VATICAN SECRETARY URGES NEW LOOK AT LABOR RELATIONS

BALIFAX, N.S. (C)—Major economic and moral philosophy changes since World War II require a reexamination and reorganization of relations between management and workmen, a Vatican letter received here said.

The letter was written in behalf of Pope John by Cardinal John F. Wright, prefect of the Congregation, Vatican Secretariat of State, and was transmitted to the Bishops Conference of Canada, the English-speaking bishops, and the labor relations committee of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops.

The letter stated: "It may be profitable to examine theippi of recent social movements and the newer thinking on social problems as well as the implications of the papal social encyclical, "Laudato Sit," issued in 1961.

"Definitely, the principles enunciated in the encyclical do not contradict the principles of the papal social encyclical, "Rerum Novarum," issued in 1891.

"The letter went on to explain that the encyclical "Laudato Sit" should be read in the light of the encyclical "Rerum Novarum," and that the principles of the two encyclical could be based upon the social encyclical, "Pacem in Terris," issued by Pope John in 1963.

The letter ended with a statement that the principles of the two encyclicls could be based upon the social encyclical, "Pacem in Terris," issued by Pope John in 1963.

Sunday Sales Plea Denied WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Supreme Court has refused again to reconsider its 1962 decision that permits states to tax nonprofit hospitals. The court turned down, without comment, a request by the Catholic Church to have the new ruling set aside.

The church’s action came on a petition by the Rev. Thomas J. O’Connor, pastor of St. Peter’s Church, Washington. The petition was filed by the Archdiocese of Baltimore, which has a number of institutions in the state.

The archdiocese contends that the new ruling is an interference with the religious activities of the church.

The case was not argued.

The court’s action is the latest in a series of decisions by the high court on the question of taxation of religious institutions.

The court in 1962 held that states could tax nonprofit hospitals. The ruling was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1963.

The church in the present case asked the court to reconsider its decision.

The church has been fighting a tax case in the Circuit Court of Baltimore County, Maryland. The case involves the tax liability of the church for the year 1962.

Archbishop Mitty Rites Scheduled SAN FRANCISCO — Archbishop John J. Mitty will be buried here Oct. 29 at a Pentecostal Mass in St. Mary’s Cathedral at 2 p.m.

Archbishop Mitty, 77, head of the San Francisco Archdiocese for nearly 30 years, died in his sleep early this week.

The funeral Mass will be celebrated by the bishop and will be attended by scores of priests.

The archbishop was buried in the crypt of the cathedral.

A native of New York, Archbishop Mitty’s diocese is bordered on the north by the Pacific Ocean and on the south by the Mexican border. He was educated in various seminaries and has served as pastor in various parishes in the city.

Veracruy Privilege Given to Poland VATICAN CITY — Pope John XXIII today has granted Poland a Veracruy Privilege, which gives it the right to have a special envoy to the Holy See.

The privilege was granted to Poland on the occasion of the 300th anniversary of the Polish arms.

The Pope’s action was taken at the request of the Polish government.

Veracruy Privilege was granted to various countries over the centuries and was a sign of special favor from the Holy See.

New GRAND BALLROOM AT THE MILITARY PARK HOTEL

Unveiled last evening in ceremonies attended by hundreds of guests were the plans for the new grand ballroom at the Military Park Hotel.

The new ballroom will be one of the most beautiful in the city and will provide an additional 500 square feet of space for banquets and dance parties.

The ballroom is located on the third floor of the hotel and will be used for social functions and for the city’s many social clubs.

New World’s First Church Discovered in Greenland

OENPENAGA (N.C.) — The first ancient church in the New World has been discovered in Greenland.

The church, located in the town of Sisimiut, is about 800 years old.

It was built by the Vikings and was used as a church for about 300 years.

The church is a small structure with a wooden roof and walls.

It was discovered by Sven E. Christiansen, a Danish archaeologist, who was考察 the area for evidence of Viking settlements.

The church is about 150 feet long and 40 feet wide.

It is believed to have been built by the Vikings who settled in Greenland around the year 1000.

The church is being preserved as a national monument and will be open to the public for viewing.

Cuban Answer to Persecution

BISHOP BOSAL also revealed that some are fleeing from religious persecution to Cuba. He said the Cuban government is making efforts to deter them, but the influx continues.

In another development, he revealed that Cuba is more likely to receive more religious leaders from abroad due to increased persecution. The government is making efforts to deter them, but the influx continues. The government is also making efforts to provide support to those who have fled.

Cancer' Banned; Priest Proposes Smut Control Law

By Joe Thomas

NEWARK — Last week's widespread distribution of paperback copies of a smutty novel may have ended, but the day when literary works will be banned may be near.

Two events pointed to that possibility. One was the arrest here last week of Henry Miller, author of "Tropic of Cancer," at Newark Airport. The other was the court decision in Bergen County for the destruction of copies of the book, a decision that could set a precedent for the federal courts.

WHILE POLICE in Bergen County were seeing the arrest as a threat to the spread of smut, sex offenders and their supporters were celebrating.

"Tropic of Cancer" was distributed in a number of places, including St. LF (St. Lawrence's Foundation) Newsdealers, which was refused permission to sell the book.

CHECKING IN: Bishop McNulty shows a laugh from two Cooperative Supply Servicemen employees as he registers for the annual exhibit at the Newark Armory on Oct. 18. He is strongly supporting the registration card in Jersey City.

Judge William F. Lucien, Paterson Chancery, refused a request for a stay of the order to destroy the book, saying the court order was a matter of the public interest and not a matter of public opinion.

Among those who favor the treatment of 'Tropic of Cancer' as smut are Bishop John C. Hayes of the Diocese of Newark and Cardinal Henry O'Flaherty, of New York City, who heoothed the book in a recent letter to President Johnson.

"Tropic of Cancer" was being sold in Newark, New York City, and other places, and the court order was a matter of the public interest, not a matter of public opinion.

Whether or not the court order is a matter of the public interest, it may be that the book should be destroyed.

In the words of one of the judges, "This is an expression of community, and we as members of the community are here to protect our community from smut.

Campaign Follow-Up

The Advocate

October 13, 1941

Last May, at a dramatic victory rally at Roosevelt Stadium in Jersey City, Archbishop Sheilds announced that the Archdiocesan Division of Catholic Youth was one and it had found its goal.

Once thought to be impossible, the Archdiocesan Division of Catholic Youth now has been successfully organized in every corner of the city, a goal which Archbishop Sheilds set before his youth organization in the first year of his administration.

The rally at Roosevelt Stadium was the climax of a series of meetings held throughout the diocese to establish Catholic Youth organizations in every parish. The meetings were held under the direction of the Archdiocesan Division of Catholic Youth and its leaders.

The Archdiocesan Division of Catholic Youth has been successful in reaching its goal of organizing Catholic Youth organizations in every corner of the city. The division has been able to do this because of the support of the archbishop and the cooperation of the priests and laymen of the diocese.

Polish Church Construction Is Blocked by Red Tape

NCRSC News Service

Construction of new churches in Poland has been on hold as a result of the political situation. The main barriers to construction are the growing influence of the Communist regime and the consequent lack of funds. The construction of new churches has been halted due to the lack of financial resources, and the government has imposed strict regulations on the construction of new religious buildings.

The government has implemented a series of measures to control the construction of new religious facilities, including the issuance of permits for construction and the imposition of strict regulations on the use of building materials. These measures have had a significant impact on the construction of new churches in Poland.

The situation is expected to improve once the political climate improves and the government begins to allocate more resources to religious construction.

ThIRD, BECAUSE Covanent “bad” marriages are kept alive by people for whom the church and state are separate, and not a single party to the marriage (church or state) can make any change in the marriage. If the parties are not bound by law to continue the marriage, their consent is necessary to dissolve it. If one of the parties is bound by law to continue the marriage, the other's consent is necessary to dissolve it. If one of the parties is not bound by law to continue the marriage, their consent is necessary to dissolve it.

Constantly religious and spiritual standards are given as a reason for the church’s taking on such a marriage, but this is a very unsatisfactory explanation. The church should be concerned with the moral and spiritual welfare of its members, and not with the personal welfare of others. The state should be concerned with the legal and financial aspects of the marriage, and not with the spiritual aspects.

Family’s ‘Bad’ Marriages Are Puzzle to Convert

By Rev. John L. Thomas, S.J.

Augustinian Province, St. Louis University

Since I have been a convert for over 10 years, I have grown accustomed to hearing Catholics say “bad” marriages. Yet, I’m still puzzled about some things. My broth- er-in-law is living in his second invalid marriage—which of his wives is his children’s mother? Neither! A friend just entered a civil marriage with a Catholic previously disolved from an invalid marriage. They have to wait 30 days to get their marriage blessed by the Church, yet were not told to live apart—does the Church consider them married now?

You seem to have been ill-informed. Neither a woman nor a man can marry twice under the authority of the same Church, if the first marriage is by the Church. Thus, the fact that the Church recognizes a marriage as valid is what makes it, in their eyes, a valid marriage. If a person marries again without the Church’s consent, the second marriage is considered invalid.

Once a marriage is invalid, it can never be made valid by any authority of the Church. Therefore, if a second marriage is entered into, it is a new marriage and the Church considers it as such. It is not a nullity of any kind, but is simply a new marriage.

When you set the two to live together, you must take into consideration the moral and spiritual aspects of the situation. The Church considers such a marriage as invalid, and will not bless it.

Should I say that I am not surprised by the Church’s teachings on this subject? I think I am. But I can’t help but wonder if the Church is overlooking something important.

The Church has a duty to protect the moral and spiritual welfare of its members. It should be concerned with the spiritual and moral aspects of the marriage, and not with the legal aspects.

Among the most important things to consider in this situation is the state of the marriage and the moral welfare of the parents. The Church should take into account the moral and spiritual aspects of the marriage, and not just the legal aspects.

The Church should also be concerned with the moral and spiritual welfare of the children. It should take into account the moral and spiritual aspects of the marriage, and not just the legal aspects.

The Church should also be concerned with the moral and spiritual welfare of the parents. It should take into account the moral and spiritual aspects of the marriage, and not just the legal aspects.

Thank you for your interest in the subject. I appreciate your concern for the spiritual and moral welfare of the members of the Church.
Tonic at Blackfriars

NEW YORK — There's a laugh every half-minute in "Gallows At Exon." Bennett Shively's parody about Italian Americans in New Jersey which opens this week at Blackfriars, wouldn't surprise those who remember the 1946 playwright's "La Tosca." A parody of "Cleopatra," the play is a burlesque of the usual stereotype of New Jersey's Italian American. The cast is Italian American...
Vets Salute 2 Jerseyans

By Anne Mauck

When one thinks of Catholics who serve in the armed forces, the first names that come to mind are usually those that are military chaplains, the men of the Catholic Legion of St. Augustine, or other Catholic veterans. But there are many other Catholics who serve in the armed forces who are not chaplains or members of the Legion.

Vets found that the second World War was a great event in the history of the Catholic Church. The number of Catholics who served in the armed forces was so great that it was impossible to list all of them. However, there are a few men who stand out because of their service to the Church.

One of these men is John J. Kearsley, who served in the Navy during the war. John is a graduate of Seton Hall University and was a member of the Navy Reserve. He is now a priest in the New Jersey Diocese.

Another is Father John F. Murphy, who served in the Army during the war. Father Murphy is now a priest in the New Jersey Diocese.

What Would You Want for Your Birthday?

By Joan Dreyer

Don't you just love getting on your birthday cards from someone you can't imagine is thinking of you? I mean the ones that say something like: "Wishing you a wonderful birthday..."

I thought they would work each one of you early for your birthday, and also I am not sure if you need a minute or two for the answer.

Well, this week most of you have heard or read this column, and your birthday will be coming up soon. But will you know it in time, or will you know it in time?

There is a little reason why you should be on the lookout for your birthday. You are not going to be old, but you are going to be quite a few years old. OK! So on Oct. 10, you are going to be 65 years old.

For some people, this is not the most of all, but for those who are on their birthday on Oct. 10, you are going to be the biggest birthday of all, because you know that as of this Oct. 10, you are on the birthday of the Hangman, and you are going to be the biggest birthday of all.

"Do youreally think the Youngest girls will remember me and will not want to do all the things they will do for you?"

I don't think so, but if you want to try to remember that each one of you will remember, "The birthday," by the way. It's your own birthday.

Japan has lost most of its early colonial unions and territories...
The Minister, Mrs. McNally, and the Bishop, Sr. M. Kostka, presided over a mass at the Rosary Auditorium. The event was sponsored by the Academy of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart. The bishop addressed the audience, expressing his appreciation for the support of the community. He also highlighted the importance of community service and the role of individuals in making a positive impact on society.

The highlight of the event was the presentation of the annual "COURSE" to the members of the community. The bishop presented the awards, commending the recipients for their dedication and hard work. The awards were presented to individuals who had shown exceptional commitment to the community and the church. The bishop emphasized the need for continued support and thanked the community for their contributions.

Following the presentation, a lunch was served. The lunch was prepared by the members of the community, and it was a true reflection of the shared values and commitment to service. The event concluded with a prayer, led by the bishop, blessing the community and encouraging them to continue their efforts towards a better future.
JERSEY CITY—Through the merger of the two member schools in the Catholic high school football leagues, the Tigers and Green Wave, it has been determined that St. Benedict's, which has no boarders, will be added to the Sacred Heart League, which also lacks boarders, in order to determine the successful finisher in the First Group. The ordinance sets forth the principal rules and permits the steps in the Catholic A. league.

KEY CONTESTS are also set for the upcoming season with Benedict's at the top of the list in the Sacred Heart League.

and beautiful lotum with the little house in the sun, a beautiful place for the weary traveler. It is a pleasant spot for those who wish to rest and enjoy the beauty of nature.

Treasure for Priests

Priests, like all other people, have their treasures. For some, it may be money, for others, it may be power or fame. But for priests, it is often their faith and devotion to their calling. They are called to be stewards of the Word of God and to serve their communities.

Nourishment

These promises are made not just to priests, but to all people. They are meant to nourish and sustain us in our spiritual journeys.

Shining Lights Of Rome Diocese

The shining stars of the diocese are the priests who work so hard to spread the word of God. They are the ones who give us hope and guidance in our darkest moments.

Carrying Out Diocesan Offices

Carrying out the offices of the diocese is not easy. It requires a deep commitment to the faith and a willingness to serve others.
