also the matter of whether or not the school where you attend is considered a parochial school. The question is not so much whether or not the school is a parochial school as whether or not the school administration is of the American Catholic tradition. This is the matter that I believe is the most important.

In conclusion, I would say that the matter of whether or not the school where you attend is considered a parochial school is not so much a question of whether or not the school is a parochial school as whether or not the school administration is of the American Catholic tradition. This is the matter that I believe is the most important.

The most forward looking plan for the future is to have a whole new school which would include a whole new curriculum and a whole new philosophy of education. This would be the best way to ensure that the students would receive the best possible education.

NATIONS REPRESENTED
At Pope's Funeral Mass

VATICAN CITY (RNS) — Thirty-eight nations including the U.S. were represented at the funeral. Belgium Mass in St. Peter's Basilica, which was also viewable by satellite, according to the Vatican Radio.

Also attending the rites were delegations of the Vatican's Roman Curia, and of officials of a number of international bodies including the United Nations.

THEY OCCUPIED special thrones in the great basilica and were seated in rows or groups to the left and right of the altar. Among them were: Msgr. Paul Martin, secretary of State, dean of the college of cardinals; Mgr. Bernardin de la Penne, the French ambassador; Mgr. Alfredo Badia Moroni, the Spanish ambassador, and Mgr. Alfonso de Tommaso, the Italian ambassador.

Among the clergy were: Msgr. Francis Joseph Spellman, the U.S. cardinal and archbishop of New York; Mgr. Matthew G. Johnson, the U.S. apostolic delegate; Father John Shanahan, the late American ambassador to the United Nations; Father James V. Chanan, U.S. director of foreign missions; Msgr. Renato Ruggiero, the new Vatican diplomatic representative to the U.S.

ECCLESIASTICAL LIFE

Rev. Thomas Power, secretary of the American bishops' conference, and Msgr. Joseph A. C. Ryan, a member of the U.S. delegation, also were present.

Hats and small red cards were distributed to the clergy, who were seated at the back of the basilica. The heads of state and representatives of international organizations were seated in the center of the church, while religious leaders and others were seated further back.

The funeral Mass was celebrated by Pope John XXIII, the 262nd pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, who was elected on March 13, 1958, and died on June 3, 1963, at the age of 80.

The occasion was attended by thousands of people from all over the world, who gathered to pay their respects to the late pope, who was widely respected for his efforts to promote peace and understanding among nations.

In his homily, the Rev. James F. Collins, SJ, rector of the Jesuit College of St. Ignatius, said that John XXIII had been a man of great simplicity and humility, who had worked tirelessly for the betterment of society.

"He was a man of great courage," Collins said. "He knew that the road to peace was not an easy one, but he never gave up, even in the face of great opposition."

Collins also spoke of John XXIII's efforts to promote interfaith dialogue and to work towards a more just and equitable world.

"He was a man of great vision," Collins said. "He saw the need for a new kind of church, one that was open to all and that was focused on the needs of the poor and marginalized."

The homily ended with a prayer for peace and unity among all peoples.

The funeral Mass was followed by a procession to the basilica of St. Peter's, where the body of John XXIII was interred.

The funeral was a time of great sadness for many, as John XXIII had been a beloved figure and a symbol of hope for the world.

In his last message to the world, John XXIII had said that he had found peace in his heart.

"I found peace in my heart, and I am ready to depart," he had said. "I am ready to go to God."

The late pope had been a leader of the Catholic Church for many years, and had been known for his commitment to social justice and human rights.

The World Council of Churches had said that John XXIII had been a "man of peace and reconciliation," and had praised his efforts to promote understanding and cooperation among different cultures.

U.S. Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias

At White House Meeting

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CNS) - U.S. Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias have been formally endorsed by President Kennedy and will be worked through representatives to achieve social rights for all races in education, employment, housing, and services in cities and towns across the country, according to Dr. John W. Donovan, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias.

Dr. Donovan said that the President had told him that the Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias would be working with the Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias in the White House meeting to achieve social rights for all races in the United States.

The Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias was established in 1954 to achieve social rights for all races in the United States. It is composed of members of the House of Bishops who are members of the Intergroup Religious Forms to Fight Race Bias.

Catholicism Has Firm Footing in Malaysia

By REV. TERENCE SHEARDON, S.J.

SINGAPORE (CNS) — The Church in Malaysia is in the midst of a period of great fervor, with large numbers of people being baptized, and this is resulting in a sharp increase in the number of parishes, seminarians and priests.

Recruiting efforts are proceeding apace. We have a number of vocations from the Roman Catholic seminaries in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur, and there are many who are interested in the Church.

The Church in Malaysia is now considered to be one of the most important in the world, and its growth is being watched with interest by many.

In terms of numbers, the Church in Malaysia has grown from a small group of people to a major force in the country.

The Church has made a significant contribution to the country, and has played an important role in the development of the country.

It is estimated that there are now over 1 million Catholics in Malaysia, and this number is expected to increase大大 in the near future.

The Church is also playing an important role in education, and is providing many young people with a solid foundation for their future lives.

The Church is also actively involved in social work, and is helping to improve the lives of many people in the country.

In terms of spiritual life, the Church in Malaysia is a vibrant and dynamic force, and is playing an important role in the development of the country.
God Expelled From School

The United States Supreme Court has decided, as was expected, by a vote of 6 to 1, that the recitation of the Lord's Prayer and the reading of excerpts from the Bible are unconstitutional.

This decision follows the previous court's decision which indicated the separation of Church and State but, rather, the separation of the State and God. No longer is the government neutral about God. This is the death of religion as a separate entity.

The court has ruled that the religious heritage of no child was harmed by the recitation of the Lord's Prayer. That, however, is only a facet of the larger issue.

The court has also ruled that the right of educational establishments to participate in the recitation of the Lord's Prayer is not infringed upon. Those who are opposing this ruling say that this is the result of the court's desire to avoid constitutional issues.

Some people support this decision because they believe in the separation of Church and State. Others believe that it is an attempt to suppress religious belief. The court's decision, however, is not about religion but about government and its role in education.

The court's decision on this issue is a clear victory for those who believe in the separation of Church and State. It is a step forward in the fight for religious freedom.

The Story of the Fleet That's Blessed This Year

A jet-age version of a holy Catholic tradition takes place in Dublin each year. It's the Blessing of the Irish Fleet, a natural outgrowth of the festival ceremonies of the Feast of Mary, Queen of the Most Holy Rosary, of October 7.

Mother of God. Prayers and a short sermon are followed by the benediction of the fleet and a mass and processional. The blessing is performed at the pier or near the pier by a priest of the diocese, with the assistance of a council of the Legion of Mary.

Every ship in the fleet, with its crew and passengers, is commemorated to the special provision of Mary, the Mother of God. Prayers and a short sermon are followed by the benediction of the fleet and a mass and processional. The blessing is performed at the pier or near the pier by a priest of the diocese, with the assistance of a council of the Legion of Mary.

At St. Benedict's

Summer First Planned

NEWARK— Mention of summer camp will instantly bring to mind a country setting, but the drama school of St. Benedict's is proving that isn't the only possible setting for such a camp.

Under the direction of Frank J. Finck, a group of high school boys and girls, the Blue Circle Theater, which has been playing in various parts of the state, will present its first production on the St. Benedict campus, at 4 p.m. July 16.

As a part of the school's annual trip to a summer camp, the young actors will be entertaining in the small amphitheater and on the wide lawns of the Newman Center.

The Boy Friend, from July 16 to 28, is believed to be the first show that a high school drama group has put on in such a setting.

POLYESION— In fact that the students will be moving within the confines of the school will make it easier for the director, Finck, to bargain for playing rights in one place, and immediately leave for another without much difficulty.

Amid School Mists

St. Joseph’s Leads the Way

UNICRED - For the past two weeks, St. Joseph’s (N.J.) was in the limelight as the site of the game of the season in the Upstate Conference. The sequence of its two games this week was the second highest scoring game in recent conference history.

Against North Jersey Catholic, the St. Joseph’s team was led by Bob Zilman, who scored four runs and drove in three. He also had three hits in the game, and finished the season with a .380 batting average.

In the game against Bergen Catholic, Zilman again led the team with four runs scored, and drove in three. He also had three hits in this game, finishing the season with a .375 batting average.

Zilman’s performance in these two games cemented his status as one of the top players in the conference, and helped lead St. Joseph’s to victory in both games.

St. Catherine’s of the Pennsauken, St. Joseph’s Cathedral, and St. Mary’s Church were chosen as the top threeCYO teams in the conference. This is the first time in recent memory that three teams have been chosen for this honor.

Mike Pizzuto of St. Joseph’s Cathedral was named the Most Valuable Player of the conference, and was also chosen as the Most Valuable Player of the CYO league. He was instrumental in leading his team to victory in the conference championship.

Kevin Mulvihill of St. Catherine’s was selected as the Best Pitcher of the conference, and was also chosen as the Best Pitcher of the CYO league. He was a key component in the St. Catherine’s pitching rotation, and was a major reason for their success.

Bill Papenfuse of St. Mary’s Church was named the Most Improved Player of the conference, and was also chosen as the Most Improved Player of the CYO league. He showed significant improvement in his pitching and batting over the course of the season, and was a key contributor to St. Mary’s success.

Small Sacrifice Daily Can Aid World’s Poor

The U.S. has only 4% of the world’s population and yet produces 30% of the value of agricultural products available to mankind. On the other hand, only 1% of the world’s population produce 70% of all the food consumed in the world. God did not make that same error when He established the family, for within its members are all that is needed to build a happy and successful world. God has given man the ability and the means to have the same kind of prosperous world. It is up to us to use our abilities and the means wisely.

Throughout Latin America, Africa, and Asia the Chinese are taking the soil and giving great promise of universal peace. This potential source of millions of new jobs, prices, and prosperity is significant to the future of the whole world. It is up to ourselves to look after this world and with the amount of help that we can give.

A D-Sponsored Mission Starts

The Alliance has started a mission in Heilbronn, Germany, where there are 10,000 Catholic people. The mission will be run by the Alliance workers, who have been working with the Alliance in Heilbronn for the past two years. The mission will be located in the Heilbronn area and will serve the Catholic community there.

Our Mail Isn’t Ordinary

It is a joy to see the pictures in the mail today. They are not ordinary pictures, but they are pictures that are worth a thousand words. The pictures show the beauty of the Catholic Church and the devotion of the Catholic people. We can see the love and faith of the Catholic people in these pictures. We can see the way the Catholic Church loves the people of the world. We can see the way the Catholic Church serves the people of the world.

Somalia Restricts Missionaries

Mogadishu, Somalia (NC) — Missionary efforts in this Catholic country have been halted by the government. The government has arrested several missionaries and closed all Catholic schools. The government has also restricted the activities of the Catholic Church in the country. This is a serious blow to the Catholic Church in Somalia. The government has taken this action because it feels that the Catholic Church is a threat to the government. The government feels that the Catholic Church is too powerful and too influential in the country.

Catholic Witness Supports ‘Home Peace Corps’ Plan

WASHINGTON (NC) — A group of Catholic bishops has endorsed the concept of a “Home Peace Corps,” a plan proposed by the National Catholic Social Action Council. The bishops have endorsed the plan because they feel that it is a good way to address the problems of poverty and unemployment in the United States. The plan would involve the creation of a corps of volunteers who would work to address the problems of poverty and unemployment in the United States.

Eccumenical Progress in U.S. Acclaimed by Cardinal Bea

ATLANTA, Ga. (CNS) - A "great move of the Holy Spirit" in the U.S. as a "broadening ecumenism." Cardinal Bea, head of the Vatican's Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, said "the spirit of the age" will act as catalyst for a "good decade" in the ecumenical movement.

Referring to the general progress of ecumenism, he said that "perhaps the most surprising "trend" of the moment is the spirit of the age. Catholic and Protestant clerics are now speaking the same language."

Cardinal Bea, who heads the Vatican department that works in the ecumenical movement, also backed the "broadening ecumenism" in the U.S.

"I believe the American Church is the best Church in the world. They are doing a great job," he said.

The cardinal explained that the American Church is the best Church in the world because it is "the Church of the future."

Cardinal Bea is in Atlanta as part of a visit to the U.S. to discuss the ecumenical movement. He is scheduled to speak at a conference on the U.S. Church today.

"The American Church is the best Church in the world because it is the Church of the future," he said.

Here's how the American Church is the best Church in the world because it is the Church of the future:

1. Spirit of the Age: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

2. Spirit of Ecumenism: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

3. Spirit of Peace: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

4. Spirit of Hope: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

5. Spirit of Love: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

6. Spirit of Justice: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

7. Spirit of Freedom: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

8. Spirit of Liberty: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

9. Spirit of Liberty: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

10. Spirit of Liberty: The American Church is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age. It is the Church of the future because it is the Church of the age.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Judge Ralph C. Holyfield of the U.S. District Court ordered the magazine publisher whose adult-oriented magazine received the largest number of complaints to the Post Office Department to discontinue publication of the magazine "for a period of 30 days or until the court decides otherwise." The court action was brought by an association of publishers and distributors of obscene material which is based in Delaware. The court order was based on complaints filed by the association, which represents publishers and distributors of material that is considered obscene.

Hospital Plans

To Join Tribute

NEW YORK — An announcement was made that the New York Hospital plans to join the funeral service for the late John F. Kennedy, which is expected to be held in Washington, D.C. The New York Hospital has long been a center for medical research and education, and its involvement in this event is expected to bring attention to the hospital's role in the medical community.

From the Office of the Mayor

Mayor's Call for Court Action

The Mayor's Office has released a statement calling for court action to be taken against the publisher of the magazine. The statement notes that the magazine has been the subject of numerous complaints, and that the publisher has failed to comply with court orders to discontinue publication.

The Mayor's Office has also announced a series of meetings with community leaders and law enforcement officials to discuss the issue further. The meetings are expected to take place in the coming weeks.

Family Life

The New York Hospital has also announced that it will provide services to families of the late John F. Kennedy, including counseling and support services. The hospital has established a special fund to help families in need, and officials have promised to work with other organizations to provide additional resources.

Communism vs. Christianity

Pope John's Teaching:

"Every human being is a person that is his nature is endowed with intelligence and free will. By virtue of this he has rights and duties of his own flowing directly and simultaneously from his very nature.

"The family, grounded on marriage freely contracted, monogamous and indissoluble, is one and must be considered the first and essential cell of human society."

"Inasmuch as God is the first truth and the highest good. He alone is that deepest source from which human society can draw its vitality."

"The right to private property, even of productive goods, also derives from the nature of man."

"If any government does not acknowledge the rights of man or violates them, it not only fails in its duty but its orders completely lack juridical force."

"Imbue civilization with sound principles and enliven it with the spirit of the Gospel."

"A fundamental factor of the common good is acknowledgment of the moral order and respect for its prescriptions. Order between the political communities must be built upon the unshakeable and unchangeable rock of the moral law."

"Too often there is no proportion between scientific training and religious instruction: the former continues and is extended until it reaches higher degrees, while the latter remains at elementary level. It is indispensable that in the minds of the young, religious values should be cultivated."

"We feel profound sadness in considering the phenomenon of political refugees... their rights as persons must be recognized, since they do not lose those rights on losing citizenship of lands of which they are former members."

Communist Teaching:

"There is still too much of that rabblement which is indefensively... Communism of death must spread among the masses... the ruthless extermination of the enemy will be their task." (Lenin)

"When married life becomes unacceptable for a couple, they are not barahically compelled to live together. Divorce is to be had for the asking by one or both parties. The woman's children are recognized as legitimate by the State and society, whether born in official wedlock or not." (William Z. Foster)

"There is no place for God... Nature is in no need of a creator." (Fundamentals of Marxism-Leninism)

"The theory of the communists may be summed up in the single sentence: Abolition of private property." (Communist Manifesto)

"Dictatorship means nothing more or less than unrestricted power, absolutely unimpeded by laws or regulations and resting directly upon terror." (Lenin)

"The struggle against the gospel and Christian legend must be conducted ruthless." (Radio Leningrad)

"Our morality is entirely subordinated to the interests of the class struggle." (Lenin)

"The schools, colleges and universities... will be revolutionized, being cleansed of religious, patriotic and other features of bourgeois ideology." (William Z. Foster)

"The workingmen have no country. We cannot take from them what they have not got." (Communist Manifesto)

Marxist Aim: Squelch Religion

The proclaimed aim of atheistic communism is the abolition of all religion. Lenin declared, "Atheism is a real and powerful instrument of Marxism. Although this is the ultimate goal in some countries under communist domination, religion is allowed to continue for a time in order to keep the control of the communist rulers because it is expedient for the moment."

The Communist Party of the United States of America (CPUSA) in proclaiming its hatred of religion has been at times very frank and open. It has quoted the words of Lenin, written in 1905: "Religion is like a kind of spiritual opium in which the slaves of capital drown their human shape and their claims to any decent human life." In spite of this the (CPUSA) as well as the Party elsewhere, seeing the vast source of energy to be turned toward its own ends (in propaganda for peace, appeals for pardon, etc.), has used religion and religious groups wherever possible.

COMMUNISM on the one hand and Christianity and democracy on the other are diametrically opposed, and this is on the basis of several fundamental points.

• Christianity teaches belief in God and the divinity of Jesus Christ; communism denies the existence of God and deifies the Church.

• Christianity and democracy teach responsibility toward those in need — the corporal works of mercy — communism would exploit anyone to gain power and world domination. Its fine words concerning help to the working and the workers are contradicted by its actions of ruthless oppression.

• Christianity teaches that life has a meaning and purpose beyond the here and now, the materialistic teaching of communism teaches that only material things count and there is no afterlife.

• Christianity teaches that the existence of a moral law which both can be broken; communism teaches no such right and wrong except the norms of what will further its own interests.

The Communist Conspiracy

...Some Aims and Ideals

The complete philosophy of communism is an all-leaf doctrine, to be held in its entirety by the committed; it is a strictly private affair. The vast majority of the people concerned with it are not even aware of its existence. The theory of communism is not a public, open, demonstrative, or universally recognized one. It is an intellectual, private enterprise, a subtle program, and a secret organization. The fundamental doctrines of communism are known only to a select few, and even then they are not widely disseminated. The vast majority of the people in the world have no knowledge of the existence of communism, and even the educated few who do know about it usually have only a superficial understanding of its principles and practices. The Communist Party of the Soviet Union is an illegal organization, and its activities are considered crimes by the authorities.

Abolition of Private Property

In place of the private ownership of means of production, there is the national ownership of the means of production. As a result, the abolition of private property is a fundamental principle of communism. This principle applies to all means of production, including the means of communication, transportation, and transportation. The abolition of private property is a necessary condition for the establishment of communism, and it is a prerequisite for the establishment of the socialist society.

The Groundwork for Revolution

The overthrow of the old order and the establishment of communism is a process that occurs gradually and is a result of the continuous struggle of the working class against the exploiting class. The working class must come to power, and it must then proceed to destroy the old order and to establish the new one. The struggle of the working class against the exploiting class is a struggle for the social, economic, and political liberation of the working class. It is a struggle for the realization of the ideals of communism, and it is a struggle for the establishment of a society that is free, equal, and just.

The True Nature of Communism

One fundamental shortcoming of communism is that the theory of communism is an abstract, theoretical construct that is not grounded in real, concrete social conditions. The theory of communism is a theoretical construct that is not grounded in real, concrete social conditions. The theory of communism is a theoretical construct that is not grounded in real, concrete social conditions. The theory of communism is a theoretical construct that is not grounded in real, concrete social conditions. The theory of communism is a theoretical construct that is not grounded in real, concrete social conditions.

Communism Is Intrinsically Wrong

...No One May Collaborate With It

Communism is an inherently wrong ideology, and it is incompatible with democratic values and principles. It is a totalitarian ideology that seeks to establish a one-party, one-state system, and it is a system that is based on violence and terror. The political system of communism is a system of repression and control, and it is a system that is designed to suppress all dissent and opposition. The political system of communism is a system of repression and control, and it is a system that is designed to suppress all dissent and opposition. The political system of communism is a system of repression and control, and it is a system that is designed to suppress all dissent and opposition.

Atheism
