Cardinal Cushing
Asks Coordination
Of Mission Activity

BOSTON — Cardinal Cushing has proposed that a national center for the coordination of all American Catholic work in religious, educational and cultural matters be set up, the administration of which he has offered to undertake.

"It is a matter of urgency," he said, "that the U.S. Church is in no position to undertake such a large enterprise, and it should be directed by an ecclesiastical authority who has a clear vision of the whole field of American Catholic work."

But True Church Suffers
Schismatic Chinese Church Proves a Flop

BOHEI (N.C.) — Catholic priests who were expelled from China by the Com- munist government in May, 1951, have not been able to return to their sees. The schismatic "Chinese Catholic Church," which was established by the Chinese government in 1949, has remained divided and inactive. The schismatic church has a number of seminaries and colleges, but its membership is small and its influence is limited. The schismatic priests are not recognized by the Vatican and are forbidden to celebrate Mass or perform other sacraments. The schismatic church has been criticized for its lack of unity and discipline, and for its adherence to the political ideology of the Chinese Communist Party. The schismatic church's leaders have been arrested or exiled, and its property has been seized by the government. The schismatic priests have been denied access to religious education and are not allowed to teach religious doctrines. The schismatic church has also been criticized for its refusal to cooperate with the government, and for its attempts to establish rival religious organizations. As a result, the schismatic church has been unable to attract many followers, and its influence has continued to decline. The schismatic priests have been forced to rely on their own resources to support their families, and they have faced many difficulties in their daily lives. The schismatic church's future is uncertain, and it remains to be seen whether it will be able to survive in the long term. The schismatic priests continue to suffer from poverty and persecution, and they are的需求 to the Vatican for recognition and support. The schismatic church's leaders have also been criticized for their lack of cooperation with the Chinese government, and for their refusal to recognize the authority of the Pope. The schismatic church's future is uncertain, and it remains to be seen whether it will be able to survive in the long term.

Overseas Missionary Forces Increased by 553 in Year

WASHINGTON—The overseas missionary forces of the American Church, an agency of the Catholic Church in the United States, have increased for the second consecutive year, according to an announcement by the Rev. William J. Galvin, director of the agency.

The report of the agency, which covers the missionary activities of 100 Catholic organizations, shows that the increase in the number of missionaries went from 5,122 in 1961 to 5,675 in 1962. The increase was made possible by increased contributions by both Catholics and non-Catholics.

The report also shows that the largest increases in missionary forces were in Africa and Asia, where the number of missionaries increased by 200 and 150, respectively. The number of missionaries in Latin America increased by 50, and in Europe increased by 25.

Galvin said that the increase in missionary forces is due to the increased interest in missionary work among Catholics and non-Catholics, and the increased contributions by both groups.

He also said that the increase in missionary forces is due to the increased interest in missionary work among Catholics and non-Catholics, and the increased contributions by both groups.

Retarded No Longer Facing Prospects of a Useless Life

By Selma Felker

ST. LOUIS (N.C.)—What some doctors term a "useless life" physically and mentally handicapped children is unspeakable, the world had promised.

According to a report of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, which is releasing the report in time for the International Year of the Child, published in 1959, estimates of the number of physically and mentally handicapped children range from 125 million to 250 million.

Many children have been born handicapped, and they are being born into a world that is often unprepared to handle them. The world is unequipped to help them, and through the efforts of others they may be able to help themselves.

"I know more people great in wonderland in Christ child," the report said. "I know more people great in wonderland in Christ child."

Said the child, "How the handi- capped child can but live?"

"The world in the handicapped is for a child without a life," the report said. "The world in the handicapped is for a child without a life."

The report called for the establishment of special schools and for the provision of special facilities and care for handicapped children. It called for the establishment of special schools and for the provision of special facilities and care for handicapped children.

Foreign Aid

New Bill Aids Collaboration Of U.S., Voluntary Agencies

The International Cooperation Administration, working closely with USAID for the development of new programs, has signed agreements with numerous voluntary agencies to work in various countries. These agreements will provide new opportunities for U.S. voluntary organizations to participate in the development of new programs, which will increase the effectiveness of aid efforts.

The new bill, which is a continuation of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, is intended to strengthen the role of voluntary agencies in foreign aid. It is also an act that Bishop Edward J. Flanagan, chairman of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service and executive director of the National Council of Churches, is representing the interests of voluntary agencies and the U.S. government.

By Bishop Edward J. Flanagan

The new aid bill will be introduced by President Kennedy in the 88th Congress. The bill provides for the development of new programs and plans for the U.S. government that will increase the role of voluntary agencies in foreign aid programs. The bill will also provide for the coordination of efforts among voluntary agencies and the U.S. government.

In conclusion, Bishop Flanagan said, "We are grateful to the Congress for its support of our efforts to strengthen the role of voluntary agencies in foreign aid. We will continue to work towards this goal and we will work with the Congress to ensure that our efforts are effective and efficient."
How Much Longer?

I'VE BEEN OFFERING THIS TO YOU FOR 4 YEARS

By Frank J. Street

We have been in the dog days of summer and there are no signs of relief in sight or near. With the heat waves and the drought, even the most ardent optimist is discouraged. The President recently said, "The heat is killing everyone and the government is doing nothing to help." And yet, despite all the complaints, the government continues to do its job and enforce the laws of the land.

God Will Compensate For Our Suffering

By Louis F. Brindis

In the midst of our troubles, we must remember that God is always with us and will provide for our needs. The Bible says, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." And so we must trust in Him and have faith that He will provide for us.

Somsoult of U.S. Reds

By Louis F. Brindis

We must remember that the Red Scare was a symptom of the times. The government was trying to protect itself from the threat of communism. But we must also remember that the Red Scare was a waste of time and money.

How Long?

By Louis F. Brindis

We must ask ourselves how much longer we will have to suffer. The government has been aware of the problems for years, but has done nothing to solve them. We must demand action and hold our government accountable.

New Standards

For long this has been the case and we can only hope that the standards will improve in the future. The government has a responsibility to provide us with a safe and healthy environment and it must be held accountable for its actions.

The recognition of a man's exceptional gifts has a way of raising his friends to the level of saintly patriots

When this type of book is in the offing, a warning note toward the author is proper. An endorsement or a box of the author's work is not sufficient. Such is the case here. This is a book that has been written by a man who has been touring the world and is now on his way back from it.

The author, in his book, will show you how to handle life. He will teach you how to get rid of the bad habits and how to get back into shape. He will also show you how to use your time and how to get along with people.

The book is a must for anyone who wants to live a successful life. It is a book that will help you to get ahead in life. It is a book that will give you the tools you need to succeed.

A Subterranean Cathedral

By Floyd Anderson

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. - A buried mission church shrouded in centuries-old mystery is about to be revealed. The church is the centrepiece of Father Hennessy's work in India and Pakistan. It is a faithful replica of the Holy Cross Cathedral, whose remains are in Manila, Philippines.

Father Hennessy, who has been in India and Pakistan for 14 years, has been working on the construction of a replica of the Holy Cross Cathedral in Manila. The cathedral is a centuries-old church that was destroyed in World War II.

The cathedral is located in the heart of the city of Mumbai, India. It was built in the 17th century and was destroyed in 1942 during World War II.

The cathedral was built by the Spanish Jesuits and was a place of worship for the local population. It was later taken over by the British and became a British colonial administrative building.

The cathedral is surrounded by a park and a museum that houses artifacts related to the history of the cathedral.

The cathedral has a tall spire and a large cross on top. The interior is decorated with beautiful paintings and sculptures.

The cathedral was reopened in 2009 after being restored by the government of India.

Father Hennessy's work in India and Pakistan is part of his mission to preserve the history of the Spanish mission churches in Asia.

Father Hennessy's work has been recognized by the Vatican and he has been awarded the title of Canon for his work in India and Pakistan.

Father Hennessy's replica of the Holy Cross Cathedral in Manila is expected to be completed in 2022.

Needs of Mission Areas Cited by Vatican Official

VATICAN CITY — Love for the ministry is the basis for the recent nomination of Bishop Peter Sibidignon of the Church of the Missionaries of the Poor as the new Bishop of Lourdes, France.

Archbishop Angelo Amato, prefect of the Congregation for the Clergy, told an international press conference that the new Bishop of Lourdes was chosen because of his love for the poor and his dedication to the mission of the Church. The Congregation for the Clergy is responsible for the nomination of bishops.

Amato said that the new Bishop of Lourdes will continue the work of his predecessor, Bishop Jean-Michel di Lusco, who was appointed in 2012. Di Lusco is known for his work in providing aid to the poor in Lourdes, a city that is home to one of the largest pilgrimage sites in the world.

Amato also noted that the new Bishop of Lourdes will work closely with the Vatican’s Office for the Coordination of the Missions, which is responsible for coordinating the work of all the missionaries in the world.

The appointment of the new Bishop of Lourdes comes at a time when the Vatican is focusing on the needs of poor and marginalized communities around the world. The Pope has repeatedly called for a Church that is poor among the poor and that is committed to the poor.

Amato said that the new Bishop of Lourdes is well suited for the task, having spent many years working in Lourdes and in other missionary contexts.

The photographer, who asked to remain anonymous, said that he was inspired to take the photographs after visiting Ireland several times.

He said that he hopes the exhibition will help people better understand and appreciate the beauty of Ireland's landscapes and culture.

The exhibition is open to the public and is located at the Morristown Public Library.
