State Studies Ways To Aid Med School

Newport, R.I. (CNS) — Donald Rumsfeld, secretary of defense, was a cautious optimist in his speech to the Medical Alumni Association at Brown University last week, but he did not sound as though he was transistoring the idea of medi-cal care for the poor. The former dignitary of the Nixon Administration, who is now serving as U.S. Secretary of Defense, reviewed the state of medicine and its future prospects, and then went on to discuss the role of the private sector in providing medical care for the poor.

Protestant Clergy Dined by Priests

Newport, R.I. (CNS) — Protestant and Catholic clergymen joined together last week to enjoy a dinner at the First Congregational Church in Newport. The event was a rare occasion for clergy of different denominations to gather and share a meal. The dinner was hosted by the Catholic Diocese of Providence, and was attended by clergymen from various Protestant denominations, as well as by Catholic priests.

General Assembly Vetoes Birth Control Program

Gonzales, Texas (CNS) — The Texas legislature has vetoed a bill that would have banned the use of contraception for unmarried people. Governor John N. Lindsey signed the veto after the bill had passed both houses of the legislature. The veto was based on the grounds that the bill was unconstitutional and that it would violate the rights of women and couples.

Pope Renews Plea For World Peace

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI asked on New Year's Eve for another year of peace and understanding in the world, and for a new beginning for the Jews.

The Pope said in his annual message, "Let there be no more wars, no more hatred and no more suffering. Let there be only peace and love, understanding and brotherhood."

The address was delivered from the balcony of the Pontifical Palace, where the Pope addressed the crowd gathered there.
PONTIFICAL TALKS OF GLORY, PEACE AND UNITY AT CHRISTMAS

The Pontifical Missionary Society, together with the Vatican Secretariat for Promoting Vocations, has organized, through the good offices of the Holy Father, the first Pontifical talks of Glory, Peace and Unity at Christmas. These talks, by reflecting on the words of Jesus Christ, will be broadcast on December 24th at 7:00 PM Rome Time. They will be available via online streaming and on radio and television stations worldwide.

The talks aim to highlight the message of Jesus Christ, emphasizing the values of peace, unity, and glory, in line with the teachings of the Holy Father. They will be delivered by eminent theologians, clergy, and experts from various religious and academic institutions.

Join us on December 24th to listen to these profound messages and reflect on their relevance in today's world.
Cardinal Takes Reds to Task

The Pope, who is also the head of the Catholic Church, has criticized the Reds for their past behavior.

When the Polish government called for an end to the economic boycott of Poland, the Pope said, "The Pope is the head of the Catholic Church and the Polish government cannot be blamed for not doing what is right." He added that the Pope was also the head of the Catholic Church in Poland and that the Polish government could not be blamed for not doing what was right.

Win Exemption for Residences

HARRISON, N.J. (RNS)—The Hunterdon County Democratic Committee has granted a "residence" to Catholics in Hunterdon County who meet the criteria specified in a recent resolution of the Diocese of Newark.

The resolution, passed in December by the conference of bishops, provides that certain Catholic parishes in Hunterdon County may be considered "residences" for the purpose of determining the number of eligible voters for the purpose of electing a president.

The holding of the Democratic Primary on March 27 will be the first test of the new policy.

The Hunterdon Democratic Executive Committee, by a vote of 10 to 1, granted the exemption to the Hunterdon County Catholic parishes, which are located in the following towns: Bound Brook, Clinton, Flemington, Frenchtown, Freehold, Lambertville, Milltown, North Brunswick, Somerville, Stockton, and Westfield.

The exemption was granted in response to a request from the Hunterdon County Democratic Committee, which is entitled to determine the number of eligible voters for the purpose of electing a president.

A New Year

Our nation has survived another year in the midst of the many emotional stresses and strains of national and international life. The end of the year that has passed has been marked by a great number of events which have caused many to feel a sense of relief that the new year may bring about a change for the better. However, the problems of the nation are by no means solved, and we must be prepared to face them with courage and determination.

Devil Tempts Christ For a Second Time

By FRANK J. JENN

This is the second time that Satan has tempted Christ. The first time was when Christ was thirty years old and the Israelites were in the wilderness. The second time was when Christ was thirty-six years old and the Jews were in the desert. In both cases, Satan tried to get Christ to sin. In the first case, Christ was offered the world, and in the second case, Christ was offered the kingdom of heaven.

The post-restoration heritage of religious liberty in America is a matter of great pride for all who believe in the importance of freedom of conscience. The protection of religious liberty is not just a matter of individual rights, but it is a matter of the common good. The protection of religious liberty is necessary for the well-being of society. If religious liberty is not protected, then the society will be divided and the country will be weakened.

It was a great contribution to the history of the United States. It was a true and historic event. It was a great event that will be remembered for many years to come.

Prior to His clarifying statement, a group headed by Protestant and Other American denominations in the United States, which has a great number of members, has been working on a new constitution for the United States. This new constitution will be different from the old one in a number of ways. It will be more democratic and it will be more responsive to the needs of the people.

Wittmore

While the work of the council will proceed, the new constitution will be drafted on a broad basis and adopted by all sections of the community. The council will be composed of representatives from all parts of the country.

Thus far, the general form has been determined in six months, by a group of men and women, who have met in preparation for the council. This group has been working on the constitution for the United States and the council has been working on the constitution for the United States. They have worked closely together and have worked in a very spirituous way.

Duty Can't Be Avoided By Fear of Criticism

By REV. JOHN S. KINNEY, S.J.
Assisi Professor of Sociology, St. Louis University.

We have just finished our annual school retreat. We were urged not to become too interested in our work. We were warned that this last term was very confining because normally everyone has a better time in the summer. We just can't avoid paying attention to the wants of others. Then the question became: Can a group if you don't go along with them? Host of us aren't made to be lone wolves, yet we believe no one should even attempt to seek out or avoid moral principles.

We are taught carefully to distinguish between 'what you can't help' and 'what is wrong.' I am not sure I understood the 'what you can't help' part any better than you do. This might be where you and I differ. We are both taught that we have a particular type of fear, a form of anxiety or guilt and we are told that during our daily life we are to seek a way to escape or avoid that particular fear. When we blame a person for our failure, there may be a form of guilt, but we also feel that he damaged us, and perhaps he did.

If you are to avoid this, you will need to be very careful about what you do to others. What you think others will do is not as important as what you really do to others. You have to be very careful about what you do to others. You have to be very careful about what you do to others. You have to be very careful about what you do to others. You have to be very careful about what you do to others.

The only way to avoid this fear of criticism is to escape from the trap. You must escape from the trap of criticism. You must escape from the trap of criticism. You must escape from the trap of criticism. You must escape from the trap of criticism.

Understanding, Not Weakness

By REV. ANDREW M. GEELEY

Clearly, you are in an emotional state. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry. It should not be a worry.

It is feared that friends, moderation, willpower, and self-control can be accommodated in an emotional state. This does not mean that they cannot be accommodated in an emotional state. This does not mean that they cannot be accommodated in an emotional state. This does not mean that they cannot be accommodated in an emotional state. This does not mean that they cannot be accommodated in an emotional state.

IF SIMPLY that the public must accept the culpability of the Catholic Church in the maintenance of Catholicism in the same way. Catholicism is public, and public opinion is public. It is feared that the public will not understand that it would help to maintain Catholicism if the public continues to support Catholicism.

All were not unaware of the fact that the public was not entirely willing to accept the suggestion of the public.

ONE OF THE BASIC rules of the domination is that no public service is as public nothing as that which is absolutely necessary to the life of a large group of your population. It may be that this public service may be necessary to the life of a large group of your population. It may be that this public service may be necessary to the life of a large group of your population. It may be that this public service may be necessary to the life of a large group of your population. It may be that this public service may be necessary to the life of a large group of your population.

In New Jersey: '62

It was a year in which the history of the Archdiocese of Newark was dominated by the crisis of desegregation and its aftermath, which North Jersey parishes served several hundred Catholic children who had previously been barred from public schools. In addition, two new high schools in the Newark Archdiocese were opened this year, as the result of efforts by the past two archbishops of Newark.

Two parishes established during the past 12 months will bring to 10 the number of parishes in the Archdiocese of Newark, where the Arkadian will move to.

The first was established in Toms River, N.J., on Dec. 12, by Bishop Edward J. Tobin, Auxiliary Bishop of Newark.

The Archdiocese of Newark has been the subject of much discussion in recent months. The question of desegregation has caused widespread concern among the people of the diocese.

The Archdiocese of Newark was created in 1874 by Pope Pius IX and has been the seat of the archbishop of Newark since 1954.

The Archdiocese of Newark is divided into four chancellorships: Bergen, Essex, Hudson and Passaic counties.

In the past 12 months, there have been three new parishes established in the Archdiocese of Newark. Two of these parishes were established in Bergen County, and one in Passaic County.

The new parishes are: Saint Joseph, West Orange; Saint Andrew, East Orange; and Saint Ann, Paterson.

New Year's Day Is a Gold Key

By JUNE OWYER

What did you get for Christmas? Was it a watch, a rug, a radio, or the usual season's choice—tie, candy, or socks? How about a gold key?

In his December column, Bishop Alfred S. Blanchfield, Bishop of the Newark Diocese, urged all Catholics to make next year's Christmas an event unlike any other. The Bishop suggested many ways to do this, but the one he saw as most significant was the gift of a gold key.

The Bishop wrote that the gold key is a symbol of the freedom available in the Christian life. This freedom exists in the individual's right to choose to accept or reject the message of Christ. The Bishop further explained that this freedom, which is the key, is a gift that can only be given to each person individually.

The Bishop encouraged all people to consider giving a gold key to someone special in their life. This key, which can be used as a reminder of the gift of freedom, can be a meaningful way to express one's love and appreciation to others.

The Bishop concluded his column by saying, "Let us all be Open to give and receive the gift of a gold key to someone special in our lives this Christmas. Let us all be Open to take advantage of the freedom that this gift can provide in our own lives. Let us all be Open to celebrate the true meaning of Christmas, the gift of freedom to all people."

Journalism Contest Coming Up

“This is an excerpt from The Advocate, a weekly newspaper for students and faculty at St. Bonaventure University in New York. The excerpt discusses a journalism contest organized by the student newspaper. The contest invites students to submit articles on various topics, and winners will be announced at a special ceremony later in the semester. The contest is open to all students, and submissions are due by the end of the month. The contest organizers hope to encourage student expression and journalistic skills. The Advocate is also seeking ways to involve more students in the publication process, including opportunities for writing, editing, and design. The newspaper is always looking for new perspectives and voices to contribute to its editorial content. The Advocate is a great platform for students to develop their writing and critical thinking skills, and to share their ideas and experiences with the larger community.

The Church Mission Task Is Only Beginning

The Church is only as strong as the members. The Church is only as strong as the members who are committed to the faith and dedicated to the mission. The Church is only as strong as the members who are willing to give of their time and talents to support the work of the Church. As we look to the future, we must be committed to the mission of the Church to spread the gospel and to serve those in need.

As Long As You Live

The Church is a place where we can find comfort and support during difficult times. The Church is a place where we can find hope and inspiration in times of need. The Church is a place where we can find community and fellowship with others who share our faith.

Bible study, prayer, and worship are just some of the ways we can strengthen our faith and our commitment to the Church. As we continue our mission work, we must continue to support the Church and to give of ourselves to it.

The Holy Father Urges Pastoral Activity on Laity

The Holy Father has urged the laity to be more active in pastoral work. He has called on priests and religious to support the laity in their efforts to reach out to those in need.

This is a call to all of us, as members of the Church, to step forward and to be active in the work of the Church. We are called to be the hands and feet of Christ, to spread the gospel and to serve those in need.

In our diocese, we have many opportunities to support the laity in their pastoral work. We can participate in missions, serve as volunteers, and support our parishes in their efforts to reach out to those in need.

One way to support the laity is to donate to our diocese. Our diocese is in need of funds to support its pastoral work. By donating to our diocese, we can help to support the work of the laity.

Thank you for your support of the Church and of those who work on its behalf.
