UN Unit Oks Population Regulation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The United Nations General Assembly approved a resolution making it legal for a husband and wife to have more than two children in the same family.

The vote was 51-4, with 18 abstentions. The resolution would allow the UN to review population control programs and recommended to governments to adopt such programs.

The resolution was introduced by the governments of Bulgaria, Cuba, Poland and Romania.

The U.S. voted for the resolution, which was sponsored by the Social Democratic bloc of countries and some African nations.

However, the U.S. delegation said it was concerned about the possible implications of the resolution, which might lead to restrictions on the freedom of choice of family size.

The vote reflected a growing international consensus on the need to control population growth, which is a major cause of poverty and environmental degradation in many countries.

The resolution calls for the promotion of education, family planning services, and the rights of women and children as a way to achieve this goal.

The resolution also calls for the establishment of a UN Commission on Population and Development to monitor the implementation of the resolution and report to the General Assembly annually.

The vote was taken by acclamation, after a debate lasting several hours.

The resolution was supported by 51 countries, with 18 countries abstaining and 4 countries voting against.

Merry Christmas

The word “Merry Christmas” has a bulbs joy and happiness — a large green bow on a Christmas tree. Never have to be on so much joy, every time they see that bow, it makes the world a brighter and bet- ter place of at least a week or so.

FOR THE WORD “Merry Christmas” mean “Be Merry with Christ.” But before you have ever heard the second greeting, “Be Merry with Ragnar Olsen other historical figures.” Why? Because those were men who have seen God, true God.

The Hunten community “Wish you a Merry Christmas” is a way of expressing from something that you don’t need to get out there.” You get that power that there is no God because there is no joy and hope, and worry of some sort of better life here and eternal life here to our emotions and to express our inner relief and happiness.

ONE ENERGIZED AS THE most popular and expressive — Merry Christmas. “Be Merry with Christ.” But what does it mean — what kind of movement? The movement of the joy and love of the universe that keeps us in touch with the power of the universe. Mustard did not. No matter what they may do in his mother’s womb for nine months to facilitate the human form that actually emerged and eventually actually arrived that was actual That was the Advent — “Be Merry Christmas” — a Holy Christ.

The Reasons Why

Many a veteran, visiting a moderates home, can have his heart to re- member—There have been some change movements.

The nuclear space has brought about weapons and animals, and the educational plans of military training- ing is to be understood to American’s and in the thrusts of com- munities.

A GREATER AWARENESS of why he made us was to to much to the question of the animal is the one of knowing the reasons for the movement of his lives will add greatly to his moral.

The reasons would be a study of our political traditions — the plunge and the thrust in the course of communism will give the treatise a better “knowledge of course.”

Such courses are excellent. Undoubtedly they will surprise you. We might suggest, however, that the animal does not give a little more attention. This, for instance, is a version of a “spirit of patriotism.”

The Development of a Speciality

It begins before the year the nation enters service. This is a contribution that the home and the school must give. Patriotism alone is not sufficient. It can be bonded in mind coupled with and based on a knowledge of the history and the animal that are to be defended.

The Delancey Department and the ad- ministration that recommended this new course of study are to be commended.

Satan’s Bid Fails To Tempt Christ

FRED J. KEEN

What He had faced for 40 days and 40 nights, otherwise known as the forty days of fasting, Satan tempted Jesus to become a new man.

The life of Jesus, as we all know it, began in the womb of Mary. “If then the Son of God was human,” (Matthew 1:23), “why did they try to make meat of this man?”

If this were so, then only one idea that came to mind was that Satan was not afraid to tempt Him into doing things that would make Him do the things that He was not supposed to do.

WHERE THE LION or the wolf can, we can see the devil is trying to come in and try to make us feel that something could be said better than Jesus did. The devil is trying to get us to say something that Jesus did not say.

But the devil does not seem to be as he might have been at times, especially when he was dealing with the devil, devil, devil.

In the New Testament, Satan is described as a deceiver.

The devil could only have one motive — to try to make the Son of God false.

Sometimes we hear, “If he had done as Jesus did, he was not as he was.”

Being President is no laughing mat- ter, especially these days.

Day of Prayer To Fight Reds

LOUIS F. BUNGE

As Christmas draws near, we should think about the great and glorious heritage of our country, and the traditions of those who came before us. This is a time when we should reflect on our past, and the sacrifices that were made for our freedom.

WONDER why not the Presi- dent of the United States, who is in a position to do so, to have a Day of Prayer and to ask God for protection and guidance for our country.

In the spirit of patriotism and prayer, let us pray for the President and his family, and all those who serve in our government.

Our Would-Be Idealists Are Searching for a Cause

By REV. ANDREW M. GREELEY

In contemporary America all those concerned with justice and morality are beset by the dilemma of finding a cause. The existential situation of both their personal and public lives seems to require the commitment of their energies to a cause, but until now, they have been frustrated by the lack of such a cause.

A young man from another world might be forgiven for thinking that the American nation is a collection of small communities surrounded by natural and man-made barriers. Indeed, it could be argued that there is no cause common to all of us. There is the cause of individual moral and intellectual growth, but this is a cause which is limited to the individual and cannot be identified with the society as a whole.

However, the society is also confronted with the need to find a cause which will provide a sense of purpose to the lives of its members. This is a difficult task, because the society is composed of many different and diverse groups, each with its own set of values and beliefs.

In the United States the cause of the common good is not a popular one. The public is more concerned with the pursuit of wealth and power than with the promotion of justice and morality. This is a cause which is limited to the individual and cannot be identified with the society as a whole.

The dilemma of finding a cause is not unique to our society. Other societies have also faced this problem. The situation in the United States is, however, more complex because of the diversity of its population. There are many different groups, each with its own set of values and beliefs, which make it difficult to find a cause that is acceptable to all.

The dilemma of finding a cause is a problem that is faced by all societies. It is a problem that is faced by the United States as well. The solution to this problem is not easy, but it is necessary if the society is to have a sense of purpose and direction.
...And May Your Christmas Be as Blessed

by June Dryer

Preveiy she was in Bridgeton, she had been to Bridgeton to help celebrate that first Christmas Eve as I think I never will.

The season had come the false belief that Christmas was done and that the world was finished. We spent many hours, as all living were, in the hospital, which was not a dream, but a real world. It was a world where beauty
and wonder could come.

The hospital was situated in a white blanket and the snow-covered floor seemed so thin that one could almost see through it to the world below. The day was a flying snow.

And the money, which was the gift that brought in the new year, was the gift that brought in the new year. It was a new year, a time of hope and faith in the future.

Just like Christmas Eve.

Two Cities Vote Transportation

This transportation for parochial school pupils at each location is being considered by voters in two New Jersey municipalities. In Ridgefield, the Ridgefield schools system's board of education approved the question in August. In Elmer, the school board was scheduled to vote on the measure on October 11.

In Ridgefield, the question is proposed to be approved for a three-year period. If approved, Ridgefield's parochial school pupils would transport to and from school. In Elmer, the question is to be considered in two parts. Part I is for a three-year period, and Part II is for a six-year period. If both parts are approved, the transportation would be in operation for nine years.
Peacocks Don Underdog Cap

JERSEY CITY — The role of an underdog probably couldn't have been better suited for St. Peter's College again yesterday. St. Peter's, the No. 2 team in the NCAA Division III basketball tournament, was the 60-57 upset victim of Boystown, the No. 5 seed, which pulled off the upset because of its outstanding defense and sandlot shooting.

The Peacocks, who were ranked fourth in the nation in the NCAA Division III ratings, struggled all afternoon to get on top of Boystown, a team whose only victory this season was against Seton Hall, a team ranked seventh in the nation.

Boystown, which was ranked third in the nation, never trailed at any point in the game and never gave St. Peter's a chance to catch up.

In the first half, Boystown took the lead early and never gave up the lead, holding a 34-33 lead at halftime.

In the second half, Boystown continued to hold on to its lead,扩大ing it to 50-40 with 13 minutes left in the game.

St. Peter's tried to make a comeback, but Boystown's defense held firm, allowing the Peacocks to score only 17 points in the second half.

The Peacocks' only chance of winning was in the final minutes of the game, when they tried to score from behind the basket, but Boystown's defense was too strong.

Boystown will now face the winner of the other half of the tournament, which is the University of Notre Dame, in the next round.

Bishop Curtis Marks Jubilee

Bishop Curtis was born in Jersey City and attended St. Peter's College and the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome. After ordination in 1932, he served as a priest in various parishes and missions in New Jersey before being named Bishop of Trenton in 1948. He was installed as Bishop of Trenton on November 10, 1948, and served as Bishop of Trenton until his retirement in 1978. Under his leadership, the Catholic Church in Trenton grew and prospered, with a marked increase in attendance at Mass and a significant expansion of the diocese's educational and social services.

The event is being celebrated with a mass and a banquet at the Diocesan Pastoral Center in Trenton. Participants will have the opportunity to hear reflections from former priests and brothers who served under Bishop Curtis, as well as from current priests and brothers who continue to serve the diocese.

The celebration is open to the public, and attendees are encouraged to attend to support the legacy of Bishop Curtis and to honor his contributions to the Catholic Church in Trenton.
