Legislators to Meet
Committee to Recommend Medical School Takeover

The Advocate

Official Publication of the Archdiocese of Newark, N. J., and Diocese of Trenton
Vol. XXI, No. 27

WASHINGTON — The approval

of the LCMS to permit members of its Bishops’ Conferences (LCMS) to meet for the first time with the Lord’s people in the land of the Holy

Worshipers has been returned to the public airstream.

Both the LCMS and the Vatican convention revealed a desire to place emphasis on the importance of cooperation and collaboration between the two jurisdictions. The bishops also agreed that the first will not set down the law, but will be with the pope on matters of doctrine.

Bergen County discussed for the Round Table.

Both the bishops and the Vatican agreed to work together on several key issues, such as the celebration of the first Mass in the new church and the appointment of new bishops.

The bishops also agreed that the first Mass in the new church will be celebrated by the bishop of the LCMS, and that the pope will not be involved in the celebration of the first Mass.

Lovula U. Center in Rome—A Unique Experiment

BY JAMES C. OWEN

ROME (CNS) — A unique — and unusual — experiment is under way at the Loyola University of Chicago Center in Rome, where over 200 American college students are enrolled in education classes and studying abroad.

Loyola’s Rome center is the only American-operated non-institutional center almost exclusively dedicated to the study of faith and culture in the heart of Europe, and the only American center for business, law and graduate studies in Rome.

The University operates from a former palace in the center of Rome, just a few blocks from the famous Via del Corso, and a short walk from the Spanish Steps.
Equality Reaffirmed

President Johnson made history on July 2 when he signed the Civil Rights Act. Since then, the ascendant discourses of the movement—black love, blackness, blackness for all—has been broadcast across the land. This event made it clear that the promise of equality for all was now in sight.

"THIS LAW DOES NOT RESTRICT the freedom of any American," commented the President. "It does not mean the end of work. The struggle of the Negro for freedom is not yet at an end."

The new law, in the words of the President, "is a step forward in the march to equality for all Americans."

Unreached Vocations

Interesting insights have come from a recent survey on vocations in the Denominations. For all who feel called to a specific vocation, it is a chance to do what they believe God is calling them to do.

The Family and Society

An absolute necessity for the well-being of any society is a well-ordered communal life. It is the official goal of every nation, in order for the society to function properly, to ensure that everyone behaves according to their elected role. The key is to have a family to guide and support them in their endeavors.

The Good and Bad Noted In the Labor Movement

By GEORGE G. BROWN

The current publication of the Labor movement is a study of the history of the American labor movement. The first publication, "The Rise of Labor", has already been published, and it is now available.

The Foremost barrier to organizing labor's members, the study notes, is the lack of a comprehensive political program. The study also points out that the labor movement has not been successful in organizing the workers on a large scale.

The Press Box

Apostolate: The Need

By JOSEPH E. THOMAS

The need for the apostolate is urgent and cannot be delayed. The apostolate is a vital part of the Church's mission. The apostolate is necessary for the salvation of souls. The apostolate is a means of spreading the Gospel. The apostolate is a means of bringing the Gospel to the poor. The apostolate is a means of bringing the Gospel to the sick. The apostolate is a means of bringing the Gospel to the dying. The apostolate is a means of bringing the Gospel to the bereaved.

The Question Box

All of a Sudden, Girls Are There

In the life of what was once strict curfew enforcement, we now have the opportunity to educate the young about the dangers of promiscuity and the importance of fidelity. It is important to understand the risk of sexual activity in personal relationships, and this can be achieved through discussion and education. Parents and guardians should be involved in this process, and they can help their children make informed decisions about their sexual health.

The Real News in the Real World

The news is not always what it seems. In real life, news is often a reflection of the truth, and the truth is often a reflection of the news. It is important to question the news and to seek out the truth.

Sexuality is a free area of human rights, but it is not a right that can be taken for granted. It is a right that must be defended and respected.

Confirmation seems to characterize the current generation. One factor that must be considered is the role of the institution in the confirmation process. While the institution may have a significant role in the confirmation process, it is important to remember that the individual's decision must be respected.

TAPT AND OTHER TOOLS: The labor movement has made great strides in recent years, and the future is bright. The labor movement is a vital part of the Church's mission. DIFFERENCES in the labor movement have not been significant. The labor movement has remained steadfast in its commitment to the values that are so important to the Church.

MEANS IN which the labor movement has been able to achieve its goals have been varied. The labor movement has used a variety of means to achieve its goals, including political action, economic action, and cultural action.

Superior, Council Elected at Chapter

IMMACULATA, N.J. Mother M. Leonarda, S.R.E.C., was re-elected regent for general of the Missionary Sisters of the Immaculate Conception at the Missouri Province Governing Council held at the conference July 8 to 10. "I am confident," said our new regent, "that the loving and devoted co-operation of each and every one of you will make our provincial council nothing less than a eucharistic Congress.

The Council consists of the provincial superior, the regent, and delegates from each of the six California foundations. In the absence of Father Joseph C. O'Connell, assistant provincial, a request was made for him to become a member of the Council, for he is the only member who is a native of the province.

The next council is to be held in the summer of 1963.

The people of God are called to be philanthropists, to be active in society and to work for the common good of all. This is the mission of the Church, and we are all called to participate in it. The Church is not just a place for worship, but a community of faith engaged in outreach and service to others in need.

The Church is also called to be prophetic, to speak truth to power and to challenge the status quo. This means being willing to take risks and to be willing to speak out even when it is not easy. The Church must be a voice for the voiceless and a friend to the friendless.

One way we can do this is by supporting organizations that work for justice and equality, such as the Salvation Army, which has been serving the poor and marginalized for over 160 years. Another way is by volunteering our time and talents to help those in need, such as through community service projects or volunteering at a local food bank.

Finally, we can support the Church by living our faith in our daily lives. This means being open to the Holy Spirit and allowing ourselves to be led by God's love and mercy. We can do this by praying regularly, by participating inMass and by living out our faith in our words and actions.

In conclusion, the Church is a place of support, community and hope. It is a place where we can find comfort in times of need, where we can find strength in difficult times, and where we can find the grace to live our lives with purpose and integrity.

But the Church is also a place of challenge and transformation. It is a place where we are called to be faithful to our commitments, to live out our faith in our daily lives, and to work for the common good of all. It is a place where we are called to be prophetic, to speak truth to power and to challenge the status quo. It is a place where we are called to be philanthropists, to be active in society and to work for the common good of all.

May God bless you and guide you in your journey of faith.

Blessed be the Lord, who has been faithful to his promise of salvation. Amen.

Youth's Corner

Students Plan Varied Junkets

By MARY TRESS

The burning desire that Youth's Corner members have to travel to Bannerbrook, the home of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, failed to quench itself in the minds of the members of the club. The boys selected the trip for their annual junket.

The plans for the junket included a trip to Bannerbrook, a visit to the Cross Mountain Boys Camp, and a visit to the Catholic University of America. The members of the club were divided into groups, and each group was responsible for making arrangements for the trip.

The trip to Bannerbrook was the first item on the agenda. The boys planned to spend the night at the camp and participate in various activities, such as swimming, hiking, and playing sports.

The second item on the agenda was a visit to the Cross Mountain Boys Camp. The boys planned to spend the day at the camp, taking part in various activities, and then return to New York City in the evening.

The final item on the agenda was a visit to the Catholic University of America. The boys planned to spend the day at the university, taking part in various activities, and then return to New York City in the evening.

The boys had high hopes for the trip, and they were excited to see Bannerbrook, the Cross Mountain Boys Camp, and the Catholic University of America. They were looking forward to a fun and exciting day.

The burning desire that Youth's Corner members have to travel to Bannerbrook, the home of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, failed to quench itself in the minds of the members of the club. The boys selected the trip for their annual junket.

The plans for the junket included a trip to Bannerbrook, a visit to the Cross Mountain Boys Camp, and a visit to the Catholic University of America. The members of the club were divided into groups, and each group was responsible for making arrangements for the trip.

The trip to Bannerbrook was the first item on the agenda. The boys planned to spend the night at the camp and participate in various activities, such as swimming, hiking, and playing sports.

The second item on the agenda was a visit to the Cross Mountain Boys Camp. The boys planned to spend the day at the camp, taking part in various activities, and then return to New York City in the evening.

The final item on the agenda was a visit to the Catholic University of America. The boys planned to spend the day at the university, taking part in various activities, and then return to New York City in the evening.

The boys had high hopes for the trip, and they were excited to see Bannerbrook, the Cross Mountain Boys Camp, and the Catholic University of America. They were looking forward to a fun and exciting day.

...and regroupings of who wins. Chavez's economic plans will look a little different in the fall.

CUBANISM in the fall might produce a new model of revolutionary organization. Chavez's model was never more clear than in his recent visit to Cuba. The Cuban government, under Fidel Castro, has always been a model of how a socialist revolution can be organized and managed. Chavez's visit to Cuba was a clear indication of his desire to learn from this model.

PANAMA TO STRESS Social Doctrines

PANAMA CITY — The Bishops of Panama have decided to eliminate all distinctions in church services and to make liturgical services more accessible to all. They also decided to begin the liturgical year with the Blessing of the Bells and to continue the practice of praying the Rosary in the middle of the day. In addition, they decided to establish a new liturgical calendar for the Church in Panama, which will include the celebration of the Eucharist on Sundays and Holy Days, as well as the Advent and Christmas seasons.

THE REVOLUTIONARY Catholic Church in Panama has become more vocal in its criticism of the government. The bishops have called for the immediate resignation of the government and have accused it of corruption and misuse of public funds.

Laos Diary—Fear, and a Small Grave

The word "flee" is my constant companion. All my life I've been fleeing. From my village, from the mountains, from my family, from the Tet, from the Vietcong, from the American helicopter. But I am not alone. All of Laos is fleeing. The whole country is fleeing. Every day, millions of people are leaving their homes, their villages, their families, to escape the war. They are fleeing to safety, to freedom, to a better life. And yet, even as they flee, they are afraid. They are afraid of what they will find on the other side, of what they will have to endure, of what they will have to leave behind.

There is a sense of urgency in the air, a feeling that time is running out. You can see the people's faces, their eyes, their fear, their hope. They are waiting, hoping, praying for a way out. And you, too, can be a part of this. You can join us, help us, support us.

Following an evaluation survey earlier this year, the commission recommended the hospital for full accreditation, noting that the hospital has achieved standards of excellence in the quality of care for patients.

The hospital has a bed capacity of 200 and provides a variety of services, including inpatient and outpatient care, diagnostic services, and a rehabilitation unit.

Passaic Hospital Launches Employee Pension Plan

PASSAIC — St. Mary’s Hospital here has launched an employee pension plan, the first for the hospital’s employees, with the first payments going to the plan on July 1, 1975, to those eligible.

The hospital administration has decided that the plan will cost the hospital a year, but the annual cost is expected to decrease as more employees begin to participate.

The pension plan is open to all full-time employees who have completed six months of employment at the hospital.

The pension plan will provide a retirement benefit of 1% of the employee’s annual salary for each year of service.

The benefits will be funded by a combination of a hospital contribution and an employee contribution.

The pension plan is designed to provide a secure retirement for hospital employees and to encourage them to remain with the hospital.
