Course Objectives

No relationship will be as important to the twenty-first century as the one between the United States and China. This course will unpack, update and explain the complexities of interactions between the two countries. It will be both historical and contemporary. Its thematic thrust will be more practical and policy-oriented than theoretical. Readings, lectures, and discussions will focus on the historical evolution of the relationship and major functional arenas of interaction between the two nations.

There are no formal prerequisites for this course other than a strong interest in China and U.S. diplomacy, and a willingness to do the assigned readings. Students with background in China studies, U.S. foreign policy, and international relations will be well served.

This course has the following objectives: 1) To provide the historical and domestic context as well as the factual basis for understanding U.S.-China relations; 2) To explore the specific policy issues that create conflict, or foster cooperation, between the two nations; and 3) To provide the students the opportunity to write concise, policy-oriented analyses. By the end of the semester, students should have been familiar with key issues and debates involved in the study of U.S.-China relations. They should also have developed the essential skills to conduct critical analysis of the U.S.-China relations and to effectively communicate that analysis to the policy and academic community.

Reading Requirements

David Shambaugh, ed., Tangled Titans: The United States and China (New York: Rowman & Littlefield), 2013.

Robert Sutter, U.S.-Chinese Relations: Perilous Past, Pragmatic Present (New York: Rowman & Littlefield), 2013.

Thomas Christensen, The China Challenge: Shaping the Choices of A Rising Power (Princeton: Princeton University Press), 2015.

Selected articles and policy reports will be available online. Recommended readings are denoted with an asterisk (*).

Student Responsibilities

Reading Requirements and Class Participation

It is your responsibility to be in class, on time, each day. Attendance is essential for class participation. Your final grade will be lowered by one-half letter grade for each absence beyond two (e.g., If your grades average to “B+,” your final grade, with one absence beyond limit, will be reduced to “B”). The instructor makes no distinction between excused and unexcused absences.

Because this course involves genuine, informed participation by all involved, it will be expected that students keep up with the readings. Most class sessions will be a combination of lecture and discussion of the topic and readings. Your performance in completing assigned readings and participating in class discussions will be an important component of your “participation” grade.

Late Work Policy

All assignments and exams should/must be completed by the scheduled time. Late assignments will not be accepted unless you have a proven excuse. If for some substantial reason you cannot turn in your assignment at the scheduled time you must/should contact me directly prior to the scheduled date to avoid the penalty.

Policy on Incompletes:

Incompletes will be given only in exceptional cases for emergencies. Students wishing to request a grade of Incomplete must provide documentation to support the request accompanied by a Course Adjustment Form (available from the Diplomacy Main Office) to the professor before the date of the final examination. If the incomplete request is approved, the professor reserves the right to specify the new submission date for all missing coursework. Students who fail to submit the missing course work within this time period will receive a failing grade for all missing coursework and a final grade based on all coursework assigned. Any Incomplete not resolved within one calendar year of receiving the Incomplete or by the time of graduation (whichever comes first) automatically becomes an “FI” (which is equivalent to an F). It is the responsibility of the student to make sure they have completed all course requirements within the timeframe allotted. Please be aware that Incompletes on your transcript will impact financial aid and academic standing.

Grading

Course evaluation will be based on the following components:

Two short (1,000 words) policy briefs (20% each)

One take-home final examination (30%)

In-class participation and attendance (30%)

You must complete all components to receive a passing grade.

Grading Scale

A	94-100%	A-	90-93%	B+	87-89%
B	83-86%	B-	80-82%	C+	77-79%
C	73-76%	C-	70-72%	D+	67-69%
D	60-66%	F	59% and below

About the Syllabus

In view of the progress of the course, the instructor may modify the course contents and schedule. Every effort will be made to notify the class should such a deviation become necessary.

Academic Integrity & Dishonesty

Plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty will be reported to the administration, and may result in a lowered or failing grade for the course and up to possible dismissal from the School of Diplomacy. See University and School standards for academic conduct here:

Accommodation

It is the policy and practice of Seton Hall University to promote inclusive learning environments. If you have a documented disability you may be eligible for reasonable accommodations in compliance with University policy, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, and/or the New Jersey Law against Discrimination. Please note, students are not permitted to negotiate accommodations directly with professors. To request accommodations or assistance, please self-identify with the Office for Disability Support Services (DSS), Duffy Hall, Room 67 at the beginning of the semester. For more information or to register for services, contact DSS at (973) 313-6003 or by e-mail at DSS@shu.edu.

Citation Formats

Papers should utilize one of the Chicago Manual of Style citation formats: Author-Date or Notes and Bibliography. The guidelines for these formats are on the course Blackboard page.

First policy brief, due Friday, Feb. 28**

Assignment: For more than two centuries, contacts between the U.S. and China have mutually generated both fear and admiration, trust and suspicion, cooperation and competition, resulting in a "love-hate" relationship that is best illustrated by a persistent cyclical pattern of "boom and bust" in U.S.-China relations. Please identify a pivotal moment (e.g., the Marshall Mission to China), a prominent individual (e.g., Deng Xiaoping), or a third country (e.g., former USSR) that you believe had a profound impact on the trajectory of the U.S.-China relations. To what extent do you think that person/country/event was important?
