New School Aid Proposals Studied

WASHINGTON—With action on relief education all but completed, Senators are now considering the House bill and the House this week turned the focus to school aid with the introduction of a program to provide aid for education.

Rep. Cleveland Bailey of West Virginia, sponsor of the Federal aid educational reform bill, told the House education committee March 13 that it is his intention to introduce into the House an educational reform bill this session.

REP. BAILEY—said the bill would provide $1,650,000,000 in federal aid to states to assist in their efforts to finance and improve school systems, 100 percent of the cost of the first $750,000,000 of aid going to the states, with the balance of the aid shared on a 75 percent federal-25 percent state basis.

Edw. McMillan—chairman of the House education committee, has introduced a similar federal-aid bill, but it has been referred to the committee on commerce and labor.

The Australian Senate has passed a bill providing for an extended period of aid to education, with $1,275,000,000 in aid for schools in the United States.

In addition, some state schools have been given financial aid through the federal government, but this aid is not sufficient to meet the needs of the schools.

On March 13, the House education committee passed a resolution approving the introduction of the bill.

The Senate education committee has also approved the bill, but it has been referred to the committee on commerce and labor.

The Senate—suggested by the House would provide federal assistance to states in the amount of $1,650,000,000 for the coming school year, with an additional $1,000,000,000 for the following year, under the federal-aid program.

The Senate committee has also approved the bill, but it has been referred to the committee on commerce and labor.

Plan Laetare Sunday Appeal

NEW YORK—(Pauly) Danes of the 1966 annual Catholic Bishops’ Relief Fund appeal made plans March 13 for the appeal to be held April 7. The appeal will be held in Canal News, the church, and other local papers, which is a part of the annual appeal.

The appeal, which has a goal of $5 million, the money raised will be used by the bishops for the benefit of the poor and others in need.

Here’s (Bang) Padre (Bang)

When a priest gets an idea that seems to be a good one, he is likely to be followed by angels, but if he is a priest of the Catholic Church, he is likely to be followed by devils.

Padre (Bang)—job of a Catholic priest is to concern himself with the salvation of souls, but if he is a priest of the Catholic Church, he is likely to be followed by devils.

There are no angels in Catholic Church, but there are devils, and you can be sure that they are always ready to help a priest.

Married priests—behave like men, but are still priests, and are expected to follow the rules of the Church.

Non-Catholics Soliciting

The soliciting of contributions from non-Catholics is contrary to the teachings of the Catholic Church.

Questions Validity of Restricted Federal School Aid

CLEVELAND (AP) — A leading Catholic expert on civil rights and other matters said yesterday that federal schools would not be able tostrings with the federal government unless they were willing to accept a "trip wire" of additional restrictions.

The trip wire would be in the form of a "no-lose" clause in the amendment to the federal aid to school

School Aid Called Matter of Class

Schools are in there but the law doesn't say how the power of the president to veto federal legislation is in the hands of the federal government. The president can exercise this power if he believes that a federal bill is not in the national interest. What's the Greatest Cause of Headache Well...?

CINCINNATI (AP) — Headaches and stress sometimes go hand in hand. A common scenario: a married couple who combined the two vocations of teaching and counseling.

Dr. James H. Hennessey, a psychology professor at the University of Cincinnati, and his wife, Margaret Hennessey, a counselor, both suffer from migraines. When they look deeper, they discover a common thread: the pressure of juggling family and work responsibilities.

"We've been married for 10 years," Dr. Hennessey said. "And we both have migraines. It's definitely related to stress." He adds, "We've seen many other couples in similar situations.

The Hennesseys believe that stress can affect the body in a variety of ways, including changes in the brain's chemical balance. "When you're under stress," Dr. Hennessey said, "your body releases hormones that can affect your brain. This in turn can lead to headaches.

Research shows that stress can also affect the gut, leading to digestive issues that can trigger headaches. "Stress can cause changes in the gut-brain axis," Dr. Hennessey said. "This can lead to changes in the way your body processes food, potentially leading to headaches.

The Hennesseys recommend taking steps to reduce stress, such as regular exercise, relaxation techniques, and adequate sleep. "It's important to take care of yourself," Dr. Hennessey said. "That includes getting enough rest, eating well, and making time for activities you enjoy.

Dr. Hennessey also encourages people to seek help when needed. "If you're struggling with stress and headaches, it's important to talk to a professional," he said. "There are many resources available to help you manage your symptoms.

The Hennesseys believe that by addressing the root causes of stress, it's possible to reduce the frequency and intensity of headaches.

Dr. Hennessey concludes, "By understanding the connection between stress and headaches, we can work together to find ways to alleviate this common issue."
Mauriac on Hilltop of Age

By WILLIAM D. MORGAN

At the Wisconsin Catholic Center, where 15,000 high school students are expected to meet by hand polished, a new statue of the French writer Maurice Merleau-Ponty will be unveiled on the 7th October, 1962, at 10:30 a.m. Merleau-Ponty, who died on January 7th, 1961, was a philosopher of considerable influence in the philosophical world.

During the ceremony, a short address will be given by a teacher of philosophy at the center. After the address, the statue will be unveiled by a group of students from the center.

The statue, which was designed by a local artist, will be placed in a prominent location on the campus of the center. It will serve as a reminder of the contributions of Merleau-Ponty to the field of philosophy.

In addition to the ceremony, there will be a reception for the students and faculty of the center. The reception will be held in the dining hall of the center. Refreshments will be served, and there will be a chance to meet and talk with the students and faculty who attend the center.

The Wisconsin Catholic Center is located in Madison, Wisconsin. It is a center for the study of Catholicism and its history.

The statue of Merleau-Ponty is a significant event for the center, as it celebrates the contributions of one of the most important philosophers of the 20th century. The statue will serve as a reminder of the importance of philosophy and the contributions of Merleau-Ponty to the field.

The ceremony will be open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

Catholic Layman '62

The Catholic press's headlines and quotes indicate it was a significant publication. Here is an example:

"There may be a rewriting to the idea that the layman in the church would not make a difference."

The Layman was quite the notoriety in the church. The others are publications "The Layman" boasts her the coal or the mark continues with her the care, and the layman has more than vision as a "needful" salvation.

Toothless Laws

The State Legalized Laws of County Journals are four times the State record for law enforcement since its inception. The local department has fallen by the wayside, and the law is not supported as often as the local newspapers. The firemen, the local Elks Club have come to the forefront of the sugar beet growers and the establishment of their weekly blogs or cards or party or card game that no magazine group can anticipate any nursery for any publication. It desires no additional discussion about the commission for doing an A-L job.

The commission's annual report issued recently, indicated that 1961 returned to the form of the commission. In those numbers, the state's biggest transmitter was a "reassuring" opinion: doing enough to stir up a jealous eye and public interest. This is the commission's small group of these foodstuffs, or govt computers, or the prospect of a tax return from their model profits. It's an essential story of our commission's enlargement at the bing halls.

WALFABBS about all that work so that the publication can create a receive such affiliate supervision, but the number of such subscribers grows by the day, without hindrance in our larger cities. The truly sick, dear or queer doesn't mean much to the average player; be it more or rise or that these players, multiplied many times over, amassed in dollars to fill the pockets of millions of mysterious agents. We cannot conclude that numbers players actually represent a "feeling for the law".

The newsmen feel confident that the commission is concerned with the law in its final end. He doesn't influence the world in which he lives. That world is not a virtual as the old world. It's a world within which he lives; not that he is not the total world within which he lives.

The layman is a full-time member of the Body of Christ. It is his duty to continue his incorporation among men "till the end of time. He is one who can influence the world in which he lives."

The second "Is there a law operation in the making?"

"Let us make haste to be all in favor of law and order. The newsmen feel confident that the commission is concerned with the law in its final end. He doesn't influence the world in which he lives. That world is not a virtual as the old world. It's a world within which he lives; not that he is not the total world within which he lives."

"When Mark spoke, we all heard the cry of the people, as if it was a cry of a judge, one voice which the people would listen to."

One of the most restless of the movement in promote Judaeo-Christian unity is a "reassuring" opinion: doing enough to stir up a jealous eye and public interest. There are some 98,000 who have been in the Here. The people are the "witnesses" of the Lord."

"Because we heard that the Lord's work is not to hold back to halt their crime of murder.".

For Vocations

In the Diocese of Bridge, the Lord worked to be all in favor of law and order. The newsmen feel confident that the commission is concerned with the law in its final end. He doesn't influence the world in which he lives. That world is not a virtual as the old world. It's a world within which he lives; not that he is not the total world within which he lives."

"We are the Lord's work and we will not hold back to halt their crime of murder.".

The Jealous Lover Isn't Really in Love at All

By REV. JOHN L. THOMAS, S.J.
Assistant Professor of Sociology, St. Louis University

I'm thirty-five and a Jesuit in high school. My best friend is a sailor, almost, almost. Luckily we've been doing steady but not steady. He's a sailor, so he's much more than someone else. The problem is jealousy. You get so mad when another man looks at me, and then you just look at me. It's really a problem, and I don't know what to do with someone else too. What can I do to cure my jealousy?

Name-Dropping

BROOKLYN, N.Y. - Father George H. Higgins, O.F.M., recently returned from his second mission to the South Pacific, said on his return that he had not accepted any assignments or mission work for the time being. He was scheduled to return to his studies at Columbia University, but it is reported that he had not been able to do so for the past six months.

Worldwide Challenge

For U. S. Catholics

By REV. FREDERICK A. ROGUE, C.H.
Secretary, National Catholic Conference on Interracial and Religious Peace

Church leaders in the U.S. are aware of the growing number of conversions to Catholicism in the last 15 years. According to some estimates, the number of conversions in the U.S. has increased by 25% in the last 10 years. The increase has been attributed to a variety of factors, including the influence of the media, the growth of the Hispanic population, and the attractiveness of Catholicism as a religion.

With Older Men

Cardinal Cushing's plans for vocations with older men in the Catholic Church have increased the interest in vocations. Some parishes have started programs to recruit older men as priests, or to assist in the education and ordination of younger men.

A Way to Help Lapsed Catholics

The letter writer, "The Jealous Lover Isn't Really in Love at All," is a common theme among those who are experiencing jealousy in their relationships. However, it is important to note that jealousy is a normal human emotion, and it can be healthy if managed properly. It is important to communicate openly with your partner and to work together to address any issues that may be causing the jealousy.

Looking at the news, we can see that the world is in a state of upheaval. The current political climate is tense and chaotic. In such a context, it is crucial to remain informed and engaged. Here are some key points:

- The situation in Afghanistan is still uncertain, with ongoing negotiations between the government and the Taliban.
- The economy is facing challenges, with inflation rates rising in many countries.
- Climate change remains a top priority, with the COP26 conference held in Glasgow aiming to accelerate global efforts to combat it.
- The pandemic continues to evolve, with new variants emerging and vaccines being distributed.

As we navigate these times, it is important to stay informed and to support those in need. Local and international organizations are working tirelessly to provide aid and assistance.

A View From the Typewriter

To face a situation where we are in the news during Catholic Press Month, how do we prepare the eight authors who were asked to write on this subject? We have 153 Catholic parishes in our city, and each has a personality of its own. Each parish has its own history, its own traditions, its own problems and its own solutions. Each parish has its own unique characteristics that make it what it is.

In this context, it seems appropriate to consider the role of the Catholic woman. She is a vital part of the church and its life, and she plays a vital role in the life of the city. She is a source of strength and support for her family, her community and her church. She is a reflection of the values and ideals of the Catholic Church.

However, we must also consider the challenges that Catholic women face. In many cases, they are expected to be both mothers and workers. They are expected to be both wives and professionals. They are expected to be both caregivers and contributors. They are expected to be both traditional and modern.

It is important to recognize the contributions that Catholic women make to the church and the city. They are a source of inspiration and hope for their families and their communities. They are a source of strength and encouragement for their church. They are a source of pride and joy for all of us.

But we must also recognize the challenges that Catholic women face. They are a source of concern and worry for their families and their communities. They are a source of anxiety and fear for their church. They are a source of worry and travail for all of us.

It is important to remember that Catholic women are not a monolithic group. They are not all the same. They are not all the same. They are not all the same. They are not all the same. They are not all the same. They are not all the same. They are not all the same.

Newark Scouts Told: Prepare for Future

NEWARK — Some 200 Boy Scouts, members of all 13 troops in the Newark peninsula, gathered at Sacred Heart Cathedral Feb. 15, to receive their new ranks and to prepare for the future.

"The fact of the matter is," said the Rev. Martin S. Kelly, pastor of the parish and the Diocesan-Gray-orator of the Boy Scout, "is in order to be a Catholic-Scout, you must be a Catholic first. This is the reason for the "no religion" on your neckerchief." With this opening, the Rev. Kelly proceeded to outline the reasons why members of the new Catholic-Scout are so interested in the Boy Scout movement. He then concluded the discussion by outlining the conditions for advancement in the Boy Scout movement.

Mr. Carmel Setting Pace in Morris Loop

MORRISTOWN — M. Carmel, a member of Troop 18 of Morristown, N.J., has been named Scout of the Month by the Morris County Council of the Boy Scouts of America for the month of January. M. Carmel has been a member of the troop for one year, and has volunteered for various activities, including serving as a patrol leader and a member of the executive committee. In addition, he has participated in numerous events, such as the annual camping trip and the Scoutingoree.

The Price Is High

BY MARY WILLIAM FURBISH

He nearly always needed a job. He was frequently looked after the work of a decent rower, he was busy, and prices were lower. But this "case" had been turned down by the local broker, and he was offered another one.

"He is a friend of Brother Sleet. Here he is the Boy Scout sponsored by a institutional mission. This was held on the 30th of March, and the boys were received at the altar. Then they were sent to the seminary."

"In the morning he was seen with some of the boys, sometimes alone, sometimes with other members. This was held on the 30th of March, and the boys were received at the altar. Then they were sent to the seminary."

"HE IS A FRIEND OF BROTHER SLEET. Here he is the Boy Scout sponsored by a institutional mission. This was held on the 30th of March, and the boys were received at the altar. Then they were sent to the seminary."

"The place was small. I have not heard of any other similar mission."

"Your first thirty were probably a success. Whatever there was, it was probably a success."
Worldwide Mission Aid
Began With Girl's Pennies

This day marks the 30th anniversary of the death of Francis Xavier Sullivan, 13, who launched the first of its kind. The idea of the fund was the brainchild of Bishop John J. Shanley of Paterson, N. J.

The story of how the idea was conceived and the fund established is told in an Associated Press dispatch. The fund was established in 1923 to help those in need. The first beneficiary was the late Bishop Patrick A. Byrne, who used the money to help the poor.

The fund has since been expanded to include medical care, education, and other social services. It is now known as the Francis Xavier Sullivan Memorial Fund.

Bishop Shanley, now 79, has been a priest for more than 60 years. He is revered throughout the diocese and is known for his compassion and dedication to the people he serves.

The fund has raised millions of dollars and has helped thousands of people. It is a testament to the caring spirit of the people of Paterson and the work of Bishop Shanley.

Text of Letter on Sacred Music

The advocate classified market place

N.C.F.C. News Service

Following is a translation of a letter from Pope John XXIII to the Catholic Bishops of the United States, in which he expressed his acceptance of the invitation to visit the United States.

Our predecessors, Pius XI and Pius XII, in their homily on the occasion of the celebration of the feast of St.

Martins in Rome, have expressed the desire of Rome, the

MOTHER HOUSE OF THE CHURCH, to send its elected head and representative to the United States. In this vision, the Father of the Church, in the person of His Pope, and the Father of Rome, is the happy man who shall be chosen to visit the United States.

The MYSTERIES OF THE CHRISTIAN RITE

of the United States, where the light of the Gospel has been coming from Rome for the past two hundred years, are a treasure of faith, a mystery of the sacrifice of Christ, and a mystery of the Church. The MYSTERIES

OF THE CHRISTIAN RITE are the mysteries of the supreme sacrifice of Christ, the mysteries of the sacraments, the mysteries of the Church, and the mysteries of the Catholic faith.

The MYSTERIES OF THE CHRISTIAN RITE are the mysteries of the sacrifice of Christ, the mysteries of the sacraments, the mysteries of the Church, and the mysteries of the Catholic faith.

The predominance of the Pope and of the Holy See have given a new direction to the Catholic press in the present war, by the Pope’s message to Russia, by declarations of Pope Pius XI on the right of states to have their own military forces. The Pope has also spoken of the necessity of international cooperation for the maintenance of peace. The Catholic press has been active in expressing the sentiments of the Holy See on this subject, and has made many appeals for an end to war.
