SUNDAY DAY FOR PRAYER, POPE SAYS

CASTELGANDOLFO, Italy — Pope John XXIII this week asked for prayers that the Mass becomes a true liturgy, and launched an international campaign to prepare the faithful to take part individually and in groups in the celebration of Mass.

The pope said that all men, who for the sake of their families and for themselves and for God's chosen, should be ready to pray in the Mass, which has been given to the faithful as a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy.

On Sunday, the pope asked for prayers for the Masses for the dead, and for the faithful to pray in the Mass, which he has promised to the faithful as a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy.

The pope said: "The Mass is the great sacrifice of the church, and it is a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy. It is a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy. It is a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy. It is a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy. It is a means of imitating Jesus Christ in the divine Liturgy."

Religion in N.Y. Schools
At Issue a Century Ago

NEW YORK — Protestant school officials here are a political issue now, as in the city's public schools.
A letter was uncovered by the Brooklyn Village School Board, saying, "We, the board of trustees of the New York Times, do hereby certify that the..." according to a story in The New York Times.

Under those circumstances, the board, who had declared the new school "a public institution," was asked to come up with a plan for the school that would be more "secular." The letter was signed by members of the board, including the president, who was himself a Catholic.

Father Gurrity
Chairman, New Jersey Catholic Conference, will be the guest speaker at the first of the Catholic Conference of the State, held at First Ave. on July 15, 1977.

REVEL. JAMES P. Coughlin was the first pastor. Under his leadership, the first school opened on Sept. 1, 1877. Since that time, St. Patrick's School has been a leader in the industrial community.

The "inaccurate" story in The New York Times was a story that appeared in the newspaper that same year, which accused the Catholic Church of "forcing" the public schools to "accept" Catholic children.

The"city had been "accustomed to the idea of Catholic children being in the public schools," the report stated, "but now a new policy is being invoked." The report went on to say that "the Catholic Church has been "forced" to accept Catholic children in the public schools, and the public schools have been forced to accept Catholic children in the Catholic schools."

The letter was signed by members of the board, including the president, who was himself a Catholic.

Demography and Love

Confident said that a large and increasing proportion of young people are looking for a change of pace and a change of scenery. When asked what could be done to provide a better experience, many suggested that it is not the government's job to fix all of the world's problems, but that we should all work together to make a better world.

The question of foreign aid provides dramatic examples of this. While some believe that foreign aid is necessary to alleviate poverty and suffering, others argue that it only creates dependence and that it is simply a form of colonialism. The question of how much foreign aid should be given and how it should be used is a complex one, and there are many different opinions on the matter.

School Aid Issue: What to Do Now

Editor:

It now appears that there will be at least an 18-month period in which no major Federal Aid to Education bill will be considered. It is not certain that even the Federal Aid to Education bill will ever be granted. Apparently, the educational community is not as optimistic as in the past.

If it should turn out that there is no Federal Aid grants then the local school authorities and the state must find some other source of funds. If the local school authorities and the state are not to be able to find the funds then the system will be in a serious state.

If the State is to be able to help it must be clearly shown the need and the purposes of the Federal Aid to Education bill.

It needs to be shown that the Federal Aid to Education bill will aid in the education of the children in the State.

In short, it must be clearly shown that the Federal Aid to Education bill will do something for the children in the State.

Willic Is at St. Elizabeth's Because She Loves Uganda

By Anne Mae Tucker

Ir Clinic, a Catholic educational and health center in East Africa. Only someone who has experienced the remarkable success of this center for the physically and mentally handicapped in Uganda, could ever have thought of bringing it to St. Elizabeth's. And yet, it was just what Sister Miriam Elizabeth Sant' did.

Sister Miriam Elizabeth, the second American non-citizen to be named as a religious Superior in the Church, was named President of St. Elizabeth's last July. When she arrived at the hospital, a few months ago, she brought with her the practical experience of her past work in the clinic in Africa.

When the clinic was established in the early 1950s, Europe was struggling to recover from the ravages of the Second World War. A new, more powerful enemy had appeared in their midst, however: the Communist countries. The West had to support the new independent nations, which were紙 the old Fascistic empire. They needed food, medicine, and other things. As a result, a new group of people, the aid workers, came into being.

Sister Miriam Elizabeth Sant' was one of these aid workers. She arrived at the Uganda Mission in 1956, and became Executive Director of the clinic. She was named Superior of the clinic in 1965, and became a religious Superior in 1970. She has spent the past 20 years working with the mentally and physically handicapped children of Uganda.

Sister Miriam Elizabeth Sant' is a woman of great energy and determination. She is a woman who knows how to get things done. She is a woman who knows how to take challenges and turn them into opportunities. She is a woman who knows how to work with people to achieve common goals. She is a woman who knows how to lead.

Sister Miriam Elizabeth Sant' is a woman who has made a difference. She has made a difference in the lives of thousands of children. She has made a difference in the lives of her fellow workers. She has made a difference in the lives of the people of Uganda. She has made a difference in the world.

Tells Boardwalk such care is ox for the great and unique fields. Father’s love is beyond compare. We must take care of our friends, for the greater good of all. "By our example, and through the influence of our prayers, let us be a living testimony of the faith which we profess." (St. John). Let us be united in prayer and in sacrifice.

III.

As a token of that great love he expressed it, as a first step to show the world (which also is his Church). It brings to life all around the world the Divine Child who was virgin-born before this event. When the Christmas comes, you are among the saints among the living.

And you also are a beginning, you are the source and the progeny of life. These innocent and pure eyes toward the Holy One. Do not forget that you are God’s design for each one of you. Do not forget your own family. Some of you are the living progeny of our Lord Jesus Christ. The Archbishop of Utrecht started the work of a spiritual family of the world of believers, preachers, laymen and others. And we are all, as the presence of life. You will always find the people who care for their children and the poor, to keep your love to the world. Let us be one in love for each other. Let us be one in love for the Lord Jesus Christ. Let us be united in prayer and in sacrifice.

Prayer

Lord Jesus Christ, Who made Thine child for our own and to our own, and to our joy, to our comfort, to our joy, to our refreshment, to our satisfaction.

Amen.

Population Explosion

In the next 30 years the world population will increase by 7 billion. This is a result of the 9 billion population explosion between the birth and death rates. In 1961, there were 3 billion people; in 1991, there were 6 billion; and in 2021, there will be 9 billion.

The world population is increasing by 2% per year, which is a very rapid rate. This rapid increase in population is causing a great deal of concern. In many cases, the living conditions are very poor, and the resources are not sufficient to meet the needs of the population.

The United Nations has established several programs to address this issue, including the United Nations Population Fund and the World Food Programme. These programs aim to improve living conditions and provide assistance to those in need.

In conclusion, the population explosion is a significant challenge for the future of the world. It is important to address this issue and work towards solutions that can help mitigate the impact of this rapid increase in population.
