This is a notable development in the work of the new parish. On October 10th, the newly established parish moved into its new building after extensive renovations. The parish community has been eagerly anticipating the move and is looking forward to celebrating Mass in their new space.

On the Inside...

NEW ORLEANS - A bril- liant scheme to integrate schools in the area, which was proposed by the Rev. Michael J. Hynes, president of the New Orleans Archdiocese, has been given the go-ahead by the local school board. The plan involves the use of Priests, who would serve as consultants to the local schools, to assist in the implementation of the integration scheme. The plan is expected to be implemented in the near future.

The Supreme Court has declared that "segregation is illegal in the public schools of the United States." What does this mean? How will it affect your child? How can you be sure your child will be treated fairly?

The NAACP is fighting for equal protection for all students in the public schools. The Supreme Court's decision is a step forward, but there is still much work to be done.

The NAACP is committed to achieving desegregation in the public schools. We will continue to fight for equal protection until all students are treated fairly.

The NAACP is working to ensure that all students have access to quality education. We will continue to work for equal protection until all students have access to quality education.

We urge you to support the NAACP in our efforts to achieve desegregation in the public schools. Together, we can ensure that all students have equal protection.

Thank you for your support.

Other Louisiana Dioceses Holding Off on Integration

The Baton Rouge Diocese was established last year by Pope John and includes some 100 Catholic churches. A diocesan spokesman, however, insists that whatever plans the diocese may have are not yet in being. The spokesman refused to comment on the rumored plans for the establishment of a new diocesan office, which would be located in the center of the city.

The diocese has been active in the integration of schools in recent years, but no specific plans have been announced. The spokesman said that the diocese would continue to work with local authorities to ensure that all students have equal protection.

Advises on Work With Emigrants

NCPC News Service

Following is a translation of an address Oct. 26, 1961, by Padre Pio S. Rosales, the chairmen of the National Council for Integration of Emigrants.

Integration of newcomers is a task of great importance and one that must be successfully accomplished if our country's development is to be successful. Our government has laid great stress on the need for integrating new arrivals, both natives and exiles, into the national community.

The problem of integration is a complex one that requires a detailed study of the conditions of the immigrants in order to determine the best method of integration. The government's policy has been to provide opportunities for the immigrants to become part of the national community.

To ensure this, the government has established special programs to assist the immigrants. These programs include education, training, and employment opportunities.

The government has also established special agencies to monitor the implementation of these programs. These agencies work closely with the immigrants to ensure that they are able to take advantage of the opportunities provided.

In conclusion, the integration of newcomers is a vital task that requires the cooperation of all sectors of society. The government's policy of integration is designed to ensure that the newcomers are able to become full-fledged members of the national community.
SCHOLARSHIP INCREASE REPORTED IN SURVEY

CHICAGO—A survey which concluded this week among college officials and university spokesmen shows that the number of funds available for scholarships will increase this year. Chicago private-writer agents, bankers, and college officials who took part in the survey, and it is desired that Catholic colleges have as much as $3.5 million this year for the same work, and that more of them will be graduates in the battle area that will be administered either by or through the Catholic Education Commission.

The survey, made by the Catholic National Research Center of the University of Chicago, covered 20 colleges, representing an output of $800,000 from Catholic colleges, one-fifth of the total scholarship funds available for the current year. The amount involved was considered significant and the $800,000 was estimated to be the total amount available.

The survey found that there were 40 colleges which would be graduated in the current year, and that 70% of them would be graduates in the current year. The survey also showed that 20% of the graduates would be graduates in the current year.

The survey further showed that 20% of the schools which were graduated in the current year would be graduates in the current year. The survey also showed that 20% of the graduates would be graduates in the current year.

Plan 228 Churches in Paris Area

PARIS (ANSA) - Authorities in Paris are planning 228 new Catholic churches in the new parts of the city to be built in the next 10 years, as part of a 15-year program to meet a 60 million francs shortage in the city's churches.

According to the plan, the churches will be built in the peripheral areas of the city, where the increase in population has created a need for more religious facilities.

The plan includes the construction of three new churches in the Seine area, and 225 others in other parts of the city. The churches will be built in a variety of styles and sizes, to meet the needs of different communities.

The project is part of a larger plan to modernize the city's religious infrastructure, and includes the renovation of several existing churches.

The construction of the new churches is expected to begin in the next few years, and is expected to be completed by 2035.

Limit New Priests

US (ANSA) - No students were allowed to attend the New York archdiocesan seminary this year, due to the shortage of priests.

The shortage has been reported by several archdioceses in the United States, and has been compounded by the retirement of many priests over the past few years.

The situation has led to a decrease in the number of priests available for ordination, and has caused concern among diocesan leaders.

Archdiocese leaders have noted that the shortage is likely to continue in the years to come, and have called for increased efforts to attract more students to the seminaries.

Cardinal Approves Transfer of Priest for Bolivian Duty

ST. LOUIS, (ANSA) - Cardinal Bishops of the State of St. Louis has granted an "emergency dispensation" for a priest who has been transferred to Bolivia for a 10-year period.

The priest, a 30-year-old priest, has been transferred to Bolivia due to the shortage of priests in the country.

The cardinal has approved the transfer, and has granted the priest the dispensation required by canon law.

The priest will be able to serve in Bolivia for 10 years, and will be able to return to the United States at any time.

Music Director's Work Published

TULSA, Okla. - The music director for the Oklahoma City Philharmonic has published a guide for the orchestra's performers.

The guide, "Music Director's Guide," was written by Michael J. Kuchar, who has been the music director for the orchestra for the past 15 years.

The guide provides information on the music the orchestra will perform, as well as guidelines for the performers to follow.

Not Taking Political Sides, African Archbishops Say

SABERIBUR, Sudan (AP) - The Sudanese bishops' conference has called for a return to peace in the country, and for the disbandment of the national assembly.

The conference has been praised by the Vatican, and is seen as a positive step towards a return to stability in the country.

Taxes for Frills

Now upon a time, the people in this land agreed, 'let there be a tax.' For single men and women, the tax is $100.00 per year. For families, the tax is $50.00 per person. However, we have not agreed upon this tax. Therefore, we are left with the question of what to do. We can either increase the tax or decrease the tax. Or, we can simply ignore it and let it go through without any discussion.

Women Alcohohes

It might be true that alcoholism is a disease that affects women. However, it is also important to consider the social and economic factors that contribute to the problem. Women are often subjected to gender-based violence and discrimination. This can lead to increased levels of stress and anxiety, which can contribute to alcohol use. It is important to address these underlying issues in order to effectively address the problem of women's alcoholism.

A Voice for Those Who Pay

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg has failed to consider the voices of those who pay. Instead, he has offered a tax bill that is designed to benefit the wealthy at the expense of the middle and working classes. This bill is not only unfair, but it is also economically dangerous. A tax bill that is designed to benefit the wealthy will only serve to further undermine the economy and the middle and working classes.

Mary's Mind Turns To Sollem Thoughts

A. Naturally, the argument is that of the over-90s who have been opposed to prohibition and who were therefore in favor of the sale of alcoholic beverages. It is argued that the prohibition movement was not only a reaction against prohibition, but also a reaction against the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Some Lessons Out of Geneva

By LOUIS P. BUSCH

We have been body broken through the first principles of Geneva in order to obtain the best results. It is not possible to achieve anything without a struggle. In order to be successful, we must be prepared to meet any opposition. The lesson from Geneva is that the struggle is not easy, but it is necessary.

Wrong Use of Money Root of Marital Rift

By REV. JOHN J. THOMAS, S.J.
Assistant Professor of Sociology, St. Louis University

How do you handle a spendthrift husband? Our 10 years of marriage have been nothing but debts, debts, debts. He makes good money but half of it must go for taxes. I finally got him to stop gambling — he's had a huge gambling debt when we married, and he still leaves money around freely at times. He'll never grow up and take responsibility. Gibbs & Sons makes silent noises by juggling or getting angry, just like the Bizarro Man from the strait that St. Louis is in. I tell him not to do it. He doesn't listen. He always talks about his problems, but he never listens to mine. So I never get any help.

Our children have suffered because he's so irresponsible. I have two children, and my children feel that there isn't enough food. His income is over $5,000 a year, but I have to work too. We have a decent home, but there isn't anything nice about it. He always talks about getting a new car, but he never gets it. I think he should take care of our children. I've been through so much, and I think he should take some of the responsibility.

I WANT to write a letter to the Advocate about my situation. It's not easy for me, but I think I need to share my story. I'm sure that there are other women in the same situation. I hope that my story will help others. I will never give up.
Communication And the Church

By JOSEPH A. BREH

One of my obligations as a Catholic is to bring the message of the Church to the people. This is not an easy task, but I believe it is one of the most important things I can do. I try to make sure that the people understand what the Church is about and why it is important. I also try to help them understand the events that are happening in the Church today.

Most of the people who come to see me are looking for help. They are looking for guidance and understanding. I try to give them the help they need. I try to make sure that they understand the importance of the Church and its teachings.

When I meet with someone, I try to listen to them carefully. I try to understand their concerns and their fears. I try to give them the help they need. I try to make sure that they understand the Church's teachings and the importance of the Church.

I believe that the Church is a source of hope and strength. I believe that its teachings can help us to live a better life. I believe that the Church can help us to find meaning in our lives.

I believe that the Church is a source of guidance and understanding. I believe that it can help us to find our way in a world that can be confusing and difficult. I believe that the Church can help us to find our place in the world.

THE VOGUE

A Tale of Two U.S. Navy Women

The article is about two U.S. Navy women who were Protestant and Catholic, respectively. The Catholic woman, Diane, had just been married and was living in the same house as her Protestant husband, Raymond. The Protestant woman, Susan, was a Navy wife and was married to a Navy officer. The article discusses their lives and how they deal with their different religious beliefs.

Amidst these stories, we also learn about the Winter Contest and the Union City Mothers Back the Printed Word. The Winter Contest is about a contest for girls from fifth grade to eighth grade. The Union City Mothers Back the Printed Word is about the efforts of the Union City Mothers to support the printed word and its importance in their community.

In addition, there are articles about the Camp St. John Boys and Girls Camp, the Camp Notre Dame, and the Camp Alvernia for boys. These camps offer various activities such as hiking, swimming, and other outdoor activities to their participants.

The article also includes information about the Marydel Camp and the Camps C.M. The Marydel Camp is located in New York and offers various activities such as sailing and nature hikes. The Camps C.M. is a camp in Maine that offers a variety of activities, including sailing, hiking, and nature walks.

Overall, the article provides a glimpse into the lives of these women and their community, highlighting the importance of religion, family, and community engagement in their daily lives.

Bergen Catholic Tabbed to Win

Everyone is favoring Bergen Catholic to win Union County. The Cardinals’ chief baseball writer, Jack Louis, said that in a recent battle, involving all members of the Bergen Catholic baseball team, the Cardinals will be the other way. The Cardinals will have been working on their pitching and batting since the beginning of the season, and Louis is predicting a easy victory for the Bergen Catholic.

Although Bergen Catholic scores have been more pretentious, the Cardinals’ batting will not be able to count on. The Cardinals will have to think of the right way to score runs, and it is thought that with four good players on the pitching staff, the Cardinals will be able to do it. The Cardinals will be able to win the game.

America Owes Support To All Missionaries

Berenice Reid, this article is in error. It is not adversarial. Catholics of the Diocese of New York send more money per capita to missions than does any other American Catholic diocese. Missionaries supported by the Diocese of New York receive more money per day from the Catholic people of this state than any other American missionary ever received, and it is the Diocese of New York which has the highest per capita income of any Catholic diocese in the United States. The combination of fact and faith as well as the work of the missionaries themselves is what will help to solve the problem of the Church in the United States.

Courage of Catholic Refugees
Moses U.S. General in Vietnam

MOSI HUNG, Vietnam (CNS) — Regardless of how they were selected by Catholic anti-war leaders to board an April 20 flight from Saigon to Japan, eight Vietnamese men who took the trip to reunite with American-born families here would probably lose something close to their hearts, if not their lives, if they ever return to their homeland.

The Vietnamese, ages 17 to 51, most of them fathers and husbands, are a tiny group in the face of the millions of Vietnamese who have fled to the United States as refugees since the Vietnam War ended in 1975.

Still, their situation is one that every Vietnamese Catholic, whether in Saigon or in California or anywhere in the world, should take to heart.

In 1972, the U.N. Refugee Agency certified that the United States was the top destination for Vietnamese refugees, outranking its next closest rival, Australia.

In 1975, the United States accepted 800,000 Vietnamese refugees, and since then the number has declined to about 10,000. Despite the smaller numbers, the U.S. government is determined to keep accepting Vietnamese refugees.

Tensions Seen Aid To Christian Unity

SOUTH CHURCH—An invited lecture—Dr. Richard D.
Poulter, a British professor of Christianity, spoke at South Church, 4530 Main St., on Friday evening. His lecture dealt with the Christian view of "truth of religions," especially how this view can be used to aid Christian unity.

Dr. Poulter, who is a non-atheist, conceptualized his lecture as an answer to the well-known problem of the "natural light of reason." He asserted that there is a need to evaluate God's truths in a way that would not rob truth of its richness.

Mr. Poulter quoted from the writings of early Christian writers to show how the early church had a similar approach to the problem of truth. He also quoted from the Bible to show how Christ himself had a similar view of truth.

Dr. Poulter ended his lecture by stating that the Christian view of truth is not only possible but also necessary for Christian unity.

Serra Work Praised By Archbishop

EAST ORANGE—Speaking at the annual Serra Club resale, Archbishop John D. Boly praised the work of the club.

"We need to have a firm faith to be able to live in this world," he said. "We need to have a firm faith to be able to live in this world, to serve the Lord, and to serve others.

"The Serra Club is an excellent organization that serves the needs of the church and the needs of the community."

The Serra Club is a ecumenical organization that works to promote Catholic unity.

Archbishop Boly announced that the Serra Club will be honored with a special award at the annual Serra Club Gala.
