The conditions for obtaining the indulgence are as follows:

- Attending Mass on a Sunday or Holy Day of Obligation

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet commandant's farewell speech has roused the crowd that gathered to see the last ever parade of Soviet forces in Berlin. The parade took place on the 40th anniversary of the Soviet victory in World War II. The commandant, General Leonid Brezhnev, addressing the crowd said:

"Today we celebrate the victory of our great country over fascist Germany. The parade is a symbol of the unbreakable unity of our people. Let us remember the heroes who sacrificed their lives for our freedom."

Brezhnev's speech was met with enthusiastic响应 from the crowd, who cheered and waved flags. The parade included military hardware and troops of the Red Army. It marked the end of Soviet occupation in Berlin, which began after World War II.

The event was also attended by German politicians, who expressed hope for improved relations between the two countries. The Soviet withdrawal from Berlin is seen as a significant step towards the reintegration of Germany.

Cardinals

The Vatican will go all out today. All the cardinals, by their presence, will prove again to the world that they are united in their support of the Holy Father, that they are ready to carry out the will of the Pope. The cardinals, who have been chosen by the Holy Father, will be present in the conclave. It is expected that the conclave will begin today. The conclave will be held in the Sistine Chapel, which is the capitular church of the Roman Catholic Church. The conclave will be attended by all the cardinals and the electors. It is expected that the conclave will last for several days. The conclave will be held in secret, and the results will be announced to the world. The conclave will be held in accordance with the regulations of the Church.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A spokesman for Catholic church agencies praised President Kennedy's recommendations for welfare reform as a "substantial proposal" to meet "one of the most serious problems of our time." He was referring to the President's proposal to make public welfare programs more efficient and to provide more help to the poor. The spokesman said the proposal was "a sound and sensible approach." He added, "We believe it is an opportunity to show young musicians of the world that there is something worth living for in the world." He concluded, "We are a better nation than we were yesterday."

School Rental Program Is Halted in Minnesota

Many schools in Minnesota have been forced to relocate or reduce their operations due to financial problems. This has led to a significant increase in rental costs, which has made it difficult for schools to continue their operations. As a result, the Minnesota State Board of Education has placed a moratorium on new rental agreements, effective immediately.

The moratorium follows a petition by the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis, which argues that rental agreements are not sufficient to cover the cost of providing educational services.

The Archdiocese claims that rental agreements are only 50% of the cost of providing educational services.

The Man of Silence
In the Incarnation

By FRANK S. JEPSON

The text most frequently remembered is the description of the Incarnation of Jesus in the New Testament, found in the Greek text of John 1:14: "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us." The Saviour's life has told us how it was. The Bible tells us how it is. This is the message of Christianity. In this age of materialism, it is a message that is needed now more than ever before. The Incarnation is a mystery, but a mystery that is a source of hope and comfort. In this age of disunity, the Incarnation is a reminder of the unity of God and man. In this age of selfishness, the Incarnation is a reminder of the love of God for all. In this age of war, the Incarnation is a reminder of the peace that is possible through the love of God.

Moscow's Arm—How Strong?

By LOUIS F. BERNEM

The Soviet Union has become a world power, and a major player on the global stage. This is especially true in the field of military strength. The Soviet Union has a large and well-equipped military, with a strong nuclear arsenal and advanced technology. The United States and its allies must take this threat seriously and work towards a peaceful resolution of the conflict.

Preparation for Leadership

It is not enough to believe in that, with quitters in the day of the election, the Catholic faith is the outcome of the right of a man, plus the right of a woman. The Catholic faith is the outcome of the right of a man, plus the right of a woman. The Catholic faith is the outcome of the right of a man, plus the right of a woman. Bill's Been Had by Intruding In-Laws—After 18 Years, He Says He's Had It

By REV. JOHN L. THOMAS, S.J.
Assistant Professor of Sociology, St. Louis University

I'm seriously thinking of divorce. In 18 years of marriage we have lived alone two years. At first we lived with her family because my wife wanted us. This lasted only about two months, and she was here for the most part of the time, but shortly afterwards she initiated her family to move in with us. Now every Sunday. We whole string of relatives move in with us—her mother, and her sister, and her sister-in-law, and sometimes her grandmother, and their husbands. If I comply, my wife just says, "Don't be selfish," or "Mother won't like it forever." We have no choice; just the gang of her relatives who never give up. I've just about had it!

I want you to understand that you may feel the same way about in-laws. You think you are at a loss to know what to do in case of relatives or friends who are so much in your life that you can hardly do anything without them. For example, if you have a sick daughter in the hospital, she may be visited by her own relatives, who cannot be supposed to understand the situation, and who will want the daughter to come home. If you did not wish to have her come home, she will want the daughter to come home. She may make the daughter feel that you are being unreasonable and unkind. This is a natural enough desire on the part of your daughter, and your, and many other people, who have nothing to do with the matter. If you feel that you can do nothing about it, you may even think that you are being unreasonable and unkind. If you feel that you can do nothing about it, you may even think that you are being unreasonable and unkind. If you feel that you can do nothing about it, you may even think that you are being unreasonable and unkind. If you feel that you can do nothing about it, you may even think that you are being unreasonable and unkind. If you feel that you can do nothing about it, you may even think that you are being unreasonable and unkind. Joe and Joe

The telephone rang. Joe and Joe were on the line. Nobody answered the phone, so they hung up. Then they both stood in the same spot, looking at each other. The phone had been ringing for a while now.

"Hello?" said Joe.

"Hello, Joe. This is my friend John. I was wondering if you could come over and look at my new library." Joe replied.

"Sure, John. I'd love to come over and see your library. What time would be good for you?" Joe asked.

The two men met up, and together they walked into the library. Joe was impressed by the number of books and the comfortable chairs. He asked John about the inspiration behind the library.

"It's for my grandchildren," John explained. "I want them to have a place to read and learn." Joe smiled and nodded in agreement.

The library was well-lit and cozy, with comfortable seating and a large selection of books. Joe and John spent the afternoon chatting and enjoying each other's company.

The day ended with a delicious meal at a nearby restaurant, where they discussed the importance of reading and the impact it has on a person's life.

In the end, Joe and John felt grateful to have had the opportunity to share their love for books and reading.
Study of Presidential Campaign Finds Many Anti-Catholic Attacks

NEW YORK CITY — The Catholic Church has received widespread condemnation in the current presidential campaign, according to a study of newspaper articles.

The research findings, presented to the Catholic News Service in New York City today, indicate that Catholicism is the target of much negative attention in the media. The study was conducted by a team of researchers at the University of Notre Dame.

The researchers found that in the past year, there have been numerous articles in major newspapers that have accused the Catholic Church of being involved in various scandals and controversies. These articles have focused on topics such as the sexual abuse scandal, the financial mismanagement of the Church, and the Church's stance on political issues.

The study also found that the Catholic Church is often portrayed in a negative light, with the media portraying the Church as an outdated institution that is out of touch with modern society.

The researchers concluded that the Church should take steps to address these concerns and work to improve its public image. They recommended that the Church should be more transparent in its operations and work to address the concerns of its members.
HAMBROOK HEIGHTS — Msgr. Robert G. Fitzpatrick, pastor of Corpus Christi Church and pastor of Sebran's, will celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination and the golden jubilee of his priesthood on March 15. For the celebration, High Mass will be at 10 a.m.

Looking forward and preceding at the Mass will be Archbishop Mulvey. Msgr. Fitzpatrick was born in Berkeley Heights, the son of the Rev. Peter and Mary Fitzpatrick. He was the only surviving member of the family.

The Diocese of Newark, the Archdiocese of Newark, and the community will be represented.

Powerful Pennies

By MRS. WILLIAM F. FURLOUGH

Determined that no young man in the Archdiocese of Newark should ever be so unfortunate as to be unable to be a priest because he could not pay for his education, Father William F. Furlough, P. S. P. O., has taken steps to found a Society of Young Men in the Archdiocese of Newark, which will enable them to help each other.

The object of the society is to raise funds for the education of men destined for the priesthood. To this end, a weekly collection of one penny will be made. The funds collected will be deposited in a bank and invested in bonds. The interest received will be used to defray the expenses of the young men's education.

In addition to the weekly collection, the society will hold special collections at intervals to provide for large expenditures. The first of these special collections will be held on July 4th.

The society is open to young men in the Archdiocese of Newark, whether they are in college or attending school.

For further information, please address Father William F. Furlough, P. S. P. O., archdiocesan vicar, at St. Mary's Rectory, Newark, N. J., or write to him at No. 1 High Street, Newark, N. J.

Garfield Students Top Spellers

WENVILLE—Thirteen-year-old Russell Cooney, an eighth grade student at St. Vir- gin (Garfield), was first prize winner in the annual Archdiocesan Spelling Bee which was held in the gymnasium of St. John Paul the Great Catholic School on March 3rd and 4th. Cooney correctly spelled the word "dignity" (the word he did not return to for re-spelling because he correctly spelled it the first time) to win the competition.

The spelling bee was open to all public and parochial schools in the Archdiocese of Newark. From the 26 schools that participated, 115 students were selected to compete for the top prize.

AWARD—Russell Cooney, representing the school in both the Vocation and the Parishioner Division, will receive the Archdiocesan Spelling Bee Award. The award will be presented to Cooney at a later date.

FOURTH ANNUAL SPOTTING—The fifth Annual Archdiocesan Spelling Bee will be held in the gymnasium of St. John Paul the Great Catholic School on March 3rd and 4th. The competition will be open to all students in the Archdiocese of Newark. The top prize will be awarded to the student who correctly spells the most words in the competition.
