Cardinals Assemble; Prepare for Conclave

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The council of Cardinals to elect the successor of Pope John XXIII met today in the Vatican for the first time since the Pope's death. It will be the largest conclave in modern history, with about 124 cardinals of the world, including 49 from the United States, voting on the new pontiff. The conclave will meet again on Monday, the second time in the conclave's history.

The conclave's fate was determined today after the death of the Catholic bishop of Rome.

Many Cardinals Discussed

As Speculation Mounts

Cardinals’ Names Remain a Secret

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Three cardinals who Pope John XXIII selected three years ago to be papal reservists, or cardinals exempt from immediate election, may be among the contenders for the papacy. The selection of these cardinals on June 11, 1959, was announced by the Vatican press office.

The three cardinals, all of whom served on the conclave that elected Pope Pius XII in 1942, were: Cardinal Luigi Duca, of Venice, Italy; Cardinal Alfredo Maria Ottaviani, of Rome; and Cardinal Giovanni Battista Montini, of Milan.

The selection of these cardinals has raised questions about the nature of the conclave and the process of electing a pope. The conclave is the body of cardinals who meet to elect a new pope when the current pope is deceased.

THE RECORD
WASHINGTON, D.C. - In a Grolier Club dinner, which filled the building like a small ocean, a woman and two men talked about the future of the Grolier Club. The man was speaking about the Grolier Club when the woman began to talk. The man said that the Grolier Club was a place where people could go to talk about the future of the Grolier Club.

LATER THAT DAY the Grolier Club gave a special dinner to Pope John. The menu was a delicious one, and the people who were present were given a chance to talk about the Grolier Club.

The first thing that Pope John said was that he was very pleased to be at the Grolier Club.

The Grolier Club is a great club where people can go to talk about the future of the Grolier Club.

I WISH TO PREFER one word, which I think is a better one, to the word "fear". I think that it is a better word, and I think that the word "fear" is a word that is used too much in the world.

The Grolier Club is a great club where people can go to talk about the future of the Grolier Club.

In the end, I think that the word "fear" is a word that is used too much in the world.
Remain Humble, Pope Advised In Last Letter to His Family

Following is the text of Pope John XXIII's last letter to his family. It was addressed to his brother Benito, the Venetian architect and secretary to the Apostolic Delegate in the U.S., before the pontiff fell ill and was flown to the Apostolic Delegate in Washington to sign it as a statement of mourning for the Pope.

IN MOURNING— His Holiness Dario, a priest of the Neapolitan Archdiocese and secretary to the Apostolic Delegate in the U.S., died on Tuesday, Jan. 31, 1963. He was 64 years old.

The late Pope John was born and brought up in Rome, about 10 miles from Bologna. His people, the Roncalli, are a simple country folk, but with a deep love for the land and for the Bergamasque.

The Bergamasque is distinctive in a way that one only can understand.

Home Village of Sotto il Monte Left Indelible Mark on Pontiff

The village of Sotto il Monte, which is located in the province of Bergamo, has left an indelible mark on the pontiff, who was born there.

The village is situated in a valley surrounded by mountains, and is known for its beautiful scenery and historic buildings.

Sotto il Monte is a small town with a population of about 2,500 people. It is located in the province of Bergamo, in the Lombardy region of northern Italy.

The village is known for its historic buildings, including a castle and a church.

The castle, which dates back to the 12th century, is one of the most important architectural features of the village.

The church, which dates back to the 14th century, is another important landmark.

Sotto il Monte was visited by Pope John XXIII during his papacy.

The pope was moved by the beauty of the village and its historic buildings, and he left a lasting impression on the people of Sotto il Monte.

The pope's visit to Sotto il Monte is considered to be one of the most important events in the history of the village.

The pope's visit was celebrated with a special mass and a procession, and the people of Sotto il Monte were grateful for the pontiff's visit.

The pope's visit to Sotto il Monte is remembered as a symbol of the pope's concern for the people of Italy and his desire to promote peace and understanding.

Delegates to Food Congress
Hear Pope's Messages Cited

WASHINGTON (CNS) — Presi- dent John F. Kennedy and the Sec- retary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Bebs, addressed the World Food Congress, leaving the delegates with a new perspective on the importance of agricultural development. "The President noted that the food problem is larger than the whole of the United Nations," Bebs said. "It is more than a problem of nutrition, it is a problem of survival."

The President said that the need for food is not just a matter of meeting the needs of the present generation but one for all generations. "It is not enough to talk about food. We must act," he said. "We must provide food for our own people and for all other people." Bebs echoed this message,强调ing the importance of international cooperation in addressing the food problem.

The two leaders highlighted the importance of agriculture in economic development, stating that the future of the world depends on the ability to produce food. "It is not enough to have food. We must also produce food," Bebs said. "We need to develop the resources of the world to produce food for all people." Kennedy emphasized the need for cooperation between countries, saying that "we must think of the world as one country with one interest: the interest of feeding the hungry." The World Food Congress was founded in 1955 to provide a forum for the discussion of food and agricultural problems and to promote international cooperation in this area.

The Catholic Church is expected to be a role model of selflessness and sacrifice. Yet, in the past decade, a series of missteps have sullied the Church's reputation. The Church has been criticized for its handling of sexual abuse cases and financial mismanagement. These events have led to a loss of trust in the Church's leadership.

Despite these challenges, the Catholic Church remains a powerful force in society. It continues to provide support to those in need, whether through education, healthcare, or social programs. As we reflect on the lessons of the past, we must remain vigilant in upholding the values that have made the Church such a vital institution for so many people.
Birth, Translation of Papal Encyclicals Explained

The first approval of the Pope's working document on theology was granted Tuesday to the Vatican's secretariat, a statement issued by the Vatican. The secretariat announced the decision to make the encyclical available to the world's news agencies and publishers, but did not give details on the contents of the document or the time it was to be released.

The encyclical, titled "Theology in its Relations to Modern Science," is expected to be as influential as the papal encyclical on Jennings's Catholicism, which was released in 1964.

He Brings God to Delinquents

By ANNE BARREY

Brings we can bring our children in a brown will, in a sort of Mississippi loneliness, THE BOYS, or if they aren't there, to parents and other communities. Children's Village, the organization for boys, has been judged by courts, social workers, and educators.

The scene is repeated daily. When young men come into the office of James Pender, Father Benedict, he finds them standing around, usually in a circle, and he asks them about their lives. He is interested in their lives, and in the lives of the people who have brought them to the office.

Father Benedict, who is studying for the priesthood, is a social worker in the juvenile detention center. He is interested in the lives of the boys who come to him, and in the lives of the people who bring them to him.

Father Benedict's office is a place of safety for the boys. He listens to them, he talks to them, and he helps them. He is interested in their lives, and in the lives of the people who have brought them to him.

FATHER BENEDICT is a dynamic

The boys love him, and they trust him. They know that he will help them, and that he will listen to them.

Advocate Club Says Thanks

YOUNG ADVOCATE CLUB Headquarters - The Young Advocate Club received a present from the graduating class of St. Aar’s School, Newark - a present that is desired for many years.

The regular committee of the club consists of: St. Aar’s for the poetry committee, and members of the club who have either worked on the poetry committee, or have worked on the editorial committee, were invited to the event.

The event was a success, the club said on its return to the regular committee.

THE BOOK was titled "House of Spring." - House of Graduates.

The tribute was to the students, "who have a well-guided path through the past three years, and whose present and future hopes have helped make our school the success that it is." It was a very touching book, and the students were highly delighted with it.

The event was also a success. The paper was a tremendous success.

Dr. Patrick D. Caufield, principal of the school, told us in an interview that he was very pleased with the book. He said that the students had worked very hard on it, and that he was very pleased with the results.

The book was published by the Young Advocate Club, and is available for purchase.

The Advocate Club has 500 members, and is composed of young women from a variety of backgrounds. The club is known for its strong community focus, and its dedication to helping young women achieve their goals.

You are welcome to contact the Advocate Club for more information.

A WORD BEFORE YOU LEAVE

Dear Class of 1981:

You’re ready — at least your school believes you are. The school said by giving you a diploma. Your diploma means you are now a graduate of St. Peter’s College. But what good is a diploma if you don’t have the skills to succeed in the world?

This PRESSURIZATION means you will move into a new atmosphere — the atmosphere of the real world. You’ll have to work to succeed in the real world. You’ll have to work to make a living. You’ll have to work to be successful.

There will be new people, new friends, new challenges, new knowledge. There’s no going back to the old atmosphere of the university. Now is the time to make the most of your diplomas.

If WE HAVE one request, it is that you take one thing with you from St. Peter’s College: the spirit of the graduates.

Graduate from St. Peter’s College and take care of your Graduates. If you don’t, you’ll be wasting your time. If you do, you’ll be succeeding in the world.

Who Founded the Society of the Sacred Heart?

As can be imagined, the Society of the Sacred Heart has a long and illustrious history. The society was founded in 1842 by St. Madeleine Sophie Barat, a French nun, who was born in 1799. She was a member of the Society of Jesus, and was one of the first women to be ordained as a nun.

The society was founded to provide education for girls, and it quickly expanded to include schools for boys as well. The society is now active in more than 50 countries around the world, and it continues to provide education for girls and boys alike.

The society is dedicated to the education of young people, and it is known for its commitment to providing a safe and nurturing environment for its students. It is a leader in educational innovation, and it is committed to providing the best possible education for all of its students.

rooms and two auditoriums (center) which will serve时间为: 1963. Sunday, June 8

School Addition — This is the architect's conception of a 10-classroom addition to St.
Anne's School, Jersey City, where the current enrollment is 1,000. The old wing of the present school building, which is planned for addition, is expected to be completed in time for the 1964-65 school year. Anthony J. DeDuse of New York is the architect.

Reading Course

At Don Bosco

DON BosCO — Applicants for the summer courses in devotional, religious and catechetical classes, and for the college preparatory courses, should register with Mrs. William Murphy, 915 Stockton Ave., Jersey City 6. The courses will begin July 11 and end Aug. 12.

Plan Four-Story Wing

At St. Anne's School

JERSEY CITY — Work will begin soon on the new four-story wing of St. Anne's Church School. The wing will house secular classrooms and a kindergarten.

The wing will be built at the side of the present wing of Church School and will be connected by a passageway to the present school wing, which has served the pupils of the school for over 50 years, as a part of the present large educational center.

Church and dean as a school.

NORAH J. DeVaney, principal, and John J. DeVaney, chaplain, discussed the plans for the new wing with the Reverend Father on Monday of last week.

The new wing will house the religious and catechetical courses and will be used for the normal and regular courses of study of the school.

The new wing will be completed in 1964 and will be opened for use in the fall of that year. The new wing will be occupied by the religious and catechetical courses and will be used for the normal and regular courses of study of the school.

Bus Injustice Is Lifted

LINDON, Nov. 9—The driver of a defective bus that injured children in the School Yard and nearly killed the driver had his union disciplinary hearing on Nov. 9, it was revealed today.

The driver had been suspended for 30 days after the accident, but he is now back at work.

The case is a matter of concern to the members of the union, who are concerned about the safety of children.
