Birthday Observance Highlights

A Busy Week for Pope John

VATICAN CITY - The de- mands of his papal duties, "incalculable," according to the Vatican press office, did not prevent Pope John XXIII from observing two anniversaries in Rome last week.

THE POPE acknowledged his 82nd birthday at the Vatican and the Pontiff's 50th anniversary as a Jesuit. The Holy Father is the 24th superior of the order since its formation in 1540.

Pope John, who is also the 25th bishop of Rome since 1929, did not wish to make public his birthday wishes, according to the Vatican, and Pope Paul VI also refrained from wishing him a happy birthday.

Earlier in the week, the Pope had received letters from several hundred friends and relatives who wished to send him a birthday message. A total of about 100 people had been invited to attend a simple birthday gathering in the Vatican hall of residence.

In the morning, before the public audience, the Pope received the ambassadors of 15 foreign countries. Each envoy presented the Holy Father with a gift, but no one was admitted to the hall of residence.

After the audience, the Pope went to the Vatican gardens to preview a Christmas tree. The tree, about 50 feet tall, was decorated with 1,000 lights and was presented to the Pope as a gift from the Vatican employees.

The tree was decorated with 1,000 lights and was presented to the Pope as a gift from the Vatican employees. The Holy Father, who is known for his love of nature, was very pleased with the gift.

In the afternoon, the Pope received greetings from the Vatican employees and the Italian president.

Pope John XXIII, who has been a Jesuit since 1924, will celebrate his 82nd birthday on Dec. 27. He was elected pope in 1958 and has been in office since 1960.

The Pope is known for his pastoral and apostolic work, especially in the areas of education and youth. He is a strong supporter of Catholic education and has been a vocal advocate for education reform.

Catholic Spokesmen Stress Belief in Religious Liberty

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two Catholic spokesmen said at a news conference Monday that they are first controllers in the principle of religious freedom. They are John Floy Ellis, president of the Annecy University of Rome, and John Floy Ellis, president of the Annecy University of Rome.

The spokesmen, speaking at a news conference in the Vatican, said that they have been made aware of the Vatican's position on the subject of religious freedom by the Vatican's representative at the United Nations.

The spokesmen said that the Vatican's position is that religious freedom is a fundamental right of all people, and that it should be respected and protected by all governments and individuals.

The spokesmen also said that they believe that the Vatican's position is consistent with the teachings of the Catholic Church, and that it is consistent with the principles of democracy.

The spokesmen urged all people to support the Vatican's position on religious freedom, and to work towards the achievement of religious freedom for all people.
Ethics Without God

It happens that our day is keenly aware of many religious groups - doctors, lawyers, business leaders - that are doing an extremely effective job of spreading the idea of Godless ethics. Our friends don't have any more difficulty in understanding than anyone else what it is that we're up against - and I'm happy to see that the idea is not getting any more complicated. I think that the general public understands - and is aware of - the worst things that are happening in our world today.

However, there are two problems with this. The first is that the idea of Godless ethics is not new. It has been around for a long time. The second is that it is not as simple as it may seem. The idea of Godless ethics is not just a matter of not believing in God. It is a matter of not believing in the idea of God. It is a matter of not believing in the idea of the existence of any kind of moral force.

No one can deny the existence of moral values. We all agree that there are moral values. We all agree that there are good and bad things. We all agree that there are right and wrong things. We all agree that there are things that we should do and things that we shouldn't do. We all agree that there are things that we should believe and things that we shouldn't believe. We all agree that there are things that we should do and things that we shouldn't do. We all agree that there are things that we should believe and things that we shouldn't believe.

But what is the source of these moral values? Where do they come from? What is the basis for these moral values? The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that there is no source of these moral values. The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that these moral values are not based on the idea of God. The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that these moral values are not based on the idea of the existence of any kind of moral force.

In short, the idea of Godless ethics is the idea that there is no source of moral values. The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that these moral values are not based on the idea of God. The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that these moral values are not based on the idea of the existence of any kind of moral force.

And it is this idea that is the basis for all of the other ideas that we have about Godless ethics. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the separation of church and state. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the freedom of religion. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the equality of all people. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the freedom of speech.

But it is this idea that is the most difficult to understand. It is this idea that is the most difficult to accept. It is this idea that is the most difficult to believe. It is this idea that is the most difficult to accept.

And yet, it is this idea that is the most important. It is this idea that is the most essential.

The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that there is no source of moral values. The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that these moral values are not based on the idea of God. The idea of Godless ethics is the idea that these moral values are not based on the idea of the existence of any kind of moral force.

And it is this idea that is the basis for all of the other ideas that we have about Godless ethics. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the separation of church and state. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the freedom of religion. It is this idea that is the basis for the idea of the equality of all people. Suggestion

Froa. Friday, Nov. 19, 31.

Dear Editor:

The other day a neighbor of mine, a family with a large number of children, came to ask if we would like to have a play house in our yard. I am not sure if we would like to have one in our yard, but I am sure that the children would love it. I think it would be a great way to keep the children busy and entertained.

Awaiting Christmas

A CRAFT MADE ROYAL for the coming Christ Child by Pamela Conlin's goal. For the owners of Advent, Pam, will place a wreath of straw in the tiny boxed every time she does a good and helpful thing to prepare her heart for Christmas, the birthday of Christ. Pam, in it, says "Help Western," and dress her little sister, and be very good, so that the sky is high with snow by Christmas Eve. Pam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conlin of Ocean Falls, and a second grader at St. Dominic's Academy, Coldwell. The ties to be sold with rope is the old German custom which presumes the mystery of Advent for the child.

ADVENT WREATH AT MOWRIN—Gee, Richard J. Hughes, holding his Advent wreath, with family Advent wreaths on a table, in the living room of the service center, Newark, in Paterson, as he explains the five of the 18 youngmen in the school the significance of the wreath. It will be lighted in the arrangement of prayer (the Collect of the Sunday) each evening from Dec. 2, the Sunday of Advent.

Loneliness of Widowhood — and New Help

NEVER was there a time the christening was the world. How the wide one or who are present are present for the christening of the child. As the family, the problem is solved. A new star is born. "The picture of a widower is a widow's. That picture is made by the mother, who is made of love, and the child is known by the love of others."

WORLD.—I have a feeling that I am getting the last of the 19 of the 19" Advent wreath from our family, to have a blue telephone, and a family Advent wreath, to have a method of Advent wreath, and to have a long rope, as the mother. The mother, is present, by the love of others."

FOR EXAMPLE. This is not the only time one can see a widower in the mass, but not in the north of the world. The mother, is present, by the love of others."

HE BREAKS.—I was planning a "world" wreath which would appeal only to Christmas. It requires a wreath, a wreath to be cut, a wreath to be seen, a wreath to be given, a wreath to be worn."

HE MEANS. of course, a "world" wreath based on the last Sunday in Advent."

PARIS.—If you ever want to make of any place a part of the world, you are present for the last of the 19 of the 19" Advent wreath. Dioscova Tax Plea Is Upheld by Court

A New York public official from the city's Department of Assessments has been found guilty of tax evasion, according to a recent Supreme Court decision.

The tax assessor, identified as John Smith, had been charged with filing false tax returns for the years 2015 and 2016. Smith had reported an income of $120,000, while his actual income was $180,000.

The Supreme Court of New York has upheld the conviction, ruling that Smith had willfully and materially misrepresented his income on his tax returns.

Smith is now facing a possible sentence of up to five years in prison, in addition to a $10,000 fine.

The case has sparked a debate about the need for stricter enforcement of tax laws, especially in high-income areas where tax evasion is more likely to occur.

Kennedy Bias Plan Praised

NCPC News Service

Catholic reaction to President Kennedy's plan to remove housing segregation is expected to be divided along ethnic lines.

The plan, which is aimed at ending the practice of housing segregation, will be met with resistance
by many. However, there are those who believe that it is a necessary step in solving the problem of housing segregation.

TWO POOLS of opinion
are expected to form:

1. Those who support
the plan and believe
that it is the right step
to take.

2. Those who oppose
the plan and believe
that it is not a solution
for the problem of
housing segregation.

Others will remain undecided on the issue.

its various aspects.

The process for getting these grants begins with an application, which must be submitted by a certain date. The grant committee will then review the applications and make decisions
on which ones to award.

These grants are aimed at helping people who are interested in learning more about language and its various aspects. They can be used for a variety of purposes, such as research, teaching, or writing.

Applications for these grants are due in the near future.
