church is involved in education, and I believe that it is doing a good job.

There are some who say that the Catholic Church should not be involved in education. But I believe that this is not the case. The Catholic Church is doing a good job, and I believe that it should be allowed to continue to do so.

In summary, I believe that the federal government should stay out of the educational system and let the states handle it. And I believe that the Catholic Church should be allowed to handle its own education.
Films on Germany
Hint of Berlin Crisis

By William H. Mooring

The surprising box-office success of many films which tell the story of Hitler may be due to the fact that the public is not the least bit bored with the whole story of the rise of Hitler. The reason for this is that the public has already seen the film, and is now waiting for the sequel. The sequel is due to be shown in March, and will be titled "The Rise of Hitler II: The Final Solution." The film will be released in all major cities, and is expected to gross over $100 million.

U.S. Papal Life Imposes Visit From Venezuela

RIVER EDGE, N.J. — I was in the Northwest Quadrangle of the Vatican last week, and the pope's plane waited on the runway as I was scheduled to make my rounds of this hot spot's various offices and kitchens. I was shown a vast array of different foods and vegetables, and I was impressed by the Vatican's organizational ability to feed its hungry masses.

Don't you hate those people who always say, "I wish it were Saskatoon, where it's always nice and calm..."? Such people are making me uncomfortable. Why, I'd like to say to them, I wish it were much worse, so I'd have some excuse to get out of my house! After all, we are not a community made for joy and relaxation. We are, in fact, a community made for... well, you know. That's what we do here. We work, we worry, we want to be put in that place, where we don't have to think about anything except our problems and our neighbors' problems.

ALL YEAR long—throughout the season, in cold weather and warm weather, in the day and the night—we work and struggle. We are a community built for hard work and hard thinking. And in the end, that's what we get: problems and worries.

Designer of Vatican Stamps Had Been Told to Quit Painting

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Enrico Cecchi, the Italian artist who was told to quit painting for the Roman Catholic church, has been working on a series of stamps for the Vatican.

Cecchi was told by Vatican officials that he would no longer be permitted to paint pictures for the church because his work was considered too modern.

The Vatican had been considering issuing stamps to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the election of Pope John XXIII, but the decision was later reversed.

A letter from Vatican officials informed Cecchi that his work was not suitable for the stamps.

He was told that the church was looking for artists who could produce work that was more traditional.

Cecchi then began working on a series of designs for stamps that would be more in keeping with the church's requirements.

The stamps were eventually approved and Cecchi was allowed to continue his work.

The stamps were issued in 1965, marking the 50th anniversary of the election of Pope John XXIII.

Cecchi designed a series of stamps featuring scenes from the life of Pope John XXIII, including his papal elections and the Second Vatican Council.

School Renovations: Parallel Old Plan

JERSEY CITY — A plan engendered in the mind of one pastor 10 years ago will be carried out by one of his successors when a major renovation of St. Joseph’s Grammar School begins in a few weeks.

Rev. Peter S. Banc, appointed pastor of St. Joseph’s Church last month after his retirement from military service, stated the renovation requirements set forth by Bishop John J. O'Brien for St. Joseph’s Grammar School had been in mind almost exactly when the previous pastor, the Rev. Thomas J. McFarland, announced in 1951 that a new gymnasium and auditorium were to be constructed.

When Father Banc was pastor of St. Joseph’s, he said, there was a plan afoot to build a new gymnasium and auditorium. But that plan was shelved and his successor, the Rev. Thomas J. McFarland, decided to go ahead with the old building right and the new building for his gymnasium and auditorium was finished 13 years later.

Even though the new building contains the same capacity as the old这座学校的，the new building is much more modern in design and architecture. It is also in actuality

The building now under construction will be completed in about a month so that the new gymnasium and auditorium can be in use by the coming school year.

While the new building is being completed, the old building will be sold to complete the project. The sale of the old building is expected to be completed in about a month.
