‘Archdiocese Is Grateful’ For Honor to Bishop Curtis

BELLEVILLE — Cardinal Wyszyński of Poland has urged Catholics there to turn their parish homes into schools for the teaching of Christian truths.

In a pastoral letter promulgated by the communist government on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of Mary’s Assumption, it said: "We should look upon the teachings of the Church, particularly of the Pope, as a source of light to guide our steps, and we should learn to respect and imitate the Holy Father, who has always been a model of virtue for Catholics throughout the world."

Archbishop Brady’s Body Returning for Final Rites

BROOKLYN — Archbishop William E. Brady’s body will return to New York for his final rites.

The archbishop died at the age of 67 on July 31 at St. Vincent’s Hospital in New York City.

Catholic Educator Supports Neighborhood School Plan

JOHNSTOWN — A member of the Johnstown Catholic Teachers Association has written a letter to the editor of the Johnstown Republican supporting the school board’s plan to build a new high school in the city.

The letter, signed by a member of the association, reads: "We are very much in favor of the plan to build a new high school in Johnstown."

Implore Catholics to Say Rosary

The Pope, in his encyclical letter "Redemptor Hominum," has urged the faithful to pray the Rosary every day for the conversion of sinners. He said: "We are now living in a world of materialism, where the rights of man are often violated. The Rosary, therefore, is a means of protecting our families from the dangers of this world."

The Pope therefore urged people to say the Rosary daily, as the Church has always taught, and to offer prayers for the conversion of sinners. He added: "The Rosary is a powerful weapon against the forces of evil, and it has the power to change the heart of anyone who prays it regularly."

Religious to Join Strike

LONDON — Hundreds of priests, brothers and nuns from 900-year-old Irish Abbey, which now houses about 200 monks in a nationwide strike, have been suspended for 11 days.

The strike has been called to protest what they see as lack of support by the Vatican for the Abbey, which is one of the oldest in Europe.

The monks have been protesting the Abbey's decision to allow women to become nuns, a move that many of them see as a threat to their way of life.

The strike has been called by the Abbey's Council and is supported by a majority of the monks.

The strike has been met with mixed reactions from the Vatican, which has said that it respects the Abbey's autonomy but has also expressed concerns about the growing number of women entering the clergy.

The strike has also been met with support from some other religious orders, who have expressed concern about the growing number of women entering the clergy.

The strike has been seen as a test of the Abbey's autonomy, with some monks calling for it to be ended.

Make Use of Lay Talent, Charities Speaker Urges

TOLEDO, Oh. - The joint conference of America's Catholic Charities and National Congress have called for a joint effort to make use of all talents in the service of the church.

The speaker, Monsignor J. H. Gough, emphasized the old idea that lay people are the church's greatest asset.

He said that, while it is important to support priests and religious, it is also important to use the talents of people who are not priests or religious.

Charismatic, the speaker said, is a word that should be used to describe the church's role in the world.

He urged all to work for a more just society where all people can live in peace and love.

No ‘Exclusivism’ in the Church

By Jean Thellison Nourse, Ph.D.

In the recent controversy about ‘exclusivism’ in the Church, we have come to see that the issue is not simply a matter of doctrine, but also a matter of practice. The controversy has been fueled by the Church’s desire to maintain its influence and control over the faithful, and by the faithful’s desire for autonomy and freedom. The Church’s position has been reinforced by the political and economic power it holds, while the faithful have sought to assert their human rights and freedoms.

In this context, the issue of ‘exclusivism’ has become a symbol of the Church’s attempt to impose its will on the faithful, and of the faithful’s resistance to that imposition. The Church’s position has been reinforced by its historical role as a mediator between the faithful and the state, and by its ability to influence public opinion and political decisions.

On the other hand, the faithful have sought to assert their human rights and freedoms, and to challenge the Church’s authority. This has been done through various means, including the use of the media, the Internet, and grassroots organizing.

The issue of ‘exclusivism’ has become a symbol of the Church’s attempt to impose its will on the faithful, and of the faithful’s resistance to that imposition.

Role of the Policeman

The role of the policeman is a delicate one, requiring both respect and understanding. Police officers are often seen as objects of fear and suspicion, but they are also the first line of defense in protecting the community. They are trained to handle situations that are often beyond the scope of ordinary citizens.

Respect for Policemen

Respect for police officers is essential for maintaining a safe and secure society. Police officers are the ones who keep our streets safe, and they deserve our respect. They are human beings, and they do their best to protect us.

Columbus, Go Home!

The city of Columbus has been the subject of much controversy in recent years. Some people have criticized the city for its policies, while others have defended it. Regardless of the controversy, Columbus is a city that is home to many people, and it is important to respect the residents of the city.

Conscience

Conscience is the voice of the inner moral guide that directs our actions. It is the voice that tells us what is right and wrong. Conscience is a powerful force that can guide us to make wise decisions.

Sin Is a Preference Of Our Will to God's Will

Sin is a form of rebellion against God's will. It is a choice made by the individual, and it is a decision that can be reversed. The real issue is whether we choose to follow God's will or our own desires.

Soviet Spurs Class War

The Soviet Union was known for its class war policies. They sought to dismantle the capitalist system and replace it with a socialist one. This was a radical change, and it had a profound impact on the world.

Assignment for a Bishop...

By Anne Mac Donald

The Advocate... - a group of lay people who work as a team. They serve the people by helping them to grow in their faith and by providing them with opportunities to serve their community.

He is not likely to remain a spur to any vigor, any pump that when he is in the devotional act, he is less to do, as much as the work of an auxiliary, is in the hospital. The work includes nursing, but also includes the tasks of a medical assistant.

Rev. Paul V. Collins, associate pastor, was replaced by Bishop Curtis when he was appointed to the position. Dr. Collins is the new diocesan health officer and is responsible for the health of the clergy and the church.

"I'LL PRAY FOR YOU"! Children in Sacred Heart School greeted the news of Bishop Curtis' new assignment with unhappy groans. Told that soon the Bishop's golden visit to classhouses and cathedrals would be ended some called, "Can't we go with him?" Above, the Bishop is surrounded by chair and other boys in the same room.

"I told you to get to meet the people of the parish as often as possible, the Bishop said. "I want to know you."

In his first year as rector of St. John's Church, Curtis has become known for his warmth and accessibility. He has been described as a "natural leader" and a "people person." He is known for his ability to connect with others and for his approachable demeanor.

The Bishop's arrival was greeted with enthusiasm by parishioners and clergy alike. The Bishop is well respected for his pastoral skills and his ability to build strong relationships with those he meets.

In the meantime, Curtis has been busy getting to know the parish better. He has held several meetings with parishioners and has conducted several Bible studies.

The Bishop's presence has been welcomed by the parish, who are looking forward to his continued leadership and guidance.
Lincoln's Big Secret Was a Clever Woman

By June Deyer

August 8, 1961

Once upon a time on a mountaintop ranch, a family lived a life of simplicity and hard work. The mother had told her son that if they didn’t make ends meet, the family would have to move. The son was determined to make it work and never gave up. He was a free spirit who loved to explore and was full of ideas. He decided to start a business that would support them. The son named the business the Lincoln’s Big Secret, and it became the talk of the town.

Indulgent Spending Often Fails to Give Satisfaction

Sensations we might gather with the thought that "If I could buy here and see that happy smile I'd be so happy"...in the end we'll find the smile is not ours. We oftentimes to an extent that we find ourselves giving a smile to others and being so pleased with the what we have assumed to be the smile that we will not recognize it as being anything but ours. We will find that the little one we have is our own. We can find in our own astonishment that we are the one who is to blame.

The next thing we find is that the smile is not ours. In the end it will be a smile of our own, a smile that we have seen in others but not in ourselves.

The next thing we find is that the smile is not ours. In the end it will be a smile of our own, a smile that we have seen in others but not in ourselves.

A smile of our own.

Holy Father Hails Work of the Vatican Radio

NCPA News Service

Following is the translation of an address given on Feb. 12, 1962, by Pope John XXIII to the staff of the Vatican Radio. The Pope lauded the Radio's importance and achievements.

Here is Pope John XXIII's address:

"I am pleased to meet you again on this occasion. I feel that I am being called upon to address you on the occasion of the 12th anniversary of the Vatican Radio. I am aware that the Vatican Radio has contributed not a little to the development of the Church's doctrine and to the improvement of its teaching. The Vatican Radio is an instrument that should be used to promote the apostolic activity of the Church. It is a means of communication that is at the service of the Church and the whole world."

The Pope went on to talk about the importance of radio in spreading the Gospel and in strengthening the faith of the faithful.

SACRED GROUND: Pope John walks through one of the undergound galleries of the Castel Sant'Angelo which he visited Sept. 19 to pray for peace. He is followed by his pope John, inspecter of antiquities for the Pontifical Commissariat of Sacred Antiquities, who acted as guide.

Threefold Intentions Symbolized By Dispatch of Candles

Following is the translation of an address made on Feb. 4, 1962, by Pope John XXIII. It explains the threefold intentions symbolized by the dispatch of candles to the world. These intentions are as follows:

1. The intention of prayer for the world, for the Church, and for the souls of the faithful.
2. The intention of making a sacrifice for the world and for the Church, to the effect that the world may be brought to a happier condition.
3. The intention of expressing a wish that the world may be brought to a happier condition.

The Pope concluded his address by saying:

"We, in the name of the Holy Father, solemnly present these three candles to the world, to the Church, and to the souls of the faithful. We, in the name of the Holy Father, solemnly present these three candles to the world, to the Church, and to the souls of the faithful. We, in the name of the Holy Father, solemnly present these three candles to the world, to the Church, and to the souls of the faithful."

When the Bishops Decide

Catholics in their ecclesiastical matters often find themselves in a difficult position. They may not be able to follow the orders of their bishops if they do not share their point of view. In these circumstances, the bishops may have to make a decision that is not in keeping with the wishes of the faithful. The Pope must then be consulted and his decision is final.
