For a long time, it seems that we have not heard a word about the Church's work among the poor. In the first years of our new biennial ministry to the Church's representatives in the foreign missions, there was a situation that could be described as a lull in the activity of the agency.

In the year of the new biennial ministry to the Church's representatives in the foreign missions, there was a situation that could be described as a lull in the activity of the agency.

The reason for this, it seems, is that the Church's work among the poor is largely a matter of practical help and support, rather than a matter of theoretical study or research.

Cardinal Renews Criticism of Reds
BERLIN (SG) — Poland's Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński has renewed his criticism of the Soviet Union and called for efforts to prevent communist aggression.

"We must oppose the spread of communism," the Cardinal said in a statement addressing the question of whether the country's borders have already been settled.

His speech was the latest in a series of statements by the Polish-born Cardinal during the past year. Since then, he has called for the relaxation of anti-communist restrictions in Poland and has criticized the communist government for not acting against the aggressions of the Soviet Union.

In Rome, the Vatican confirmed that the Cardinal's views are "consistent with those of the Holy See" and that "his words are not meant to stir up tensions between Churches and the State."

Earlier, the Cardinal charged that the communist regime in Poland was "in a state of emergency" and that the Polish church should be prepared to face "the worst possible scenario." He also said that the Polish government had given no clear indications that it was prepared to halt communist aggression.

His speech was received with both praise and criticism. Some saw it as a courageous stand against the communist regime, while others called it a "provocation." The Polish government has not yet commented on the Cardinal's speech.

Again Ask Enforcement of Austria Concordat

VATICAN CITY—Austrian Bishops have called for suspension of the Concordat which they signed with the Holy See into effect.

The Bishops made their request in a statement issued at the close of their spring synod, pointing out that "the provisions of a new concordat which had been in effect since 1933, could not be made effective. It has been rejected by the Austrian Government, in violation of the promulgations which had been made in 1933 and 1939."

The Austrian government has recently reiterated its refusal to renew the concordat which it had signed with the Holy See in 1933. The Austrian government has also refused to renew the concordat which it had signed with the Holy See in 1939.

The concordat provides for the appointment of Austrian bishops and the establishment of the Catholic Church in Austria.

Unholy Business

An articleshow and other, in a long to the Advocate, explores in this manner a question that is of the utmost importance. "We all know about the commercialization of religion," the author says, "but how much of this practice is intended to affect the lives of those who are not directly involved with the Church?" He notes that the Church has become a "bitter cocktail party."

The invocation might be said to be the same thing: in this situation, the Church is a mere facilitator of the business world. The invitation sounds something like this: "Hello, my dear. It's a lovely evening. Why don't you come on in and enjoy yourself?"

The phrase "there is no more diaphanous thing than the Church in the business world" might be translated as "there is no more diaphanous thing than the Church in the business world."

The American people have a tendency to participate in any activity that involves the Church. It is a rapidly growing area.

The Church has always been a part of the business world, even more so now than it was before. The Church has always been a part of the business world, even more so now than it was before.

Underclassmen Are Vital to Hudson Plans

JERSEY CITY—With only four seniors, Underclassmen comprise 80% of the Hudson baseball team. Eight of the 13 players are sophomores and freshmen.

In John Hennessey, Hudson's ninth-year coach, the Under classmen are looking up to a long-time baseball fan.

"We're relying a lot on the young guys," Hennessey said. "They're good, and they have the attitude." Hennessey said that if the Underclassmen carry their recent winning streak into the district tournament, the team could win the county title.

The team, which has been in first place since the end of last year, is currently in third place with a 3-0 record. Hudson is scheduled to play in the district tournament on April 21st.

A youth who is a seminarian at the St. Lewis, Pennsylvania, Seminary, and also serves as an altar boy at St. Joseph’s Catholic Church in nearby Dunmore, Pennsylvania, is among those who will participate in the annual Eucharistic Procession in memory of St. John Vianney, also known as the Curé of Ars, on Saturday, June 11.

The Eucharistic Procession, held in memory of the 19th-century French priest who is known for his dedication to the spiritual welfare of his parishioners, will begin at St. Joseph’s Seminary at 10 a.m. and proceed to the nearby Parish of St. Joseph’s, where a Mass will be celebrated in honor of the saint.

The procession, which includes a group of seminarians, altar servers, and other parishioners, will make its way through the streets of Dunmore, offering prayer and reflection as it moves from one location to another.

The Eucharistic Procession is a common practice in many Catholic dioceses and is held in memory of St. John Vianney, who is considered a saint for his tireless work and dedication to the spiritual needs of the faithful.

The procession is a meaningful event for those who participate, as it offers a chance to reflect on the life and legacy of St. John Vianney and to pray for the guidance and inspiration of the saint in their own lives.

For more information about the Eucharistic Procession, or to participate, contact the Parish of St. Joseph’s at 570 D Mundy St., Dunmore, PA 18512, or visit their website.

Is There an Antenna in Your Heart? Listen!

By Rev. John P. McGuire

Director of Vocations, Diocese of Newark

A vocation is not something that a guidance director might recognize as an aptitude in a young man or woman. It is something that is not even recognized as a talent or a skill. It is something that is not even recognized as a talent or a skill. It is something that is not even recognized as a talent or a skill. It is something that is not even recognized as a talent or a skill.

It is important, therefore, to realize that a young girl who enters religious life is not ready to change herself. She is not ready to change herself. She is not ready to change herself. She is not ready to change herself. She is not ready to change herself.

THE VISION OF GOD

The vision of God is the most important thing in a young man or woman's life. It is the most important thing in a young man or woman's life. It is the most important thing in a young man or woman's life. It is the most important thing in a young man or woman's life.

MEN OF MARYKNOLL salute the Catholics of New Jersey, who have given 97 of their sons to Maryknoll.

VOCATION DIRECTOR, ST. MICHAEL'S MONASTERY, UNION CITY, NEW JERSEY

Help to Reach His-goal

The main object of the Institute of the Missionary Franciscan Sisters of the Immaculate Conception is personal sanctification.

Its secondary purpose is working for others in the home and Foreign Mission Fields.

The Order was founded by Mother Mary Ignatia Hayes in Belle Prairie, Wisconsin in 1873 and later at the request of her Belfast Pope Pius IX who established it in Rome, Italy, where the Generalate was founded. A Novitiate was opened at Cheltenham, N. H., in 1914, one in Johns Hopkins, Maryland in 1907, and another in Oregon City, Oregon in 1967. A Dominican of the Order, Rev. Father Francis McGovern, C.S.P., has been the President of the Institute since 1932.

Sister Helen St. Gerard, Provincial of the Order for North America, will speak on "The Work of the Order" at a meeting of the Young Women's Club of Tamaqua, Pa., on May 14th. The meeting will be held at the Maryknoll House of Spirituality in the City of New York.

Our schools and institutions are located in such far-off places as the Pacific Coast, India, China, Mexico, and the Philippines. The Maryknoll Sisters carry on the work of the Order in close harmony with the Catholic Bishops of the see in the regions where they are working, and in cooperation with other religious and chartered societies.

The Order has been given permission to operate schools and hospitals in all countries of the world, and they are now operating 29 foreign missions and 44 schools for girls, in addition to the work of the Institute itself.

Teenaged Boys With Their Sights Set High

By REV. ANTHONY J. CURRAN

Director, Jersey Hall Diocesan School

This is the time of the year when boys of the diocese think about where they want to go a year from now and to the future beyond. Boys are hoping and praying that the education and religious training they will receive this year will be of real benefit for them, and they will want to go to a school where they will be taught the things which they think are important.

Schools and religious vocations, as well as the Church's, have been the two major concerns for boys this year. The Church has been interested in vocations as a way of life, and for boys who want to be priests, they will want to go to college and to seminary to study and prepare themselves for the priesthood.

Boys who are interested in religious vocations will want to consider the options available to them. They can choose to become priests, religious, or work in the fields of religious education, social work, or other areas.

What's It Really Like to Be a Sister?

I didn't like the plans, but the 18-year-old Sister said willingly, "I'll do whatever you say."

"If you're going to be a nun, you have to be willing to do what you're told," she explained.

But I missed my family and friends, and I missed going back more than 10 years ago. I knew I'd never leave the convent again. I was content to live, I sufficed to labor, I wasn't discouraged. But before I look back even, I've reached seventh heaven, and I've lost more than that.

"It seems God is so great, and we're just here to serve Him."

The Mostly Student's Love

"It was the best thing that ever happened to me," sister said.

But it wasn't before. It was the best thing that ever happened to me, and it hasn't changed much. It's like a flame that never goes out. I'll always want to be a Sister for the rest of my life.

"I'll always want to be a Sister," she added.

I had my worries about my people, and she simply said, "Don't worry."

I asked my people if I should become a Sister. I asked, and the people said, "Yes."

"You can have an occasional drink, or smoke."

I believe God has a cigarette for me on the day when I'm in the community. I believe God has accepted me, and that He will accept me.

"Oh, but my people!"

We need to be - we need to be - we need to be - we need to be - we need to be.

We need to be.

"It's the best thing that ever happened to me.

"When I'm in the community, I believe God has a cigarette for me on the day when I'm in the community.

"You can have an occasional drink, or smoke."

If I were to start a convent again, I..."
Indian Catholics Complain About Discrimination

Robert J. BAY — Concern over the discrimination which is alleged Christian Scientists are experiencing in India has been expressed by the Catholic Church here as a result of a general meeting here.

Members of the Indian Chapter of the Church's Council for Ecumenical Relations have met with Bishop Joseph K. C. Mary, president of the council.

The Bishop also expressed sympathy for the Catholics in India and added that the Church would do its utmost to help them.

Gains Reported in Medical Schools

A number of medical schools in India, including those in Madras and Calcutta, have reported gains in enrollment.

The Madras Medical College has reported an increase of 50% in the number of students.

The Calcutta Medical College has reported an increase of 75% in the number of students.

The New York Times reports that the Church is setting up a new department in India to deal with the problems of discrimination.

Congo ‘Construction Boom’ in Priest’s Building Project

LEIDENFELD, Congo (CNS) — Five men and a woman are building a new church in Congo, with four more churches to be completed this year.

This is the project of Rev. Daniel Cascioli, a priest of the Congregation of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, who is working among the Congolese in Africa's largest Catholic mission.

The church will be named St. Michael's Cathedral, for the town of the Congo.

Priest Says Kerala School Policy Outdoes Reds

Kottayam, India (CNS) — A Catholic spokesman here has pointed to the success of the government in Kerala, which he described as the model of the present social movement in India.

The spokesman, who is also a member of the Kerala government, said that the government is following a policy of social justice and equality.

Catholic Church in India

A Catholic Church leader has said that the Church is working with the government to improve the social conditions of the people in Kerala.

The leader said that the Church is also working with the government to improve the social conditions of the people in other parts of India.

The Catholic Church in India has a long history of working for the welfare of the people, especially the poor.
Pope Discusses the Work of Modern Women

NCPC personnel

Following is a translation of an address made by Pope John XXIII on May 6, 1962, in Concardia, Italy, before the Catholic University of the Sacred Heart. In his address, the Pope emphasized the role of women in society.

"The role of women in society is of primary importance. Women are the foundation of the family, the basic unit of society. They are the mothers of the next generation, the bearers of life. They are the mothers of the community, the bearers of the spirit of the community. They are the mothers of the nation, the bearers of the spirit of the nation. They are the mothers of the state, the bearers of the spirit of the state. They are the mothers of the world, the bearers of the spirit of the world."

The Pope went on to discuss the role of women in education, work, and family life, emphasizing their importance in the development of society. He also spoke about the need for women to be respected and supported in their work and in their roles as mothers and wives.

The address concluded with a call for the Church to support the work of women and to provide them with the means to achieve their full potential.

The Pope's address was widely praised for its emphasis on the importance of women and their role in society. It was seen as a reflection of the Church's changing attitude towards women, and it helped to pave the way for future developments in the role of women in the Church and in society as a whole.
lay Missionaries Needed

For Key Roles Overseas

WASHINGTON DC — Lay Catholics are being invited to help Catholic Church support overseas missions. The missionary movement "provides a natural means of service to the Church," said Msgr. John F. Krawczyk, C.S.S.R., director of the World Mission Department of the National Council of the Catholic Daughters of the Americas.

The missionary movement provides an opportunity to serve the Church and to acquire a knowledge of other countries and other cultures. In the words of Pope John XXIII, "there is a new mission, a new apostolate, which must be carried out by all the baptized: the mission of making the Church more visible to the eyes of the world each day." The missionary movement is also a means of living one's faith more fully.

The missionary movement is open to all, regardless of age, race, or economic status. It is a way of life that can be practiced by individuals, families, groups, or parishes. The missionary movement is not a substitute for other forms of support, but rather a complement to them.

The missionary movement is an integral part of the Church's mission to the world. It is a way of living the Gospel and of responding to the needs of others.

In the missionary movement, we can grow in our faith and in our understanding of the world around us. We can learn to appreciate the diversity of cultures and to understand the struggles of those in need. We can also grow in our understanding of our own faith and of our own culture.

The missionary movement is an opportunity to serve others and to make a difference in the world. It is a way of living out our faith in action. It is a way of sharing our faith with others.

The missionary movement is a way of life that we can all embrace. It is a way of living that can bring us closer to God and to our fellow human beings. It is a way of life that can make a difference in the world.

Let us join together in the missionary movement and let us serve the Church and the world in a new and exciting way.
