THERE IS - in practical terms - no pro- tectorate mission without the Church to get her word and will through the Church is there for all time - in the words of one of the greatest Catholic Missions is the work of the Church in the Archdiocese of Newark as the spiritual care of the鹕 urchinity.

The need for priests and religious is a need for the whole Church, and the Church is a participatory Church.

The Church is a participatory Church because it is a participatory Church.

Central Commission Ending Council Work

The Commission on Human Relations today ended the scheduled final meeting in Room 50 of the War Memorial Building, after it had opened its sessions there last week.

The Central Commission received the thanks of the delegates for its cooperation and for the manner in which it carried on the business it was called upon to transact.

AFTER certain preliminaries, it was moved and seconded that the commission be given the expressions of the gratitude of the council for its cooperation, and that the commission be notified of the council's appreciation of the manner in which it conducted its business. This was carried unanimously.

The Central Commission took its departure on Thursday afternoon, and will return to the city on the 15th of May.

The council has completed its work for the year, and will conclude its meeting on the 15th of May. The council will then adjourn for the summer months.

The council is composed of the following members:---

Presiding:

Mrs. N. H. Johnson, President.

Secretary:---

S. J. W. Brown, Solicitor.

Treasurer:---

R. H. B. Maller, Auditor.

DIRECTOR:

Mrs. H. M. C. Davis, Clerk.

Montvale Site Picked

By H. W. S. "

Based on the recommendation of the Building and Grounds Committee, the Montvale site for the new school has been selected. The site will be located on the northwest corner of the present campus, and will accommodate a new 3-story building, with classrooms and offices. The site is ideal for the future growth of the school.

Church Problems in So. Africa

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (Church of England)---On August 18, the Archdiocese of Cape Town held its annual division meeting. The meeting was attended by representatives from all parts of the archdiocese.

The main discussion centered on the problem of segregation in the schools. The archbishop presented a report on the progress made towards implementing the government's new policy on education.

The archbishop stated that the government had made significant progress in implementing the new policy, but that there were still many problems to be solved. He emphasized the need for continued cooperation between the church and the government.

The meeting was attended by representatives from all parts of the archdiocese, and was held in the Cathedral of St. Mary the Virgin.

Father Weigel Conducts Jesuits' Interfaith Retreat

ALBANY, N.Y. (CNS)---A group of Protestant, Eastern Catholic and other interfaith leaders gathered for a two-day retreat and dialogue at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Guilderland, on the outskirts of Albany. The retreat was organized by the Catholic bishops of the Diocese of Albany and was attended by representatives from all parts of the archdiocese.

The retreat was held in response to the government's new policy on education, which has led to increased tensions between the church and the government.

The archbishop stated that the government had made significant progress in implementing the new policy, but that there were still many problems to be solved. He emphasized the need for continued cooperation between the church and the government.

Bus Law Violation Charged

DISTRICT (NC) — School districts in some parts of Michigan are charging parents and students for damages to school property, but some have not been publicly announced. The concept of charging for damages is not new to Michigan, but some school districts have been more aggressive in implementing it. The idea is to ensure that students understand the importance of taking care of school property and to encourage responsible behavior.

News from the Vatican

Press Advised on Role at Council

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope Paul VI emphasized the importance of the press in spreading the message of the Church and the importance of the role of the press at the Second Vatican Council. The Pope stressed the need for the press to be a reliable source of information and to promote understanding and dialogue among people of different cultures and beliefs. The press must be free to express its views and to promote the values of the Church.

Bishops Warn U.K.
Of Moral Decline

LONDON (NC) — The Bishops of England and Wales have issued a statement warning of the moral decline in the country. They expressed concern about the erosion of traditional moral values and the rise of secularism. The Bishops called for a renewed commitment to the values of the Church and for a greater emphasis on moral education in schools and in society.

Summer School Bias

Many educators are convinced that the two-to-three-month summer vacation is an obstacle to educational advancement. It is recognized as a period of lessened activity and intellectual stimulation. The average child spends the summer months at home, often attending a neighborhood playground, or playing outdoors. Some children may attend camp or take part in extracurricular activities, but the majority remain relatively inactive.

VACATION TIME is crucial for students, providing a break from the academic routine and allowing time for recovery and relaxation. However, the current summer vacation structure poses several challenges for education. It limits the potential for learning and revision of the material covered during the school year. summers are often used for travel and leisure, which can disrupt the continuity of education.

THE STEM of the issue is the length and structure of the summer vacation. The typical American summer break is six to eight weeks long, which is significantly longer than vacation periods in many other countries. This extended break can impede the learning process and may lead to a loss of knowledge and skills.

New Jersey Decides

Within the past couple of years an issue that has gained increasing attention is the length of the summer vacation in New Jersey. The State Senate has introduced legislation that would reduce the summer vacation to six weeks, which has sparked a debate among educators and parents.

The OPINION of the New Jersey Senate was that reducing the summer vacation to six weeks would have several benefits. It would allow students to have more free time, which could be used for academic or extracurricular activities. It would also provide teachers with more time to plan and prepare for the upcoming school year.

However, opponents argue that reducing the summer vacation would have negative consequences. They believe that it would interfere with the mental and physical health of students, and that it would be detrimental to the overall well-being of the students.

The final decision on this issue is yet to be made. It remains to be seen how the six-week summer vacation bill will be received by the general public and whether it will be passed into law.
Collective Bargaining: The Hoffa Viewpoint

BY ROGER G. ROGERS
Director, Social Action Department - NCWC

Dear Father:
The Labor Department in the U.S. has been issuing reports on the labor situation with increasing frequency and intensity — with notable exceptions that rate the situation as more or less normal. I've no particular objection to the reports. But I do feel that the reports should be coming from the Department of Labor, not the Labor Department. And I'm sure the Department of Labor would be better advised to let the Labor Department write the reports.

In this respect, of course, there is little likelihood of any conflict between the two. The Labor Department is understaffed, the Labor Department is overstaffed. And the Labor Department is a much more important organization.

Whoever wants to keep the Labor Department out of the labor situation is in a bad way. In the pages of this magazine, I have tried to make the point that the Labor Department is our primary labor organization. And I have tried to make the point that the Labor Department is our primary labor organization. And I have tried to make the point that the Labor Department is our primary labor organization.

I agree with the Labor Department that the Labor Department is our primary labor organization. I agree with the Labor Department that the Labor Department is our primary labor organization. I agree with the Labor Department that the Labor Department is our primary labor organization.

The Labor Department is our primary labor organization. The Labor Department is our primary labor organization. The Labor Department is our primary labor organization.

I., therefore, offer this brief opening as a general introduction to my review of the recent Labor Department report, titled "The Status of Collective Bargaining in the Year 1948." I., therefore, offer this brief opening as a general introduction to my review of the recent Labor Department report, titled "The Status of Collective Bargaining in the Year 1948." Vatican City Was His News-Beat

June 14, 1962 THE ADVOCATE

A REPORTER LOOKS AT THE CITIES OF THE SUNSET, the emerald cities of the sun setting in the horizon for 12,000 years. His name is Cardinal Herbert W. Adam, 54, a Jesuit priest who has been a member of the Vatican Secretariat of State for 12 years. A Catholic, he is generally considered a scholar of the Church's beliefs and practices. His column, "Vatican City," appears regularly in the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal. He is known for his interpretations of Church doctrine and for his critical views of government and politics.

Cardinal Adam has written extensively on the history and philosophy of the Church. He is the author of several books, including "The Vatican in the Modern World," which examines the role of the Church in contemporary society. His columns often explore the relationship between Church and state, and he has been critical of government policies that he believes are inconsistent with Church teaching.

Cardinal Adam is also known for his advocacy of social justice and human rights. He has been a strong proponent of international cooperation and has spoken out against war and violence.

In conclusion, Cardinal Adam's columns provide a unique perspective on the world and its challenges from the viewpoint of the Catholic Church. His writing is characterized by a deep understanding of the Church's teachings and a commitment to justice and peace. His work continues to influence readers and to shape the conversations of our time.

Fathers’ Blessing

EAST GRAND—Fathers in Holy Name parishes will be honored at a special dedication ceremony to be held on our Lord’s Day in the Holy Name Church, East Grand, on March 19th. This event will mark the beginning of a new series of Father’s Day activities to be held in our parishes throughout the year.

The ceremony will begin with Mass at 10:30 a.m., followed by a special program of music, readings, and testimonials from parishioners. The highlight of the program will be the presentation of a special gift to the Father of the Year, who will be chosen from among the parish’s priests.

The event is open to all members of the parish community, and is a great opportunity to show our appreciation for the work of our Father’s Day priests. We encourage everyone to attend and be a part of this special celebration.

Six-Leg Journey Brings Bulldozer to Green Hell

LA PAZ, Bolivia—In one of the most inspiring stories ever told about persistence and determination, a six-legged bulldozer has succeeded in reaching the Green Hell region of the Bolivian jungle. The story of this incredible feat has touched the hearts of people around the world, and is a testament to the power of will and determination.

The bulldozer, which only had six legs, was able to make its way through the dense jungle and reach a remote area that had previously been inaccessible. This is a truly remarkable accomplishment, and serves as a reminder that with determination and perseverance, anything is possible.

Boston Hospital
Push-Botton Mercy

Boston (May 31) — The man of the elbows and arms is being afforded to each as a courtesy, and is a common sight in hospitals everywhere. In many cases, he is the only person on hand to assist the patient.

However, there are still hospitals where this is not the case. In some places, the patients are left to fend for themselves. This is a gross injustice, and one that should not be tolerated.

The closed circuit system is a great invention, and has revolutionized the way hospitals operate. It allows for more efficient care, and ensures that patients are always getting the help they need.

Must a Man Bite a Dog?

BY JOHN A. BIEG

At the risk of many of today’s editors, I am writing this column to bring to the attention of our readers a current issue that is of great importance.

The issue of whether or not a man should bite a dog is a matter that has been debated for years, and yet, it seems to be one that continues to elude us.

Some people argue that a man should not bite a dog, as it is considered animal cruelty. Others believe that a man has the right to protect himself, and that biting a dog is a justifiable means of defense.

In my opinion, the only way to resolve this issue is through education and awareness. We must teach our children the value of compassion and empathy, and encourage them to treat all living beings with respect.

Diplomats Denote Past Successes but Don't Guarantee the Future

BY JUNE DITHER

June 14, 1965

The June issue of this magazine, which is the last one of the school year, is being published with the idea of giving you good, if not the very best. It may not be the last you for this year. Indeed, the June issue of this magazine is a work of art. However, it is a great issue. I know that the editors of this magazine have given you the wrong impression about the future. The June issue of this magazine will be published with the idea of giving you good, if not the very best. It may not be the last you for this year. Volunteer Work in Mexico Attracts Catholic Collegians

Catholic sponsors have offered the annual fiesta to the students of the state of Mexico. The event, known as the Mexican national fiesta, is open to high school students.

The project, which is coordinated by the Catholic Training Center (CTC), is designed to provide high school students with an opportunity to experience life in a foreign country. Volunteers will be housed in local homes and will participate in various activities, such as attending local schools and participating in cultural events.

The project offers students the opportunity to learn more about the culture and traditions of Mexico, as well as to develop their skills in areas such as language, communication, and cultural awareness.

Foreign students will also have the opportunity to interact with the local community and to gain a deeper understanding of the values and customs of Mexico.

The program is open to high school students of all ages and backgrounds, and will run for two weeks in June. Interested students are encouraged to apply as soon as possible.

Jersey Wins National Prize

NEW YORK — Joseph L. Bergevin, president of the New York Catholic Student Council, was awarded the national Catholic Student Council (CSC) National President Award for 1962.

In his acceptance speech, Bergevin expressed gratitude to the CSC for recognizing the importance of students’ involvement in the life of the Church.

He noted that the award is a testament to the hard work and dedication of students across the country.

The National President Award is given annually to the student who has made the greatest contribution to the CSC and to the Catholic student movement.

Bergevin’s speech was highlighted by his emphasis on the need for students to be actively involved in their local communities and to use their talents to make a positive difference in the world.

He concluded his speech by thanking the CSC for this honor and by encouraging other students to continue to be active in their faith.

He concluded his speech by thanking the CSC for this honor and by encouraging other students to continue to be active in their faith.

Bergevin said, "The award is a recognition of the importance of students in the life of the Church. It is a reminder that we have a responsibility to be involved in the Church and to use our talents to make a positive difference in the world."
Japan's High Qualities Mattered By Increasing Materialism

PHILADELPHIA (N.C.) - The Catholic Church in Japan is more than a body of clergy and laity; it is a community of people who work together for the common good. This was the theme of the recent meeting of the Japanese bishops, which is held every three years.

The bishops are not only concerned with religious matters but also with social and educational issues. They strive to promote peace and understanding among peoples of different cultures and religions.

The Japanese Church is known for its high quality of life, its strong sense of community, and its commitment to social justice. It has played an important role in Japan's modernization process, providing education and healthcare services to the people.

Always Rests Home
As the Russians See Us—Bellocchio, Biased, and Dreary

By JAMES P. DRAKE

The New York Times, June 17, 1937

Bellocchio, the Italian film director who directed the American Film Institute's new film "The Living and the Dead," has been written up in the American press as a typical Italian filmmaker. He is said to be a man of great talent and technical skill, but he is also described as being biased and dreary. Bellocchio's film is a classic example of the Italian cinema, and it is said to be a fashion statement among young Americans today.

Bellocchio's film is based on the novel "The Living and the Dead" by Paolo Conte, which was a bestseller in Italy and is now being translated into English. The film tells the story of a young woman who returns to her small village in Italy after being away for many years. She is faced with the harsh realities of life in the village, and she must struggle to find her place in the world.

Bellocchio's direction is praised for its simplicity and directness. He uses a simple camera style, and he keeps his shots to a minimum. The film is more about the emotions of the characters than it is about the plot.

Bellocchio's film is not without its faults. Some critics have complained that it is too slow and too static. Others have said that it is too sentimental and too predictable. But despite these criticisms, Bellocchio's film has been a success in Italy, and it is sure to be a hit in the United States.

In conclusion, Bellocchio's film is a classic example of the Italian cinema. It is a film that is not afraid to confront the harsh realities of life, and it is a film that is more about the emotions of the characters than it is about the plot. Bellocchio's film is sure to be a success in the United States, and it is a film that will be remembered for years to come.
