Pope's Encyclical Heartens American Social Leaders

WASHINGTON — Pope John XXIII's dynamic address to the United States on Sept. 23 has heartened American social leaders. "The Pope's words are an encouragement and a challenge, an exhortation and an inspiration," said the Rev. James M. Joyce, president of St. Mary's College, Indiana, in an interview with the Associated Press.

The Pope's message has been welcomed by many leaders as a call to action. "The Pope's words are a call to all of us to be more active and meaningful in our efforts to improve the world," said the Rev. Martin J. Walsh, president of Boston College.

The address has also been praised for its emphasis on the importance of education. "The Pope's words are a reminder that education is a key to improving the world," said the Rev. Joseph F. Brennan, president of the Catholic University of America.

Cardinal Tardini, Vatican Secretary of State, Dies

 Cardinal Tardini, 76, was the highest-ranking member of the Vatican's leadership, and was the last of the "four cardinals," a group of top Vatican officials who serve as the Pope's closest advisors.

Cardinal Tardini was born in Rome in 1915, and joined the Jesuits in 1933. He served as a priest and a missionary in Asia, and was appointed to the Vatican's diplomatic corps in 1958. He was named Secretary of State in 1964, and served in that role until his death.

Cardinal Tardini was known for his strong advocacy of social justice, and his efforts to improve relations between the Vatican and other countries. He was also a strong supporter of the popemobile, the vehicle that the Pope uses to travel around Rome.

Pope Stresses Individual Peace, Advises on Seminary Training

The Pope has stressed the importance of individual peace and the role of seminaries in educating the next generation of priests.

"We must strive to foster an atmosphere of peace and understanding in our societies," the Pope said. "This requires the commitment of individuals, and the role of seminaries is critical in this regard. Seminaries must be places where young men are encouraged to think deeply about the meaning of their vocation, and to strive for a life of service to others.

Fr. Norbert Dies; "Grand Old Man Of Mt. Carmel"

Orange — Fr. Norbert O'Toole, O.F.M., known to people here as "The Grand Old Man of Mt. Carmel," died Aug. 1, at Mt. Carmel Hospital. Father Norbert, 87, had been in his 50th year as a priest served as military chaplain, sailor, pastor, professor, missionary priest, and author of several books. He was a member of the Carmelite Order, and was known for his simple, poverty-loving lifestyle.

PILGRIM: After a Mass in Newark Airport Sunday morning, Jeanette Gough, a member of the local St. Mary's Church, and several others, rode in a car to the airport. At the airport, she and several others, including Mary Guitar, were given the chance to fly in the sky for the first time. Jeanette, who is the mother of 10, was among those who rode in the sky for the first time. Other women, who were riding in the sky for the first time, were also given the chance to fly in the sky for the first time.

BRAIN ROLES: Cardinal Tardini, besides being Pope John's most important confidant, devoted much of his spare time to Villa Nazzaret, an orphanage on the outskirts of Rome. At 4 a.m., he would be away from the house of his boys. At 4 a.m., he would be in the Vatican Gardens. At 4 a.m., he would be in the Vatican Gardens.

Some Areas of Congo Are Still in a Turmoil

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (N.C.) — Mons. Victor Van Ruvenzel, Bishop of Leopoldville and head of a Church jurisdiction, twice the size of the nation’s fatherland, has been drubbed by the hands of the Pope himself. Mons. Van Ruvenzel, called to Heavens, to the great joy of those who saw him as a man of God, is responsible for the new Democratic Congo’s situation. The Pope, in his letter, pointed out that the new state’s organization is not yet fully formed. He noted that the new Democratic Congo is not yet fully formed. Bishops Warn Against Disunity, False Foreign Ideologies

Bishops of the United States have issued a statement warning against disunity and the adoption of foreign ideologies, particularly those that are seen as leading to polarization and division within the Church.

The bishops, in a statement released on August 3, 1961, noted the increasing influence of various ideologies, including those that are seen as incompatible with the Church's teachings. They highlighted the need for unity and the importance of maintaining the Church's traditional values and principles.

The statement called for a return to the basic teachings of the Church and a rejection of any ideologies that are seen as contradictory to these teachings. It emphasized the need for dialogue and open discussion within the Church to address these issues.

The bishops also urged the faithful to remain faithful to their beliefs and to resist any efforts to undermine the Church's teachings.

The statement was signed by the bishops of the United States, including Cardinal Christian Goetz, Archbishop J. A. Ryan of Chicago, and Bishop John J. Halley of New York.

The full text of the statement is as follows:

Behind Eichmann's Crime

One man has been on trial in Israel for the murder of six million Jews. World War II. The evidence has showed clearly that the crime of Eichmann has been committed. Eichmann has admitted participation in the most cruel holocaust ever recorded, a direct outcome of the Nazi regime. In its present form, the Eichmann trial is not a test of the guilt or innocence of Eichmann himself, but of the guilt of the Nazi regime. It is a trial in the present, not a trial in the past. But the admission of Eichmann's guilt is not the end of the matter. The quotations below are from the trial, and are intended to be read as if they were being read in a courtroom.
Letter on Modesty Seen as a Challenge

Editor:

The open letter of Bishop Curtis to Catholics on modesty is a welcome challenge to our people. The Bishop and The Advocate are to be commended for their timely appeal.

BUT, in an age of growing egotism and increasingly selfish obsessions, it is not surprising to find that many have been critical of the Bishop's appeal. Coming as a member of the clergy, the Bishop is expected to have the ultimate answer to all questions. He is expected to say, "If you want to be good, then you must adhere to the teachings of the Church." The modern world is not interested in such an approach. It is not interested in hearing about the shortcomings of others. It is interested in hearing about itself.

I have found a lack of modesty among the people of the Church. This lack of modesty is evident in the way we dress, the way we talk, and the way we act. It is evident in the way we treat others, and it is evident in the way we treat ourselves.

We are too quick to judge others, too quick to criticize others, and too quick to blame others. We are too quick to think that we are better than others, and we are too quick to think that others are not as good as we are.

We should reflect on the words of St. Paul, who said, "Let each of you consider another more excellent than himself." We should consider the words of the Lord, who said, "Let not him who thinketh he standeth see himself that he floateth."

BUT, if we are to be good, then we must first be modest. And if we are to be good, then we must first be humble. And if we are to be good, then we must first be kind.

High Court May Get Censorship Ruling

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court will ask to re-examine Pennsylvania's latest censorship law in the absence of both Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

State Supreme Court Justice Anne A. M. Koonig said the appeal would be made to the state Supreme Court. The court will review a decision that the censorship law was unconstitutional.

The decision was announced by the court at 5 p.m. on Thursday. The court will not hear oral arguments in the case.

The court ruled that the censorship law was unconstitutional because it was not based on a "clear and present danger" test.

The court said that the censorship law was not necessary to protect the "freedom of speech and of the press." The law was "too vague" and "overbroad." The court also said that the law was "unconstitutional because it could be applied to speech that is not obscene or indecent."
Crashes "Woman's World"

NEW YORK—The image of a woman suffering which Hollywood has helped to create in the minds of the American public is that of an efficient but harried, beautiful but neurotic, capable but confused, superior but helpless woman. America's newspapers and magazines, by making the image a reality, have made it extremely difficult for the female to be anything but a female. America's magazines and newspapers, by making the image a reality, have made it extremely difficult for the female to be anything but a female. America's magazines and newspapers, by making the image a reality, have made it extremely difficult for the female to be anything but a female.

BEGGERS ENDED their suffering with their lives in the early morning hours today, as they were shot down by the notorious gang of Chicago's West Side. The gang, which has been terrorizing the area for weeks, has been responsible for the deaths of many innocent bystanders. The gang's leader, Frank Briggs, has been identified as the instigator of the shooting. The gang's activities have caused widespread fear and loathing throughout the city. The police are currently searching for the gang members.

In addition to the physical destruction of the area, the gang's activities have caused widespread fear and loathing throughout the city. The police are currently searching for the gang members.

Addie Comes Up With a Colorful Contest

By June Depuy

Addie has asked us for some help in the promotion of the Young Advocate Club. A contest is to be held which will raise money to be spent on the new stain glass windows for the Young Advocate Club.

EXCLUSIVE

The promotion marks and all of the excitement, boys and girls, but Addie admitted that we make a big help and we do our best to raise the money for the windows. Addie, who works in the Young Advocate Club Color contests, said, "We had a new stain window almost every month. That’s a special window.

"What’s so special?" Addie replied. "Why, I’m supposed at adding a bit of self-esteem. No, this is the most important, the happier, the larger the more people and the more likely you are to see a special window. Because we have so many winners, because we have so many girls and boys will be getting ideas to help them older.

"All right, Addie," we said. "We’ll get you the point. What do the Young Advocates have to do in the next contest?"

"Well, the first thing is to select a picture of one of us, "she replied.

THEN IT ALL TOLD OFF.

Addie wants to use what the Young Advocate Club members are doing. So, we will help you.

"We have just got a little help, but we are just getting a little money. We have only to get a little work. We have the help of the boys and girls and we will be getting ideas to help them older."

"Which window was it?" we asked. "Yes, the first window was the only one that we could use."

Sisters of Charity.

The Young Advocate Club, Inc. has sent a letter to the Sisters of Charity, asking for their assistance in the promotion of the Young Advocate Club. The letter has been signed by the directors of the club, and it has been accompanied by a copy of the Young Advocate Club Color contest.

In the Good Old Summertime

by ed woodward

The perfect week ended last, when the former former national softball champions also captured the college men's title.

The 1961 season, in which the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox competed, was a success, as both teams finished in the top four in the American League.

The Yankees, under the leadership of Manager Bucky Harris, won the American League pennant by 10 games over the second-place Red Sox. The Yankees' winning ways continued into the World Series, where they defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers to win the title.

The Red Sox, however, had a disappointing season, finishing in fourth place in the American League. Despite the loss, the team showed signs of improvement and could be a force to be reckoned with in the upcoming season.

GIVE YOUTH RESPONSIBILITY, VATICAN LETTER TO FRENCH SOCIAL WEEK ADVISES

The Advocate
August 2, 1961

The Holy Father has written to the Catholic Young Men's and Women's Organization for the June 13-19 World Social Week in France. The ‘Letter to Young People’ urges a reawakening of the spirit of apostolate among French youth and young people the world over. In his letter, the Holy Father pointed out that on the one hand, the Church is in fact expanding its activity among the young, while on the other hand, the youth of today are asking for greater participation in Church life. To respond to this challenge, the Pope called for the development of new apostolates, the introduction of new languages, and the renewal of existing ones. He emphasized the need for young people to be more active in the Church's life and to take on new responsibilities. The Pope also called for a new spirit of service and solidarity among the young, and for a greater sense of responsibility in the face of the challenges of modern society. He concluded his letter by urging young people to be more open to the spirit of apostolate and to be more ready to serve their fellow men. The Pope's letter was well-received by the Catholic Young Men's and Women's Organization, which expressed its gratitude for the Pope's words of encouragement and its willingness to carry out the Church's call for greater participation from the young.

Church Removes Carvings Of Alleged Murder by Jews

ROSEN, N.Y. (CNS)—Church authorities have ordered the removal of wood carvings of the Jewish High Priest Caiaphas painted in 1973 from the Church of Our Lady of Assumption, the oldest church in Rosen

The order was made by Rabbi Dr. Stanley A. Cohen, rabbi of the Jewish Community Center in Palm Beach. "The removal of these carvings is not the result of the recent controversy over the caricatures," he said. "It is the community's desire to express the importance of religious freedom."

The carvings, which depict Caiaphas, the high priest during the time of Jesus, are on display in the church's community center. According to Rabbi Cohen, the church has requested that the carvings be removed from the center to prevent any further controversy.

The carvings were originally painted by a local artist in 1973 as part of a community project. They were then placed in the community center and have been on display ever since.

In a letter to the church, Rabbi Cohen said, "It is the community's desire to express the importance of religious freedom."

The church has agreed to remove the carvings and has promised to replace them with a new set of carvings that depict a more positive image of Caiaphas.

The removal of the carvings is expected to be complete by the end of the month.
Dover Sets Hearing on Sunday Sales

DOVER — A second Morris County community has introduced a Sunday closing ordinance, joining Succasunna in taking a stand against the state county-option measure in favor of Sunday sales.

The Board of Aldermen in Dover passed the ordinance, which the administration had asked them to consider, after similar action had been taken in Succasunna.

A PUBLIC hearing on the Dover proposal is scheduled for Sept. 30. The public hearing will be held at 7:45 p.m., in the council chamber of the Municipal building. The hearing will be held before voting takes place. The hearing will be open to the public, and any citizen may appear as a witness before the council.

The hearing will be conducted under the rules of the county-option measure in force in Morris County.

Outdoor Breakfast Conference

St. Philomena's will hold its annual outdoor breakfast conference on Aug. 18 at the parish rectory. The Rev. Brian B. Goodwin, 50, of the Community Services, was invited to be the speaker.

Feast of Assumption

The services of the Advocate will be closed on Tuesday, Aug. 15, at the Feast of the Assumption. Five basilicas will be closed on Tuesday, Aug. 15, in order to provide for the solemnity of the Feast of the Assumption. The organization of the feast on this day has also passed a resolution setting the final number of a cent for each denomination.

CONSTRUCTION STARTS

Construction Starts on New $5 Million Hospital Building

ELIZABETH — Construction of a new hospital building, which is expected to boost the city's real estate market, has begun. The new hospital building is scheduled to be completed by the end of 1995. The hospital was designed by the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill. The project is expected to be completed by the end of 1997. The hospital will be located on the site of the former Somerville State Hospital.

The $5 million project will be funded by a bond issue, and it will be used to provide a total of 200 beds to the new hospital. The hospital will be located on the site of the former Somerville State Hospital.

In the past, there will be additional funding for the new hospital, including grants from the federal government and private donations.

The hospital is expected to provide care for the elderly population and those with chronic illnesses. It will also be used to provide care for the elderly population and those with chronic illnesses.

The project is expected to be completed by the end of 1997. The hospital will be located on the site of the former Somerville State Hospital.
