Bishops of Ecuador Urge Social Reform

QUITO, Ecuador—Bishops of Ecuador have issued a joint statement calling for a program of social and economic reform and denouncing the first regime of President Rafael Caldera.

"We believe that a reasonable and properly balanced social and economic reform is necessary," the bishops said.

"We call on the government to take immediate steps to address the needs of the people and to promote peace and justice."

Mother and Teacher

By his recent Who's Who in 1961, Pope John XIII has again demonstrated his foresight and ability to foresee the needs of the day.

The world is changing and the Church must change with it. Pope John's recent visit to the United States has been a testament to this fact. He addressed the need for education and the development of the Church in the modern world.

Federal Aid to Education

Earlier this month the House Rules Committee reported favorably on S. 277, the federal education bill. This bill provides for additional money to be spent for education, and it has been greeted with enthusiasm by educators and students alike.

The Will of the People

More than a year ago, The Advocate expressed its opinion that the people had spoken, and that the government and the United States had listened. This was in reference to the recent election, and the people had clearly expressed their wishes.

The Reasonable Will of the People

The reasonable will of the people is that the government should be accountable. This is a basic principle of democracy, and it should be respected.

Teachers and Parents

Parents must be better teachers. They must be better teachers, not only in the classroom, but also at home. They must be better teachers in the sense that they must be better role models for their children.

Rituals and Rites

The ritual of the Mass is a time of prayer and worship. It is a time for the faithful to come together and to seek the guidance of God. The Mass is a time for reflection and for the renewal of the spirit.

Pope John XIII recently called for a more careful observance of the liturgy.

The Pope's Visit to America

The Pope's visit to America was a historic event. It was a time for the people of America to welcome the Pope and to express their respect for his leadership.

To Pray is to Hold Discussion with God

By Frank J. Need

Prayer is the act of faith. It is a way of connecting with God. It is a way of expressing our deepest desires and our deepest fears.

Pope John XIII recently called for a more careful observance of the liturgy.

Pope Exposed Red Charges

By Louis F. Budin

The Pope's visit to America was a historic event. It was a time for the people of America to welcome the Pope and to express their respect for his leadership.

The Question Box

If you have a question about the Pope's visit to America, you can send it to me. The Advocate will publish it and I will answer it as best I can.

Deplors Support Of Oath Decision

Editor: A letter in your July 28 issue carried a statement by the president of a Catholic University in the United States that "the oath decision has been completely understandable in some respects." This is not an unjustifiably wistful comment; it is a tacit admission of how the administration has completely misunderstood the feelings of most students and faculty members. There is every reason to believe that the administration did not understand the"understandable" decisions of the administration to be so different from the"understandable" decisions of the administration. The administration has not been able to understand the point of view of those who were affected by the decisions of the administration.

In this issue of the American Farmer, we publish a brief account of what we mean by parochial state aid. In all fairness to those who oppose it, we should mention that there is another point of view, that of those who favor it. We believe that the differences between opposition and support exist for the good of peace and justice.

THE TINY TOTS OF PURKAD

Visiting PURKAD, INDIAN, you'll probably never come across two children as different as your own. But just you try PURKAD - the title will tell you why. "Tiny Tots" of PURKAD is the name. It's what happened when the name of the Aunt Hannah Children's Home in Kansas City simply got mixed up by an Indian child. Who could blame her? And what was the result? Two of the world's smallest children in the same cage. Two of the world's smallest children - and no one knows how to get them separated.

Urge Catholic Colleges Provide More Scholarships for Africans

NEW YORK — Catholic colleges are providing more scholarship opportunities for African students to study in the United States. In 1967, the Urban Catholic College of New York, a three-year-old institution, offered 10 scholarships to African students. This year, the college expects to increase this number to 30. The Urban College is one of many institutions that are giving financial aid to African students who are interested in pursuing higher education in the United States.

The Pope's encyclical on the education of the young

By Ed Grant

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Amazing," a word that has been used with all of the fresh, young, and exciting ideas that are emerging from this country.

The Pope's encyclical on the education of the young is a timely and much-needed message for our society. It is a reminder that, while we are making progress in many areas, education is one area where we must not be complacent.

The Pope's encyclical calls for a "new" approach to education, one that is based on the values of the Church and the community. It encourages the development of a "new" curriculum, one that is tailored to the needs of the young and that is rooted in the traditions of the Church.

The Pope's encyclical also calls for a "new" attitude toward education, one that is characterized by a "new" spirit of "encouragement" and "perseverance." It encourages teachers and parents to be "new" in their approach to education, to be "new" in their expectations of their students, and to be "new" in their support of their students.

The Pope's encyclical is a call to action, a call to "new" ways of thinking and acting in education. It is a call to "new" ways of working together, to "new" ways of collaborating, and to "new" ways of sharing our knowledge and skills.

The Pope's encyclical is a call to "new" ways of thinking about education, a call to "new" ways of understanding the needs of our students, and a call to "new" ways of acting in education. It is a call to "new" ways of being a part of the future, to "new" ways of contributing to the development of our society, and to "new" ways of being a part of the Church.

The Pope's encyclical is a call to "new" ways of engaging with our students, to "new" ways of encouraging them, and to "new" ways of working with them. It is a call to "new" ways of teaching, to "new" ways of learning, and to "new" ways of collaborating.
