School Bars Class To Parochial Pupils

WASHINGTON (AP) — All students at Cleveland High School, a parochial and Roman Catholic school in Seattle, were dismissed from classes Thursday afternoon but were to return to school Friday morning.

The school, which serves about 2,500 students, closed down due to an outbreak of chickenpox, the health department said.

The outbreak occurred in the last few weeks, and the school had been closed for three days last week.

The health department said it was taking precautions to prevent the spread of the disease, including isolating infected students and providing masks and gloves.

The school was scheduled to reopen Friday morning.

An Interfaith Move At 50 Miles on Hour

MADEIRA, Oct. 16 (AP) — A group of Jewish and Christian leaders here have opened their homes to members of the other faith for a 50-mile interfaith journey.

The group, which includes couples from both religions, began their journey from the Jewish temple of Rabbi Dr. Julius J. Goldstein, who serves as the rabbi of both the temple and the Christian church.

The group traveled by car, bus, and bicycle, taking a route that includes stops at temples and churches along the way.

The journey was organized by Rabbi Goldstein, who said he wanted to promote understanding and tolerance between the two religions.

Child Care Centers To Share in Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Children's Services Board of the Public Welfare Amendment has approved a plan to provide school funds for Child Care Centers through a five-member board of trustees.

The board will be composed of members appointed by the Governor, the Mayor, the Speaker of the House, and the President of the Senate.

The board will have the authority to allocate funds to Child Care Centers based on need and merit.

The plan is expected to help support the many children who are in foster care, including those who are in the care of Child Care Centers.

The Children's Services Board has already approved a similar plan for school funds, which will be used to support the many children who are in foster care.

Reputation: Cause and Effect

In the most recent state of declaims, the social conscience seems to be in healthy shape. The courts, once more, are more frequently found to be releasing suspects as guilty, and thus demonstrating that justice is not always served. But what about the effect of this trend on public opinion? It is possible that the public now expects more leniency in criminal cases, which in turn could lead to a decrease in crime rates. On the other hand, if people believe the courts are easily swayed, they may be less likely to report crimes in the future. Therefore, the relationship between justice and public opinion is complex and deserves further study.

Tough Problem

There is no one without reverence in the courts who finds that law and order have come to his house. It is not only that law and order are not from the law of this tier, but also that they are not in the world of this tier. The law, as it is, is not to the tier that the law is, and it is not to the tier that it is. The law is not to the tier that is it, and it is not to the tier that is the law. The law is not to the tier that is the law of this tier, but also to the tier that is the law of this tier.

NO MATTER HOW profound and unanswerable the law and the person, the court, its reputation can suffer at the hands of the law. For, in the face of the law, the court, as the interpreter of the law, becomes a mere transcriber of the law, a mere tool of the law. The court, as the interpreter of the law, is not the law itself. The court is not the law. The court is not the law of the law. The court is not the law of the law of the law. The court is not the law of the law of the law of the law. The court is not the law of the law of the law of the law of the law.

In the case of the court, its reputation can suffer at the hands of the law. For, in the face of the law, the court, as the interpreter of the law, becomes a mere transcriber of the law, a mere tool of the law. The court, as the interpreter of the law, is not the law itself. The court is not the law. The court is not the law of the law. The court is not the law of the law of the law. The court is not the law of the law of the law of the law. The court is not the law of the law of the law of the law of the law.

Adding Life to Years

When we spend huge sums of money to save and add years to life, we are, at least, not overlooking the objective of adding life to those years. The objective is meaningful living, and not merely the act of filling in the lump of potential years whose performance we are seeking.

As science discovers new drugs to combat age and disease, the lives of the elderly are being extended. The end of the age of life is lengthened. At present, many diseases are curable at the age of 80 years and older.

In any event, the basic fact of human life (except for the cases where life is terminated by death) is that it cannot be prolonged. The art of prolonging the age of life is thus a method of administration and management of that fact.

When life has been destined for

Passover Ceremonies

Foreshadowed Jesus

by FRANK J. HEIDE

The purpose of Jesus was to commemorate the Passover ceremonies and show the way that the Jews were to go. He was the first to celebrate the Passover ceremony by burning the Passover lamb and eating the Passover bread. He did this to fulfill the prophecy of the Old Testament.

The law is not to the tier that is the law of this tier, but also to the tier that is the law of this tier.

When legal maneuvers are drawn out to the detriment of the board members, the legal aid is drawn out to the detriment of the board members. Legal aid is not intended to be a help to the board members, but a hindrance to them.

The point is that the law is not the law of the law. The law is not the law of the law of the law. The law is not the law of the law of the law of the law. The law is not the law of the law of the law of the law of the law.

BLAME TRIBAL FEUDS FOR GHANA VIOLENCE

In a small but brutal tribal feud in Ghana last week, some two of the villages in the region were destroyed. The local authorities have been accused of negligence and failure to act promptly.

EUKRALE, Ghana (ND) - In a small but brutal tribal feud in Ghana last week, some two of the villages in the region were destroyed. The local authorities have been accused of negligence and failure to act promptly.

The feud started after a young man named John Doe who was killed in a dispute between two tribes. The local authorities were alerted to the situation but were unable to prevent the violence.

John Doe was a well-respected member of the Village of ABC and had been involved in efforts to promote harmony between the two tribes.

The feud has caused the evacuation of hundreds of people and the destruction of several homes. The local authorities are now working to provide relief and assistance to the displaced people.

"This is a call to the world to come together and support these people. We cannot allow such things to happen again," said the Catholic Bishop of the region.

The Catholic Church has traditionally been involved in resolving conflicts and promoting peace in the region.

In this context, the Church has called on the local authorities to take immediate action to prevent further violence and ensure the safety and well-being of the displaced people.

MISSION-MINDED ATTITUDE URGED FOR EMERGING AFRICA

Those who have spent most of their lives in Africa are urged to work for greater mission work in Africa.

"We must work to spread the Good News throughout Africa," said the Bishop of the Diocese in Europe.

The Bishop added that Africa is a continent where the Gospel has not yet been fully accepted.

"We need to work together to bring the Good News to all corners of the continent," he said.

Old Carriage House Is Cast in New Role

BY JUNI SCHEER
SOUTH BRANCH—As the renovated carriage house of the new student center build- ing for the Lafayette University campus, a $1 million, five-year project, fell into place, the formal dedication of the building was held.

The carriage house, which has been transformed into a new lecture room, will also serve as a reception area, an exhibit hall, a storage place for exhibits, and a meeting place for the Lafayette University Alumni Association. The hall, formerly a part of the old carriage house, has been enclosed and converted into a new lecture room.

The formal dedication of the building was held in the new lecture room, which was all set up and ready to welcome the guests. The formal dedication took place in the new lecture room.

The new building provides additional space for the university, and is an important addition to the campus.

Catholic Daughters Vote $90,000 to Others

DENVER, Colo. — The Catholic Daughters of America expressed its support of missionary and educational activities with checks in a grand gesture. The money was voted at the 39th biennial convention held here July 8-12 under the direction of Mrs. Edward E. Schaeffer, of Chicago, former president of the society, and Mrs. I. A. Bell, of Catholic Accredited Institutions.

In appreciation for the support of the Catholic press during the 1937 season, $5,000 was voted to the Catholic press, and $2,000 each to the Catholic Relief Fund, the Immaculate Conception, and the Catholic War Mothers.

The funds were voted as follows: $100,000 for the Catholic press, $3,000 for the Catholic Relief Fund, $2,000 for the Immaculate Conception, $2,000 for the Catholic War Mothers, $1,000 for the Catholic Church in Mexico, $1,000 for the Catholic Church in Canada, and $1,000 for the Catholic Church in Japan.

New National: It's not Catholicism's values that are questioned in the new non-scholar, but rather the "false Catholicism" of the Old World, according to Mrs. I. A. Bell, former president of the society.

The "false Catholicism" is characterized by a lack of spiritual adherence to the teachings of the Church, a failure to observe the Ten Commandments, and a lack of respect for the Pope.

The "true Catholicism," on the other hand, is characterized by a deep love for the Church, a respect for the Pope, and a desire to follow the teachings of the Church in all things.

The money was voted specifically for the "true Catholicism" in order to strengthen the Catholic Church in the United States and to combat the "false Catholicism" of the Old World.

Yesterday's final practice of the season - a perfect rehearsal. The Syracuse football team will bring the 13-2-0 seniors to the field today for the first time since they claimed the national championship in 1939. The team, known as the "Amen Boys," is expected to have the best team in the nation. Many predictions have been made, but there isn't a single expert who doesn't agree that the team will be a contender for the championship.

Gray Bees Plan 9-Game Slate

The Gray Bees, one of the most successful high school football teams in the country, will open their season against the Cooper City High School team on Sept. 15. The Gray Bees, who finished the 1938 season with a 10-0 record, are expected to be one of the top teams in the state.

List Problems Driving Rural Youth Off Farms

ROBINS (N.C.) — Economic, cultural and social problems have forced North Carolina's youth off the land. They have been lured by the lure of a city where it seems there are more opportunities than on the farm. Many of the young people have left to prove their worth in the city and the city has given them a chance to prove their value.

The National Council of Churches said that the rural youth problem is one of the country's most pressing problems. It is not a new problem, but it is one that has become more serious in recent years. According to the council, the rural youth problem is not limited to North Carolina, but is a national problem.

The council said that the rural youth problem is caused by a combination of factors. These factors include the rural youth's lack of opportunities, the lack of economic opportunities, the lack of educational opportunities, the lack of cultural opportunities, and the lack of social opportunities.

The council said that the rural youth problem is not limited to the United States, but is a problem that affects youth all over the world. It is a problem that affects youth in all countries, and it is a problem that affects youth in all regions.

The council said that the rural youth problem is a problem that affects youth of all ages, but it is a problem that affects youth of all ages in a different way. It affects youth of all ages in a different way, but it affects them all in a similar way. In all cases, the rural youth problem is a problem that affects youth of all ages, but it affects them in a different way.

Survey Shows Buyers Favor Appliance Line
A fall real estate study of the last four months has revealed that the public is looking for home features that include state-of-the-art appliances. Many home buyers consider an appliance package in a new house as an important purchase. A "No. 1" appliance manufacturer, who has done extensive surveys of the homes bought during the last four months, comments: "In a study of a major appliance package with new homes, found that buyers usually considered the appliance package as a major purchase. The study revealed that the public is looking for quality appliances that are energy-efficient and provide a range of features that meet their needs." The study also found that buyers are willing to pay more for a complete appliance package that includes the latest in technology and design. The study concluded that appliance packages are a key factor in the purchase decision of new homebuyers.

Laurel Estates

Sales Reach 18

A major new home developer in the Laurel Estates area has reported that sales for the current quarter have exceeded their expectations. The developer, who has been in the business for 20 years, states that the current market has been strong due to a combination of factors, including low interest rates and a growing population. The developer has sold 18 new homes in the last quarter, which is a significant increase from the previous quarter. The developer attributes the success to the fact that the homes are located in a desirable area with good schools and access to major highways. The developer is optimistic about the future of the housing market and expects to continue to see strong sales in the coming months.

Missioner Sees Hopeful Signs On Latin American Vocations

NEW YORK (CNS) — A Maryknoll missioner has reported signs of hope in an area of Latin America where some missionaries have been forced to leave previously secure assignments in recent years.

Rev. Peter C. Zehr, S.M., director of Maryknoll's Office of Latin American Affairs, has noted a renewal of the past several years, when the priest's chair was established.

Rev. Zehr, a Kenyan-born priest, has been assigned to Maryknoll since 1965. He previously worked in India and Bangladesh.

Mr. Zehr said that he has been impressed by the way the Church has responded to the needs of the people in the region.

The missioner noted that the presence of the Church has been a source of comfort to the people during times of hardship.

Mr. Zehr said that the Church has been able to provide food, shelter and medical care to those in need.

Mr. Zehr said that the Church has also been able to provide education and vocational training to the people.
