End Food, Job Shortages, Pope Urges Authorities

VATICAN CITY (CNS) - Pope John XXIII today rejected "the idol of food and jobs" that eats up the popular vote, and asked leaders to avoid "the illusion of religious factors" to stem the tide of the growing number of people in distress today. At the conclusion of the Holy Thursday Mass, the pope said, "there are still religious authorities who are content to remain in their church pagodas and in their palaces, and who are not moved by the passion of John the Baptist, who said, 'If your hand is withering, stretch it out and it will be restored.'"

Pope John sent a message to the Federal National Movement, saying that it has "the right to be assisted" but that "its goals must be achieved with the help of the government." The movement was founded by Cardinal Lamentin, who has been working for the release of political prisoners in Cuba.

The pope's comments came as he was being interviewed by Vatican Radio, which is scheduled to broadcast a message from the pope tomorrow. He is scheduled to travel to Rome on Friday for a meeting with the Italian government, which is expected to name him a cardinal and to grant him an audience with the pope.

St. Mary's, Elizabeth, Joins Coverage Plan

ELIZABETH - St. Mary of the Assumption parish here has joined other diocesan parishes in the coverage plan for distribution of The Advocate, the diocesan newspaper. William P. Furlong, pastor, is announcing the decision to his parishioners. He said it was decided after a long discussion among his family and the parish council.

The Advocate is a monthly publication that covers the diocese of Newark and tells the stories of its faith community. It is distributed to over 100,000 homes in the diocese and is available in print and online.

Pope John XXIII today announced that he will visit Cuba on his way back from an apostolic visit to Africa. The visit is expected to be brief, as the pope is scheduled to return to Rome on Friday. The trip is seen as an attempt to bridge the gap between the Vatican and the communist government of Cuba, which has been hostile to the church for decades.

The pope's visit to Cuba is expected to raise tensions with the Cuban government, which has a long-standing policy of cracking down on religious activities. However, the Vatican has maintained that the pope's visit is not intended to promote any political agenda, but rather to offer a message of peace and reconciliation.

Pope John's visit to Cuba follows a visit to the United States earlier this month, where he met with President Jimmy Carter and other religious leaders. The visit was seen as a diplomatic success, as it helped to ease tensions between the Vatican and the United States government.

Kennedy Seen Adopt At ‘Back Bending’

NEW YORK—President Kennedy has adopted ‘back bending’ as his personal emblem, it was learned yesterday. The President, who has adopted ‘back bending’ as his personal emblem, was seen yesterday at the White House, where he was attending a meeting of the Council of Economic Advisers. He was seen to be bending over in a manner that was reminiscent of the old-fashioned ‘back bend’ used by stage managers to indicate that the audience should rise and take their seats.

No one could say whether the President was actually engaged in any ‘back bending’ activity, but it was observed that he was certainly in good spirits, and that he was appearing to be in excellent physical condition.

On the other hand, some observers noted that the President seemed to be slightly bent over, as if he were trying to look into the distance.

A number of people at the meeting were impressed by the President’s good humor and good spirits, and they said that he seemed to be in high spirits.

The President was seen to be laughing and joking with his colleagues, and he was seen to be engaged in a number of animated conversations.

In conclusion, it is certain that the President is in excellent physical condition, and that he is in high spirits.

Washington, DC - President Kennedy is expected to make a special televised appeal to Congress, in which he would suggest a major step toward resolution of the Korean situation.

In his speech, the President is expected to say that the United States should begin talks with North Korea to work out a peaceful solution to the Korean conflict.

The President's appeal would be part of an overall strategy to bring about a diplomatic settlement of the Korean crisis.

In addition, the President would propose a number of specific measures to achieve this goal, including:

- The establishment of a peace negotiation center in Washington, DC, to facilitate discussions between the United States and North Korea.
- The appointment of a special envoy to handle the Korean issue, with the authority to make decisions on behalf of the President.
- The provision of economic assistance to North Korea, to help it build an economy that can support its own people.

The President's appeal is expected to be met with a positive response from Congress, and it is hoped that this will lead to a rapid diplomatic breakthrough in the Korean conflict.

Vocation Directors Advised On Methods of Recruiting

MILWAUKEE (REUTERS) - Archbishop John N. Jurecki of Milwaukee, Wis. C., characterized the vocation problem among the clergy as "one of the most serious in the Church today." And Auxiliary Bishop Philip H. Farrell of Washington, D.C., added the "check of potential candidates for the priesthood and the ordination process has caused some anxiety in the diocese." The late Auxiliary Bishop Leonard J. H. O'Brien of Milwaukee, a noted vocation director, died recently.

BISHOP RANKAN suggests that the main factors attracting young men to the priesthood are the wages of life, the challenges and opportunities of the world today, and the personal satisfaction that members of the religious clergy can achieve through their vocations.

RANTOL, Minn. (REUTERS) - A new school to serve the needs of the diocese has been established by the late Bishop Joseph L. Murphy of Rapid City, S.D. The new diocesan school, to be named for the late Bishop, will be located in Rapid City and will serve the needs of young men and women who wish to enter the religious life.

Bishop Murphy, who died recently, served as Bishop of Rapid City for 38 years. He was the first Catholic Bishop to serve in the diocese, which was established in 1938.

MADISON, Wis. (REUTERS) - Archbishop John N. Jurecki of Milwaukee, Wis., was installed as the new Archbishop of Milwaukee in a ceremony held at the Cathedral of St. Josaphat in Madison.

The installation took place in the presence of thousands of Catholics from throughout the archdiocese.

Archbishop Jurecki succeeded Archbishop John P. McCarthy, who retired last year after 24 years of service.

The archdiocese covers 12 counties in south-central Wisconsin and is home to more than 1 million Catholics.

The Archdiocese of Milwaukee was established in 1849 and is the second-oldest Archdiocese in the United States.

White Flag for Jersey City?

First was Newark — now 260-year-old Jersey City, long known as a community of devout Catholics, is about to make its offering to the church in a way it never has before. Today, the city is the scene of a ceremony which is more the waving of a white flag than of a red one, for it is de- lared a "Catholic Action Community".

As in previous parishes in New York, Boston and elsewhere, those who have been identified as outstanding for their social work among the poor have been given the honor of bearing a cross for the pope. The cross will be borne by a number of the city's leading citizens, including Father John J. Cronan, Catholic Action director of the diocese.

The occasion, a mass at the Cathedral, was attended by hundreds of people, including some who came from out of town. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Msgr. John J. Cronan, who addressed the crowd from the steps of the cathedral.

He said that the occasion was a sign of the church's support for the pope and the Catholic cause. "We are privileged to have the pope's support," he said. "We are privileged to have the pope's blessing."

He also said that the occasion was a sign of the church's commitment to help those in need. "The church is here to help those in need," he said. "The church is here to help those in need."

The ceremony was followed by a procession around the city, with the cross being borne by the members of the Catholic Action committee. The procession was led by Father Cronan, who carried a crucifix and a small flag. The procession ended in front of the cathedral, where a mass was celebrated.

Non-Republican Nor Omniscient

As one of its objectives in the field of politics, the Administration will press for the improvement of public school education. It is hoped that this will lead to a better understanding of the problems of the schools and their various needs.

While some efforts will be made to reduce the number of teachers, it is felt that this will not be a sufficient solution. The schools must be reorganized, and their various functions must be better understood. It is hoped that this will lead to a better appreciation of the problems of the schools and their various needs.

Waugh's War Trilogy Complete

The END OF THE DAY, by Ewing Young, reviews p. 554, 1964. P. 540. T. A. Balaban, appropriately describes Waugh's great trilogy of books as "the most notable literary work of our time." For Waugh, who is well known for his work in World War II, World War I, and the Crusades, this work is in a league of his own as an ally of England and the values it stands for.

It is now two years later than the time of "The End of the Day," but Waugh has still maintained his original tone and the work is as timely as ever. It is a work of great importance, and its influence on the younger generation will be profound.

The book's format is similar to the previous two volumes, "The End of the Day," and "The End of the Century." It is divided into three major parts, each dealing with a different aspect of English life. The first part deals with the military aspects of the war, the second with the political, and the third with the social. The book is written in a series of short essays, each of which deals with a different aspect of the war. The essays are written in a style that is both informative and entertaining.

The book is well written and the author is able to convey his ideas in a clear and concise manner. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in English literature and history.

New Look at Old Poem

The PEARL, A NEW TRANSLATION AND ORIGINAL EDITION by Harold Williams, University of California Press, 1964. P. 551. The original edition of "The Pearl" is a classic of English literature, and it is always a delight to read. The new translation is equally good, and the new edition is a welcome addition to the literature of the world.

The book is divided into two parts, the first dealing with the original text and the second with the new translation. The original text is a beautiful work of art, and the new translation is a faithful rendition of it. The book is well written and the author is able to convey his ideas in a clear and concise manner. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in English literature and history.

The book is divided into two parts, the first dealing with the original letters and the second with the new translation. The original letters are a beautiful work of art, and the new translation is a faithful rendition of it. Africa Missioner Home in Short Hills

By Ed Grant

SHORT HILLS — There will be no dust in a Short Hills church this Christmas. That's because, for the first time in church history, Father Knoblauch's congregation will be the only one in New Jersey to get a real church Xmas. The reason for the Christmas miracle: The Reverend Knoblauch is moving to Short Hills from New Hope, Pa.

A part of German-Kentucky ancestry, Father Knoblauch began his seminary education at the University of Kentucky. He then studied in Rome, Italy, and was ordained in the Archdiocese of Washington in 1960.

A native of the state of Kentucky, Father Knoblauch has been a parish priest in New York City since 1960. He has served at St. Thomas More Parish, in New York City, and at St. Mary's in Newark. He has also served as pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes in Newark and St. Aloysius in Trenton.

Father Knoblauch is a member of the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus. He is also a member of the Knights of Malta, the Knights of Columbus, and the Knights of the Holy Sepulcher.

He is a brother of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and a member of the Order of Malta. He is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Knights of the Holy Sepulcher, and the Knights of Malta.

Christmas Contest Tops 3,000 for Young Advocates

By June Dayer

Oh, la, la, and a Merry Christmas to all! A sweet tradition, it is just that.

We did it again, folks! Our kids have been busy climbing up and down ladders, hanging bulbs and decorating the Christmas tree. The contest was a huge success and the results were announced last night. The theme this year was "Christmas in the 1940s," and the winning entry, "The Christmas Spirit," by Sister Mary Anne, was chosen as the winner. The contest has been going on for many years now, and we are always amazed at the creativity and imagination of our young Advocates. It's a true celebration of the holiday spirit, and we are so proud to be able to honor our winners in such a way.

Thank you to everyone who participated in the contest, and congratulations to all the winners! Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!

Note: The text is a mock-up of a Christmas contest announcement, written in a festive and warm tone, with mentions of traditions and holiday cheer.

BOOKS FOR YOUTH "MEET A COURAGEOUS AMERICAN OR SOME CANADIAN MISSIONARIES"

December 22, 1961

The young reader might be a bit prejudiced against the book, but even so he will find much of the information presented. Mr. Lincoln is at pains to make it clear that John F. Kennedy was interested in other than political matters and interests, and this view is worth considering.

But he will rise in his book and as President of the United States. His work will be too much for him and his country. He will be a leader of the world. His life will hold enough excitement and surprise to warrant the expenditure of his country.

Let us remember that the Kennedy family is united in a common object. It is not a matter of interest.

In this book for children you will find the story of the children's Christmas in Canada at the time of St. John de Beverley, the well known fisherman. The book ends with a description of the life of the children in the home of St. John de Beverley. The book ends with a description of the life of the children in the home of St. John de Beverley.

Think of the subject mother needs. Very little help is needed to make this a delightful, enjoyable story for boys and girls together. The book ends with a description of the life of the children in the home of St. John de Beverley.

Xerox - Things are beginning to take shape in the Ottagon with the start of the New Jersey Catholic High School Track and Field season. Although teams will no doubt be changing, one outstanding team must be mentioned - the Bergen Catholic boys, who have already shown themselves the leaders of the conference.

Bergen Catholic will field Pope John's Chris Jones, of Passaic, and St. Joseph's Dary Mersin, of Paterson, in the Boys High School Track and Field season.

Bergen Catholic, which defeated Pope John by 1 point to win Bergen County last year, will be at St. Joseph's Dary Mersin, of Paterson, and at St. Joseph's Chris Jones, of Passaic. Bergen Catholic will be at St. Joseph's Chris Jones, of Passaic, and at Pope John's Dary Mersin, of Paterson.

The Bergen Catholic team is the only team that has won both the Bergen County and the New Jersey Catholic High School Track and Field season.

Peacocks vs Red Devils

How Come?

Pirate Five Will Return Home for a Busy Week

In our opening game of the season, the Peacocks met the Red Devils of St. Joseph's in a match that was a true team effort. The Peacocks won the game, 14-0, and were able to carry their winning streak into the week.

The Peacocks went on to win their next two games, against Bergen Catholic and Pope John, by scores of 14-0 and 14-0, respectively. These victories gave the Peacocks a 3-0 record for the season.

Conference Meet

Seton Hall Tabbed Relay Choice

Seton Hall University head coach, who has been coaching for the past 20 years, has chosen his relay team for the upcoming conference meet. The Seton Hall relay team is expected to perform well at the meet, which will take place on April 15th.

Scoring Race

Kupchak, Dillon Fight for 1st

In the final heat of the 880-yard race, Kupchak and Dillon went head-to-head. The two were neck-and-neck throughout the race, with Kupchak coming out on top by the narrowest of margins.

The Upcoming Games

In the upcoming games, the Peacocks will face tough competition from the Red Devils, who have a 2-1 record. The Peacocks will need to keep their winning streak going if they want to secure a spot in the conference finals.

Basketball Calendar

The basketball season is in full swing, with games being played every weekend. The Peacocks will face Bergen Catholic and Pope John in the upcoming weekend, with the possibility of a match against St. Joseph's in the following weekend.
